Capital Alma Mater

O Capital, to thee we pledge devotion;
In ev'ry heart we'll build for thee a shrine,
Until from ocean side to endless ocean
Thy name alone in radiant splendor shine!

To thee we owe what-e'er of truth we cherish;
Thy boundless love has all our wants supplied:
Living in us thy soul shall never perish,
Alive in thee shall we be glorified.

Thy swords are we, and shields to guard thy glory;
Thy lamps are we to beacon far and near;
Thy pens are we to write in deathless story
Lives that shall honor thee, O mother dear.

This would have been Jerry Click's final football game as a Capital Crusader.

It would have been, that is, had Jerry not lost a leg from cancer after his freshman year, and then his life, a year later.

Jerry was a good quarterback. He completed 50 per cent of his passes in the only year he played for Capital. It was a good record for a freshman.

Then another tragedy struck him — one of a number of sadnesses that might have been too much to take for anyone else who was only 19 years old. He never knew the mother that gave her life to give him birth. He developed a strength of friendship with a father who tried to be two parents, and who died when his son was 16.

Jerry had two days' notice that he would lose his leg. Cancer was discovered while X-rays were being taken of a routine ankle sprain.

Nobody knows what was in Jerry's mind while he adjusted his life to the changes made necessary by the loss of his leg.

He indicated once in an interview, however, that perhaps there was a greater mission for him in life than to become an outstanding athlete.

He said it like this: "I don't know if God has opened another door for me. Perhaps He meant for me to strengthen others by example. Maybe He's already opened the door. If he hasn't, it's ajar. I'm anxious to find out what God wants me to do."

Jerry completed his sophomore year at Capital, and was elected Junior Class president for the 1967-68 school year.

He died July 16, 1967.

He was 20 years old.

A lot of people felt Jerry had more than his share of tough breaks in his short life.

Maybe Jerry wouldn't have felt that way about it. He had something in his spirit that the rest of us perhaps hope to find in ourselves someday, but know in the backs of our minds we might not be worthy of attaining.

God tests our worth to ourselves, to others and to Him.

He tested Jerry and found him so worthy that it didn't take an entire normal life span to earn the youngster a place in Heaven. It only took 20 years.

That's the way Jerry probably would have looked at it.

He was that kind of man.

Today, tomorrow or whenever you want to, take a moment on your own and give Jerry Click and what he represented a little of your time. You don't have to make it a mass moment of prayer. Just be yourself and do it your own way.

That was Jerry's way, too.

This is the final football game for five Capital seniors, all of whom have been valuable assets to the hectic 1968 football picture for Coach Gene Slaughter. They are guard-tackle Rod Beckett, center and captain Dick Kerschbaum, tackle Charlie Harpster, halfback Dan Jones and defensive halfback Dave Pellior.

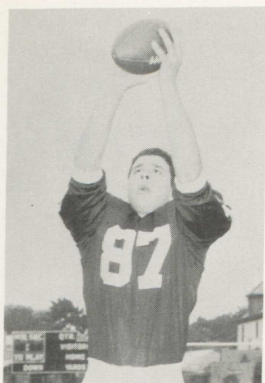

These players will naturally be missed, but it's hard to contain enthusiasm for the coming seasons at Capital and the boys who are expected to make them great.

From the 70 listed in the roster today, 14 will return next year as seniors, 20 will return next year as juniors and 30 are expected to return as sophomores!

Keep it in mind . . . you'll see the 1969 team and most of the faces will be the same. A year's experience will make a difference and you can figure out the prospects for Capital's football future by yourself.

See you next year!
