UNANIMOUS VOTE FOR AFFIRMATIVE

Otterbein's Debaters Beat the Mt. Union Negative Team in Great Fashion on Local Platform.

TEAM'S ARRIVAL UNEXPECTED

No Arrangements Made for Forensic Battle—Alliance Men Get Little End of Surprise.

Another forensic victory was scored for Otterbein by the affirmative debate team last Friday night against Mount Union College. The question was the same as was debated with Muskingum College, Resolved: That the Initiative and Referendum as a part of the legislative system of Ohio should be abolished, constitutionality conceded. M. S. Czatt, H. R. Brentlinger and V. L. Phillips represented Otterbein in the debate, and T. O. Griffith, C. B. Richeson and H. R. Lewis of Mount Union upheld the negative side of the question. The judges were Rev. Mr. Phillips from Columbus, Rev. H. H. Smith and A. W. Perkins of Westerville.

The debate was one of interest and enthusiasm throughout. The Otterbein team had their material well in hand and were determined to win. Their arguments were well arranged, and were delivered in a forceful and enthusiastic manner. The arguments clashed from the very beginning and each team gave their opponents a number of questions to answer. Our men answered satisfactorily all the questions asked by the opponents, but the Alliance men were unable to answer several questions put to them by the affirmative team, and tried to evade them by saying that the affirmative team was trying to shift the "burden of proof" to the negative team. This was evidently in our favor, as was shown by the decision of the judges, which was unanimously in favor of the affirmative.

Due to some misunderstanding the Alliance team came on Thursday, expecting to debate Thursday evening. Those in charge of the debate here were not expecting the men last week, but arranged to have the debate on Friday evening at eight-thirty, so that it would not interfere with the evangelistic meetings now in progress. It was thought that it would not be advisable to have the men return to Alliance without holding the debate, for it might have seemed that Otterbein was not willing to meet Mount Union College in a debate.

This is the second decision for Otterbein out of the three debates. Much credit must be given to the efficient work of Professor C. A. Fritz, and to

Glee Club Will Sing in Gem City and Germantown this Week.

Members of the glee club are anticipating a great time on their trip to Dayton and Germantown this week. On Friday night they will sing in the Dayton Y. M. C. A. Auditorium. This concert is being given under auspices of the United Brethren churches of Dayton. The Christian Endeavor Societies are behind the proposition and are selling the tickets. A large audience of Otterbein friends are expected. On Saturday night the club will go to Germantown. From all reports from this place a good crowd will be in attendance to hear the Otterbein singers. The Otterbein Concert Quartet will assist in the programs at these places.

COMMENCEMENT DAY FIXED

Faculty Ruling Places Graduation Exercise on Thursday, June 15th—Seniors Will Give Play.

By the latest and final faculty ruling the sixtieth annual commencement will be held on Thursday, June 15. This action was taken last Thursday afternoon when the faculty met in special session to discuss class affairs. The graduating exercises on the same day as has been customary for some time passed by a large majority.

The numerous events of commencement week were far too many for but a three day program. This change now gives ample time for all of the regular festivities in connection with the close of the school year, and also allows a chance for the development of some new and interesting events which should prove of intense interest to all in attendance. The alumni association is already arranging a very clever program for the entertainment of visitors during one afternoon of the week. A special effort will be put forth to get a large number of the alumni back to Westerville for the festivities this June.

On Wednesday evening the senior class will stage a play. No arrangements have been made in regard to the play or caste. The general opinion among members of the class is for a Shakespearian play, but definite action has not yet been taken. This will be decided within the next week.

Association Notice.

Miss Maud Kelsey, traveling secretary of the Student Volunteer Movement will speak at the Young Women's Christian Association meeting on Tuesday evening. An invitation has been extended to the members of the Young Men's Christian Association to unite with them in a joint session on Tuesday evening at six o'clock. None should fail to hear Miss Kelsey who has an inspiring message.

CHURCH OPENING LONG HOPED FOR

Dedication Day of Spacious United Brethren Church is Fixed for April Sixteenth.

MEMBERS HELP OTTERBEIN

Structure is Complete and Presents Imposing Appearance—Has Large Seating Capacity.

A day of great rejoicing throughout the entire denomination of the United Brethren in Christ has been announced. On April the sixteenth, a magnificent edifice, marked by its spaciousness and architectural beauty will be dedicated in Westerville for service to mankind.

For a period of seventy-five years the church has struggled along under many sinister difficulties. The greatest hardship was that they have been without a temple of worship; but were compelled to use the college chapel. At one time they raised money to erect a church. The college was in great need and was almost smothered in debt; but rather than see Otterbein fall, they heroically came to the rescue and turned over the money raised. Thus, the college and the entire denomination owes more than they can possibly accomplish for this church.

Nevertheless, the church has prospered and today is one of the strongest in the denomination. Pastors wonder how this was accomplished without a permanent home. Surely the members have made the church what it is today and they should receive the help and prayers of all our people on the day of dedication.

Covering nearly two full lots, with its massive Doric columns of solid stone rising to a great height and its magnificent dome and Gothic windows of finely traced glass, it presents itself to the observer as a beautiful, but yet an economical piece of architecture.

As one enters he passes through the halls and finds himself in a spacious auditorium, with a seating capacity of eight hundred people. All woodwork is in hard oak, very becoming and durable. Behind the pulpit looms the choir loft with a capacity of sixty-five. Directly back of the choir, where it can be heard by fifteen hundred people, is a large Estey pipe organ, which was the gift of Joseph J. Knox, of Columbus, a former resident of Westerville and a member of the church.

The Sunday school room forms the transit of the cross in the ground plan. Six hundred people can assemble in the various class rooms, of

Senior Girls Attend Meeting of Collegiate Alumni Club.

Thirteen of our Senior girls attended a Tea given by the Collegiate Alumni Association at the home of Mrs. Spencer on East Broad street, Columbus, Saturday afternoon. Most interesting talks were given for girls on such subjects as "Nursing," "Social Service Work," and "The Woman in Business." After the program tea was served and the girls were given the opportunity to meet the speakers and those others present who are interested in work of this kind. Besides the Otterbein girls there were a number of Ohio State seniors present. An invitation had also been extended to Ohio Wesleyan senior girls.

DUST CAUSES ILL HEALTH

Doctor Hayhurst States That Occupational Diseases are the Result of Poor Working Conditions.

Facts regarding the extent of occupational diseases in this state, and the heavy human and economic waste which they cause, were related in an interesting manner at the State Public Health Exhibit on Wednesday afternoon in Lambert Hall by Dr. E. R. Hayhurst, the specialist who investigates occupational disease for both State Board of Health and the State Industrial Commission.

The speaker defined "occupational disease" as ill health which results from working. Ordinarily, work should make good health and lengthen life, but work under bad conditions, or in the wrong way, or when exposed to poisons, has the opposite effect.

He emphasized the point that over half of the people who work for wages or salary lose their lives from causes which may and should be prevented—enumerating as the chief factors, tuberculosis, pneumonia, typhoid fever, accidents and poisoning. Deaths from preventable causes among the working men alone of this country total 250,000 every year, he said, causing an enormous loss to their families, the communities in which they are engaged, and finally to the public. There are 3,000,000 cases of industrial illness annually.

He enumerated as the chief causes of occupational diseases: dust, the continual breathing of which leads to tuberculosis, pneumonia, and like diseases, causes eczema and sore eyes, and which could be prevented in most working places by change of methods, the installation of vent pipes, by wet sweeping, etc.; dirt and disorder which breed uncleanness, depression and immorality; improper illumination which produces a vast amount of

POWER IS DISCUSSED

Ream Talks in Heart to Heart Manner to the Men on Thursday Evening—Quartet Sings.

On Thursday evening a quartet, composed of L. J. Michael, J. B. Garver, R. R. Durant, and A. W. Neally opened the Y. M. C. A. meeting with some splendid music. G. O. Ream then addressed the men on "Power," using the 147th Psalm for a text.

"Probably man's most intense desire is to be powerful. He wants to amount to as much as possible. This desire for power has been the cause of many a man's downfall, because of its misuse. Napoleon, Caesar, and many others were the victims of misused desire for power.

"This desire is holy. In God men can be powerful in the right way. We college men feel some power compelling us to make something of ourselves. Some great guiding hand seems to be forcing us ahead.

"As we study the lives and deeds of great men, we worship them, and from them form a conception of the ideal man. We are looking for righteous men to follow. Is there a man more worthy of our 'hero-worship' than our Savior, Jesus Christ, who defied death for us?

"If we examine nature, we will find God there. But even nature study cannot save the human soul. We must have a desire for righteous power.

"All of us have some force propelling us to do right or wrong. There is no greater joy than for a man to feel that he is master of this force within himself. A man who can control a bad temper experiences this joy. We must drive ourselves straight ahead, towards the goal of righteousness.

"Let us try to be good because we know it is right, and not because we are forced to do so. We must get a different idea of what Christianity can do for us. The most desired things in life can be secured. We obtain a supreme joy, strength is given to the weak, we become better citizens, petty strifes are forgotten, greediness is broken down, insincerity is taken away, lust is forgotten, and the world will be moulded into one great brotherhood.

"We must surrender to God's plan. We worship a great leader. There is no greater leader than God. Let each of us strive to be the best man possible, and to live up to our ideal. It is a great thing to be a true Christian."

Science Club Meets Tonight.

Interesting papers are promised to everyone who attends the monthly meeting of the Otterbein Science Club which will be held at the Science Hall tonight at 7:30. Excellent themes will be handled, of which we should all know something at least. The subject "Peoples" will be discussed by G. D. LaRue, E. L. Boyles will read a paper on "The Half-tone

PROMINENT SENIORS

Ermal Noel.

From the state widely known for its authors, politicians and poets and from the town made famous by Billy Sunday and Dr. Oborn, comes one of our most dignified and demure little senior maids. Having taken work in Winona Summer School, she entered Otterbein three years ago as a Sophomore and with Hoosier-like promptitude, introduced herself to her Cochran Hall sisters a few nights after her arrival by ringing the fire gong at midnight.

Owing to her good nature and love of fun, Ermal soon became one of the leaders of Cochran Hall activities and has been a participant in many "stunts" and practical jokes. However, in the recent escapade, she was conspicuous by her absence, a fact not easily understood.

Notwithstanding her strong propensity for fun, she does not let it interfere with her work. She is not only one of the best students in the senior class, but is an accomplished musician, doing a large part of the accompanying for the vocal students. Last year she edited the calendar of the Sibyl, was secretary of her class and played with marked ability, one of the heavy roles in the Junior play. This year she has been honored with the vice presidency of the 1916 class.

Until recently the sight of a diamond ring has caused the men to be rather wary of this attractive co-ed, but since the disappearance of the jewel a few months ago, she is becoming somewhat "rich" in the attentions of the sterner sex.

We understand that Ermal is a "star" in Mrs. Noble's department, and we predict that instead of following her original intent of teaching Greek and Latin, she will devote her time and energy to the deeper study of domestic science and household management.

Process" and a most interesting discussion on "The Habitability of Mars" is promised by Professor McCloy. Students and townspeople should take advantage of these meetings for they are educational and instructive.

HEREDITY DISCLAIMED

Tuberculosis Expert Gives Facts About White Plague—Fresh Air and Sunlight Only Cure.

"Prevention of Tuberculosis in Ohio" was the subject discussed Friday evening at Lambert Hall in connection with the state health exhibit.

The speaker was R. G. Paterson, Ph., D., director of the division of tuberculosis, state board of health, who has been actively engaged in the war against the "great white plague" in Ohio for several years.

He said in part:

"Many people today have the idea that tuberculosis is a modern disease. Much was known of it as early as 450 B. C. when Hippocrates, the 'father of medicine,' gave a very good description of the disease. Of course, the cause was not known and a persistent effort was made for centuries to explain this.

"It remained for Dr. Robert Koch, of Berlin, Germany, to discover the real cause. He found a tiny germ and named it the tubercle bacillus. This germ cannot be seen with the naked eye. It takes a high-power microscope and must be multiplied 1,200 times before it can be distinguished.

"This germ breeds and multiplies in the human body. When in the lungs the disease is called pulmonary tuberculosis or consumption. There are special names for the various forms of the disease—such as hip-joint disease, white-swelling, and lupus.

"The germs are usually in the spit of a consumptive and since 90% of all tuberculosis is of the lungs, we are directing the means of prevention against this form of the disease.

"When expectorated from the body, the germ lives and multiplies best in dark, damp, dirty places. Sunlight kills it in a few hours. Disinfection kills it in a short time, and burning destroys it immediately.

"Tuberculosis is not hereditary. The germs are spread in any community in the same manner that a farmer sows his seed in a field. Some of these fall on stony ground and do not grow, so, when a person is strong and well and keeps up his resistance, the germs do not grow. When a person is weakened by overwork, lack of sleep, worry, bad food or dissipation, he becomes fertile soil. Live a regular life and thus keep up your resistance!

"The symptoms are loss of weight and appetite, fever in the afternoons, a cough lasting several weeks and a tired feeling.

"Bad housing, poor factory and working conditions, dirty side-walks, streets, alleys and yards all make a favorable place for the germ to grow. These should be corrected or cleaned up.

"The treatment of tuberculosis consists in sunlight, fresh air, good food, rest and freedom from worry. Medicine may help but will not cure it. Patent medicines will not cure. They waste valuable time and money for the consumptive.

"The campaign for the prevention of tuberculosis in Ohio has been waged by voluntary societies. There are twenty-eight in as many cities of the state. Their financial support comes from the sale of Red Cross seals sold at Christmas time. The money is spent for educational work, lectures, pamphlets, exhibits, etc. Visiting nurses are employed to find persons suffering with the disease to teach the consumptive how to dispose of his sputum so as not to infect others, and to teach the well members of a household how to avoid getting the germ into their bodies. Dispensaries, day camps, open-air schools and even hospitals have been established to give the consumptive a chance to secure proper treatment.

Football Rules Committee

Makes Several Changes.

At a recent meeting of the Football Rules Committee it was decided that players need not wear numbers. It was argued that while the system is no doubt an advantage to the spectator, on the other hand it gives the opponent an undue advantage. The referee was given power to call a game on account of darkness. The rule regarding the forward pass was changed so that now a player must be the end man on the line of scrimmage to take a forward pass. Hereafter, the quarterback, no matter whether the ball is snapped to him or not, must stand at least one yard back of the center.

Outdoor Practice Begins— Unusual Interest is Taken.

During the past week, Coach Martin has been able to get the baseball men outside for some good hard practice. Heretofore the inclement weather has confined them to the gym. Eighteen suits have been given out and last Saturday there were twenty-five on the field for a strenuous work out. Work has now started on the new field, and if all goes well it will be ready for use in a week. While this field is being put into condition, practice will be held on the old diamond.

The general spirit of the team is much more enthusiastic this year than in former seasons, and the competition for the various positions is keener than ever before. Last year there was only one man for catcher, this year there are four candidates. The prospects are also good for some excellent pitching this season. At present the battery candidates are Mundhenk, Wood, Haller for pitcher; Lingrel, Richey, Fletcher, Gilbert, for catcher.

Not only is the new material showing up fine, but the old men are coming back in great shape with the right kind of "pep." With Captain John Garver, Lingrel, Booth, Weber and Ream as a foundation, this year's team should be a veritable whirlwind. Ream's arm, which gave him some trouble last season, is proving good. Training starts Monday, and the squad will be in the pink of condition for the first game, which is played in three weeks, April 15, with Ohio Northern.

Pure Water Is the City's Preventative Against Disease.

"Providing pure water is a splendid investment for a city financially," said W. H. Dittoe, chief of the division of engineering of the state board of health on Tuesday afternoon in Lambert Hall, in the first of the series of talks given in connection with the state public health exhibit, held under the auspices of Otterbein's Home Economics department. "The financial saving from the prevention of typhoid fever alone is frequently in excess of the cost of the improvements. This has been clearly indicated in the history of Columbus, Cincinnati and other cities which have installed water purification plants."

Mr. Dittoe pointed out that sewage discharge into a stream of insufficient size creates a nuisance and pollutes any public water supply which may be obtained from the same stream below the point of sewage discharge; in such cases the sewage should be treated. Ohio has progressed as far as any state in the Union in the installation of sewage treatment plants designed to prevent pollution of streams and water supplies. There are now 86 of these plants in operation in Ohio.

In discussing municipal wastes, the speaker asserted that the first garbage reduction plant in the world entirely constructed by a municipality is located in Columbus.

MEDICAL CARE IMPERATIVE

Communicable Diseases Must Be Isolated and Receive Treatment— Vaccination Relieves Smallpox.

Be sure the milk you drink is clean milk! Investigations conducted by the state board of health prove that 50 per cent. of the outbreaks of typhoid fever in cities which have good water supplies is directly traceable to infected milk. Dr. Frank G. Boudreau, of Columbus, epidemiologist and chief of the division of communicable diseases of the Ohio board, brought out this startling fact in his address given in connection with the health exhibit in Lambert Hall on Wednesday afternoon.

"Infected milk not only produces typhoid, but our experience in Ohio proves that it is responsible for much of the bone, joint, and glandular tuberculosis. That it is a dangerous medium for spreading typhoid fever is undoubted. In one city of less than 10,000 inhabitants three milk-borne epidemics have occurred within the last five years. In 1911 nearly 100 cases occurred among the customers of one dairyman. In 1914, 50 cases occurred on the same route."

As a preventive measure, Dr. Boudreau urged careful inspection of all dairies, the pasteurization of milk, and the use of certified milk for infants.

That measles is a serious and dangerous disease, more deadly than the dreaded infantile paralysis, and that whooping cough is a malady not to be trifled with, were two other interesting points brought out by Dr. Boudreau. Strict isolation and care with lots of good sunlight and air offer the best remedies.

That modern medicine is relieving smallpox of its terrors, through organized prevention work, was proven by the speaker. In 1912 there were only four deaths from smallpox in Ohio. In 1902 there were over 200. The answer is vaccination, and re-vaccination. Dr. Boudreau said, "Vaccination not only prevents the development of smallpox if performed soon enough, but it will modify the course of the disease if not performed soon enough, and it will permit those who have been exposed to go about their business."

"A child vaccinated before the second summer of his life, again when he is 12 years of age, and still again whenever there is smallpox in the neighborhood, will never take the disease," Dr. Boudreau said. Smallpox will never attack a well vaccinated community.

Parents are warned to be particularly careful to avoid exposing their children to diphtheria, as it is most common and fatal in children under 10 years of age. The speaker declared that there is only one cure for diphtheria—diphtheria antitoxin. This antitoxin should also be used for those who have been exposed. If given soon enough it will prevent the development of the disease. "Remember that any sore throat is dangerous, and call a physician when your child complains," Dr. Boudreau said.

Faculty Uses Veto Power and Rules Out Junior Play.

Much to the surprise of the Junior class and friends, the faculty voted that all negotiations for the staging of the annual play be stopped at once. It is to be regretted that this production, which has been the big theatrical of the year will not be permitted.

Charles H. Orr had been secured, by a unanimous vote of the class to coach the actors. "My Friend from India" had been chosen as the production and the caste had been selected. After a manager had been elected and work was begun the ruling of the faculty put a crimp in their aspirations.

Because the class began work, without consulting the faculty, those in authority decided to bring the evil-doers to time, by drastic action. It is understood that the play might be permitted if the class will organize things again. This will not be done and the hopes of a theatrical treat have been shattered.

EDITORIALS

In our industrial, social, civic and religious democracy everything waits on education. No real progress and no lasting improvement in any line of life is possible except through the better education of the people.

—Philander P. Claxton.

A Pipe Organ.

Constant demands have come to the director of the conservatory for pipe organ work. The proximity of Columbus with its large number of musicians who are anxious to secure training on the pipe organ but who do not have the opportunities makes the installation of such an instrument look like a great thing for the advancement of the college.

For some time this need of a pipe organ has been felt by those interested in the rapid advances being made by the music department of the college. Upon several occasions efforts have been made to secure funds for the installation of the instrument. Gifts of small amounts have been received. The proceeds from the Choral-Fanning Concert have been added to that fund so that at the present time a small "nest egg" exists which Director Grabill is carefully watching with the hope of its growth and hatching.

Some general plans have been discussed and it seems to be the opinion that the first organ to be purchased would be placed in the present chapel. Then, when the new chapel is built this organ would be transferred to Lambert Hall while a large new one would be installed in the chapel. This one which is being planned for the immediate future would be a real organ and complete in all details, especially designed for practice purposes.

There is absolutely no question about the interest in such a department if it were to be added to the curriculum. It is how and when we shall have a pipe organ that concerns us. When—well, we hope that it will be soon. The fundamental problem is, how. That can only be answered by the gifts of people who desire a pipe organ. Some have done so but how many will follow? Any one person, family, class or organization has a splendid opportunity in this case to make for themselves an immortal name in Otterbein history.

Put in Practice.

Practically every student, many town people and scores of children visited the Association building during the past week to see the splendid exhibit of the State Board of Health held under the auspices of the Home Economics department of the college. The exhibit completely filled the large association parlor. It consisted of charts, models, diagrams, cartoons, photographs, aphorisms and electrical illusions with mechanical devices. A representative of the health board was present at all times to answer questions regarding the exhibit and health problems.

With the instruction furnished at this exhibit every person who attended was able to obtain valuable information for their own personal benefit. But this instruction and knowledge will benefit no one unless put into practice. Therefore it behooves every one to take care of the body which has been given him and to do so with due consideration to those about him. As we learn how to live better so we should live.

"Good Looks."

Recently while bumping around among some of God's poor helpless earthly creatures in a community of which we had no knowledge we gained the impression that "good looks" was a prime requisite for that society. Well, we didn't get very far into the social circles of that locality either, but it was not all because of that score, for honestly we didn't care about being so affectionately received as some others were.

Appearance is a great thing in this world. He who is fortunate enough to have an attractive countenance is fortunate. But such is not a requisite of progress and achievement. And how lucky it is for some of us that such is the case. But whatever possibilities for a good appearance we do possess, we should develop and cultivate just as far as possible.

But there is much more to a person than "good looks." The fact that a certain individual is "good looking" does not offer the slightest kind of proof that he does a thing worth while and is of benefit to society. It does not so much as signify that he is capable of the big tasks of the world if he had a chance to use his powers.

Now these folks who thought so much of appearance were nice people but they were just "skin deep" as is the idol which they have raised for themselves. Their conversation, desires, friendship and ideals was all reckoned in terms of "good looks." Perhaps they didn't know any better, they might not care and then they might willfully live in such a sphere. However that may be, it behooves us to go deeper and get the real character of a man before judging him. That is the way we learn to know his real worth. It is that which is within the man that should make him look good to the world and should make the world look better because of his life in it.

Whispering in the Library.

Whispering in the library is just one of these little sins which we do so often. Everyone knows that a library should be presided over by absolute silence. Experience has taught us that real work can not be accomplished when there is a disturbing noise and buzzing near by. With all this we, nevertheless, are guilty of the same offenses for which we so severely condemn others. It is just a case of doing the thing opposite to the best teaching and rules of conduct.

The library is used by many students as a place for study. As such it must be a place of quiet. There can be no friendly tete-a-tete at one table, a couple of folks laughing and joking at another and between two such fires a student philosophizing over the question of whether we laugh because we are happy or whether we are happy because we laugh. If such a problem is to be solved we must at least have the chance to concentrate our thoughts upon it.

Our library is not to be condemned for the decorum is at most times fairly good. There is, however, an opportunity for us to improve it in its efficiency for the student. We can do this by watching a little more closely our conduct when in it. Make it a place of study and real work. Do our visiting elsewhere at more appropriate places.

Life's Mirror.

There are loyal hearts, there are spirits brave,

There are souls that are pure and true;

Then give to the world the best you have,

And the best will come back to you.

Give love, and love to your life will flow,

A strength in your utmost need;

Have faith, and a score of hearts will show

Their faith in your word and deed.

Give truth, and your gift will be paid in kind,

And honor will honor meet;

And a smile that is sweet will surely find

A smile that is just as sweet.

For life is the mirror of king and slave,

'Tis just what we are and do;

Then give to the world the best you have,

And the best will come back to you.

CHURCH OPENING LONG HOPED FOR

which four hundred command view of the pulpit.

In the basement, which covers the entire ground plan, is a large banquet hall. A most complete kitchen with all necessary equipment will be a valuable asset. Two large gas ranges are the gift of Warren Thomas of Columbus. Also a primary department has been installed, which adds completeness to the church.

One wonders how the church can be so complete and the work done so well, but yet so economically. Everything pertaining to the building is useful in one respect or another. Twelve hundred people can see and hear the speaker to good advantage.

Although, the success of those who had an active part in the campaign for money has been encouraging, some money is yet needed, and those who wish to help the good cause along can still do a great deal in finishing the work. Let everyone who possibly can, send to the pastor, Rev. Elmer E. Burtner, or to J. W. Markley, the treasurer of the board of trustees, money with which to reinforce them in this splendid enterprise.

Too much credit cannot be given to those who are in the work. The men who head the enterprise are especially deserving. Those on the board of Trustees are J. W. Everal, president; N. E. Cornett, vice president; Dr. J. W. Funk, secretary; J. W. Markley, treasurer; R. O. Cook, C. C. Keller and President Clippinger. Rev. E. E. Burtner, the pastor, of course is carrying a heavy load and is earnestly working and pleading for help in the Master's work.

the untiring preparation and work of both teams.

About a dozen enthusiasts got together an orchestra, which furnished music before and after the debate. This was a pleasing feature of the evening's program and added much spirit to the debate. The orchestra was in charge of Rolin R. Durant.

DUST CAUSES ILL HEALTH

headache and fatigue, the true cause of which is generally never suspected; bad air which can usually be labelled as too warm, too dry and too dead or motionless, and sometimes also loaded with dust, smoke fumes gases or vapors; exposure, to high temperature which causes early old age, and which in up-to-date factories is no longer a risk; cold, where the worker is not properly clothed, or works in damp air, or passes from hot to cold places; fatigue of body, hands or eyes, which is the most common cause of occupational diseases, and inactivity, on the other hand, where the worker sits steadily at a machine or a desk—both of which are dangerous from the standpoint of over—or under exercise.

Summing up his subject, Dr. Hayhurst declared that the loss falls on the employer, the employee, and the community at large; the employer because of the loss in efficiency of his workers, and consequently, a lowered output or production of business; the employee, who finds his health gone in what should be the prime of his life from a cause which should have been prevented; and the community, which is supporting costly charities to care for the afflicted, and is now paying double insurance rates on all life and health insurance taken out. He pointed out that a small part of the money so wasted would remedy the underlying condition.

Training School Woman Tells of Need for College Women.

How great is the call for women! They are needed everywhere. Christian teachers are needed in China to found schools, which will mean a Christianized China, in the next generation. India has this need, as well as Central and South America; but a call for women is heard nearer home. Our cities need this Christian leadership as well as our small communities. The need is everywhere. How many are untouched by Christian influence. How many places where the church is not a center! Young women are called to meet this need—trained women, college women, women with a vision and, most important, Christian women.

The twentieth century is offering the finest opportunities ever offered; opportunities for making life enjoyable and servicable. The twentieth century is offering things that the nineteenth century never dreamed of. Should we not consider these things? Should we not be careful in our choice of our life's work? The church is turning to the college women to plan, organize and direct work for those who have not had such advantages.

These are just a few of the many thoughts brought to the girls by Miss Leitzel in her speech before the members of the Young Women's Christian Association. She told of the training school in Cincinnati, the various missionary courses and the Christian atmosphere of the school, where girls are preparing for a definite Christian life work. This interesting meeting was under the leadership of Bertha Corl.

On Thursday evening the Otterbein Concert Quartet consisting of F. W. Kelsner, G. G. Grabill, J. A. Bendinger and A. R. Spessard furnished special music at the banquet given by the Chapter and Council members of the Westerville Masonic bodies. On this occasion both of these lodges held their annual inspections.

E. L. Thatcher of Mt. Vernon College spent the week-end with Roy Peden.

Change in Foul Rule Being*Considered for Basketball.

Considerable diversity of opinion among coaches and basketball fans seems to exist as to the necessity of revising the rules of the game. The general opinion is however that as a result of their continual study and supervision by the Intercollegiate Basketball League, the rules will shortly be so perfected as to bring the game of basketball up to standard.

One coach, while recognizing the advances made in the past few years, thinks that the league should supervise the work of officials, which, he declares, is uneven and harmful to the sport.

The greatest criticism is in regard to foul shooting. Year after year games are won and lost on the bases of fouls. Each team develops a player who does little but practice foul shooting and acquires unusual skill.

It is not the desire to eliminate foul shooting but to take the goal shooting from one man alone. In other words the attempt at goal after a foul should be shot by the player on whom the foul was made.

In this way every player would have to enter the foul box at one time or another and the result would be general improvement in goal shooting on the part of the entire team.

For a game, which may very often be won on the basis of fouls, all shot by one proficient exponent of the act, is not as good a game as it might be.

C. E. Officers Elected.

Section A Christian Endeavor Society held its annual election of officers Sunday evening. The following officers were elected for next year:

President—A. H. Sholty.
Vice President—C. W. Vernon.
Treasurer—L. S. Hert.
Recording Secretary—Alta White.
Corresponding Secretary—Inez Bowers.
Chorister—B. Carlson.
Flanist—Vida Wilhelm.

Thinking.

If you think you are beaten, you are,
If you think you dare not, you don't.

If you'd like to win, but think you can't

It's almost a cinch you won't,
If you think you'll lose, you're lost,
For out of the world we find
Success begins with a fellow's will,
It's all in the state of mind.
If you think you're outclassed, you are;

You've got to think to rise,
You've got to be sure of yourself before

You can ever win a prize.
Life's battles don't always go
To the stronger or faster man;
But soon or late the man who wins,
Is the man who thinks he can.

J. L. Morrison Dies.

J. L. Morrison, a great friend of Otterbein and well-known proprietor of the University Bookstore died this afternoon at the home of his daughter, Mrs. J. W. Jones on Vine street. His death comes after a short period of illness. His useful and sacrificing life will long be remembered by his many friends.

Professor Fritz Will Read.

On April the eleventh, Professor A. C. Fritz will read "Hamlet" in Lambert Hall for the benefit of the Y. M. C. A. A real treat in dramatic art is promised by this popular professor. Mr. Fritz has given "Hamlet" before many critical audiences and always received their hearty applause and congratulations. An adaptation from "Hamlet" is seldom read on account of its bigness; and Otterbein looks forward to the time when they can hear it given in a masterly way. You cannot afford to miss it and not back the Y. M. C. A. This organization has been seriously handicapped this year and is making a strenuous effort to make up a deficit.

A Prominent American Once Said.

I wish I had known:

What I was going to do for a living—what my life work would be.

That my health after thirty depended upon what I ate before I was twenty-one.

How to care of my money.

The commercial asset of being neatly and sensibly dressed.

That man's habits are mighty hard to change after he is twenty-one.

That things worth while require time, patience and work.

That you can't get something for nothing.

That the world would give me just about what I deserved.

That by the sweat of my brow would I earn my bread.

The value of absolute truthfulness in everything.

The folly of not taking other people's advice.

That everything which my mother wanted me to do was right.—Collegian.

Two of a Kind.

"Sir, you seem to be troubled."

"I am. For the last three years I have done nothing but pay out money, money, money, and get no visible return for it. If this keeps up much longer I'll soon be a pauper."

"Cheer up! I, too, have a son at college."

"Who Am I?"—A Sermonette.

Colonel George W. Burr, commandant at the Rock Island arsenal, has had the following "sermonette" placarded in all the shops there, and it is an appeal which is directed to everyone:

I am more powerful than the combined armies of the world.

I have destroyed more men than all the wars in the world.

I am more deadly than bullets, and I have wrecked more homes than the mightiest of siege guns.

I steal, in the United States alone, over $300,000,000 each year.

I spare no one, and I find my victims among the rich and poor alike; the young and old; the strong and weak; widows and orphans know me.

I loom up to such proportions that I cast my shadow over every field of labor from the turning of the grindstone to the moving of every train.

I massacre thousands upon thousands of wage-earners in a year.

I lurk in unseen places, and do most of my work silently. You are warned against me, but you heed not.

I am relentless. I am everywhere; in the home, on the street, in the factory, at railroad crossings, and on the sea.

I bring sickness, degradation and death, and yet few seek to avoid me.

I destroy, crush or maim; I give nothing, but take all.

I am your worst enemy.

I am carelessness.

—From Jeffrey Service.

COCHRAN NOTES.

Mrs. Stofer has been visiting Mary and Martha.

It must be perfect bliss when you and your roommate both get boxes from home. Mary Pore and Stella Reese were both in that state one night last week. Quite a few of their friends, too, experienced the same feeling when before them were arranged the chicken, the nut bread, the cake.

(Continued from last week.) Lucile McCulloch's desert was served Monday when the box with the cake and stuffed dates came. By next week perhaps the tooth picks will come—but it's well not to have all the "spices" at once.

Mrs. Drury visited her daughter Ruth several days last week. In her honor an afternoon tea was arranged on Thursday in Cochran Hall parlors.

The girls have enjoyed the "Health" lectures very much—it isn't every day that picture shows are free.

Some "Saturday night shut-ins" sought refuge in Helen Ensor's room where they tried to drown their disappointment with grape juice.

We all had hopes of a joy-ride last Friday night when we heard the wagon "pull up." But the dream passed up in the air when about seven o'clock, Saturday, the wagon went off empty.

There have been several bad cases of spring fever reported in the Hall. It is feared there will be an epidemic.

A crop of tin cans sprang up one night in Cochran Hall yard. It is strange how the rain does make things come up.

Westerville and Cochran Hall went absolutely "dry" Tuesday when the water was turned off. We've decided to vote "wet" next November.

The girls had resorted to serenading themselves, until Saturday night their hopes rose once more. Are there such things as encores? They hope so mighty hard.

Any one desiring information on the care and treatment of kindergartners see Helen Ensor and Rowena Thompson. These ladies are both well experienced in the handling of the young.

Fooled on Song.

The sensitive musical ears of Joe Goughenour and Stanley Ross were somewhat off pitch last Friday evening when they arose during the playing of "Die Wacht am Rhein." A large number of other Philophroneans followed immediately. Should President Wilson learn that there were so many "hyphenated Americans" in Otterbein he would no doubt be greatly disappointed in the work of higher education. These men however didn't mean or wish to pay respect to the German "Kultur." It was plainly a case of absolute evidence of deficient musical training. Work in the conservatory should help them.
