OTTERBEIN LOVE SONG

WORDS BY CELIA IHRIG GRABILL / MUSIC BY GRANT GRABILL '1900

In a quiet peaceful village
there is one we love so true.
She ever gives a welcome to her friends both old and new.
She stands serene
'mid tree tops green,
She's our dear Otterbein.

CHORUS:

Old Otterbein, our college,
we sing of thee today.
Our memories 'round thee linger
in a sweet and mystic way.
O Otterbein, we love thee,
our hearts are only thine,
We pledge anew, we will be true,
Dear Otterbein.

CABOT REA '78

Cabot Rea graduated from Otterbein in 1978 with a bachelor's degree in music education. He then married his Otterbein sweetheart, Heather Leach '78, and they both taught in Newark, Ohio. Rea says he was perhaps "most humbled to be selected Teacher of the Year at Wilson Junior High."

During those years, Rea continued to perform. He played Lancelot opposite Ed Ames in a 1981 Kenley Player's tour of Camelot, and spent two seasons as principal baritone with the Ohio Light Opera. He also performed a half-dozen musical roles in area productions. From 1985-1995, he emceed and performed in the Miss Ohio Pageant.

In December 1985, Rea first took to the air as a weekend sportscaster at WCMH-NBC4 in Columbus. In September 1992, he began the evening co-anchor position with Colleen Marshall, then took over for his mentor, Doug Adair, at 5, 6 and 11 p.m. one year later. Along the way, Rea won multiple Emmy awards, including one for a heartfelt series, Hospice: My Mother's Journey, chronicling his mother, Betty Rea '53, and her inspiring final days in hospice care. He is a seven-time Columbus Monthly People's Choice winner for favorite male anchor.

Rea has served on multiple boards and at hundreds of charity events in central Ohio. He will join the Otterbein board of trustees May 2016.

On Oct. 14, 2015, Rea announced he would be retiring from NBC4 in December after 30 years on the air. On Dec. 18, with members of the Otterbein choir and supportive alumni, he signed off the air by joining them for the Otterbein Love Song. He and his wife have three grown children: Joshua, Meredith and Cassie.

Class of 1966

DISTINGUISHED ALUMNI RECIPIENTS

1992 Distinguished Alumnus Wolfgang R. Schmitt '66

With a college degree in economics and business administration, Wolfgang R. Schmitt was convinced by a campus recruiter to consider joining Rubbermaid, Inc., where the executives were accurately predicting tremendous growth for the company. He entered the company in their first management orientation program and worked his way through the corporate structure to become president, chief executive officer and chairman of the board. During his 35-year career at Rubbermaid, Inc., Schmitt was International Marketing Statesman of the Year, 1997; Vendor Executive of the Year for 11 consecutive years; Students in Free Enterprise Entrepreneur of the Year; 10 years in the Most Admired Top 10, 11 years in Top 10 for Innovation and Rubbermaid was twice voted America's Most Admired Corporation by Fortune Magazine's Annual Corporate Reputation Survey of the Fortune 500. Schmitt retired as the director of Kimberly-Clark, Newell-Rubbermaid and Kichler Lighting.

In 1992, he was Otterbein's first inductee into the Ohio Foundation of Independent Colleges Hall of Excellence. He served on the Otterbein board of trustees for 16 years. From 2000–2015, he served as the founder and chief executive officer of Trends 2 Innovation, LLC, strategic growth consultants. He is currently on the board of directors for the Parker-Hannifin Corporation. Schmitt and his wife, Toni, have four children: Christopher '91, Clay, Corey and Rhiannon.

2010 Distinguished Alumnus Paul B. Paulus '66

A leading researcher on group processes and a pioneer in the field of group effectiveness, creativity and innovation, Dr. Paulus is world-renowned for his work in group behavior and environmental psychology. As a young immigrant from the Netherlands and a first-generation college student, Dr. Paulus earned his master's and doctorate degrees in psychology from the University of Iowa. He served as chair of the Department of Psychology at the University of Texas at Arlington and dean of the College of Science. He has led breakthrough research on prison crowding that significantly impacted corrections standards and design. He is cited in numerous court cases and news outlets, including The New York Times, The Wall Street Journal and Inc. magazine, and appeared on The Oprah Winfrey Show. He has published over 60 papers and chapters on that topic and the related issue of team innovation. He has made numerous invited presentations to groups from the academic, business, engineering and intelligence communities. He has been a visiting professor at Bar Ilan University, University of Groningen, University of Sydney, University of Pittsburgh, Carnegie Mellon University, and Uniformed Services University of the Health Sciences. Dr. Paulus received the Outstanding Research Achievement Award in 1989; Distinguished Record of Research Achievement in 2007 and was named to the Academy of Distinguished Scholars from the University of Texas at Arlington in 2010. Paul married the former Laurie Elwell '67 in 1967, with whom he has two children and four grandchildren.

2012 Otterbein Distinguished Alumnus Brian K. Hajek '66

Brian Hajek has made significant contributions to the nuclear engineering field and nuclear engineering education. After graduating from Otterbein, Hajek began his career with Battelle Memorial Institute finding a passion for the blue glow of the nuclear reactor core and working with the U.S. Navy to extend the core life for submarine power generation. He then joined The Ohio State University (OSU) where he obtained a master's degree in nuclear engineering. He was elected as a Fellow of the American Nuclear Society in 2002, recognized for the OSU Distinguished Alumni Award for the 2010 Nuclear Engineering Program and awarded the American Nuclear Society (ANS)

Arthur Holly Compton Award in 2008 as the International Nuclear Educator of the Year. He was nominated by his students for admittance to the ANS Honorary Alpha Nu Sigma as a distinguished university faculty member. Encouraging diversity in nuclear engineering education, Hajek partnered with Wilberforce University and Central State University, founded and led the Midwest Nuclear Training Association (MNTA) Annual Instructor Workshop for 15 years and chaired the ANS Education and Training Division, the Reactor Operations Division and the Human Factors Division. He is married to Edith Sheets Hajek '66. Their daughter, Lisa Hajek Hall '01, and son-in-law Matthew Hall '99, have three sons.

Golden Model Community Leader Award

JAN LENAHAN DWYER '66

Jan Lenahan Dwyer graduated from Otterbein with a bachelor's degree in education. She started her teaching career at Walnut Ridge High School. Her leadership skills advanced her to high school administration, serving several different schools in the Columbus City School District. She spent 35 years in education before retiring in 2003. Serving others is an important value to Dwyer. Currently she is the president of the Westerville Otterbein Women's Club and member of the Clintonville Women's Club. She has served as an advisor of Sigma Alpha Tau, president and past president of Lakeside Rhein Center for the Living Arts and other teaching roles at Lakeside.

Dwyer's ethos to serve others was instilled by her beloved parents, Dr. Norris Lenahan and Ernestine Little Lenahan '32. Creating an endowed scholarship in their honor, it recognizes a student majoring in business, pre-medicine, theatre or nurse anesthesia. Through Dwyer's entire life, she has dedicated herself to helping others, especially youth, not only in the classroom but also in their personal lives. She is a model community member educating, leading and learning to contribute to the common good.

Golden Model Community Leader Award

Today, Otterbein will give a Golden Model Community Leader Award.

Otterbein's vision challenges and inspires us in our work, in our learning and in our achievements to be recognized as a model community — as a leader in higher education whose example is one worth following or emulating.

It takes leaders of all strengths to create a model community — those with a bold vision, those with expertise and those who quietly but surely live their values in their daily lives.

The award is golden because it speaks to the enduring, lasting value of this leader's influence. Its properties and its scarcity mean that who this leader is and the life they live is priceless; it will never lose its value.

The Otterbein's Golden Model Community Leader recognizes a member from the Class of 1966 for living a life worth emulating, a life that is a model for its community, a for being a leader whose values are, in fact, golden.

"It's hard not to get cynical, but you meet people who are really affected by the legislation and you realize how important this is to a lot of folks."

Karen Kasler '89

Karen Kasler not only reports and produces news from across the state, she oversees all stories that are distributed to public radio stations statewide. Her broadcasting career, however, began at Otterbein's WOBN radio station — at that time in the basement of Cowan Hall. She graduated with a dual degree in broadcasting and journalism, and a year later, was reporting for WCBE public radio in Columbus. Named news director shortly afterward, she remained at the station until 1994, when she was selected as a fellow in the prestigious Kiplinger Master's Program for Mid-Career Journalists at The Ohio State University. She moved to Cleveland's WTAM Radio in 1996 to become their afternoon anchor and assignment editor. For the next eight years, she covered numerous live events, including the Republican National Convention in 2000, and she was a media witness to the execution of Wilford Berry. In her current role, Kasler has anchored the bureau's live coverage of the Ohio governor's state of the state address each year, and the gubernatorial inaugurations in 2007 and 2011. She has moderated numerous political debates, produced features on STEM education, "green" business and campaign ads, and hosts the bureau's weekly television show, The State of Ohio.

- Best In-Depth Coverage, Ohio Excellence in Journalism Awards, 2008, 2010, 2013, 2014
- Three-time nominee, Ohio Valley Chapter of the National Academy of Television Arts & Sciences (Emmys)

- National Headliner Award, 1992

Alumni Pacesetter Award

MARGENETT MOORE-ROBERTS '94

"Now that I've been at Yahoo! for four years, I am working on diversity initiatives. I'm now at the point that I want to do something that is more meaningful, using the expertise I learned at Otterbein."

Margenett Moore-Roberts '94

As general manager of video monetization and senior director of video advertising strategy for Yahoo! from 2011-2016, Margenett Moore-Roberts was responsible for developing and executing a comprehensive business plan for network video and content syndication offerings. She collaborated with all departments in the company to educate their employees on these plans. Just this month, Moore-Roberts was promoted to an even bigger challenge as the global head of inclusion and diversity at Yahoo! A theatre major at Otterbein, Moore-Roberts moved to New York City in the summer of 1998. She took a job at a small startup company to pay the bills, and found that she enjoyed helping the business grow from the ground up. She went on to work for several more startups, including ScanScout in 2007, where her career in digital advertising began. When Moore-Roberts moved to Yahoo!, the organization did not have a network video area, and she embraced the opportunity to build the $50 million dollar business unit in two and a half years. When Yahoo! purchased another business, she helped set the groundwork for the $640 million acquisition. As the senior director of video advertising, she drove alignment and cross-functional collaboration across the company, delivering more than $90 million in revenue over three years.

- Chair, Yahoo! Black Network, present
- Vice president, ad operations and client services, ScanScout, 2007–2011
- Vice president, client services, Muze, Inc., 2001–2007

Special Achievement Award

DR. CARLTON BATES '86

"In research, there's a lot of rejection, a lot of banging your head on the wall, but you do it because you are learning new things that no one else has ever known before. That's where the real kick comes in."

Dr. Carlton Bates '86

A clinical pediatric nephrologist and basic research scientist, Dr. Carl Bates has been conducting and overseeing research on kidney and bladder disease in children for over 20 years. In 2008, he was recruited by the Children's Hospital of Pittsburgh/ University of Pittsburgh School of Medicine to start a fellowship training program for, and to head research in, pediatric nephrology. Since then, he has procured international recognition for both programs as professor of pediatrics, cell biology and developmental biology; division chief of pediatric nephrology; and director of the Pediatric Nephrology Fellowship Training Program. In fact, his own research, and that of the fellows he oversees, has received continuous funding from the National Institutes of Health for nearly 15 years. Dr. Bates graduated from The Ohio State University College of Medicine in 1991 and completed his residency at Nationwide Children's Hospital, then pursued training in pediatric nephrology at the University of Texas, Southwestern Medical Center at Dallas. He was with Nationwide Children's Hospital/The Ohio State University for nine years before moving to Pittsburgh. His contributions as a clinician-scientist were recognized by the prestigious American Society of Clinical Investigation in 2014, when he was inducted into the medical honor society.

- Chair, Organizing Committee, International Workshop on Developmental Nephrology, 2013-15
- Councilor, International Pediatric Nephrology Association, 2010–present
- Standing member of NIH review panels, ZRG1 DKUS-F and Kidney, Urologic and Hematologic Diseases D Subcommittee, 2012-2016
- Standing member, Basil O'Connor Research Advisory Committee for the March of Dimes, 2011-present
- Member and past chair, Program Committee of the American Society of Nephrology, 2008-2010
- Member and co-chair, Research Committee of the American Society of Nephrology, 2008-2010

Special Achievement Award MICHAEL MCKINNEY '86

"I walked out of Otterbein feeling that it was important to ask why. That has been significant for me throughout my career. You can spot the agents who have had the type of experience that I received from Otterbein — well-rounded, outspoken, they find a way to speak their mind without upsetting the apple cart."

Michael McKinney '86

As an FBI agent for nearly 25 years, Michael McKinney directly planned and participated in over 50 undercover investigations that involved corruption, fraud, counterintelligence, drugs and violent crimes. With a degree in accounting and business administration, the FBI was not McKinney's first career choice. Shortly after graduation, he took a position as a bank manager in Dublin, but after five years, he decided to take his career in a very different direction and applied to the FBI. At 23, he met the minimum age requirement and was one of the younger applicants (28-30 years old is the average age). During his tenure with the agency, he was based in Buffalo, Washington, D.C., and Atlanta, but he participated in and managed cases in cities across the country, including San Francisco, New Orleans, Chicago and Memphis. Some undercover cases lasted a month, others a year or more. The longest case — taking three years to complete — took place in Memphis. McKinney supervised an undercover operation that ended with the arrest of seven state lawmakers for accepting bribes. For his role in Operation Tennessee Waltz, he received the Director's Award for Excellence in Criminal Investigations, one of the highest honors in the FBI. McKinney retired in 2015, and is now the director of corporate security for McKesson, a Fortune 500 pharmaceutical and health care company.

- Director's Award for Excellence in Criminal Investigations, 2008
- Supervised trial of former mayor of Atlanta, Bill Campbell, 2006
- Coordinator, FBI's Corporate Fraud Task Force, 2002–2003
- Division III All-American in Basketball, 1986

Distinguished Alumnus Award

DR. MELLAR DAVIS '74

"My faith is pretty strong; it's probably what drives me. It centers you in the morning so you know what's important — your patients."

Dr. Mellar Davis '74

Shortly after receiving Otterbein's Special Achievement Award in 1999, Mellar P. Davis, MD, moved to the Cleveland Clinic to practice and conduct research in the oncology and palliative care departments at the Taussig Cancer Center, Solid Tumor Division and Department of Ethics. Over time, Dr. Davis' focus has turned to palliative care, helping cancer patients, as well as those with other life-threatening diseases, to manage pain and emotional trauma. As a specialist, he steps in soon after diagnosis to work with the patient to ease the side effects of the disease and its treatment, and to oversee psychological and family care. It is important to Dr. Davis that his patients feel they are heard and respected by their medical team. While much of his time is spent with patients, he continues to conduct research in palliative care; most recently, he has been studying the fatigue experienced by cancer patients. Since 2008, Dr. Davis has directed the Cleveland Clinic's fellowship program for palliative medicine, a post-graduate training program, which accepts four fellows each year. In addition, he has helped develop a third-year curriculum course in palliative medicine that will begin this year at the Cleveland Clinic Lerner College of Medicine at Case Western Reserve University, where he also teaches.

- Co-chair, International Conference on Opioids, Harvard University, Boston, 2015
- Leading Physician of the World and Top Oncologist and Lung Cancer and Palliative Medicine Specialist in Cleveland, International Association of Oncologists, 2012
- Published book recognized as one of "Top Six Books in Oncology," British Medical Association, 2010
- Best Doctors: Medical Oncology and Hematology and Internal Medicine/Hospice and Palliative Medicine, Cleveland Magazine, 2007–2013
- Teacher of the Year, Palliative Medicine, 2007–08, 2011, 2014
- Published nearly 270 peer-reviewed manuscripts (253 since 2000)

Giving Societies

THANKS TO OUR DONORS!

The Joanne Van Sant Society

Joanne Van Sant, better known as "Dean Van," served Otterbein for more than 50 years. Through her leadership and mentorship, she had a positive impact on countless students, graduates, faculty and staff, and community leaders. In that spirit of unwavering commitment, Otterbein proudly established the Joanne Van Sant Leadership Giving Society. This annual giving society recognizes donors whose annual giving is at or exceeds $1,000. Annual giving is based on the fiscal year, which runs from July 1 to June 30.

The 1847 Society

The 1847 Society recognizes those alumni, parents and friends of Otterbein University who have documented their commitment by naming the University as a beneficiary in their estate planning. Anyone who has included Otterbein and provided documentation is eligible for membership.

Thoughtful planning now ensures that future generations will continue to benefit from the exceptional educational experience that Otterbein has provided since its founding in 1847. A planned gift provides a perfect opportunity to honor a loved one, an inspiring professor or a field of study that has made an impact on your life. You can create a legacy that takes into account your family needs, reflects your values and gives back to future generations.

What do they all have in common?

They all found their potential at Otterbein. Will you STAND and be counted and give that opportunity and experience to today's Otterbein students?

Members of the Class of 2019

make it COUNT

Put Your Otterbein Pride to Work
