CAP AND DAGGER SCORES BIG SUCCESS WITH "IF I WERE KING"

"VAGABOND KING" MUSIC INTERSPERSES PROGRAM

GORGEOUS COSTUMES USED

Perhaps Most Elaborate Production Ever Presented on Local Stage.

By Mary Thomas

One of the most outstanding dramatic productions of the year, and probably the most elaborate performance ever staged in the Otterbein chapel was the romantic play, "If I Were King" presented by the Cap and Dagger Club last Friday and Saturday nights. The dramatic nature of the play, together with sincere acting and very effective costumes and scenery combined to make the performance a great success.

"If I Were King" is a play dealing with the adventures of Francois Villon, the young leader of a band of Paris ruffians, who gains the favor of the King, Louis XI, and is given a position of power for a week. At the end of this time he leads his men against the Burgundians and returns a victor only to find that death on the gallows awaits him. But Katherine, a beautiful young relative of the king, loves Francois and through her his life is spared.

CLASS ROOM TURNS INTO BARBER SHOP

It was a 1 o'clock class. The Dorm girls were drowsy over their sumptuous repast enjoyed such a short time past. The King Hall men were likewise nodding over their books. The Professor alone seemed to have an abiding interest in the subject. From the exceeding sprightliness evinced one might think that the prof had been counting calories and dined on lettuce leaves alone.

The air was close. The organ droned maddingly thro' the crevices telling us that some fair Co-ed was saying her alphabet on the scale. The professor was waxing eloquent. Fair visions of old castles, hanging gardens, young gallants, broken hearts, battles

PITCHER OF ST. LOUIS CARDINALS SENDS CHECK

A substantial check was received recently from Mr. Jesse Haines, pitcher on the famous St. Louis Cardinal's baseball team. Mr. Haine's home is in Phillipsburg, Ohio. He is a member of the United Brethren Church but has never been connected in any way with the college as a student. Mr. Haines had already paid one of his Jubilee pledges before the receipt of the latest check.

TAN CAGE MEN WALLOP OHIO NORTHERN U. 31-29 SATURDAY

NO GAME WITH BALDWIN WALLACE THIS WEEK

Due to a typographical error in practically every basket ball schedule of Otterbein games that has been printed, a game with Baldwin-Wallace was scheduled on the home floor for Thursday evening, January 20. The date should have been January 29. The schedule printed in this issue is absolutely official and has been checked with the books of the athletic department. The only game this week is with Marietta on Saturday evening in the high school gymnasium.

KENYON BASKETEERS WIN OVER TAN TEAM 45-26

NORTHERN TEAM GETS LEAD

Defense of Tan Team Shows Improvement Over Previous Games. Score 14-13 at Half Otterbein's basket ball team brought back her first conference victory of the season, after losing the first game, by virtue of a two point margin over Ohio Northern last Saturday night at Ada. The final score was 31 to 29.

Ohio Northern took an early lead and ran the score up to 11 to 0 before Otterbein got started. Otterbein took time out and scored 14 points before Northern found the net again. The score at the intermission was 14 to 13 in favor of Otterbein. Otterbein gradually increased her lead at the beginning of the second half until within three minutes of play remained when Seaman had to leave the game via the personal foul route. From then on Ohio Northern gained but the lead was too great.

Buell was the high scorer of the game with 11 points. Sheely scored most for the Polar Bears with 8 points.

Otterbein's general play especially the defensive phase showed considerable improvement. For the second time in a week Snavely held his man to a single field goal. His man scored 16 points against Wooster last week. Norris played a good game after taking Van Curen's place, the latter going out on personal fouls not long after

ON THRESHOLD OF NEW INTERNATIONAL AGE, DR. JACKH TELLS STUDENT BODY

Dr. Ernest Jackh, former secretary to Dr. Stressman who is a German diplomat of some importance, and a member of both the Locarno and Versailles conferences gave one of his lectures, "The Growth of the International Mind", in the regular chapel period Friday morning. Dr. Jackh came to the campus under the auspices of the International Conciliation Association, an organization formed for the purpose of furthering world peace.

"Wasting time in preventing war is a big step toward international peace," Dr. Jackh declared to the student assembly. Herr Jackh further stated that there are four great systems striving toward the attainment of international peace: the American Dawes Plan, the Locarno system, the Geneva Conference, and the conference at Toilly where the New France and the New Germany met.

"Internationalism has always existed but not always for peace; but now we have the first step toward the internationalism of peace," Dr. Jackh stated. "The new mind of Europe calls war a crime. What the great minds of today need is machinery to further, peace and not much organization."

"France won the World War but she lost her currency; Germany lost in the combat, but she regained her currency."

"We are now on the threshold of a new international age, an age that started with the defeat of Germany in the World War." Dr. Jackh came to the campus under the local auspices of International Relations Club.

Asire, and Marian Dew.

Prof. Lester Raines, head of the Public Speaking department, who directed the play, deserves much credit for its success.

Members of the production staff were Everett Boyer, Business Manager; Karl Kumler, stage manager; Wendell Rhodes and Franklin Puderbaugh, assistant stage managers; and Roy Schwartzkopf, electrician.

Excellent Stage Effects.

Much of the effectiveness of the play was due the stage scenery and lighting effects, which were more elaborate than anything undertaken here in recent years. The balconies used on the stage added an artistic note, and the gallows scene in the final act was startlingly realistic. The wings for the garden setting of the second and third acts were painted by Ruth Asire, Boyd Rennison, and Alfred Owens under the direction of Mrs. Delphine Dunn.

Music from "The Vagabond King" the popular operetta based on the play, "If I Were King" was played during the intermissions by Sarah Baltzelle, organist, Ruth Haney, violinist, and Arvine Harrold, cornetist. Edna Hayes, artistically costumed in the period of the play, sang two soprano solos.

Costumes by Shoultz.

All members of the cast were well costumed for their parts, the costumes worn by Villon and Katherine in Act II having been made by Fritz Schoultz of Chicago.

The players were aided in their acting by having seen a performance of "The Vagabond King" at the Hartman Theater in Columbus early in the week. Mr. Bechtolt also saw Dennis King play this role at the Great Northern Theatre in Chicago.

Effective Tavern Scene.

Much credit for the effective tavern scene in the first act goes to those who played the members of Villon's band of rogues. These parts were taken by Wendell Williams, Richard Sanders, Franklin Puderbaugh, John Hudock, Jeanne Bromeley, Helen Clemans, Lucy Hanna, Margaret Haney, Margaret Baker, and Margaret Tryon. The song in defiance of Burgundy which was sung several times by this group, led by Mr. Bechtolt, was one of the high spots of the play.

Other parts were taken by Alfred Owens, Everett Snyder, Karl Kumler, Boyd Rennison, Wendell Rhodes, Oliver Spangler, Morris Hicks, Maurine Knight, Gladys Snyder, Ruth

CATALOG CHANGES AND INTRODUCTIONS MADE

Several changes and introductions of new courses have been made by several departments which are not listed in the catalog. Students should take note of this in preparing schedules for the next semester.

Religious Education No. 606 (Modern Mission Fields) will not be given the second semester. Any student desiring that work should see Prof. Hursh. Sociology No. 632 (Social Problems) will be divided into two sections, one at 9 o'clock on M. W. F. and one at 10 o'clock on M. W. F.

Prof. Weinland announces that the course in Physical Chemistry 164 will be given at 9 o'clock T. Th.

A new course in Observation and Participation of 3 hours is planned for Prof. Valentine's department next semester. Students who are interested should see him at once. A 3-hour course in Principles of Education which will be required of all students majoring in Education except the present seniors will also be given in the Education department next semester.

A course in Business English may be given by Prof. P. E. Pendleton next semester if enough students are interested.

PROBLEM FACING TRACK MENTOR THIS SEASONTRAINING TO BEGIN SOON

Large Number Point-Getting Men Have Been Lost By Graduation. Men Needed.

A serious problem will confront Coach M. A. Ditmer when the spring track season opens. Many wide gaps have been left open by graduation from the squad of last year of men who were consistent point getters for Otterbein. A conservative estimate of the number of points lost is placed at 55.

The following men have been lost to the team: Stoughton, the cinder artist de luxe, always capable of scoring 15 points, and anchor man on the relay team; Storey, who consistently placed first in the half-mile; Porosky, always good for from 8 to 10 points in the javelin and discus throw; C. Widdoes could always be counted on for at least 8 points in the hurdles.

Meyers and C. Widdoes were able to garner 8 points in the pole vault; Stair usually came through with 3 points in the broad jump; Richter scored a consistent first and 5 points in the shot put, and Tinsley placed in the two-mile run. There is also a possibility of two of last year's squad dropping out of school for the second semester, which means more points lost.

However, two letter men of the '25 track squad are back in school this year—Martin and Falstick, who are good distance runners.

Summing up the situation in the words of Coach Ditmer, "There will be wide openings on account of the loss of these men, and therefore it becomes more urgent that a large number of men report when the call is made for the opening of the training season."

Philotas, Jondas, Sphinx and Cook House Win First Intra-mural Games

The Philotas, Jondas, Sphinx and Cookhouse teams won their first games in the first round of the intramural games last week, the Annex, Country Club, Lakota and Alps losing their first games.

In the opening game of the schedule the Philotas scored 17 points to the Annex's 10 points. Green and Borror of the Philotas scored 7 and 6 points respectively while James scored 4 points for the Annex.

Jondas nearly doubled the score on the Country Club team when they won by a score of 30 to 16. Thompson of Country Club, Fowler and O. Cline of the Jondas each scored 10 points.

The Sphinx won from the Lakotas by a score of 26 to 14 Steimer scoring 11 points for the Sphinx while Jenkinson of the Sphinx and Seitz of Lakotas each scored 8 points.

The Cookhouse team almost whitewashed the Alps team when they piled up a score of 50 to 2 in the last game of the day. The Alps were no opposition to the last year champs who scored at will. Gibson scored 16 points while Marsh scored 14 points. Landis made the entire score of the Alps when he was able to sink one counter.

Prune league teams opened their schedule Friday afternoon and the Annex 2nds, Dubs, Cookhouse 2nds, and Red Hawks still have a clean slate.

The Annex 2nds won from the Philotas 2nds by a score of 18-8 Gordon of the Annex scoring 10 points. M. Hicks of Philotas scored 5 points.

The Dubs won their game very easily for the Country Club 2nds did not show up and the Dubs won their first game by a forfeit.

Cookhouse 2nds scored 43 points while the Kingites scored 11 points. Townsend of the Kingites was the only scorer for his team scoring the 11 points his team received. Propst scored 19 points.

Red Hawks won from the Lakotas 2nds to the tune of 19-13. Bunce of Red Hawks scored 5 points while Simmermacher of the Lakotas scored 5 points.

Gibson, Cookhouse, leads the scorers of the Social Groups with 16 points to his credit while Propst, Cookhouse 2nds leads the Prune League scorers with 19 points.

GIRLS' INTRA-MURAL LEAGUE IS UNDER WAY

Arbutus vs. Owls and Polygon vs. Phoenix Games Played Yesterday Afternoon at 4 p. m.

The Girls' Intra-Mural Basket Ball League has been divided into two groups, with Greenwich, Arbutus, Owls, Arcady, and Talisman in the first group, and Polygon, Lotus, Tomo-Dachi, Onyx and Phoenix in the second group according to the schedule which was posted last week.

Arbutus versus Owls led off with the first tussle of the schedule yesterday afternoon; this game was followed by the Polygon versus Phoenix game. Since the Tan and Cardinal went to press yesterday afternoon at four o'clock, and the games were not scheduled to start until four o'clock, no definite results were available for publication.

Tomorrow afternoon, beginning at 4 p. m., Greenwich will meet Arcady and Tomo-Dachi will battle with Lotus. Saturday afternoon, beginning at 1:30 p. m., will witness the battle between the Owl basketeers and the Talisman cagers. Onyx and Polygon will also jump center for a victory Saturday. Arbutus versus Arcady and Phoenix versus Lotus are scheduled for next Monday at 4 p. m. After these games the league will cease action until after examinations are over. The games will begin again on February 2.

CRAM, CRAM, CRAM. EXAMS ARE COMING

There, now, we've probably spoiled the whole day for you by bringing up unpleasant thoughts by the mere title of this editorial. But we are still harboring a pet theory that was put into practice once but died a miserable death due to a lack of co-operation on the parts of both the students and the faculty; and that's the theory of periodic tests instead of semester examinations.

You can probably remember how the scheme was put into a more or less haphazard plan of operation. A series of tests designed to last the whole semester was attempted. After a few tests had been given, the interest waned. All in all the whole scheme was considered a demoralizing failure by most faculty members; and now we are back to the old cram and exam system, which has practically no advantages.

There is little to be said on the subject of "cramming". Unfortunately every student makes use of this study method at some time during his college career.

Professor Kitson says, "The retention to remember affects the firmness of retention, and if cramming is done merely with reference to the examination, the facts learned may be forgotten and never be available for future use."

Such rapid memorizing as in cramming is a witness of the value of very close attention in study; but the rapid escape of the knowledge attained is testimony to the necessity of closer association of facts. Owing to undue haste the ideas are crowded into the memory without becoming intimately related, or tied together, in numerous ways. Then when some part is forgotten, as is sure to happen, the other parts being related to offer no cue for its reproduction. Thus one part after another is lost, and even though the ideas are closely related by nature, the lack of appreciation of such relationship on the part of the student allows the whole to escape as mere lists of facts. To be firmly remembered, either a great amount of drill is necessary, or else the ideas must be assimilated, and assimilation cannot be hurried in this manner.

So we say, back to the periodic tests where we can assimilate the material of the course readily and without misunderstanding. A systematic series of well planned tests instead of examinations cannot but attain the desired goal.

The best education is self-education even in college.

A man who is his own doctor has a fool for a patient.

Once there was a poor artist. He had exceptional talent but because of his poverty he had no means of marketing his wares. He finally decided to spend his time on one picture and make it so beautiful that it would sell itself. For his model he chose a prize hen. But when he had completed his masterpiece he felt it was unworthy of his talent, so he threw it in a waste basket and it laid there.

Yes, Mr. Heermann came, but he did more, he "Came, Played, and Conquered." That rare and beautiful Ruggeri cello, in the hands and under the bow drawn by Mr. Heermann, really sang, and sang so well, that the audience would not consent for it to cease. Mr. Heermann handles his bow with much ease and grace. His left hand knows the fingerboard from one end to the other, is agile, and when the bow and fingers are directed by such judgement and taste as Mr. Heermann uses the audience is sure to pronounce him a great cellist.

Mr. Heermann's program was well chosen, not "dry," and yet he did not resort to the playing of so-called "pretty things." The Bach Prelude from Suite in D Minor, for cello alone, was appropriate for opening the program. The Melodie by Gluck, arranged by Kreisler, was truly sung on the cello.

The "Symphonic Variations" by Boellman is sure to prove attractive on any program. In this number for cello and piano, Miss Jones, deservedly shared honors with Mr. Heermann. After Mr. Heermann had played "Scherzo" by V. Goens, which he did in dazzling fashion, he was compelled to add an encore.

June Kunkle possesses a full round and brilliant soprano voice, particularly expressive in the group of Leider. She sang well the Massenet "Elegie", and in this Mr. Heermann gave added interest through his playing of the cello obligato. Roundness of her upper tones was noticeable since a soprano voice of such brilliancy does not always possess this. The singing of Mrs. Kunkle was an important part of the program.

Helen Grace Jones did the accompanying for the singer and cellist and understands the distinction to be made in accompanying for the two. She gave needed support without apparent effort. The audience never suspected that the program was given without a rehearsal by Miss Jones and Mr. Heermann. Her playing in the number for piano and cello displayed her skill as a pianist very pronouncedly. In fact this was her best work of the evening.

The concert was not only one of the most outstanding of this year at Otterbein, but of past years.—A. R. S.

TAN FLOORMEN DOWN OHIO NORTHERN QUINTET

the game started. The defensive play of Buell and Barnes showed improvement of that against Kenyon and was in a large way responsible for the victory over Ohio Northern.

Lose at Kenyon Wednesday.

Otterbein opened her conference season by losing to Kenyon at Gambier last Wednesday night 45 to 26. Kenyon led at the intermission 21 to 11.

The lead see-sawed back and forth for most of the first half but just before the period ended Newhouse took three shots from the center of the floor and made three baskets. Kenyon increased her lead with a similar spurt about the middle of the second period but otherwise the scoring was about even.

Dempsey was the high scorer of the game with eight field goals. Buell scored most for Otterbein with four baskets and two fouls. Seaman waved the net four times from the field besides playing a good guarding game. Snively played his usual star game at guard holding Van Epps scoreless until the last few minutes of the game when the latter followed a shot for his only score.

FOOTBALL COACHING HAS OWN HAZARDS CONCLUDES MENTORS' ASSOCIATION MEET

The hazards of the football coach were effectively pictured at the recent meeting of the American Football Coaches' association, in an address by Director Stagg, whose long career at the University of Chicago has given him ample opportunity to gather information on such subjects.

Only one-fourth of the football coaches in 120 well known colleges, he said, have been able to produce teams that have won enough games to hold their present relative position for five years. In the last eight years, these 120 colleges and universities have employed 379 coaches in their quest for successful teams.

Only 16 of these institutions have had the same coaches throughout the eight years, and only in a bare handful had the football coach been able to retain his post for ten years or more. "Insistence upon winning teams is at the bottom of more troubles than all other things combined," said Mr. Stagg in explanation of this rapid turn-over in the coaching profession. "Most of the criticism now aimed against intercollegiate athletics would cease," he added, "if our alumni, the public, and students would take a sportsmanlike attitude toward defeat, which, like death and taxes, must come to every coach, no matter how good."

It is to often forgotten that the football team is made up of undergraduates, and that the sport belongs primarily to the student bodies, not to the alumni or the general public. For every victory there must be a defeat, and athletic coaches and managers should be measured by what they are doing to build up the physical strength of the students as a whole, and not condemned for failure to pile up a long record of successive victories over other institutions. —Columbus Dispatch.

and sham battles were whizzing around in mad panoramic fashion.

Three engaged girls were absent-mindedly crossing names, drawing patterns in silver, and smiling into space. The girls in the immediate vicinity were attempting to look bored. One "A" student alone was concentrating on the professor. The inspiration of her intense gaze was sending the Prof. into new rhapsodies.

Suddenly some psychic sense told the Prof. that the class was going, going rapidly, into the arms of a Mental Morpheus. Something had to be done, but what? Drop a book or throw one? Call the Janitor or tell a fairy story? Then in a flash the method of the old time evangelist came to mind. So, in stentorian tones the Prof. yelled NEXT!!

My Roommate Says-

Her Prof the other day said that the first thing you think of when you see a rat is to grab a club and kill it but he didn't know his stuff or he'd have said find a pole and climb it.

That she took a reserve book back to the Library an hour late and now she knows what the third degree means.

That she can't decide which is the worse, collegiate cleats or mustachios.

That ever since she saw, "If I Were King" she's been suppressing desires and consigning the Burgundians.

That track meets are the favorite indoor sport of one of her Profs.

That term papers are the collegiate form of the Spanish Inquisition.

That the great classic "Yes, We Have No Bananas", has found a peer in "Where D'Ye Worka John"?

That if there's one person worse than all others, it is the self-confessed heart-breaker.

That she's always heard that anticipation is greater than realization and she hopes it works out in regard to exams.

That she'd give her kingdom for a poker face when the Prof. starts picking victims.

That by this time next month she'll know just how much she's been getting away with.

That she has a friend from Stark county but that she isn't from Canton.

That if she's any judge at all, the Christmas run of neckties this year is better than usual.

That "all the world loves a lover" so Becky better watch out.

That one of her Profs said the other day that there was a danger of knowing too much and she's been worried about herself every since.

That her idea of an optimist is a fellow who makes a fruit cocktail out of the lemons and sour grapes he rates.

That she heard that Francois would like the addresses of the girls who cried when his neck was in danger.

MARIETTA CAGE MEN TO BE MET SATURDAY

Saturday evening the Otterbein cage squad will play its second home game in three days against Marietta. With a seasoned quintet the invaders appear to be in a position to make it extremely interesting for Edler's men.

All five of Coach Griffith's men will bear watching, but "Freddy" Schafer, center, appears to be the one most likely to cause trouble. Schafer is a sharp-shooter who can usually be depended upon to drop in some long shots. The Otterbein defense must keep him from getting in the clear for long tosses. The remainder of the lineup will be Rief and Trott at forwards and Ward and Gerhart at guards.

Otterbein will continue to practice daily in preparation for the game this week. The locals will hold the advantage of being on their home floor.

CHEER LEADER ISSUES DO'S AND DON'T'S

Do—

- Cooperate with yell leader.
- Attend all games, rallies etc. and yell, yell, yell.
- Keep your eyes on the leader.
- Follow his motions.
- Applaud yells for other schools and for individual players.
- Applaud goal plays made by opponents.
- Be courteous to the public they judge you by your conduct at the games.
- Be reasonable.

DO NOT—

- Hiss or hoot opposing players.
- Hiss or hoot referee.

This will be particularly valuable Saturday as Marietta is accustomed to a small floor.

The loser in Saturday's game will not be forced to wait long to attempt to avenge the defeat, for the two teams meet again at Marietta February 2.

SIBYL IS PROGRESSING HOPE TO SELL 450 COPIES

Work on the Sibyl has been going on in real earnestness since the Christmas Holidays. A real effort is being made to get as many photographs to the engravers before the end of January, in order to take advantage of the discount offered for work turned in early.

The work has been materially advanced by the fine cooperation of the Art Department under the direction of Mrs. Dunn. The deadline for photographs has been passed in order that the Art work on the panels may proceed without interruption. In case there are more photographs to go in the book, special arrangements must be made with the staff.

Occasional new subscriptions are coming in, so that the goal of four hundred and fifty may be attained before the book goes to press.

MISS YOUR LAB AND YOU GET CLASS CUT

Absences from any laboratory period after the beginning of the second semester will count as a regular recitation absence unless special arrangements are made with the professor concerned. So states a special order of the faculty issued last week.

Irregularities in laboratory attendance coupled with failure to make up lost work is thought to have been responsible for such an order.

LYCEUM ENTERTAINERS PRESENT GOOD PROGRAM

Tom and Ruth Blanchard Appear As Fourth Number. Selma Lenhart, Famous Reader, Coming.

Tom and Ruth Blanchard, entertainers, presented a versatile program in the College Chapel Tuesday evening as the fourth number on the Citizen's Lecture Course.

Dialogues, humorous sketches, and vocal numbers as well as impersonations made up the program.

A vocal duet was the opening number. Following this, "Confessions" a humorous dialogue by Sir Arthur Conan Doyle was presented. "Lo! Hear the Gentle Lark" a unique duet featured Tom Blanchard who carried the obligato in imitation of a flute. A number of popular songs and readings were given in the first part of the program. Tom Blanchard gave several descriptive readings and impersonations. His imitation of the various instruments in "The Old Town Band" was well received by the audience. Ruth Blanchard contributed an Irish reading and some conundrums. The final number was a Scotch costume sketch and a song by Mr. Blanchard "I Love A Lassie." Ruth Blanchard was accompanist. This well arranged program of humorous sketches and pleasing musical numbers was presented to a moderate crowd.

Miss Selma Lenhart, nationally known reader and interpreter, will appear in the College Chapel on Tuesday evening, January 25.

MILWAUKEE CHAPELS LED BY DELEGATES

The chapel periods last week, with the exception of Thursday morning, which were led by the delegates to the Milwaukee conference have proved to be both interesting and instructive. Comments from the student body indicated that the special music numbered were received with special appreciation.

On returning to the campus the delegates felt that they wanted to try to give a synopsis of the conference just as it was presented to them. So they began at the same place the conference did and showed to the student body that "God Was Accessible" Professor Hursh spoke on this subject in the initial chapel service on Monday. Waldo Keck and Esther George discussed the second cycle "A God, Who is the Father of All Mankind." On Wednesday Katharine Myers talked on "The Divine Possibilities of Human Life." Dr. Jackh's lecture on "The Growth of the International Mind" delivered Thursday fitted in admirably with the other features of the week's program. On Friday morning Louie Norris wound up the series with "The Meaning of The Cross."
