Homecoming Celebrated by Win Over Baldwin-Wallace Crew

Annual Student Chest Campaign Scheduled to Begin at Chapel Period This Morning

EIGHT ORGANIZATIONS HAVE ENTERED BUDGETS

$2500 IS GRAND TOTAL

Final Drive Is Scheduled To Come Friday Morning. Will Occupy Regular Chapel Hour.

Under the direction of Ernest Riegel, president of the Student Council, a four-day drive for the Student Chest was officially opened at chapel this morning, and it will continue throughout the succeeding three days of the week. Eight organizations, Y. M. C. A., Y. W. C. A., Section A of Christian Endeavor, Foreign Missions, Student World Service, Varsity "O", Student Council, and Miscellaneous, compose the chest, and the budget worked out by the committee in charge calls for the sum of $2500. During the drive, meetings presided over by Ernest Riegel will replace the chapel sessions.

During this time, members will present the needs of each particular organization in the chest. Y. M. C. A., Y. W. C. A., and Section A of Christian Endeavor were explained today, Varsity "O", Student Council and miscellaneous will be presented Wednesday.

REGULAR MEETING OF DOWNTOWN COACHES

Subject: How Jess caught the pass.

Student Volunteer On Campus

Miss Margaret Bane a traveling representative of the Student Volunteer Movement, was on the campus last Thursday and Friday, holding conferences with those interested in mission and speaking at the regular chapel service on Friday.

Miss Bane is a graduate of Wellesley College and was born in China, only recently returning from the mission fields of China and India.

FALL MEETING OF O. C. N. A. TO BE HELD AT MIAMI

Prominent Journalists Scheduled for Speeches. Managers Invited This Year.

The fall meeting of the Ohio College Newspaper Association of which the Tan and Cardinal is a member will be held at Miami University October 28 and 29. The program will include discussions of editorial and business problems led by editors, talks by prominent journalists and college professors, a banquet luncheon and a football game, the Dad's Day Wittenberg game.

For the first time in the history of the Association the business managers of the papers represented will be present at the meeting. Representatives of the twenty colleges that are now members of the Association are expected to attend. Several well-known newspaper men from Cincinnati and professors of Miami University will give talks on the news, editorials, sports and business fields of the college newspaper.

The Ohio College Newspaper Association was organized in the spring of 1925, to promote better journalism throughout the colleges of Ohio, through an exchange of news, ideas, and cooperative consideration of common problems. It is likely that a representative of both the editorial and business staffs of the Tan and Cardinal will attend the meeting.

O C

Attend Personnel Conference

A personnel conference was held at the Hotel Seneca in Columbus on the week-end of October 15, lead by Owen Pence. Professors Hursh and Troop and Professor and Mrs. Bowman attended the conference.

WILL SPEAK TONIGHT IN COLLEGE CHAPEL

THE REV. M. A. BURRIS

The Reverend Mr. Burris is a lecturer of no little importance. He will, tonight speak at a joint meeting of the Y. M. and Y. W. C. A. on the subject, "Is there a Personal God?"

GLEE CLUB MAY HAVE TO REDUCE MEMBERSHIP

Glee Club material, according to Professor Spessard, has been very disappointing this year. As a result he may be forced to cut the singing part of the organization down to balance the first tenor section which is the weak spot. This will be decided in the next two weeks.

Mrs. Funkhouser Sings In Church

Mrs. Robert Funkhouses of Dayton, a graduate of Otterbein added considerable to the church exercises Sunday morning by singing "The Cross" by Harriet Ware. Mildred Wilson playing the piano and Francis Harris the organ produced an unusually effective accompaniment.

REJUVENATED O. C. TEAM PLAYS EXCELLENT BALL

SCORE IS 14-6

Miller and Hankison Make Touchdown Each. Smith Tallies for Visitors.

An enthusiastic Homecoming crowd saw a clever, hardhitting Baldwin-Wallace team go down to defeat against the doughty Tan and Cardinal team 14 to 6 Saturday afternoon. The Baldwin-Wallace team, famous for having conquered Case a month ago, started out to acquire a victory. Our boys were behind 6-0 when the game was five minutes old. Things looked dark. The B-W team showed an alarming tendency to tear Otterbein's more or less rugged line to shreds and so forth for the first few minutes. This tendency became extremely difficult to detect with the naked eye later in the game when certain of our boys from Westerville, Maple Heights, Greenville and other geographical points of interest began to play football—football that needs the poesy of Homer, the vocabulary of Noah Webster, the oratory of that other Webster and the morality of Hawthorne to describe.

B-W Scores In First Quarter.

At the start Pinney kicked off to the 18-yard line whereupon Quarterback Smith of B-W began to pile up yardage. He ran the ends and he rammed the line till the ball was on the 45-yard line where he was halted. He punted to Lee who fumbled on the 18-yard line. B-W recovered and Smith

HOMEcoming BANQUET FOLLOWS FOOTBALL WIN

REPLOGLE IS TOASTMASTER

Sears, Clippinger, Warson, Landis, Mrs. Johnson and Margaret Widdoes Speak.

The annual Homecoming Banquet held in the United Brethren Church on Saturday evening was attended by a crowd of about 238. Alumni turned out in good numbers, but students failed to give their support to the get-together celebration.

Ernest Riegel, president of the Student Council, introduced Lawrence Replogle of Dayton who acted as Toastmaster. Brief speeches were made by President W. G. Clippinger, Coach A. B. Sears, Alumni Secretary L. W. Warson, J. P. Landis, Mrs. Florence Johnson, and Miss Margaret Widdoes.

Coach Sears stressed the fact that the future of the Athletics of Otterbein lay in the hands of the Alumni, and that unless they sent in athletes of high caliber the level of athletic achievement could not equal that in other schools. In President Clippinger's speech, the fact was brought out that, while the athletic equipment was very much limited at the present time plans were rapidly being laid to enlarge the whole athletic program. He made especial mention of the long dreamed of and much mentioned gymnasium.

Faculty Assists Welfare Program

The October meeting of the Grandview Civic Welfare Club of Columbus was held at the home of Mrs. F. T. Connor, Grandview Heights. The musical program was furnished by two faculty members and a graduate of the Otterbein School of Music. Miss Hazel Barngrover, instructor in violin, played a group of violin solos, accompanied by Miss Frances Harris. Mrs. Floyd Hartpence sang a group of songs.

STUDENT CHEST DRIVE OPENS TUESDAY MORNING

(Continued From Page One). day, Foreign Missions and Student World Service are scheduled for Thursday. Friday will be given over to recapitulation and the final drive.

Formerly Held Many Drives

Before the institution of the system of student chest, there were many small drives every year. Excepting Varsity "O", all are Christian organizations of the chest, and since a majority of the students belong to several, the total amount required far exceeded the sum of $2500. This method of one campaign eliminates the many drives, and proportions the total expenditures equally among the students. This year each of the four classes will be given a proportional amount to raise, and will be entirely responsible for that sum assigned as its quota.

At the end of the Thursday session of the campaign, every student will have an idea of the needs of the different organizations in the chest; so at the last meeting Friday morning there will be, first, a brief summary of the work of the three previous days, and then a final drive for pledges which will continue until the goal of $2500 is reached.

PHILOPHRONEA TO HOLD ALUMNAL SESSION FRI.

The Alumnal Session which was to be the Homecoming meeting will be held this Friday. Prof. Altman will preside. The session will be open.

A well filled room witnessed a real literary session last Friday night. Rohrer, G. W. read an exceptionally good essay on the King Hall food question, offering a plausible solution. Bright, T. R. presented a thrilling adventure. Extemporaneous speaking was unusually well done. The whole meeting was up to the old Philophrone standard and the old alumni who were back gave several enthusiastic talks. Everybody is invited to come out to the open session this Friday.

WITTENBERG DEDICATES NEW SCIENCE BUILDING

President Clippinger and Professors Weinland and Clippinger Are Present.

Thursday, Friday, and Saturday of last week marked the dedication of the new Chemistry-Psychology building at Wittenberg College in Springfield, Ohio. In addition to the actual dedication festivities a symposium on "Feelings and Emotions" was conducted by the Psychology Department at the school with some of the foremost psychologists of the world in attendance, and a conference on chemistry by leading chemists of national importance.

The psychological symposium was probably the better of the two parts of the dedication for men of world wide fame read papers on various subjects. Two of Germany's leading psychologists read papers.

The Otterbein chemistry department was represented on Thursday at the conference on chemistry by Professor Donald Clippinger. President Clippinger was also at the Thursday meetings. On Friday Professor L. A. Weinland represented the department at the conference. Probably the greatest chemist in attendance was Edgar Fahs Smith of the University of Pennsylvania.

MIAMI'S "BIG RED" TEAM MAY WIN FLAG

MUSKINGUM OUT OF RACE

Field Will Narrow Saturday When Wittenberg Meets Miami. Dayton Strong.

As a result of Muskingum's defeat at the hands of Akron last Saturday, three teams are now being touted as possible winners in the Ohio Conference. Miami, Wittenberg and Dayton are undefeated and appear to have strong elevens.

Until last week's game, Muskingum was figured for at least a tie for the conference honors. Now, however, it is doubtful if the Muskies finish this high.

Miami is chosen by many as the probable champion. As Otterbein athletes can testify, Miami has an exceptional team which has exhibited great drive. Wittenberg is also showing fine form. The Springfield crew meets Miami this Saturday while Dayton is playing Wilmington.

Dayton displayed little to be proud of in its on conference game at Cincinnati. However in their other games the Flyers have made a creditable showing, although losing to Holy Cross and the Quantico Marines. Dayton must defeat both Miami and Wittenberg if it is to go through the conference season undefeated. The race promises to be hard fought and an extremely interesting one.

Fox then kicked off to Riegle who was tackled on the 43-yard line. The first quarter ended without further happenings that counted in the score. The second quarter began with the ball in Otterbein's possession and 37 yards to go. Miller made an end run for 2; Hadfield plunged through the line for 5 more; Miller and Minnich reeled off a yard each. Miller added four more. It was last down and 5 yards to go. Minnich threw a long pass to Miller who caught it and crossed the white line for a touchdown. He drop-kicked the extra point. And we were ahead 7-6. B-W then opened up with an aerial attack that took the ball to the one foot line when the half ended.

Score Again

Pinney kicked off over the goal line in the third quarter. An exchange of plays placed the ball on B-W's 16-yard line where B-W held and was penalized to their one foot line. Smith punted offside on the 28-yard line. Otterbein had no immediate need of

NEXT GAME IS WITH MUSKINGUM ELEVEN

The Otterbein grid team journeys to New Concord Saturday to play the strong Muskingum team.

Muskingum has beaten such teams as Capital, Kenyon and Denison by large scores. Saturday Akron University beat them 20-12. Their main offensive weapon is the forward pass; Wilson to Taylor. The morale of Otterbein is very high and they are going to give the Muskies a battle they will remember with ease.

BONEBRAKE RACQUET MEN TRIM HOME BOYS

Ashcraft and Howe Do Good Work For Seminary Winning All Faculty Contests.

Superior work by the two faculty racquet weilders from Bonebrake gave the Seminary the edge in its tennis match with Otterbein last Friday afternoon. The students broke even in their matches while all the faculty contests went to Bonebrake.

Among the professors, Howe defeated Troop, 6-0, 6-4, and Ashcraft downed Engle 6-1, 6-0, in the singles. The invaders also took the doubles, 6-4 and 6-1.

In the student singles, Lai beat Welty 6-3 and 6-1; McConaughy of last year's Otterbein team, downed Sanders 6-1, 6-8, and 6-4; Propst lead Ishimora 6-4 and 6-3; and Abasola conquered Thompson 7-5 and 6-3.

Lai and Mumma were successful over Welty and McConaughy in the doubles, 4-6, 6-4, and 6-1, but Propst and Diehl lost to Abasola and Ishimora 8-6 and 6-4.

another touchdown as they were ahead by one point but due to their love of the game they decided to make another touchdown. Hadfield charged the line with such catapultic force as to gain eight yards. Jess Miller ran around several would-be tacklers for fifteen yards. Lee added a yard and Miller gained five around right end. A mathematical survey showed that about four yards intervened between the line of scrimmage and the goal line. On the next play Hankison went through the line for a touchdown. Jess Miller drop kicked the extra point. Otterbein was ahead 14 to 6. There was no further scoring.

Every man on the team played a great game of football for Otterbein. The team as a whole tackled hard, ran the ball with skill and won the game decisively. In B-W they met a most capable foe. Smith of Lorain, O. is a great backfield triple threat man. Schwegler and others played a great game. Bennett the best end that B-W has this year received a very severe injury in the second quarter. He caught a pass successfully and when tackled he suffered a slight fracture of the skull and was taken to the hospital.

Coach Sears deserves great credit for the victory. He kept throwing in his reserve forces at opportune moments throughout the game.

The victory broke the Homecoming jinx that has pursued the team since the Hiram game of three years ago.

Both Pinney and Smith averaged 33 yards on punts. The upstate men tried eleven forward passes. Six of these were completed for a total gain of 50 yards. Three were incomplete and two were intercepted. Otterbein tried four passes. Two were N. G., one was intercepted and one was completed for 24 yards and a touchdown.

Frosh-Soph Game Won By Frosh In Overtime Period. Juniors Forfeit To Seniors.

Seniors are in undisputed possession of first place in speedball league.

Only one of the three games scheduled was played this week. The sophomores played the freshmen Monday. The juniors forfeited to the seniors Wednesday and the game for Friday was postponed because of the pep rally.

The Frosh-Soph game was about the best game ever seen here this year. A five minute overtime period was needed to determine a victor. A penalty kick won the game for the freshmen, the final score being 12-11.

The results this week find the seniors in the lead with three victories and no defeats.

"Our college students—I borrow the figure of speech from a woman who knows them well—are more interested in the labels on their intellectual luggage than in what it contains; and so far as this is true it is largely because they have been taught at school to look no farther than the collegiate port of entry."—Henry Holmes.

A SUCCESSFUL CHEST

From the experience of last year it has been shown that the student chest as a means of financing student organizations and forming a nucleus for the giving of money to foreign causes and other causes outside of the campus, is very successful. All the organizations that were in the chest last year report that they were on a much better financial basis at the end of the year than they had ever been before.

Students would much rather give to Christian causes in a concerted way than to give a little here and a little there. When we give a little at a time there is no real thought put on the amount of money given. Usually some small amount is given just to get rid of the solicitor. But with the plan of the student chest, the amount expected of each student is large enough to make any one stop and consider what the money will be used for.

In this unified way of giving there is an opportunity given for each of us to see just what relation our giving should have to the money we spend for the non-essentials. Thus, there are certain features about the management of the student chest that are helpful.

But we must be careful that giving in one lump does not obscure the relative or comparative amount of the gift. It may seem that a gift of five, six or ten dollars to the chest is a great deal for any one person to give, but it is a very small amount compared to the merit of each of the budgets in the total budget. Ten dollars distributed among each of the eight organizations in the chest does not mean a great deal for each individual budget.

It is much handier to give in a lump, but care must be taken to not allow the amount of the gift to deceive one into thinking that a sacrifice is being made. Be careful not to agree with the doctor who wanted to cut off a patient's leg by degrees so that it wouldn't hurt so much.

TIMELY TOPICS

Dear Editor:

Those persons coming in contact with Otterbein College are perfectly aware of the fact that there is considerable dissention among the students, regarding a recent ruling of the board of trustees compelling all the non-resident men of the college to take their meals at King Hall.

This order was a surprise to those attending the college and it was with considerable reluctance that many paid their board for the first four weeks. A few complained of the increasing stringency of student regulations. Some claimed that the ruling imposed inconvenience; others objected to the economic burden.

As a result of the meager personal investigation, I have concluded, and most students will agree that the basic cause of friction is the aversion to compulsion. I am convinced, however that there are a few, a very few exceptions to this.

As far as the food itself is concerned there are practically none who will deny that the price charged for board is reasonable. One or two schools may be pointed out which offer board at a lower rate but the vast majority of schools charge a greater sum. Of the six other places in Westerville at which I have eaten for any length of time, only one could lay claim to providing a more pretentious fare for the same amount of money. This particular place was unique and a commons could under no consideration be conducted in the same manner.

We must push farther back to the fundamental reason: that of resentment to being forced into the water. The ruling came as a distinct shock to the old students and was adopted too suddenly to permit any mental adjustment to the situation. An anticlimax was reached when approximately twenty men withdrew from the hall ostensibly for economic as well as other reasons.

Henry Clay, that pride of Kentucky is known to have remarked some years ago "I'd rather be right than president." At present, I'd rather be fair-minded than right. It is not so much a question now, of civil or ethical right or wrong as it is of attitudes, tolerance and mutual understanding. In this attempted analysis of the situation I may be completely in error, but I hope to be fair.

It is not difficult in this question, as in any other, to find a second side.

Some students may resent the unwillingness of their representatives in student government to take immediate action. This point of view can scarce be supported. The representatives of the entire student body have no right to interfere, for the matter concerns only the men. To ask the women representatives to be instrumental in trying to justify the unwillingness of forty or fifty students to eat in King Hall would not be fair to them and would invite dissatisfaction from the women students themselves. If, indeed any action were hastily taken, it would be entirely futile for a reason entirely obvious, but which will be considered later.

Those in immediate charge of the running of King Hall certainly have nothing to do with the existing conditions. It must be completely understood that they are but serving the college and ably at that as well as fairly, to both authorities and students, as a few students are in a position to see, and in part, appreciate.

I have mentioned an illusion to the increase in rigidity of regulations of the college. This objection can hardly be substantiated. There are those connected with the college who can remember when students were compelled to attend Sunday worship; when they were not permitted on Sunday afternoons to walk abroad in groups. It has been remarked to me that formerly it was an unheard of thing for a man to enter Cochran Hall. We cannot compare conditions today and formerly. Unquestionably students have many more privileges.

If students wished to withdraw from the hall, it seems not absurd that they should have appealed to the faculty committee which would not have been unreasonable if the appeal was well founded as it doubtless would have been in at least several of the individual cases.

We cannot contrast the faculty viewpoint with that of the students, for it is alike in a few instances and further, the ruling was not that of the faculty, thus eliminating them from active concern in the problem.

Let us consider for a moment, the administration. It may be imprudent or even improper to deal with personalities, but I fail to see how it can be avoided. I have heard only expressions of satisfaction with the fairness and liberality of the administration. However, the president, regardless of his own feelings in order to perform his duty must enforce the legislation of the board of trustees. There is no alternative, though the exercise of force has been avoided as far as it has been possible to do so, that is the real son why no action of the student body or no opinion of the president could avail anything. There is no force within the school that can alter the decree of the board.

All these things have been preliminary. We do not approach the heart of the situation until we see the basis for the trustee action. Unfortunately, the author of this production is in no position to explain this, nor, perhaps, should he presume to attempt it. Looking at the situation on the surface, however, it is evident that in King Hall, the college has what in management may be regarded as an investment. To care for the upkeep of the hall, it of course requires furnaces and it would be absurd not to expect this enterprise at least to support itself. The most apparent method of effecting this was adopted. This, briefly is the case as it appears at face value though there may be more subtle considerations which are not apparent. The trustees can certainly not be criticized for holding this view.

Personally, there is no place in Westerville where I would rather take my meals, and while I adhere sufficiently to the principles of democracy to resent strenuously any unreasonable compulsion which affects me, I have done all that I can to stand by the King Hall authorities in an attempt to effect a reconciliation.

It is my belief that the trustees, whom I respect as the highest governing power in the college do have the interest of the students at heart, as well as a justifiable solicitude for the well fare of King Hall, but that their contacts with actual student life are so slight as to deny them the point of view of the students. Let the board be reminded that most of the men in college are of age; many are supporting themselves in school. Surely the majority of students here are old enough to have the power of choice in regards to the selection of a place to eat.

I do not want to be unduly prejudiced, for I, too, realize that King Hall does exist and must be maintained.

I would suggest that lower classmen alone be required to eat in the commons. It is of significance to note that there is little opposition among the freshmen. There would be comparatively little difficulty in causing freshmen and sophomores, especially those of next year, to comply. At present, there is a danger of the lower classmen being prejudiced by the unfavorable reaction of the upper classmen. Under the suggested plan, seventy-five would not be too high an estimate of the number who would be expected to observe the ruling. This is approximately twenty-five less than the number who should be eating at King Hall at the present time. It is true that this is scarcely half the number that the commons could accommodate, but if the proposition were made reasonably attractive these students, becoming upper classmen will choose to continue at the Hall as many have done this year and as last year's record reveals, when there was no compulsion. Soon, it would be a matter of course and in a few years the student patronage of King Hall commons would afford the authorities no cause for dissatisfaction.

At present, the ruling has impaired student morale perceptibly and a remedy should be supplied as quickly as possible. Now, if at any time the students must show their loyalty to Otterbein College, yet they cannot assent to that in which they do not believe.

Obviously, a little pride must be sacrificed and both sides must make concessions if the result is to be satisfactory. If the trustees were wrong in adopting the regulation, so did the students exercise poor judgement in revolting. (But who may judge?).

The only way that I see in which to agree is for the students voluntarily to come back into the good graces of the authorities and for the board to consider student viewpoint and human nature and modify its decision. Is this fair

ENTHUSIASM OF OLD GRADS PEP UP RALLY

GIRLS PLAY FOOTBALL

Band Leads Parade of Floats and Freshmen Through Business Section To Field.

The students and alumni of Otterbein answered the call of the cheer leaders Saturday morning and gathered in the college chapel for the usual pep rally. The cheer leaders, John Hudock, Robert Whipp, Fred Miller, Ruth Weimer and Faith Baker, conducted the opening cheers in such a manner that before many minutes had passed, the spirit of the student body was at its zenith. The cheers were long and loud and did much to prepare the Varsity gridders for the battle of the afternoon.

After the cheers had subsided somewhat, several of Otterbein's prominent alumni were introduced, increasing the enthusiasm two fold by their very interesting pep talks. Those who took part in this part of the program were: C. A. Welbaum, assistant Principal of an Akron High School; Paul Sprout (Sprouty); Harold Anderson, assistant coach at Toledo Waite; and "Bozo" Richter, head coach at Canal Fulton High School.

After the pep talks, the band played the Otterbein fight song, accompanied by the enthusiastic singing of the student body. Curt Poulton sang some solos accompanied by his guitar and banjo.

The girls showed their originality by being present in football uniforms and putting on a miniature football game.

The rally was ended by the singing of the love song and a plea from the continue their wonderful spirit during the game.

The parade just before the game, also proved to be very successful. It was led by the band and followed by floats representing Cochran and Saum Halls and the freshman class. Immediately behind the floats followed the loyal freshmen who marched to the music of the band and added pep to the spirit of the afternoon. It proceeded up College avenue, turned north on State street, and west on Home street to the athletic field.

The committee of the Student Council in charge of Homecoming provided unique badges this year in the form of a miniature megaphone and badge combined, so little wonder that Tan and Cardinal rooters let forth so much noise at the game. Programs were the popular thing also, for 275 were sold.

Men Entertain Also

In last week's edition of the Tan and Cardinal the statement was made that only the non-group girls were entertaining alumnae at Homecoming. The facts in the matter were that the men entertained the non-group alumni also. It was the men who originated the idea of inviting back the non-group grads.

HOME COMING

"The best ever" is what they said about it. An ideal day, a large and enthusiastic crowd, a fine game, a substantial victory mixed with a spirit of good-fellowship made the day one to be remembered.

Owing to the preparations which had been made by the Student Council, the Literary Societies, the Social Groups and other organizations every thing went off on schedule time.

Every one seemed to enjoy the "Pep" rally at 10:00 o'clock Saturday morning. Besides the stunts put on by the students Cletus Welbaum class of '10, now of Bellaire, Ohio, Harold Anderson, '24, Waite High, Toledo, and "Bozo" Richter, '25, helped with "peppy" speeches.

Early in the day the campus was alive with returning former students and the ideal day allowed them to meet the co-mingle on the campus. Then the game ended according to our hopes and expectations and was followed by the banquet at 6:30 attended by about 350, mostly Alumni. The banquet ended at 8:00 allowing the groups and other organizations to continue the festivities.

We would like to mention every one who was back but this is impossible. There were two who seemed to enjoy the game and other festivities as much as the more recent graduates. These were Dr. J. P. Landis, class of '69, Dayton, O., and Dr. D. H. Welling, Worthington, Ohio, who attended in '67 and '68.

All in all it was an ideal day.

DAYTON OTTERBEIN SOROSIS

We greatly appreciate the following report of the Dayton Otterbein Sorosis. We hope that the enthusiasm of these clubs will spread to other sections.

The September meeting of the Otterbein Sorosis was held at the home of the president Mrs. A. T. Howard, and being the first meeting of the year, proved to be a very enthusiastic one which was enjoyed by a large group of Otterbein women. Mrs. Jaynes was chairman of the evening and she, with the aid of a competent committee provided a most entertaining program.

Mrs. Dale Phillippi, chairman of the program committee read the outline of programs for the year and the report of her summer's work on it was happily accepted and everyone present entered into the prevalent spirit to make this the best year the Sorosis has ever known.

The report of the Garden Party was also read at this meeting. The members present were pleased and quite surprised to learn that a profit of over $60 was realized in this manner. The party was to be held outdoors on the campus of beautiful McKinley Park but due to rain, it was necessary to make a transfer to First U. B. Church with very short notice. This undoubtedly curtailed the receipts greatly, but nevertheless the Sorosis ladies were all cheered at being able to send their check for $75 to the College to be applied to the endowment fund.

The October meeting, held October 13th, took the form of a covered dish supper. The meeting was held at Hills and Dales country club with quite an unusual attendance.

The enthusiasm seems to grow with each other. A large increase in enrollment is therefore predicted by the end of the year.

This club, as usual, is starting off with lots of enthusiasm. Plans are being made to further aid the interests of Otterbein. This club not only responded nobly in the endowment campaign but has financially helped worthy students to continue their courses in the college. $100 was added to the scholarship fund at the meeting. This club should be an inspiration to other communities to organize similar clubs.

ATHLETICS FOR ALL

By two and threes, the football team drifts back to the campus after a game away from home. No peals from the chapel bell in old College Hall tower floated across the Alum in Saturday's sunset hour. The little group watching the telegraph score board uttered no victorious cheers when the final figures were announced. Varsity has lost to Miami.

The odds are, a listener at King Hall commons or in any of the campus club rooms, or, perchance, even in Cochran Hall's invaded living rooms would note a preponderance of small talk revolving about the recent game.

College presidents express concern over the current craze for a winning team, and thinking students decry editorially at Harvard and elsewhere "overemphasis" on athletics. The situation is not novel.

Nearly three thousand years ago the Greeks erected a statue in Olympia to the memory of Theagenes, a noted athlete, who has defeated all his competitors. Pindar tells in lyric verse of the unwelcome return of those who failed in the Greek games. The Roman Coliseum reverberated with the shouts of thousands of frenzied spectators of the gladiatorial combats. And long before the advent of modern stadia the cricket fields of England drew their crowds, and the Marquis of Queensberry gave his name to boxing rules.

At the height of seasonal football enthusiasm there comes with added force the advice of Princeton's great coach, "Bill" Roper, to forget football off the field. Quoting from his book, "Football Today and Tomorrow", just off the press, Roper says: "Football is merely a healthy form of recreation indulged in by men engaged in securing a college education. It takes two hours of their day, a day filled with one hundred and one demands on the modern undergraduate from the social and scholastic side of college life. The present popularity of football, we believe, is deserved; but rather than have the players get a distorted idea of the importance of the game we would have them forget it after leaving the field. The idea of having your men eat, sleep and talk football might work—but not at Princeton."

Roper expresses strong disapproval of spring practice. "It tends to overemphasize the game, takes much of the fun out of it for the players by making it a grind, and as a method of whipping a team into shape it is unsatisfactory."

The modern and intelligent tendency it is submitted, aims to subordinate these great spectacular contests to their proper place as incidents in a comprehensive plan of athletics for all, building up sturdy bodies to cope with the demands of business and professional life when college days are over.

Burris to Speak on "Is There A Personal God" at "Y" Tonight

IS NATIONAL FORUM LEADER AND LECTURER

GRADUATE OF HARVARD

Formerly Head of Department of Philosophy and Religious Education at Northern.

Tonight, in the chapel the Reverend M. A. Burris, a graduate of Harvard University and former professor of Religious Education and Philosophy at Ohio Northern University, will deliver an address to the two Christian Associations and all townspeople who care to attend, at 6:30 on the question, "Is There a Personal God?" After the address there will be an opportunity given for questions that may arise concerning the material given or concerning the problems dealing with the existence of a God that may arise in the minds of students.

The Reverend Mr. Burris is a preacher, scientist, professor, author and lecturer. He has written six books, perhaps the most outstanding of which is "The Science of Tendencies" which has been published within the last three years. He is a lecturer at present, and writes during his odd moments, other books being now in the process of completion.

ious Education at Ohio Northern University. Resigning there he went on the lecture platform and for the last five years has been doing lecture work in practically all parts of the United States and parts of Canada.

Burris is real thinker, inviting questions and endeavoring to engage in all debates possible on the question of the spiritual center of the universe. Only this last year he sent a challenge into the headquarters of the American Association for the Advancement of Atheism to debate the question of whether there is or is not a personal God, in an open debate. The four A's society refused to debate the question.

Is Debater

An opportunity will be given for those who do not or cannot stay for the forum, after the lecture, to go as soon as the address is finished.
