HIGHLIGHTS OF COMMENCEMENT

Reunions Successful . . . Speakers Outstanding

“WE PLEDGE ANEW, we will be true, dear Otterbein,” and so with the familiar strains of the Otterbein Love Song the activities of the 84th annual commencement of Otterbein College were drawn to a close.

Commencement week-end proved to be a busy time for both the old grads who returned to renew the ties of their school days and the new grads, the class of '40.

The program of activities was off to a fine start Friday evening when the class of '40 was entertained by President and Mrs. Howe at a formal reception at Cochran Hall. This same evening was one of festivity for the Phi Sigma Iota alumni who were guests at a banquet at Williams' Grill.

Saturday was more than usually full of both business and pleasure meetings, for while the trustees were busy with their work of administration, other groups were meeting socially at various places on the campus. Quiz and Quill Club, Chaucer Club and Pi Kappa Delta started the day off with their annual breakfasts. During the morning, grads from all classes could be heard busily trying to relive memorable hours in but a few minutes. Again at noon, groups were meeting to renew friendships over meal tables when the classes of '15 and '35 celebrated with reunion banquets. The class of '15 grads were very pleased to welcome 40 members to the banquet celebrating their silver anniversary. The afternoon was spent at alumni registration and various teas, and it seemed but a few minutes until it was time to meet at the United Brethren Church for the alumni dinner which was presided over by Chester Wise, '04, the toastmaster. Dr. Charles Snavely, head of the history department, was honor guest in view of his 40 years of service at Otterbein. Theta Alpha Phi climaxed the busy day with the presentation of their play, “A Full House.”

On Sunday morning President J. Ruskin Howe gave an inspiring sermon when he conducted the baccalaureate services at the United Brethren Church. He used as his topic “Life's Back Stairs.” The class of

EVEN “UNCLE ABBIE RETURNED”

'40 made their official appearance in academic garb when they occupied the place of honor at this service. Congratulations should go to those students and faculty members who spent so much of their time to prepare the concert that the School of Music presented Sunday evening. The recital included both instrumental and vocal numbers which were greatly enjoyed by those present.

And so through a busy galaxy of events the class of '40 passed to the long awaited moment when in cap and gown they formed the familiar procession from the Association Building to the Church where their diplomas were presented to them. The large group that gathered for the final commencement program heard Mr. Edgar DeWitt Jones, pastor of the Central Woodward Christian Church in Detroit, Michigan, deliver a challenging message with the unusual but appropriate theme, “All This and Heaven Too.”

Of the sixty-five graduates, who in their turn took their places on the platform to receive their diplomas from President Howe, 52 received Bachelor of Arts degrees, 10, Bachelor of Science degrees, one, Bachelor of Fine Arts degree, one, Bachelor of Music Education, and one, Bachelor of Music.

Entered as second class matter at post office in Westerville, Ohio, under act of August 24, 1912.

DR. J. R. HOWE

Fellow-alumni of Otterbein:

At the close of my first year in the service of our common alma mater I wish to pay tribute to the loyalty and enthusiasm of you sons and daughters of old Otterbein who have made possible the splendid record of this year.

It has been a great year in every way. In enrollment we led all the colleges of Ohio in our per cent of increase. Financially, the Treasurer's records show, we had the second best year in the entire history of the college. Scholastically, the year registered a very substantial increase over the average achievement of recent years. Athletically, we had fine records except in football and tennis and the new material in these sports will definitely give us successful seasons the coming year. Just now the long-overdue rebuilding of the athletic field is marking a new era in this department of our program. Religiously, there has been a vital and wholesome Christian spirit pervading the entire program of the year.

As we look forward to 1940-41 there is every indication of a much greater year than the one just closed. Our record-breaking freshman class of last fall will, if present figures mean anything, be greatly exceeded in the class of next September. We are receiving applications every day from the finest kind of students with outstanding records scholastically, musically, athletically and in every phase of activity.

I want to say with grateful appreciation that in all of my very considerable travels among churches, high schools and alumnal groups throughout this year, the enthusiasm and interest of our Otterbein alumni have made it doubly easy to enlist the attention of the best type of student. We shall, within a very few years, be at the place where it will be necessary to limit our enrollment unless all present indications speedily change. It is our ambition to see Otterbein become the finest small liberal arts college in the Middle West. She is well on the way toward that goal. Your continued loyalty and enthusiasm will make possible the full realization of that high distinction in the very early future.

A Successful Year Completed . . .

. . . A Promising Year Begun

I come now with an invitation to each one of you to help in two ways. First, will you put us in touch with the finest type of students in your communities as prospects for Otterbein? Second, will you share somewhat in helping worthy and brilliant students of this type, who happen to be born poor, to have a chance at a college education and a greater service to humanity? Today, if ever, the world needs trained and dedicated leadership. There are scores of talented and brilliant young people waiting to enroll in Otterbein if some of us who have had that privilege can help them somewhat in their financial needs. The blank found at the bottom of the next page gives you the opportunity to invest in some young person whose trained leadership will make a better world tomorrow. Will you help? Make it sacrificial and send it soon and the halls of Otterbein will be filled with a higher type of student and leader because you made it possible. Put your name among those benefactors in next years' report who will share in this high investment in the finest young men and women of Otterbein's great tomorrow.

Cordially and gratefully yours,

J. RUSKIN HOWE

Otterbein Grad Announces New Medical Theory

Dr. F. M. Pottenger, Jr., '25, well-known endocrinologist of Monrovia, Calif., in a recent speech delivered at the convention of the American Medical Association, declared that the human race, chiefly because of the elimination of raw meat from the modern diet, is moving in the direction of a single sexless type. Dr. Pottenger, who bases his claims on observation of young men and women, and on a long series of experiments carried out with cats, exhibited his various studies in the form of photographs and charts in the scientific exhibit of the A.M.A. at Grand Central Palace in New York. This exhibit, consisting of displays of research work by hundreds of medical men, is a regular feature of the annual convention of the A.M.A. and is open only to the visiting doctors. Dr. Pottenger has long been recognized for his outstanding work in this field of medical science.

Alumni Banquet Notes

Dr. Snavely Honored By Alumni Association

THE alumni banquet, which draws alumni from near and far into fellowship again, was presided over by Mr. Chester, '04, acting as toastmaster. Mr. Wise, who was introduced by Mr. Earl Hoover, '26, retiring President of the Alumni Association, in turn introduced the speakers of the evening, including Dr. W. G. Clippinger, President J. R. Howe, Dr. J. B. Wilcox, '90. The roll call by classes which is always an intriguing event of any alumni gathering revealed many new old faces that had returned after many years. Dr. T. J. Sanders, '78, and Mrs. S. W. Keister, '78, represented one of Otter-bein's earliest graduating classes. Musical entertainment was provided by Mr. John Stone, '41, tenor soloist, and Misses Erma Mahaffey, '43, and Kay Ward, '40, who rendered a marimba duet. With the introduction of the newly-elected alumni officers, a new regime was entered upon by the alumni association.

Dr. A. T. Howard, '94, introduced Dr. Charles Snavely, Professor of History, who was the honor guest of the banquet in view of his retirement after forty years of service and instruction at Otterbein. During his

OTTERBEIN COLLEGE
WESTERVILLE, OHIO

OTTERBEIN COLLEGE has been operating a non-profit industry for the past eight months.

Our name—Otterbein Crafts Guild.

Our aim—To help students to help themselves through college.

Our products—Beautiful reflecting house number signs and ornamental garden plaques.

It's true! All this year there have been at least twelve students busily engaged in producing reflecting house number and business signs that shine brilliantly in the sunlight or in the glow of automobile headlights. These signs are useful and distinctive in quality and beauty.

This project was founded by Dr. F. O. Clements who is an alumnus of Otterbein. This project has afforded an opportunity to work for students who need financial aid if they are to continue their college education. This project is in its infancy and we need YOUR help.

There are five Otterbein students remaining on the campus this summer to keep the project going. Our greatest need at present is to get some necessary business soon and to establish future business. Our main field at the present moment is reflecting house number signs. Our prices are reasonable and our product is good. A four digit single-faced number as seen in figure No. 1 sells for $3.10 while a double-faced number as seen in figure No. 2 sells for $4.15 (standard included).

A SALES TALK . . .

For the Prospective Student

THERE'S a young person in your community who is going to college somewhere and hasn't made his choice as yet. You know who he is. We don't. He knows and respects you. He doesn't know us. Here lies your opportunity to demonstrate an active loyalty toward Otterbein. Call the following facts to his attention and invite him to make his application for admission.

Otterbein is a growing institution, one making great strides in the educational world under alert, progressive leadership as shown by the fact that credits can be transferred to colleges and universities throughout the country. In scholarship, endowment, and equipment Otterbein is recognized by all the important accrediting associations.

We take pride in the friendly relationship which exists on our campus between faculty and student. As shown in the book "To College in Ohio," published by the Ohio College Association, Otterbein along with Antioch, has the smallest ratio of professor to student of any co-educational college or university in Ohio. We have one professor for every nine students, thus providing individual attention from the professor.

Otterbein offers true college atmosphere and ideal campus living conditions. Local fraternities and sororities, along with an active non-group organization, present a rich social program. Our complete program of activities will give the student opportunity to demonstrate and develop any talents he might have in the fields of athletics, music, speech, dramatics, writing, etc.

Otterbein's place in the field of education is that of a fine, small liberal arts college offering splendid training in many fields of study. Our college has and continues to emphasize a broad cultural training developed through a liberal arts curriculum. Splendid work is offered in the fields of science, music, art, business administration, home economics, social service, teacher training and physical education. Thorough preliminary preparation is offered by our department to those who wish to study further in the universities which train for law, medicine, dentistry, engineering, business, theology, dietetics, social service, civil service, or public administration.

And we would point out again that Otterbein College is not an expensive school. A year's expenses run from an average of $462 to $514.50. This means a student is taking full part in the life of the campus and enjoying all its possibilities.

We hope you will draw from your memories of Otterbein those words which will make this information an attractive picture of campus life, and which will extend a real invitation for some young person to "Come On Down To Otterbein."
