MOONCHILDREN

Biographies

Timothy D. Allwein (Scene Shop Supervisor/ Assistant Technical Director), graduated from OSU in 1991 with a BFA in Theatre Technology and bleeds scarlet and grey. He convinced his wife, Meg, from North Carolina, to get a transfusion.

Alex Alessandri-Bruce (Costume Designer) marks his 6th design for CATCO with Moonchildren. He is very happy to have the opportunity to work with the Otterbein staff and students.

Gregory Bell (Technical Director) is an Associate Professor, Production Manager/ Technical Director at Otterbein College Theatre.

Krisdee Bires (Props Master) is a theatre design/tech major at Otterbein College. She will graduate after her internship this spring at La MaMa Experimental Theatre Club.

Sandra Cox (Stage Manager) returns to CATCO where she previously stage managed Forever Plaid and Later Life. She is pleased to say that she finally can find her car in the Riffe garage without too much difficulty.

Rodney L. Cross (Ralph, Effing) is an Otterbein graduate, making his 4th appearance at CATCO. He is honored and privileged to be a part of this collaboration and dedicates this performance to his sister, Toija Cross.

George A. DeShetler, Jr. (Assistant Master Electrician) is a junior BFA Design/Tech major at Otterbein College. He would like to thank his family and friends for their love and support.

Eric DySart (Dick) is a junior BFA musical theatre major at Otterbein College. His local credits include Columbus' First Night, 1776, A Chorus Line, Hamlet, Wind in the Willows and the MC in Otterbein's 1996 production of Cabaret.

Amy Ellenberger (Kathy) is an Otterbein BFA acting senior from Toledo. She sends her love to mom, dad, Sarah, Al, Kurt, Suzanne, Aunt Nancy and always, Chris.

Jonathan Erwin (Sound Board Operator) is a freshman BFA Design/Tech major at Otterbein from Upper Arlington, OH. He would like to thank his family and friends for their support.

Thomas Fortman (Lucky, Bream, Cootie's Father) It's been many moons, but Tom is very pleased to return to the CATCO stage for his 10th production—including The Homecoming, Prelude To A Kiss and Season's Greetings.

Tobias Fulp (Assistant Scenic Designer & Set Decorator) is a 3rd year BFA Design/Tech student at Otterbein College. He is from Houston, TX and finds theatre in OH a very amusing activity (a lot better than Texas!)

Stephanie R. Gerckens (Scenic Designer) is pleased to be working on this collaboration between CATCO and her alma mater, Otterbein College. She has designed scenery for The Gin Game, Table Manners and Forever Plaid at CATCO.

Olivia Goldsberry (Assistant Stage Manager) is pursuing a BA concentrating in acting and stage/theatre management. She is glad to take part in this new experience and thanks family and friends.

Marcia L. Hain (Costume Shop Supervisor) Since joining the Otterbein tech team in 1989, Marci has designed several productions. Marcia is a 1977 graduate of OSU with a BS in Home Economics.

Robyn A. Henry (Assistant Stage Manager) is a BFA Theatre Design/Tech student at Otterbein College. She is excited about this opportunity to work with CATCO and thanks her family and friends for their support.

Nikdd Hersh (Shelly) is a junior BFA major at Otterbein and has appeared in Marcus is Walking and The Emperors New Clothes. She would like to thank her friends and family.

Sam Jaeger (Bob) is in his 1st production at CATCO and his 7th at Otterbein. He was recently selected as a finalist for the National Irene Ryan Competition in Washington, DC.

Jared Jensen (male understudy) is a BFA acting major at Otterbein who lives in Chicago and Colorado Springs. He was last seen as the Player King in Otterbein's 1997 production of Hamlet.

Amber Mellott (Female Understudy) is an Otterbein acting major from Westerville, OH. She would like to say "Hi!" to her mom, Rob & Aubrey.

Keya Myers-Alldire (Master Electrician/ Sound Engineer) had fun working with Dave Mead and Dana White and the terrific Otterbein technical students. She hopes this show is the 1st of many mutually beneficial collaborations between CATCO and Otterbein College.

Bonnie Milne Gardner (Dramaturg) directs and teaches theatre at Ohio Wesleyan; other CATCO shows include subUrbia (dramaturg), Sisters (director) and original plays in all three Shorts Festivals.

Jason Podplesky (Norman) graduated from Otterbein College in 1993 and now works full-time for CATCO as the Company Manager. Some recent shows at CATCO have been Marvin's Room, subUrbia, Love! Valour! Compassion! and Taking Sides.

Celina Clarich Polanco (Ruth) is a senior (!) BFA musical theatre major from Corpus Christi, TX. This is her final Otterbein performance and she dedicates it to the women she admires most--mom, Yvette and her Spice Girls.

Jonathan Putnam (Mr. Willis) is a resident actor at CATCO where he acts, directs and teaches. This season he has appeared as most of the inhabitants at Bly in The Turn of the Screw and half the population of Tuna, Texas in A Tuna Christmas.

Michael Schertzer (Assistant Technical Director) is a sophomore BFA Design/Tech major at Otterbein College. He would like to thank his family, friends, Greg Bell, Tim Allwein, and Brothers of Pi Beta Sigma.

Stacey Sinclair (Light Board Operator) is a freshman BFA Design/Tech major at Otterbein College. She is thankful to her family, friends, and God for helping her get this far in her journey.

Rich Stadler (Uncle Murry, Milkman) Moonchildren marks Rich's CATCO debut and his 18th year in Columbus theatre. A co-founding member of Red Herring Theatre Company, his most memorable role there was Vladimir in Waiting for Godot.

Ben Stewart (Cootie) is a sophomore at Otterbein College, where he has appeared in Hamlet and 1776. He dedicates his performance to his parents, the phat pads and Geoff.

Shad Swinehart (Mike) is a junior musical theatre major from Gahanna, OH. He was last seen in 1776 at Otterbein. He would like to thank God, his parents, his brother, his friends, Pi Beta Sigma, Damon and Rae-Michelle.

Ed Vaughan (Director), Associate Professor in the Dept. of Theatre & Dance at Otterbein College, has been involved in more than 200 theatrical productions. Ed's most enjoyable passions are following his son & daughter-in-law's military careers, hanging out with his college freshman daughter and going to the Drexel with Cary.

Sheryl Warren (Electrician) is a sophomore BFA Design/Tech major at Otterbein College. She'd like to thank her family, Josh and Markie.

Dana L. White (Lighting Designer) is a professor at Otterbein College, an Associate Artist at Purple Rose Theatre Company and a member of United Scenic Artists.

We thank the CATCO volunteer House Managers for their dedication:

MOONCHILDREN

Written and compiled by Bonnie Milne Gardner

The Off-Broadway theatre company, Second Stage, has enjoyed numerous awards and accolades over the past ten years by devoting each production season to the works of one playwright—including Edward Albee, Horton Foote, and Adrienne Kennedy. But for its premiere season in 1987-88, Second Stage spotlighted Michael Weller, reviving Moonchildren and Loose Ends and introducing a new play, Spoils of War, which eventually moved to Broadway.

Although Weller graduated from Brandeis University in 1965 with a degree in music, his formative years had included a variety of theatre experiences. Born in New York in 1942, son of a well-to-do photographer, Weller says he was deeply touched by his first theatre experience; seeing Beauty and the Beast in Las Vegas, though he's not sure why. He participated in drama classes and productions at Stockbridge prep school, playing the middle-aged Peer Gynt at one point. At Brandeis, he joined "Hi-Charlie," a group that did original musicals. He began by writing scores, but eventually scripted dialogue as well. A playwriting teacher at Brandeis encouraged Weller to study theatre in England after graduation, so he went to the University of Manchester. He married, and lived in England from 1965 to 1971, where his plays were first professionally produced. It was for a commission from London's Royal Court Theater, around 1970, that he wrote Moonchildren. It was first performed here the following year.

While studying in England, Weller was very much influenced by British writers John Osborne and John Arden, as well as Irish playwright Sean O'Casey. Although his early plays were often compared to Chekhov, Weller had never read his work, and disliked the few incompetent productions he'd seen as a student. He didn't connect with the established American playwrights of the period, Arthur Miller or Tennessee Williams, but Edward Albee's Zoo Story he found "stunning." Then, in the late sixties, a roommate in England showed him some early works by Lanford Wilson, Leonard Melfi, and Sam Shepard. These off-off-Broadway plays had characters that "sounded like normal people thinking and talking in an American kind of dialogue" that he hadn't yet seen on stage. It was only after being exposed to these writers that Weller believes he found his own voice.

While Moonchildren remains his most produced work, Weller has written nearly twenty other plays that have been produced in New York and major regional theatres around the country. In addition, he wrote the screenplays for Hair (1979) and Ragtime (1980). Weller's plays are praised for skillful, witty dialogue, and sympathetic characterizations. He often examines such modern issues as personal commitment, marriage, and social conscience.

Writing in the September 1994 issue of American Theatre Magazine, Stephanie Coen says:

"(Weller) has been repeatedly characterized (much to his chagrin) as a chronicler of something called the 'American Experience.' The title may be irksome, but it's also apt, although Weller's domain isn't state-of-the-nation so much as a state-of-the-psyche. Many of his plays are set against a political or social backdrop; his characters are poised for Change in the quintessentially liberal-American sense of the word. If those same characters often end up bruised and battered, well, that somehow seems quintessentially American, too."

In the introduction to a 1997 anthology of his work, Weller explains that, as in Moonchildren nearly three decades ago, he continues to be concerned with his generation's chosen lifestyles, but that now he sees it more in relation to "the ideals they try to protect in the face of time, waning energy, increasing confusion and the hardening certainty of our appearance here being a limited engagement." He is particularly fascinated by how he and his closest contemporaries have "now lived to see the world change from one where we could plausibly (and with passion) believe that the efforts of a committed group of people like ourselves might alter a piece of history, to one where most if not all politics has become a subfunction (a rapidly diminishing subfunction) of global commerce." A poignant afterthought for tonight's performance.

Actors' Equity
Association
History

Actors' Equity Association was founded in 1913 to protect actors from the severe mistreatment that permeated the industry at the time. Since its inception Equity has had only twelve presidents. The current president is Ron Silver. The 35,000 member association consists of distinguished stars and other professional actors and stage managers who work nationwide, from New York's Broadway to Los Angeles, from Minneapolis to Miami Beach, in regional, small professional, stock and dinner theatre, and in theatres for young audiences which build the audience of tomorrow. These actors and stage managers are committed to working in the theatre as a professional, not an avocation, and bring to you the finest professional training and experience. By presenting Equity productions, this theatre offers to you, our audience, the best entertainment presented by the finest quality actors and stage managers that your admission dollars can buy.
