Mundhenk Holds Ohio Batters To Thrice Hits, While Otterbein Clouts Four Times Against Ohio Artists for Thirteen.

LINGREL SMASHES BALL

Varsity Outclass Ohio in Every Department—Ream and Booth Hit Well—Team Fields Cleanly.

Otterbein’s baseball nine trounced the Ohio University team on the Ohio field at Athens last Saturday to the tune of 7 to 0. The game was an exhibition of two extremes, Ohio playing a wretched game in the field while Otterbein played in big league fashion. Both mound men for Ohio were exceedingly easy for the Otterbein swat miths, while Mundhenk was invincible to the Green and White basemen.

In the last of the second inning Finsterwald gained first base by being hit by the pitcher. He was then advanced on Grover’s hit and crossed the plate for the first score of the game. Otterbein was equal to the occasion and in the first of the third inning things up besides taking a small lead. Mundhenk got on base through Grover’s error, Ream followed and was safe by Goddard’s error. Weber then singled scoring Mundhenk and Ream. "Few" then stole second and scored on Booth’s sacrifice. This put Otterbein two points in the lead, which kept growing as the game went on. At the last of the fourth Ohio made their last score when through a series of plays Washing of Grover crossed the plate. Otterbein scored three more runs during the remainder of the game.

Lingrel was there again with the "big stick" and secured four hits from five times at bat, one of which was a three-sacker. Ream and Booth were close followers with three and two hits respectively. "Mundy" only walked. (Continued on page five.)

ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION VOTES
To Build New Tennis Courts.

In a called meeting after chapel this morning the Athletic Association decided to start the construction of some new tennis courts in the near future. A part of the money cleared by the minstrel show will be used to defray the necessary expenses. The construction of these new courts, which should have been made early this spring, was necessarily delayed on account of the base ball team. A base ball diamond was to be fixed on the new athletic field, and the old one used for our new tennis courts. But owing to some unavoidable circumstances the game could not be made. Matters have adjusted themselves so that we can soon have several new up-to-date tennis courts as well as a new baseball diamond on the new field next year. The debt that will be incurred is the result of the failure of the students to make good the pledges of last fall. Another minstrel will clear this.

REED GIVES LECTURES

Noted Speaker From West Delivers Series of Addresses in Chapel on City Government.

Professor T. H. Reed of the University of California delivered a series of lectures last week in the college chapel. His theme was "The Evolution of City Government in the United States."

In the first lecture on Monday evening, he gave a history of city government in the United States and outlined the main phases of its development. He told us city government is necessary and how, in its early history, people were more interested in the good of the city. He then mentioned some of the evils of the city governments, but discussed them more thoroughly in his next lecture.

On Wednesday morning at the chapel hour, in pointing out the evils and faults of the early city governments, he stated that the people were unable to fix the responsibility of government upon any one person or group of persons, and that this condition of affairs made it impossible to secure the real source of satisfaction which was passed by the city government. Professor Reed then told how a reform in city government was inaugurated at the time of the flood at Galveston, Texas. At this time of disorder, the people took into their own hands the affairs of the city, and learned that they could run the affairs of the city themselves.

From this developed the various forms of self-government now in operation. The operation of (Continued on page five.)

SENIORS WILL PRESENT PLAY

"Much Ado About Nothing" to be Given on Wednesday of Commencement Week.

CAST IS WELL CHOSEN

Will be Staged on Campus With Natural Scenic Effects—Fritz Coaches Actors.

On Wednesday evening, June 14, the Senior Class will present Shakespeare's comedy, "Much Ado About Nothing," with Mary Nichols and Glen R. Rosselot in the leading parts. For weeks the cast has been hard at work to perfect this play, and the final production promises to be one which will be a credit to 1916.

Supporting Miss Nichols and Mr. Rosselot is a cast which is proving very good in the several parts. Helen Moses as Hero is a very demure Little maid who cannot help touching the heart of Claudio who is Stanley Ross. Throughout the first, second, and third acts these two are models of love sick couples, Even the biting Aarcs of Benedict cannot daunite Claudio from his love. Without his Hero, Claudio cannot exist a single day, and Hero sees no sun in the Universe save in her Claudio. Benedict and Beatrice, on the other hand are models of peppery dislike during the first part of the play. Each professes to hate the other, and ample proof of this sentiment is given in their biting and sarcastic remarks to one another. By a ruse, however, each is made to believe that the other is in love, and dare not speak because of fear and refusal. This changes the situation. Then does out erstwhile staid and dignified Rosselot forth and say: "Beatrice! Love me! Why it must be requited. When I did not think I should live till I were married."

And soon after this quiet little Mary trips on the stage and says: "Contempt! farewell! And maiden pride adieu."

No! Never lives behind the back of such! And Benedict, love on; I will require thee,

Taming my wild heart to thy loving hand."

And thus are two hearts, once warring, united into one. Here, perhaps, is an example for Europe.

Love, however, pursues a snaky course for Claudio, for Don John, in the person of F. H. Bidde, cooks up a devilish scheme by which Hero is to marry disloyal to her darling. Receiving what seems to be up. (Continued on page five.)

Chapel to Have Pipe Organ—Kind Donor Withholds Name.

Withholding the donor’s name, President Clippinger announced a gift of a pipe organ for the college chapel. It has been hoped for some time that this gift to the college would be made, but nothing definite was announced until Monday morning at the chapel service.

The organ will be especially built for college purposes and will embody several new and unique features of modern design. It is especially adapted to teaching purposes and also for concert use and public worship.

The cost of the organ will be apportioned by the income of several of the campus institutions, the Glee Club, the Otterbein Orchestral Club, and the college itself. The estimated cost of the organ is $3,000.

College Instrumentalists Supported by Glee Club.

The Glee Club’s concert program before the band house will be a reporter of the annual concert of the Otterbein Orchestral Club and the Otterbein Glee Club last Thursday evening. The chapel was packed to the doors, those coming late having difficulty in securing seats. Every number received many rounds of applause, and during the appearances of the Glee Club the house insisted on encore after encore. The program was varied and well rendered. The orchestral numbers were exceptionally good. As to the Glee Club’s singing, the enthusiastic approval of the audience bore witness to its excellence.

The program opened with Lang, who’s selection of Italian Folk Songs from Italy, a lively bright number, reflecting the sunny life in old Italy. This was followed by a "Cosack Lullaby" of Jiranek, more sober in nature, and with a soothing melody running throughout. Then that delightful Russian vocal piece "Song of the Boatman of the Volga," was played, after which the orchestra retired and the Glee Club came upon the stage (Continued on page five.)

President and Wife to Entertain.

President and Mrs. W. G. Clippinger—Will give a reception in the Cochran Hall parlors on Saturday evening, June 16 at eight o’clock in honor of the senior class and family friends, all alumni, faculty and wives. Dr. J. H. Francis, W． superintendent of the public schools, will be an honored guest at this reception.
Columbus and Westerville Clique Will Present Fitting Play Which Ends With a Moral.

One of the liveliest events of the day, and something entirely new, will be the stunt program in the college chapel at 2:30, following the dinner at 2 o'clock. These alumni and former students have been divided according to classes, cliques or cities, so that they might arrange different parts of the stunt program. Alumni from Westerville and Columbus will stage a play depicting the events of the life of Grandfather Alumni Spirit. This old gentleman, who had a large family, is shown very feeble and tottering, in fact he has one foot in the grave. His de- mission suddenly comes and the family gathers around to divide the property. The will is about to be read, when the old gentleman walks in on the corpse and reports that he has decided to change his will and that he is going to give his property to the last person with whom he lives. To cap the climax he announces that he is going to marry. This is the high point in the play and calls for some good acting. With his marriage he rejigs his college and has a great ambition to great things. He has prepared a list of the rooming houses in Westerville. This will be the alumni headquarters in Westerville. The weight events at St. Mary's were equal to the St. Marys lads. The highe t point getter was Lai in B. C. His name is shown on a list of yellow streaks or the bulletins of a bulletin board. He has one foot in the grave. His marriage has apparently come and the family expects him to divide the estate among them. Dr. Andrew Timberman, '87, of Columbus, will be the chief surgeon in the Operating room, where an ambulance is waiting and calling. No charges will be made for the removal of yellow streaks or the burial of a good healthy college spirit. It is said he should be so unfortunate as to have lost it.

There is no telling what else this day may bring forth, for when some of the former roughnecks get back to Otterbein the roughness may return suddenly and Westerville fruit cellars may suffer thereby.

To accommodate the visitors, the Otterbein Alumni association officers have prepared a list of the rooming houses in Westerville. This will be in the hands of the committee at the alumni headquarters in the association parlors. Here all the alumni and friends will be urged to gather, that they may meet one another and register, so that the alumni and friends will be held at the headquarters in place of in the treasurer's office as formerly. Ballots may be secured there for election of officers. Additional arrangements are being made to place all the tickets for any of the events of the week on sale at the headquarters.

Frank E. Sanders

Although christened Frank Edgar, to Otterbein students he is better known as "Bones." He received this nickname from theログenomen who, since running the streets of Westerville '07, which town he is a native. Since that time he has never been able to add any weight to his frame, and the climate of St. Marys has rejuvenated and made him about to give his weight in the future.

His preparatory work was completed in Martin Boehm. Besides the regular work of the college years he has attended summer school that he might linger in this classic town during the summer months for fear that Helen and he might be parted. In turn he does not point to his receiving any favors from the college because of family ties in the faculty.

He has been prominent in all forms of class athletics. Each year he has been a mainstay in the 1916 basketball and a strong candidate for a forward job on the varsity. On the Shybl board he was assistant business manager. This year he is handling the finances for the senior class. Along other managerial lines he has served as baseball business manager in his junior year. During the past year he has managed the glee club.

In the future "Bones" expects to teach school. It is reported that with the first profits he expects to "By-re,"

Nealy Elected to Captain

Track Squad Next Season.

At a meeting of the track team, after the St. Mary's meet, A. W. Nealy, '17, was chosen to the capacity of the team. He has entered Otterbein he has been one of the mainstays of the tracksters. He delivered the goods early in his career and easily copped his letter when a freshman. Last year he was hammerhead with a bad knee, but bagged his usual number of points. In the season just past Nealy sacrificed himself by entering the dashes because there were no other men who could even make a showing and so the men entered Nealy in his races which went in the last time of 10 seconds flat for the hundred and 23 4-5 seconds for the two-twenty.

Alumni STUNTS ARRANGED

B. H. SUMMERLOT, Agent.
The late meeting of the Science Club for this year was held Monday evening at 7:30 in Professor Schear's recitation room. The club this year has been doing good work. Of course there is still much room for improvement, but we believe that as the club gets a little older and comes to be appreciated by the students to the degree that it should be, it will become more and more a factor of collegiate life. The club fewer boys than two members this year by graduation and should be much larger next year than ever before.

"Pellagra" was the subject discussed by Rowena Thompson as her valedictory address as president of the club. Pellagra is a skin disease quitting in the South. It is caused by an improper diet. The average case lasts about three years. Chronic cases have been known to last fifteen cases. The absence of the proteins from the diet is perhaps the direct cause of the disease. Other authorities believe the disease is due to constipation.

Besides these gifts the college library has been purchasing new books and has grown considerably during the last year. The titles of books and periodicals of the college library, together with those of the four literary societies make a library from which Otterbein well may be proud.

Juniors Trounce the Seniors.
While Preps Trim Freshmen.

This last week marked a victory and defeat for two more teams in the class baseball series. Last Friday evening the Preps were eight points ahead of the younger. However, Saturday afternoon the Preps appeared on the scene and whipped the Preps in a seven inning game by a score of 12 to 7. This was the second game for the first year men defeating the sophomores a few weeks ago. Siddall and Fellers described work for the freshmen were unable to locate the plate, which added the Preps to their scoring. The score by innings of the two games is as follows:

Human hopes and human creeds
Have their root in human seeds,
And I am not the one who wishes
To keep others from picking them.

When the seeds are ripe the time
Will come for all to gather them.

For the woman has a friend
And the man, at least a comrade,
And both have a helper in the world
That will help when all is said and done.

The greatest of all obstacles in
Friendship are human prejudices,
Yet those who believe in their power
To keep us from our truest friend,
Are in truth as false as they are wise
And no better friends than when they are.

Stay for Commencement

I am now attending the week in progress here and I am a bit nervous about the whole affair. It is the gala time of the school year. A time of both gladness and sorrow. Joy reigns because it is almost over and tears come because of the parting of college friends. Commencement is really a part of the school year and those who miss the festivities fall short of their opportunities. The social life of the week is a prime factor in our education and to miss it means a loss to everyone.

IT STRIKES US

That the editing of a college paper is not to be envied.

That the Varsity "O" association is about the deadest organization in the school.

That Friday's Chapel service will long be remembered.

That some of us must cram for exams, or flunk.

That college students ought to know what they intend to do before they graduate.

That a serenade of the Glee Club at the dorm would be enjoyed soon again.

That training for our athletic teams is in full swing.

That interest in our work is suffering the pangs of book-worm.

That Doctor Francis caused a little squirming when he said "Don't waste your time. You are going to be good."

That decoration day picnics are getting to be annual affairs.

To the Editor:

Great turmoil and consternation arose in the faculty camp last year so we have now decided to give our new grading system a thorough going over. Many were through with the week's work on Thursday and then threw all their efforts for one big time during the remaining days. In their empty minds was a half-hearted idea that they would get their lessons on Sunday which also slipped by in the usual "happy-dancy" fashion. Others who were more conscientious prepared for another week; but when Monday came found that they had forgotten what they had learned.

The trouble was that the vacation was too long and thus the lesson so easily forgotten had slipped away. The new order ought to improve these conditions since all will have the time to do their duty in the class room, which after all is the real benefit of the college.

Our Orchestra

There is one organization in Otterbein that is organized, not for its personal benefits but for the pleasure of others and that organization is the college orchestra. These instruments gave the town a right laugh and a splendid program last week for nothing, which is something new around here. They even went so far as to scoop out of their empty pockets the kale in order to delight the audience with programs.

During the past year the orchestra has been out-bid by a little "dinky" organization, which is in the field to beat the bigger fellows out of their jobs and incidentally to show off. And those who are supposed to have the school at heart disregard the college organization entirely and hire that cheaper set of musicians. It is so to be hoped that all will soon get a vision of the greater Otterbein and stick to the college orchestra as we should.

To the Editor:

In an editorial the former editor of The Otterbein Review commented upon the lack of social life in Otterbein. There is much truth in our article. We are about now to go into a final whirl of social life but during the past year we have had absolutely nothing in that line.

One of the main reasons for this inactivity is that our girls are so slow. They never take a thing in any line of society unless he has a dinner or a "push," and these but seldom. Athletic seasons, glee club concerts and all passes for town reception or the slightest kind of recreation in the social line. Why our co-eds do not even have the selfish desire to show their pretty faces—the modest things—is hard to answer.

There seems to be but one way to help the situation and that is for the girls to lead out. Since there are no other parlors we shall have to break into the "Dorm" and hold a fancy ball (a la Otterbein) right in the faces of our fair ladies. Some social life must be started regardless of the manner and means.

-Social Demon.

The Kiss.

A kiss is a peculiar proposition. Of no use to one, yet absolutely bliss to two. The small boy gets it for nothing; the young man has to steal it; the old man has to buy it. The baby's right; the lover's privilege; the hypocrite's mask. To a young girl, faith; to a married woman, hope; to an old maid charity.—Ex.

ATHENIAN SCALP

Otterbein secured thirteen from Ohio's two men. The fielding of the tan and tan lads was excellent as only two errors were made. Lingrel led again in this respect, pulling down six flies in fine shape. There didn't seem to be a single place in center field to hit a safe ball, and Ohio couldn't hit them any place else as neither Schnake or "Gil" had a chance. The box core is as follows:

the various political machines was described in a very interesting manner. Professor Reed told why they are organized, how they procure the money which is required for their operation. He also gave a vivid description of the evolution of the "political boss."

Wednesday evening, he spoke of the various forms of city government in operation. In the past, the fear of power has been a curse to our American government. People were afraid to grant to one man or body of men, unrestricted power or authority, but always placed beside that body of men another body to act as a check on whatever measure was passed by the first body. But under the present forms of city government, a single individual or body has complete control, but this individual is hired by the city and in case he fails to perform his duties properly his power is taken from him. Of the various forms of city government, such as commission government, manager government, and absolute mayor government, Professor Reed said that in his opinion, the city manager form is best.

ORCHESTRA GIVES CONCERT

the stage. Robin's "Medley" of well-known American songs was first sung, followed by two light encores, "General Grant" and a "Mother Goose Tale." The orchestra next played Tchaikowsky's beautiful "Song Without Words." An "Arabian Serenade" by Langley followed, and then that tender duet "How sweet it is to hear your name." The orchestra next played Paderewski's dainty "Morning," and ended with a spirited Hungarian march, "Rakoczy," by Liszt. Taken altogether the concert was excellent, and the combined clubs only deserve the splendid support they received.

disputable proof of this, Claudio goes to the church to be married, but, making known her supposed crime, scorches her before the whole congregation. This arouses the wrath of her father, H. D. Bercaw, who, believing in preparedness, betrays his rapier, and challenges Claudio to a duel. Benedict, urged on by Beatrice, also puts in his bid for a scrap with Claudio, but after any blood is shed, the duplicity of Don John is bared and universal peace is established. Both Benedict and Claudio are married, and the world moves once more among roses.

Besides this plot of semi-seriousness, some most ludicrous scenes take place between the men of the watch and the constable, Bogberry (Babe LaRue), who informs the company that he is "As pretty a piece of flesh as any is in Messina." While not doubting his word we are inclined to view the whole act as funny. Supporting Babe in this scene we have the renowned Albert Lambert Grant and four others of the excellence of this play would invoke an audience which would be too large for the theatre.

The most important of these was that of the association attendance, and how to help it. The leader in order to get at this question classified the students into three classes, namely that of the "Preachers" and "Roughnecks." "The truth of it is that this association has been run by the 'preachers' and has not been put before the 'roughnecks' in the right way," continued Mr. Richey.

COCHRAN NOTES

People don’t have to push anymore—everybody’s attention is turned to exams. According to the nature of the "cramping," it seems that cam­pustry, astronomy and music study are expected to be the hardest.

Despite exams, Seniors can have a good time. Down in Baker’s room a good old fashioned “Toast Push” was enjoyed to wind up the season in good fashion.

We’ve been sort of homesick lately. Florence Berlet, Alice Hall, Betty Henderson and Nena Anderson spent the week-end at Waverly. "Watch out, William,” left Sunday morning for home, not to return again this year.

Something came to us pretty strong last Saturday night. Tracers put on the accent again revealed a “Liver and Onion Push” in Edna Fairley’s and Marie Hendrick’s room.
