FACULTY ADVISERS ARE APPOINTED FOR FROSH

NOT PLANNED FOR CHECK

New Plan Supplements Old System of Advisors for Juniors and Seniors.

Faculty advisers for freshmen and sophomores is the latest achievement of Otterbein College in its constant striving to bring within the reach of its students the very best social, spiritual, and educational advantages. This plan has been instituted to further the work of Freshman Week by bringing the professor and the student into a relationship which will be both personal and lasting.

In conversation concerning this new venture, Dr. Clippinger said, "This system of providing counsel for the freshmen and sophomores is not an attempt to put a check upon them. It is intended, primarily, to help each student bring out that which is best in him."

The idea of faculty advisership is not entirely new. For many years, each junior and senior has had for his adviser some faculty member from the department in which he is majoring. But this counsel for freshmen and sophomores is intended to go beyond the purely educational questions, and cover every problem of life.

Many students have left college discouraged with themselves, and discouraged with life, when a straightforward talk with some professor might have solved the difficulty. Other students have left because of insufficient funds. The college cannot hope to supply all funds, but if a student is frank about his circumstances, and sincere in his desire for an education, there is no reason why he cannot be aided in completing his college course.

STUDENT FORUM IS ON MENU FOR Y MEETING

"Ernie" Riegel Will Lead Group On Question of Student Honor And Honesty.

A forum on Student Honor and Honesty, is on the menu for the Y. M. C. A. meeting tonight. Ernest Riegel will have charge of the meeting.

This meeting is coming as a follow-up of the meeting led last week by Professor Troop on the question of "getting by" in college work. All men in the college are invited to come to this meeting with questions about the reasons it is or is not morally sound to "get by".

No preconceived notions will be dogmatically maintained, but a frank search for the truth about the question of cribbing will be the order the evening.

Quiz and Quill Meets.

Quiz and Quill club met in Professor Altman's classroom Monday night for its regular meeting. The program consisted of two numbers. Lillian Shively gave some original poems and Marguerite Banner read an informal essay. The club gave its criticisms. Plans for the Christmas magazine were discussed.

CORRECTION

Due to an error, it was stated in last week's Tan and Cardinal that the Varsity "O" had been dropped from the list of Student Chest organizations. Discussion about dropping the Varsity "O" was held at the last Student Council meeting but no definite action was taken on the matter.

CAMPUS COUNCIL MEETS TO PASS ASSOCIATION

To Arrange Exhibits.

In formulating plans for this year's display in the exhibit case in the lower hall of the Science building, the chemistry department has decided to work out a series of historical, sanitary, and industrial subjects. Such an exhibit will be quite difficult to work out but both interesting and profitable to the college.

HOMECOMING PLANS BEING FORMULATED

COMMITTEES ARE APPOINTED

Program Includes Rally, Parade, Games and Banquet For Grads and Students.

Plans are being arranged for a big and successful Homecoming Day, Oct. 22. The program of the various committees appointed by the Student Council last week. L. W. Warson, alumnal secretary is giving his cooperation to the council for the day's success.

The tentative program includes many interesting features. A big college rally including the alumni and visitors is slated for the morning event. A parade will take place in the afternoon just before the game. Then the big attraction of the day will be fought out on the gridiron between the Tan and Cardinal warriors and the Baldwin Wallace aggregation. In the evening, to cap the climax, all are invited to attend the banquet. Definite plans will be given out later.

A special meeting of the council will be held at the usual pace at 7:30 on Wednesday evening, when the committee on the Homecoming program will report. At this meeting, discussion of the Student Chest will be taken up.

SCIENCE CLUB WILL

HOLD BANQUET OCT. 24

Following the usual custom of starting off the year with a banquet, the Science Club has chosen Monday, October 24 as the time for this year's celebration. George Moore is chairman, and Myrtle Wysong and Lawrence Hicks are the members of the committee which has charge of arrangements for the occasion.

In order to belong to this club a student must have entered his second year of science, or in other words pursued a course outside of the required subjects.

Sun-Dial Is Placed.

At last the sun-dial which was presented to the college by the class of '26 is going to be firmly placed in terra firma, or rather in a solid cement base.

Last spring, during the presentation of the Philaethan pageant, and senior class play, the sun-dial was set up temporarily for artistic effect, but it has never been placed according to direction. Work was begun on it last week and will be completed as soon as the cloudy weather ceases, as the sun is needed to fix it at the correct angle.

Play "Abraham Lincoln" Opens Lecture Course Saturday Night

A crowd that filled the High School Auditorium to overflowing Saturday night witnessed the production of John Drinkwater's drama, "Abraham Lincoln," staged by a cast of twelve New York players as the first Lyceum Course program of the current season. The famous play, put on in a realistic and effective fashion, made a sincere appeal to the hearts of the audience. Members of the local committee who had felt somewhat hesitant about bringing a production of such size and expense to a town so small as Westerville were highly pleased with the fine response of the townspeople and students who turned out in such unexpected numbers to see the drama which has made such an important place for itself in the field of historical literature.

Those who feared that the production might fail to measure up historically found little cause to criticize the authenticity of the staging. Mr. Eustace Wyatt who played the title role bore a convincing resemblance to the great president, imitating well the ungainly movements which characterized him. Other members of the cast fitted into their parts easily, the role of General U. S. Grant, Commander of the Federal Army, being particularly well played. The meeting of Gen. Grant and Gen. Robert E. Lee in Grant's

ENTRIES FOR RHODES SCHOLARSHIPS MAY NOW BE MADE FOR OHIO

OTTERBEIN ENTITLED TO THREE CANDIDATES

Ohio Selects Two Scholars This Year. Age Limits Are Between 19 and 25.

This year, candidates from Ohio are selected for Rhodes' Scholarships which carry with each one a stipend of 400 pounds annually, which is tenable at Oxford University, England, and may be held for three years—subject to the continued approval of the College at Oxford of which the scholar is a member. Otterbein is privileged to select three candidates for these scholarships, two of which are assigned to each state.

The requirements are as follows:

1. No examination at all is now required.
2. Applicant must be a United States citizen, male, unmarried, between the ages of 19 and 25, and must have completed at least two years work at some recognized college.

Applications may be made either in the state of which the student is a resident, or in the state where the college work was taken.

Elections at Otterbein will occur later, but applicants should be considered sometime this fall.

Oxford University consists of 22 different colleges, each of which is complete in itself. A student may take any subject in any college. The difference between the colleges is their scholastic life, number of undergraduates, and personnel of their tutors, rather than a difference in system. The University offers a wide scope for selection, and is equal to the best, anywhere, in all the Humanities, Ancient and Modern History, English, Modern Languages, Philosophy, Art, etc.

Cecil Rhodes, born in 1853, the son of an English clergyman entered Oxford in 1873. He was extremely successful in his business life, and maintained an active interest in international relations. His ideals "included a lofty, far-reaching international plan and desire for constantly closer and more sympathetic union of the Anglo-Saxon race, in order to help make the peace of the world secure. On pursuit of this ideal he made arrangements in his will directing his trustees to found Scholarships at Oxford University, England, to be held by young men from South Africa, Australia, Canada, Jamaica, Bermuda and the United States.

The Rhodes Scholarships are awarded to men showing distinction in character, personality, and intellect, and offer as a chief advantage, a broader culture and a more cosmopolitan acquaintance with men.

NEW COAT OF PAINT BRIGHTENS TAN WALLS

The staff offices of the Tan and Cardinal have been freshly coated with a combination of tain and cardinal paint. The ceiling and the upper half of the walls have been painted a cream, much like the walls of the hall in the administration building. A thin cardinal stripe divides the upper walls from a lower field of tan.

Some new furniture has been added to the office, so that now the staff has ample space and equipment with which to do its work.

TO OFFER COURSE IN HOUSEHOLD PHYSICS

Next semester, the physics department under Professor McCloy will offer a six-week course in Household Physics to girls interested in Home Economics. It is thought such a course will be helpful to those intending to teach Home Economics as well as the homemaker.

Other work in his department is progressing as usual, except that enrollment averages higher this year. In General Physics, there are twenty-one, in High School Physics, five; and nine in the Mechanical Drawing Course.

SPEED BALL SEASON IS OFFICIALLY OPENED

Speedball, the latest entrance on the the Otterbein intramural calendar, was officially introduced when the Sophs vanquished the Frosh team in the first league game, last Monday, Oct. 3.

The game was fast and interesting from the standpoint of both participant and spectator. The final score stood 12 to 9.

On last Wednesday Oct. 5 the juniors and seniors tangled with the result that the seniors emerged victorious by the overwhelming score of 21 to 4. The fast passing combination of the seniors forced the juniors to play a defensive game throughout, their only scores coming by penalty kicks.

The soph-junior game scheduled for Friday has been postponed until a later date. Games for this week are as follows: Monday, Freshmen vs. seniors; Wednesday, seniors vs. sophomores; Friday, juniors vs. freshmen.

League standing thus far:

	Won	Lost	Pct.
Seniors	1	0	1.000
Sophomores	1	0	1.000
Juniors	0	1	.000
Freshman	0	1	.000

Baldwin-Wallace Has Good Backfield

The Homecoming game with Baldwin-Wallace scheduled for October 22 has aroused great interest locally as well as among the alumni who are planning to attend the game. Baldwin-Wallace has a highly touted team with many of their veterans of last year back. Homan who starred for Baldwin-Wallace last year has graduated but they claim to have some backfield men who are capable of doing some very fine work. Otterbein men are working long hours to get the drive necessary to win.

MARIETTA BUMPS OFF OTTERBEIN'S GRIDMEN

SCORE ON FLUKE

Game Is Hardfought Affair With Marietta Holding the Edge As To Weight.

Duplicating their feat of a year ago the Marietta eleven defeated Otterbein again by scoring a touchdown on a forward pass late in the game. The score was 6-0. With four minutes to go in the last quarter, Diekman, Marietta halfback, punted to Pinney on the 35 yard line. Pinney dropped the punt and Ralph Farnham, Marietta fullback, recovered. The next play turned the game into a Marietta victory. When Marietta lined up for their offence, Lattimer, end, stationed himself about fifteen yards away from the line of scrimmage. Diekman threw a long pass to him and he caught it while on a dead run and made a touchdown. Rief missed the kick.

Before the scoring was done the game had been one of the hardest fought football games Otterbein has played for several years. Marietta had the advantage of weight. Their line was about ten pounds to the man heavier than Otterbein's. Their backfield also was heavier. However they were unable to get a point until the last quarter. They seriously threatened in the second quarter when Riet caught one of Diekman's numerous passes and gained 30 yards which placed the ball on the 27 yard line. A series of line rushes carried the ball to the three yard line with two to go. Ralph Farnham hit the line hard enough the place the ball within a foot of the goal line. Farnham again hit (Continued On Page Eight).

FLOURISHES, THAT LAST

The average student begins the college year with a flourish. Good resolutions are generally in the foreground.
A determination to make this year the best one yet is quite common.

After the first few weeks when the novelty wears off, routine begins to trample the careless under foot. Having thus fallen by the wayside and lost prestige with the class, the next move is to "get by." Our student of the Great Beginning now becomes a dodger of the law. His chief attention now is focused not on an education as prescribed in the curriculum but as prescribed by the "Collegiate Class Cutters."

There never was a more pernicious doctrine let loose than this one "to get by." Students learn to sell their very souls to get by. Cheating in class rooms, copying note-books, anything goes. And to get by to do what? To win popular favor, to get grades. To impress one's fellows with one's intellectual aptitude, and then laugh up up one's sleeve about how easily the grade was got.

All honor to the man who gets a D, honestly. The student who gets an
A dishonestly will pay.

Our friend Heleyne thinks the "Cosmic Urge" is a summer resort.

The same frosh who thought the Kentucky Derby was a freshman cap walked a mile to see "Circus Parade".

Math sometimes helps. T'other day one of our profs said each kiss shortened life three minutes and one golden-throated Apollo we knew did a little rapid calculation and left class to make his will.

The little bird doth wake and sing its

The dewy rose lifts up its face to light
A beautiful picture unmarr'd by wrong.
In the sweet silent rest of childish

Youth dreams its dreams then launches

The vast, boundless, expanse of life.
To greet

His fellows and the realms of earth to conquer.

Too precious hope undimmed by sin

Thou must not die, mount up behold

FACULTY ADVISORS ARE APPOINTED FOR FROSH

classes is entirely an experiment, and its success or failure depends largely upon the students. Since there are three letters on file in the office concerning each student, it makes it possible for each professor to have some idea of the kind of problems which are most likely to confront those whom he is to advise. But no professor, however willing, can help a student who will not confide in him.

In assigning advisers, names were selected at random, and without regard to either ability or previous record. A complete list of freshmen and sophomores to which each has been assigned has been posted on the bulletin board, and it is to be hoped that each of these students will go to his adviser with his very first problem—even though it may be only a case of home-sickness. Whether future freshman and sophomore classes have the privileges of faculty advisers, depends entirely upon the attitude which the students take this year, and the extent to which they are willing to cooperate.

PLAY "ABRAHAM LINCOLN" OPENS LYCEUM COURSE

(Continued From Page One). headquarters at Appomattox on April 4, 1865 was so realistically portrayed as to bring spontaneous applause from the audience.

Has Six Scenes

The play is arranged in six scenes. The first pictures Mr. Lincoln at his home in Springfield at the time when he is notified that he is chosen candidate for the Presidency. There is a scene showing him and his Cabinet at the Declaration of War, then an incident in his home life in Washington, and a second meeting of the Cabinet at the signing of the Emancipation Proclamation. These scenes picturing his relations with the Cabinet show more clearly than any history the opposition which Lincoln had to face among those who ought to have been supporting him. The fifth scene is probably the most outstanding one. It pictures the touching incident in which the President pardons the young soldier, William Scott, and closes with Lee's famous surrender to Grant. The last scene portrays the final tragedy at Ford's Theatre on the night of April 14, 1865 when Lincoln is shot by John Wilkes Booth, and the play ends with Stanton's famous words—"Now he belongs to the ages." Each of these scenes is historically accurate, and vividly and beautifully portrayed.

As a drama, "Abraham Lincoln" ranked high. In it, this remarkable man lives again, and the epoch-making chapters of American history through which he moved are reenacted with tremendous and touching vitality. John Drinkwater's famous play gives a picture of the Great Emancipator unbelievably real and gripping. It is a drama of character, powerful, simple, moving. Drinkwater reveals the very soul of Lincoln. The drama met with great success at its first performance in this country, being acclaimed the greatest achievement in the American theater. It is now considered an American institution.

Sincerity Chief Merit

The success of "Abraham Lincoln" is, as one critic points out, very singular, because the play does not contain one of the elements which are generally considered essential to popular success. It is without a love interest; there are no scenes that are either comic or passionate, and there are no exhibitions of pretty women. The chief merit then, on which its success depends, is the sincerity with which it is written added to the sincerity of the main character. This it is which awakens the emotional response. Mr. Drinkwater has taken a national character and made him into a figure of universal appeal.

The next offering of the Lyceum Course is the Polynesian, Wherahiko Rawei, who will appear in the High School Auditorium on Thursday night, Nov. 17.

ANNUAL OPEN HOUSE HELD AT KING HALL

Unique Entertainment Is Presented.

Men's Rooms.

About eighty persons, King Hallites and their lady friends, attended the annual King Hall party given by the roomers there last night in the dining room of the building. Open house was held so that the lady friends might have a chance to see how the "other half" lived.

The program and entertainment was arranged to keep the visitors interested during the whole evening. Two groups were formed one entering into the recreational program and the other making a tour of the rooms of the hall.

A very interesting scheme of decoration was devised and arranged by Harold Derhammer, chairman of the decoration committee. Assisting him were Parker Heck and David Allaman.

Oliver Spangler was chairman of the entertainment committee which presented several highly interesting and entertaining forms of games. Of special interest was a "silhouette" guessing contest. As each guest entered a drawing of the shadow of his face was made then later in the evening there was much merriment at the attempts to identify the drawings.

Harold Derhammer, Charles Mumma, and Fred Miller were the members of the "eats" committee. A great change for the better was noticed here—Ice cream, cake and punch were served instead of cider and doughnuts as has been done at practically every other function of this year.

Dr. and Mrs. King acted as host and hostess and Mrs. Barnhill, and Professor and Mrs. Weinland as chaperones.

Professor Lambert expects to finish his work for a higher degree in Columbia. "Ottie" is one of those fellows who retains his youth and spent part of the summer as a director in a Y. M. C. A. Boys' camp where he was popular with the youngsters.

Chester Ferguson has returned to the South Salem High school again this year.

"Johnny" Lehman is Boy's Director of Physical Education in the Central Y. M. C. A., Canton, Ohio.

"HOMECOMING"

What a wonderful word is "Homecoming". It connotes many things. As a word now used by colleges it designates that day when many of their graduates come again to the campus. It means to return once again to the old college spirit. It means to throw off for the time the worries and strain of business and meet once more those genial souls with whom you lived and whom you loved during four years of college life. It is conceded that the associations and contacts made during your under-graduate days is far more enduring in after life than the academic content of the college course.

Elsewhere in this paper will be found an account of Otterbein's Homecoming October 22nd.

Open sessions of Philophronea and Philomatheia on Friday evening, Oct. 21st. The boys are expecting you.

The Philaethean Literary Society will give an Alumna! Session on Thursday evening of "Homecoming" week, Oct. 20.

Dr. Nichols finished his internship in the Cleveland Hospital the first of July and was under appointment by our Missionary Board as Medical Missionary to China. Conditions which made it inadvisable to send further missionaries at this time prevented him from taking up the work in China.

He is now practicing medicine in Cleveland.

'01-'06. Dr. Frank Oldt and Mrs. Ora Maxwell Oldt and family have returned to the United States after about 22 years in China.

PLANS FOR JUNIOR PLAY BEING FORMED

WILL BE MODERN ONE

An Effort Will Be Made To Use All Who Try Out For Parts If At All Possible.

Although the Junior play has not yet been chosen, plans are rapidly being made. It has been suggested that a modern play with eight to twelve characters be given. This will not make expensive costumes necessary.

A committee will soon be appointed to confer with Professor Smith in order to select a play at once.

It is to be understood that if anyone trying out for the play fails to get a main part, he will be given a chance to play a minor part, thus giving a square deal to all. Professor Smith has offered his services free if the Junior class wishes him to help in the production.

Whether the Chapel or the High School Auditorium will be used has not as yet been decided. However, the play will be put on as reasonably as possible.

the line but Gearhart and Pinney stopped him in his tracks and Pinney punted out of danger.

Have Chance To Score

A penalty may have cost Otterbein the game. In the third quarter Diekmann punted from his nineteen yard line. The kick was very poor and Otterbein had the ball and but 30 yards to go for a touchdown. However the referee ruled that the kicker had been roughed and Otterbein was penalized fifteen yards. Diekmann this time got off a long punt and the chance for a victorious drive went glimmering.

Otterbein's line played a great game. Crawford and Reck played their usual good game. Three times Schear threw the ambitious Marietta runners for goodly losses. Hance once recovered a blocked kick in a sensational manner. Gearhart was usually in the thickest part of the battle. McGill filled in at end in excellent style. Pinney's kicking was up to his usual high standard. Lee and Minnich did the quarterback chores in a pleasing manner. Hankinson worked well, especially on defense. For Marietta, Ralph Farnham, Rief, Dickman and Rossiter looked best.
