"SHE EVER GIVES A WELCOME"

As the few remaining summer days pass quickly from our grasp and we ruefully think of the hundreds of books we did not read, the friends we did not visit, the picnics we have not had, our thoughts turn again in anticipation to the college campus which is beginning to show the current signs of hurry and bustle which spell September and the opening of another year of college activities.

Freshman caps — hair ribbons — teas — receptions — banquets — entrance examinations — bon fires — picnics — schedules all are combined in one grand whirl as Otterbein welcomes another great freshman class to her halls. The freshman enrollment at present is hovering close to the 140 mark, a good number when defense jobs, conscription and other pathways are being opened to potential college students. Included in this number are approximately 70 girls and 70 boys, which again is a ratio to be proud of in view of present world conditions.

In addition to this group of 150 new students, Otterbein opens her doors to four new faculty members. Francis Babione comes as assistant to Professor Troop in the department of business administration; Geraldine Arnold, a graduate of the class of '36 comes to replace Martha Fippin as Miss Bryant's assistant in the women's physical education department; Kenneth Barrick will have Miss Walther's work in the department of fine arts while she takes a year's leave of absence to work on her doctorate at Ohio State University. Miss Yarnell, the college nurse, has accepted a position in Cleveland and her position will be refilled. Dr. Pendleton and Prof. Mills, returning after a year's leave of absence, will again be in the English and language departments respectively.

The description that one erstwhile Sibyl writer gave the campus a few years ago, "A group of edifices connected by steam pipes under the ground and campus above the ground," will be more than ever appropriate this year as

"Cupid Items"

Among the Otterbein graduates who exchanged wedding vows during the summer months are Ronald Lane, '37, who was married to Maxine Holschuh of Middletown on August 2; Helen Cheek, ex '42, who became the bride of Robert Eugene Haines in the Westerville U. B. Church on August 9; Gifford Landon, '39, who was married to Julia Arthur of Columbus in July; Virgil Hinton, '37, who married Charlotte Fuller of Canton on June 21; Lois McLeod, ex '34, who became the bride of C. Ross Bloomquist on August 10; Mary Dixon, '40, who became the bride of Elmer Schear, '41, on August 31 at Londonderry, Ohio; and Alfreda Gantz, '30, who became the bride of Frederick William Wieland on August 30 at the home of the bride.

"Crib Notes"

Newcomers to whom the freshman period will be an important occasion in 1960 are Cornelius Howe O'Brien II whose arrival on August 14 is being announced by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. O'Brien, '37; Jo Ann Norris, who was born to Dr. and Mrs. Louis Norris, '28, on August 10; David Michael Cheek, the new son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Cheek, 'ex '32 (Mary Sue Weekly, ex '32), born on August 2; Kathleen Messmer, whose arrival on July 27 is being announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Messmer, '40 (Kathleen O'Brien, '40); the new daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth R. Fincher (Helen Harsha, '35); Virginia Elizabeth Barnes, whose arrival on July 3 is being announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Barnes, '34; and the new daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Axline (Ilajeau Wales, '32).

"SHE EVER GIVES A WELCOME"

$30,000.00 is being used for remodeling the heating plant, for the installing of new boilers and the construction of an imposing 100-foot smokestack—another tower to be scaled and labeled by enthusiastic fraternity men on the eve of Homecoming. The money for this enterprise is being raised through the United Brethren churches of the conferences which cooperate in the support of Otterbein—another fine example of the loyalty of a group of people who support a Christian college for the education of their youth.

And again at this season of the falling leaves our thoughts turn to the north end of our campus where, on Saturday afternoons, we gather to lend support to a team of eleven men who are in there "fighting" for Otterbein. Coach Selby is expecting to have a squad of around 33 to 35 men to work with—22 Sophomores, 8 Juniors, and 3 Seniors. Of this number, ten are returning lettermen. On October 25 Otterbein meets Marietta in the Homecoming clash and we take this opportunity to extend an advance invitation to all alumni and friends to be present for this week-end of activities.

Although only a few days remain to wind up a summer of vacationing, they must be filled with planning for another great year which will be added to Otterbein's past 94.

A Tribute to Bob Whipp

One of the sincerest tributes paid Bob Whipp, Otterbein's Director of Newspaper Publicity, who died at his home in Westerville on June 24, was the newspaper article by his co-worker, Monroe Courtright, '40.

"NOT BAD, FELLA",

By MONROE COURTRIGHT

Bob Whipp was a newspaperman. And Tuesday night he weakly scrawled a big "30" to his last page of copy and turned in the story of his life. Bob Whipp is dead.

I have always marveled at Bob Whipp. Ever since I first saw him two years ago, slowly walking toward the college campus with the help of two canes and a smiling face, I have often wondered at what made the man tick in the personality pattern that he had. And after two years of close association with him, I can no better tell you today, but I do know that he has provided me with probably the most outstanding example of uncomplaining suffering that I shall ever see, and somehow, I feel very humble indeed when I realize this fact.

Surely, if any person had a just cause to be bitter towards fate. Bob Whipp was that person. He had just gotten a good start in life, so to speak, four years ago and then one day, to put it in his words: "The old legs just wouldn't work any more." But he hastened to add: "But what the heck, a guy can get along just so long as they keep on making canes, crutches, and wheelchairs.

However, Bob couldn't get along. Slower and slower, the deadly nerve disease destroyed his body and he became weaker and weaker. But he still could talk, and in answer to the oft-repeated queries of "How d'ya feel?" or "How's it going, Bob?" his answer was always the same: "Not bad fella, not bad at all."

I'm going to miss Bob Whipp. Not only because he was a friend, but I'm going to miss the bits of advice and help which he handed me from time to time. And most of all, I'm going to miss that cheery, "Not bad fella," reply when I called 482 and asked, "How's it goin', Bob?"

Somehow or other I like to think that when Bob Whipp's earthly body breathed its last on Tuesday evening, the real Bob got up and started on a journey to better places; and this time he was walking—without his canes, crutches, or wheelchair . . . things which he won't miss at all. Several help-mates who will miss him, however, are his wife, Ruth, and little Nancy and Jimmy, but even their sorrow at his absence is lessened by knowing that he is again well.

I sincerely hope that I shall see

Bob Whipp again someday. If I'm ever fortunate enough to have St. Peter register me in his big book, one of the first things I want to do is look around for Bob because when I see him my words will be, "How's it going, Bob?" And just as sure as I sit here and write this, he will reply, "Not bad fella, not bad at all."
