Ohio College Editors To Convene at Ohio U.

DECEMBER 3 AND 4

Harsha and Norris Will Represent
Otterbein at Ohio College
Newspaper Meeting.

The Ohio College Newspaper Association will hold its semi-annual meeting at Ohio University, in Athens December 3 and 4. Wayne V. Harsha, Editor-in-chief and Louie W. Norris, News Editor, of the Tan and Cardinal, will be the Otterbein representatives at the convention. William F. Smiley, editor of the "Green and White" at Ohio, will be host to the association. Sherrill Leonard, editor of the University of Akron's "Buchtelite" is the president of the association.

A number of interesting talks, a general discussion of problems confronting college editors, and a banquet have been planned for the convention thus far.

Ten Ohio Colleges, of which Otterbein is one, are now members of the Ohio College Newspaper Association. Several more have applied for membership, applications for which will be (Continued on page eight.)

TAN AND CARDINAL TO PUBLISH SOCIAL GROUP GRADE CHART ON DEC. 7

Direct Attempt Being Made to Raise Scholastic Standards of Clubs.

Letters were sent out to the secretaries of all social groups last Friday by the Tan and Cardinal for the purpose of securing the personnel of all clubs. The information thus obtained will be used in building a grade comparison chart which will be published in the December 7 issue of the Tan and Cardinal. Separate charts will be published, one for the men's social groups and one for the Women's social groups.

After each succeeding grading period the Tan and Cardinal will repeat the stunt. A comparison column of point averages of all preceeding grading periods will be published in the charts hereafter.

The stunt is not new but is a novel one for Otterbein. Direct attempts will be made to raise the scholastic standards of the social groups, and further, to determine whether social groups have a deleterious effect on studies.

FROSH AVENGE SCRAP DAY BY 6-0 VICTORY OVER SOPHS

"JEW" CRAWFORD TO CAPTAIN 1927 TEAM

John H. Crawford, familiarly known on the campus as "Jew", was elected football captain for 1927, at a meeting last Wednesday morning of all football men who had played at least two quarters. "Jew" is a Westerville product, having graduated from the local high school. He was prominent in high school football activities under Coach D. R. Parks.

NO ISSUE OF TAN AND CARDINAL NEXT WEEK

Due to the fact that the Thanksgiving recess does not allow the staff time enough to prepare copy, there will be no issue of the Tan and Cardinal on Tuesday, November 30. The Thanksgiving recess will begin tomorrow at 12 o'clock and will last until Monday morning at 7:30 o'clock. Students are requested by Dean N. E. Cornet to carefully examine the regulations concerning pre-and post-vacation absences as found in the Y Handbook.

Soph Attempts To Push Pigskin Over Goal Flop

FIELD IS MUDDY

J. Miller Makes Spectacular Play By Racing 50 Yards for Touchdown.

By Arthur H. German

Coach "Deke" Edler's yearlings defeated the Sophomores in the annual Freshman-Sophomore football game Thursday afternoon by a score of 6 to 0 after J. Miller raced 50 yards for the only tally of the game. Miller's attempt to run the ball for the extra point failed for he was tackled by the Sophomores before he crossed the goal line.

The Sophomores had several chances to score but lost them when the Freshmen held them for downs. The Sophomores made a valiant attempt to score in the last minute of play when "Tommy" Weaver dashed about 50 yards before he was downed on the Freshmen's own 14-yard line. However, the gun was fired before further gain could be made by the Sophs and the game ended with the ball in their possession on the Freshmen's 12-yard line.

Playing in a sea of sticky mud covered in places by an inch or so of icy water neither team seemed to be able to gain much through the line. A muddy field, penetrating cold winds, a slippery ball and numb fingers do not make a good combination when it comes to passing and for this reason only a few forward passes were completed. The combination, Dixon to Jenkinson, however, worked on this one pass alone the Freshmen gained about 20 yards.

Sophs Have Hot Return

Benford kicked off for the Freshmen and Weaver received and returned the ball 40 yards and it seemed that the Sophomores were on their way to a touchdown but the yearlings tightened up and forced the Sophs to kick. Yantis had trouble in getting his kicks off and the yearlings took advantage of this and blocked his punts. After see-sawing back and forth the quarter (Continued on page three.)

Junior Play Will Be Staged Two Evenings

DECEMBER 3 AND 4

Tickets For Popular Comedy Will Go On Sale After Thanksgiving Vacation.

The cast for the Junior play, "Thank You", which will be given in the College Chapel Friday and Saturday evenings, December 3 and 4, is rapidly being whipped into shape, according to late information received from Prof. Raines who is directing the play. Intensive practice on the second act was held yesterday, and will continue through today and tomorrow.

The play was written by Winston Smith and Tom Cushing, and had its premier in New York two years ago. The motion picture version of the play appeared at the Majestic Theatre in Columbus last summer.

Tickets will go on sale immediately after the Thanksgiving vacation.

The Rev. David Lee, character lead of the play, will be taken by John Hudock; his niece, Diane from Paris, by Alice Propst; her ardent suitor from the city by Richard Jones.

TURKEY DAY SOCIAL AT Y MEET TONIGHT

Lets all be present at the joint Y. M. and Y. W. Thanksgiving meeting tonight at 6:30 in the Association Building. Dr. Ashcraft, former dean of York College, Nebraska, and at present connected with Bonebrake Seminary at Dayton, Ohio, will be the main speaker for the evening.

An added attraction is the social hour after the meeting. It's been hinted that there will be food, too, to make it a real Thanksgiving affair. Let's all be there at 6:30 sharp. What say?

Organ Program Is Postponed.

Due to adverse weather conditions, the picture taking of the student body was shifted to this morning, and thus necessitating postponement of Prof. G. G. Grabill's pipe organ recital. However, authorities state that the program will be given soon after the Thanksgiving recess.

Dr. Ashcraft, of Bonebrake Seminary, will occupy the chapel platform tomorrow morning.

Orchestral Quartet Next Lyceum Number

COMING DECEMBER 7

Greenfield Family Is Composed of Noted Artists. Will Have Excellent Program.

Numbers on the Citizen's Lecture and Lyceum Course follow in quick succession. The next one is the Greenfield Orchestra Quartet which will come to the college chapel on Tuesday evening, December 7.

The Greenfield Quartet is a premier orchestral organization, each member of which is an artist of outstanding individual attainments. Ten years of playing together have given to the quartet a perfection of ensemble playing rarely attained.

With first-rank artistry the Quartet presents classical and semi-classical ensemble selections, varying with popular numbers. Miss Edith Greenfield features with violin solos and Miss Mollie Greenfield with piano solos. The playing of these two sisters is genuinely phenomenal. Saxophones are employed in the instrumentation but not as "jazz" instruments. The Greenfield brothers demonstrate that, as played by them, the saxophone is capable of beautiful harmonic effects.

SIBYL CIRCULATION CAM- PAIGN WILL BEGIN DEC. 1

The campaign for subscriptions for the 1927 Sibyl is scheduled to take place the first week in December. The business staff of this year's annual gives out the information that every student in the college will be given an opportunity to order a copy of the Sibyl during that week, and that no more copies will be printed than are sold during that week.

The editorial staff is making an attempt to get at least seventy-five percent of the engraving work done before the Christmas holidays. Some of the questionnaires relating to the number of activities in which the Seniors are engaged have not been returned. So the work on the Senior section has been held up. Cooperation in the part of the Seniors would thus greatly facilitate matters.

JACKSON PLANTATION SINGERS FILL CHAPEL

The Jackson Plantation Singers entertained a full house last Wednesday evening when they gave a novelty concert as the second number on the Citizen's Lecture and Lyceum Course in the College Chapel.

The first part of the program was given by the negro vocalists in plantation costume. Quaint negro melodies, interspersed with modern novelty numbers, floated from the throats of the quartet. Red footlights cast a somber glow on the stage settings.

After a short intermission, the Plantation Singers appeared in a modern and formal setting, and sang a number of classical, semi-classical, and popular numbers. Several trombone and piano solos were also on the program.

Basket Ball Practices Draw 25 Candidates

FIVE LETTER MEN BACK

Season's Prospects Are Brilliant. Excellent Chance to Rate at Top of Conference.

Coach R. K. Edler started basketball practice last week with a squad of about 25 candidates. Workouts will be held nearly every day until the start of the season.

Five letter men, comprising a complete team, are back to give strength to this year's quintet. Captain Barnes and Upson, forwards, and Buell and Snively, guards, are back from last year. Seaman jumped center for the Varsity two years ago but was not in school last year.

Among the other 20 candidates are several promising performers. Those who have been showing to best advantage in the early practices are Van Curen, Norris, Brock, Shankleton, Widdoes, Yantis and Hoover.

With the number of regulars back and the new material, the outlook is promising for a season equal to or better than last year, when Otterbein finished third in the Ohio Conference.

FRESHMEN BEAT SOPHS IN ANNUAL GRID TILT

The thrilling moments of the second quarter occurred when J. Miller broke through the Sophomore line and dashed fifty yards to make the only score of the game. Once, through the most of the second year men, he followed the west sideline to the goal and it looked as if he had little difficulty in outdistancing his pursuers. He attempted to make the extra point by running the ball but was tackled before he reached the goal line.

Shortly after this Kaufman and Cline were substituted for Fowler and Clingman. Weaver then made some pretty gains and the Sophomores were in scoring distance; however, they lost this chance when they were penalized 15 yards for holding. The Freshies then held them for downs and punted out of danger.

Gibson was then substituted for Jenkinson and after the Sophomores tried to make a dent in the youngster's line the half ended.

Frosh Complete 20-Yard Pass

Benford kicked off to Weaver who returned it 10 yards and then punted, when the Sophomores were unable to gain, to Miller who returned it about 20 yards. Dixon then demonstrated that he could pass when he heaved a long one to Jenkinson which netted the Freshmen about 20 yards.

It looked like the Freshmen were going to score again when J. Miller made a nice gain and the Sophomores were penalized 15 yards for piling but they were too anxious; their forward pass was broken up and they lost the ball to the Sophs. Weaver then kicked out of danger and "Deke" sent in another group of his Freshmen. Cling-man was sent in for J. Miller, Kurtz for Reck and Hicks for Dixon. "Coach" Snively made his only substitution of the game when he sent in Mraz for "Sparky" Schear. Weaver and Wurm made some good gains and the quarter ended with the ball in the Sophomore's possession on the 53-yard line.

Zinn was sent in for Hicks and Weaver made another first down when he came around right end. The Freshmen tightened up and held the Sophs for downs and kicked out of danger. Weaver again ran the ball back about 45 yards but the Sophs failed to make that required inch for first down and hope for a touchdown to tie the score vanished.

Widdoes then replaced Zinn at end and the Freshmen started a march down the field. They were forced to punt, and then the real thriller of the game came. Weaver received the punt on the fly and raced to the Freshmen's 14-yard line and the Sophomore's hopes increased once more. All this was of no avail for only a few seconds remained and after a couple of yards were gained by a line buck the gun cracked and the Freshmen had won the battle. Perhaps they feel better now since they are even for the ducking they got when the Sophomores pulled them through Alum Creek on Scrap Day. At any rate they celebrated their victory by ringing the

EDITORIALS

EDITORIAL LEADERS

Who owns the college newspapers?
Who should control their editorial policies?

Student editors of the Pacific Coast, at their annual convention, held last week, recognized student ownership of the publications, but denied these publishers control of the editorial policies or programs. They evidenced, at the same time, unqualified opposition to faculty interference.

So here we have the college editors, admitting that their newspapers are owned and paid for by the students and that they must hold office by virtue of student will, serving as their representatives, yet refusing to accept the voice of students as the voice of God.

Too many college newspapers are editorially, as well as from a news standpoint, mere bulletin boards, simply reflecting with favor every student body opinion without original comment.

It is perfectly clear why this condition should exist in some colleges. Editorials are in some quarters regarded as a means whereby the student body through its editor presents favorable comment on all its plans. The editor must simply be the mouthpiece of the student body. The editors at the convention asserted that, rather than be bound to accept all student decisions they would prefer to give up their offices.

We are not taking this attitude to be a reflection on the general student body mind. Editors, generally, have discarded the idea that "the king can do no wrong". Student bodies as a whole, they have learned, are notoriously actuated by precedent and emotion, and are as often wrong as right (perhaps more often). Rather than accept all the decisions, reasonable or senseless, editors have decided to make efforts to lead rather than follow student opinion. Without deliberately seeking quarrels, they propose to examine all issues critically, and with backgrounds of study and investigation, to render honest decisions, either for or against the issues.

Editors are not making any attempts at appearing as crusaders or martyrs. They are not grandstanding and they are not reading the riot act just to create a furor. On the contrary, they believe that the thinking students will support them in this policy, and that the policy if continued will make all students think.

LOVE

Next to mother love the most sacred form of affection in America is that of love for the alma mater. But in what opposite channels these loves flow: how gentle and sweet the former; how violent and destructive the latter!—The New Student.

Every man should keep a fair-sized cemetery in which to bury the faults of his friends.

TIMELY TOPICS OF TODAY

Some Financial Inconsistencies

One wonders whether a college education is worth $30.00 a year more to a woman than it is to man. Some people in authority on our campus must be laboring under that conviction. At any rate Otterbein College cleared $7,000.00 from her women last year, from their board alone.

But you say, "Do not the women pay the same as the men do?" To that I would have to answer both "yes" and "no". Yes, they pay the same per week as the men do who live in the Men's Dormitory. The difference lies in the fact that all women not resident in Westerville, but rooming under supervision of the College are required to eat at the dormitory. The men can eat at any place of their own choice. If their finances permit they can eat at the Men's Dormitory, but if not they can eat at the restaurant.

Not satisfied with this large sum of money from the women, the College raises the price on its dormitory rooms 50 cents per person per week, which amounts to approximately $20.00 per person per year. The women now pay the same price per person per week that the men do.

The difference lies in the service and accommodations each receive. For the same amount of money the men get a larger and nicer room, besides having curtains and bedding furnished. Also the men can keep their lights on as late as necessary, their rooms are kept clean, and their beds are made each day. On the other hand the women must furnish their own bedding, curtains, etc., keep their rooms clean, make their own beds each day, and turn off their lights at ten o'clock, because of the added expense leaving them on would incur.

Now you say, "Nobody on our Campus is responsible, it is the trustees who are responsible for this raise in roomrent. I agree the trustees make the final decision in a case such as this, but it is of common knowledge that the decision of the trustees is largely influenced, and rightly so, by the College officials on the Campus.

At this point the statement might be made that the women do not need to come to Otterbein if they do not care to, knowing, as they do, the price of board and room. In regard to this statement, I would like to raise the question that if this is a co-educational school in spirit, why make it harder for a woman to attend than a man?

In this discussion I appreciate the fact that it costs money to run a college but when most of that money comes directly from the women, is it not right that they should at least receive equal benefits?

Let us all cooperate and equalize this burden of expense.

E. M.

LETTERS AN OTTERBEIN FRESHMAN WRITES HOME

Nov. 23, 1926.
Westerville, Ohio.

Mr. Ira Hayseed,
Hog Run, Ky.

Dear Paw:

Yours of the first instant received with much effervescence as it is impossible to live on water and everything else costs money and my meal ticket looks as if someone had romped over it with hob-nailed boots and my roommate has been broke for the last two weeks.

Due to the fact that my landlady kicked me out because I refused to play nursemaid to her furnace and my room rent was three weeks overdue, I decided to move to other rooms. But my landlady got nasty and retaliated by keeping my trunk and other things so for the last few days whenever I buttoned my coat my trunk was locked. How-the-so-ever, on receipt of your check I payed up my back room-rent, collected my trunk, pennants, and alarm clock, and moved to King Hall.

King Hall, Paw, is not a palace as you may think and I haven't joined the royalty or anything like that, I just moved into the new men's dormitory, which same is a cross between a hotel and a barracks with cross-sections of "home sweet home". The first morning I woke up thinking I had parked in an alarm clock factory by mistake. I never heard so many bells going off simultaneously at so many different times and places before in all my life. Honest, Paw, it sounded like New Year's at Hog Run.

I might as well tell you right now, Paw, that I don't like my roommate. He is a great big ham and all his clothes are about a size and a half too big for me. The only things of his that I can wear are his ties and he keeps them locked up in his trunk all the time. Honest Paw, that bird is so dumb that he thinks the college bell is the leading club woman on the campus.

The Junior class is putting on a play in a few more weeks and they now practice rehearsals every night and from the sounds I heard coming out of Prof. Raines' room the other night the play must contain no less than three murders and two apartment house fires.

Thanksgiving vacation starts the 24th and if you and Maw crave to see my shining countenance you had better r. s. v. p. ten berries real pronto as I don't have the wherewithall for train fare and I am not at all crazy about bumming all the way to Hog Run in the particular brand of unpleasant atmosphere we have had handed to us in large wet chunks the last week or so.

Which I guess this will have to be all except that we won a football game last week and the whole college went crazy and turned out at midnight in pajamas and overcoats for cheers and speeches and a talk by prexy himself in 'De collect' attire as he so cunningly put it.

My roommate just heaved a shoe at me and made some nasty remarks about "did I think I was a night watchman or what" so I guess he must want me to turn out the light or something.

Hoping you are the same I am
Your loving son, respectively yours,
Happy Hayseed.

Rex: What other kind?

When taps were blown at 11:00 on on Armistice Day, most of us merely stood and faced the East as we were directed. But to some of us that had a vivid imagination, there probably crowded in a multitude of thoughts.

The same taps that sounded Thursday, laid to rest the "Unknown Soldier," whose funeral attracted thousands. That bugle call might have been played in yet another scene. It might have been a cold rainy day over in France. A company of soldiers is lined up before a grave. The rain has filled the grave with about two feet of water, and six men are lowering a body draped in an American flag, into that two feet of water.

"Bugler, sound taps."

Show Us the Girl!

Fellow Students: I am in search for a girl! (A certain girl, mind, not anyone!) Who is she? I don't know! But this scrap of a letter is what has set me going.—"You should see my coterie of 'parfait, gentil knights!' You know, they simply trip over themselves to reach my rosebud perfumed side to gaze upon the heavenly whites of my eyes, as they show forth from their divine oval casings. My languishing air and perfect rapture of ethereal beauty enthalls their hearts as does ointment to the fly, honey to the bee. As a dog pants, so pant their hearts for me. I am a cooling fountain, and here their lapping tongues of manly vanity are soothed and refreshed and satisfied. I am the kick in the wine bottle, the carbon dioxide of fermentation that gives a zest to life!"

If you find her, lead me to her

Fellow Students!

She sounds good.

A Beardless Man.

That she thinks this week's floral tribute from the Cochran Co-eds should go to the Senior boy who waited on the Science Building steps from 8:29 until 11:16 to get his picture taken.

That her faith in Santa Claus was pretty badly shot when she learned her mid-semester grades.

That since she found out her I. Q. she's not so sure she'll teach after all.

That she never realized the practical value of Greek until she took School Ad.

That she understands Student Council is considering appointing a Traffic Cop to direct students to after-chapel committee meetings.

That since thinking it over she believes half of this week's roses should go to the frosh who asked the Chemistry Store Keeper for a "red-hot" wire.

That the first Canto of this year's Academic Epic has just been made public and that it seems to her that it is in the form of an Invective.

That she's so used to going to bed at ten o'clock she's sure she'll never be able to stay up to see Santa Claus.

That she just dreads leaving for Thanksgiving Vacation as she'll miss her classes and teachers so much.

That so many exams all at one time are awfully hard on one's morale.

FLAMING YOUTH OF DAD'S DAY WAS HOTTER THAN WE MODERNS EVEN HOPE FOR

The "flaming youth" of the twentieth century can not hold a candle to the "flaming youth" of the eighteenth century, believes Dr. W. H. P. Faunce, President of Brown University, Providence, Rhode Island. Dr. Faunce is another of those who do not believe that modern youth is burning itself out with bad habits, and in his address before the Brown graduating class, as he is quoted in the press, he confesses that he knows "too many things about the former generation to indulge in despair over the present one." And he asks:

"Would any historian wish to exchange the worst traits of the twentieth century for the scandalous doings of the eighteenth century Bradford's history of the Pilgrim Fathers shows us within ten years after the Mayflower cast anchor at Plymouth such vices as are unknown to civilization today.

"Any graduate who has been out of college forty years will tell you there was far more intoxication among students in his day than now. The college comic of forty years ago was thrust under the door in the darkness of the night and burned by the janitor in the morning. The older generation was not angelic, but it rigorously suppressed or carefully concealed conditions which were not sanctioned by its code. Its goodness consisted largely in restraint and repression.

"Today competent college students are invited to forage for themselves, and to discuss as well as to listen. In our seminaries they sit around a table in high intellectual companionship with the advanced student that we call the professor. In the laboratory the student with his own hands and eyes and brain must find out the truth or retire in defeat. Slowly we are learning that the only training that lasts is self-training, and that unless the student educates himself, his remains forever a closed and darkened mind."

QUIZ AND QUILL MAGAZINES OUT DECEMBER 7

Christmas Number Will Contain Stories, Sketches, Poems, and Features.

The Christmas edition of the Quiz and Quill Magazine will be ready for sale about December 7, according to a statement issued by Jean Turner Camp, the editor. Cover designs suggestive of Christmas have been prepared by students of the art department and were submitted for approval at a meeting of the club last night. In accordance with a plan originated last year, when the Christmas Quiz and Quill met with great success, contributions are made by alumni as well as active members of the club. All alumni should have their copy in as soon as possible, for the magazine goes to press before December 1.

The magazine will contain stories, sketches, and poems, some of the material being especially appropriate to the Christmas season. There will be a special feature section edited by Verda Evans. With his holiday spirit the Quiz and Quill should be very acceptable for use as a Christmas gift. Sales will be in charge of Ernestine Nichols, the business manager.

PERRY LAUKHUFF WILL ATTEND STUDENT MEET

Perry Laukhuff will be Otterbein delegate to the Second Annual Congress of the National Student Federation of the United States of America. This conference will be held December 2, 3, and 4 at the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor. This congress was an outcome of a student gathering at Princeton a year ago. Its purposes are to examine various problems confronting colleges of the country and in a calm and rational manner such means for their solution.

Five commissions have been formed to discuss five specific student problems. Mr. Laukhuff has elected to sit in the commission on "The Honor System and Student Government."

Margaretta Fleming of Ohio State University is the Secretary of the Federation. Through her an effort is being made for the delegates of Ohio to attend in a body.
