OHIO GOVERNOR GIVES ADDRESS

Frank B. Willis Speaks Before Students and Townspeople in Chapel on Opening Day.

GOVERNOR ADVISES STUDENTS TO LEAVE WHISKEY ALONE AND TO REMEMBER THE OLD-FASHIONED VIRTUES

Governor Willis delivered the opening address at the college chapel on Wednesday morning. Mr. E. L. Weinland, '91, of Columbus who introduced the Governor said that although Mr. Willis has not been a student of Otterbein, his homewas a time in Galena, and he has ever since been interested in the affairs of the institution and in the people of Westerville.

In the beginning of his address, Governor Willis said that he hoped that his audience would enjoy the opening exercises as much as he himself was enjoying them. He spoke of his close association with the institution and the people of Westerville. He then paid a tribute to the soldiers of Otterbein, and emphasized the fact that practically all the men who were last interested in the time of the war, took up arms in the Union army.

The college man and woman will occupy very important positions in your government and in the places which no other man or woman will fill. Governor Willis says that although we do not want to require the college man to take up arms in defense of our country, there are Improvements Appreciated.

Much comment is heard among the students on the improvements in the gymnasium, chapel and Dormitory. Twenty-five new lockers have been installed in the basement of the gymnasium. A fee of one dollar per year will be charged. This will eliminate a lot of the waste and looting of athletic goods. A large commodious platform with a hard floor makes a great improvement over the old platform in the chapel. Entertainments can be given without the carrying up of the old stage from the basement, which meant a lot of unnecessary work. New rugs and other supplies have been made in the Cochrane Hall. Those who have made these things comfortable for the students deserve commendation.

FOOT BALL PROSPECTS GOOD

Ten Letter Men and Promising Material Look Sweet to Coach Iddings and Martin.

Note for many a season have Otterbein football enthusiasts had more reason to rejoice over the football outlook than this year. Never before has a coach here been blessed with such an abundance of good material. Ten football letter men are back on the job and twenty husky gridders are out beating their way towards a place on the varsity. No wonder Coach Iddings and Athletic Director Martin are wearing the smile that won't come off.

Otterbein's new athletic system has already shown a decided improvement in athletics here. Every man is enthusiastic over the new conditions. Instead of having but one coach on the field the new system puts three first-class men to the task of turning out a winning combination. Chief on the field is Hal J. Iddings, who was twice selected, all western halfback during his football career of three years on Chicago's team during which time eleven lost out but two Enos. He brings with him the Stagg coaching system. Under his direction on the field is Royal F. Martin, who is head of the Department of Physical Education and has directed Otterbein teams during the past three years. C. O. "Back" Altman, probably the best end that ever played on an Otterbein eleven is also helping to build up the best combination that ever represented the tan and cardinal.

Iddings arrived from his home in Montana early on Monday to who his men into ship for the hard contest with the Big Red team at Granville on Sept. 29. A big delegation (Continued on page six.)

Coach Iddings and Others Make Spirit Run High by Lively Speeches at Last Thursday Evening.

Thursday evening at the Y. M. C. A. meeting all records for attendance enthusiasm and "pep" were smashed. No other reason for this large meeting could be given except that the men of Otterbein have the "spirit that wins," which was the topic discussed. Coach Iddings stood out very greatly by being the chief speaker on the platform. The coach in his speech brought out the facts that the spirit of a winning football man was the spirit that wins in life, and also the great opportunity open to men in the work of physical education. He urged all those any young man for "get in" and to make the best of the physical education offered here at Otterbein. The coach also said that he knew around Otterbein and her men and was looking for a record breaking football season.

After this excellent and inspiring speech, the men were burning with enthusiasm and "the Otterbein spirit." As soon as the meeting was over for open discussion, the men began to jump up, no time was wasted in waiting. Rodney Huber arose and in his old time style urged all men in Otterbein to get behind athletics and push with the idea of making winning teams. He also brought out the fact that equipment would be furnished them making this ideal to a realization.

Other speakers that followed were G. O. Remm, '17, "Bill" Counsellor, '17, John B. Geyer, '17, Professor Murphy, and "Daddy" Reeser, '93. "Daddy" was full of the spirit that was present Thursday evening. This was brought out by the many duties connected with that position. He gave them a very good message. All Otterbein men love it but the best in life and comfort at home of her sister in Des Moines, Iowa, where she went after commencement. Her place will be filled by Miss Cora McFadden, '17.

Otterbein's Dean of Women.

Miss Cora A. McFadden, '17, Dean of Women at Otterbein is not only a graduate of the institution but from that childhood she has always been closely associated with the college. For many years during Otterbein's early history, her father was a professor in the college and later she was a professor in English and two of her brothers occupied chairs in the Department of Science.

Miss McFadden is a member of the class of '77. She resided in Westerville after graduation until 1895 when she moved to Dayton, where she has since been employed at the United Brethren Publishing House, where she was book editor and head of the department. She was a charter member of the first Y. W. C. A. of the state which was organized at Otterbein, and was chairman of the faculty board of the association.

She says that she wishes Cochran Hall to be a real home for the girls—a home which they will appreciate and enjoy. She further states that she wishes the young men to feel that they are welcome to call on the girls at Cochran Hall, but at the same time she would be at the girls' own homes.

Girls Hold Reception.

Cochran Hall was the scene of a merry gathering last Wednesday evening, when the new girls were given a reception. "Get acquainted" was the slogan of the evening. The gathering was a complete success and much enjoyed by all present. A program was rendered and a delightful lunch was served.

Sopha and Fresbies Soon To Clash for Class Supremacy.

A class day with all the customary activities, is again assured. The recommendations of the "scrag" committee have been passed by the faculty—with some revisions. The contest will be exactly the same as that of last year, consisting of three events, the class winning two events to be considered victor. The events will be a cross country run over the "2 mile square" course, a tug-of-war across Alum Creek and a "tie up" on the athletic field. The day will be in charge of and supervised by the Varity "O." The cross country will be held in the morning and the tug-of-war and tie up in the afternoon.

The date of the "scrag" depends upon classification. A holiday will be declared a short time after the seating in chapel and then the fresbies and sophas will be turned loose and the big fight will be waged. This is easily the first big event of the school year and will display in a large measure the spirit for the season. It has made "Yea, Otterbein!" known and feared in every corner of the state. Full details and particulars will be announced in chapel at a later date.

Noise, Stunts and Fire Will Arouse Spirit Saturday Night.

On Saturday night, September 23, the first big football rally is to be held. The committee is working hard and by the time Saturday rolls around enthusiasm is sure to be at a high pitch. The rally at the Y. M. C. A. meeting of Thursday started the ball rolling and every one is enthusiastic over prospects. Indeed the rally promises to be a hummer.

On the program will be "pep" speeches by spirited men, Professors and Alumni and students of the various classes. A football Halftime will be on deck and Cheer Leader Stanton Wood will have his share of the time. New yells are to be practiced.

Festivities will begin at seven o'clock and all will meet in front of the Carnegie Library. No collars will be allowed and dates are out of question. Yes it will be the night for the rough necks and the real big night of the football year. Then the "rowdies" will stir up the town and finally meet in the chapel where the program will be on tap at eight o'clock.

After enthusiasm is at its highest, a pitch a big bon-fire will light up the country for miles, on the athletic field. Here the classes will perform their various stunts. This, the initial rally will launch the Otterbein and "pep" spirit for a sail through a mighty promising season.

Welcome

To all students old and new the Review extends a hearty welcome. It is needless to say that we are glad to see the old students return for our associations in the past have been most pleasant. To them we wish continued success and happiness. But to the new student coming to Otterbein for the first time especially do we extend our greetings and best wishes for a pleasant and profitable college career.

Life, work, influences, interests, ideals, habits, customs and associations are vastly different. To get started right is the supreme desire of all. Some will fall by the wayside. Let it not be you.

We want to welcome you, the new students, throw yourself, heart and soul into those phases of life which Otterbein presents. They are open to all, with club, debating and "pug." Make your own college life.

This is the true Otterbein spirit. There are interests for every one, no matter what your inclination might be.

The athletic teams, the literary societies, the school papers, the debating teams, the glee club, band, orchestra, choral society, the science club, the religious education-association, and the endeavor societies, all splendid organizations with which to affiliate. Each will welcome you to take part in its activities. The Christian associations yield a great influence for good in Otterbein life and you can not join forces with them too quickly. Get busy immediately and do something for the school that you will cherish as love by becoming a part of her life.

Let us also suggest that you simply remember the good old fashioned name you have heard over and over again at home. Put them into practice all along the way. There are many by roads which look smooth and good. But grit your teeth and go ahead. If this is done at all times, your career can only be successful and a credit to the school you chose for your Alma Mater.

Choosing Your Society.

One of the biggest problems which is sure to confront a new student when he comes to Otterbein is, "Which society shall I join?" Every new student must decide at some time or other what affiliation. No great question can be imagined than for one to choose one society and then later wish that he had joined the other. Thus everyone ought to think long and hard before he joins either.

It probably would not be wise to state how long one should wait before associating himself or herself with one of these organizations. It is our candid belief however, that one should join either organization for at least one month after entering school. In some cases it might be well to wait several months. We also believe that it would be wise for the new student to keep away from joining as an associate member, until he is ready to become active in his chosen society. When he is an active member he is no earthly good to his society or to himself. This would eliminate a lot of dead timber, which seems to be contaminating all the social organizations. It should be far better to allow in joining society, and then quick to assume the duties and privileges of an active member than to be hopped in before he knows there are two societies for both sexes.

Visit both societies several times and decide for yourself. That smooth, tongue indignant individual is constantly at your elbow or on your heels, giving the limit to show you a good time, posing as your friend, and in his whispering his society in your ears is a snake in the grass. You are simply a desired victim for his society. The societies are as much different as day and night. Be sure and learn to know this difference and to distinguish it. Study the spirit of each society and then choose yourself with whom to associate, into whose spirit your own individual spirit best fits. Learn to know the men about school, in what activities they are engaged, and what interests they possess and then in what society they are affiliated. If they are your type, that is your society, but be sure of your ground. Study the literary work of each, the alumni, those who are graduates of their respective societies. The faculty may be taken as a good example.

After you have studied the situation from all phases decide for yourself and you shall never regret the time wasted in your decision. Then your chosen society will welcome you not only with loud applause; but with an inward clapping of hands.

A Story with a Moral.

Once upon a time in the recent history of Otterbein a certain unknown freshman was asked to join Y. M. C. A. and sign a pledge card for the same. Every freshman should do that by all means. In a short time another card was handed our youthful friend for his signature. Exalted by the shamb friendliness of the upperclassman, this "to be pitted youth" signed his life to a literary society without even so much as knowing that there were two such organizations.

"Join Y. M. C. A. immediately but hesitate and think over the society proposition.

IT STRIKES US.

That our new folks have the looks; but the stuff is yet to be shown.

That Otterbein athletics are on the boom under the new system.

That Coach Iddings already has the hearty support of all.

That Prexy's speech to the Freshmen was full of the same old advice.

That Governor Willis made a hit.

That every student and loyal backer of Otterbein should subscribe for the Review.

That class spirit surely did awaken.

That the change from a Matron to a Dean was a wise move.

That its mighty hard to buckle down to business after the vacation joys.

That "old time pep" is sadly lacking so far.

That every one that possibly can should be on the football field every evening.

That society riders are on the job with "brand" new saddles.

Unkle Tim's First Letter.

Dear Children Sally and Henry:

I reckon as how you all are fitted up in college fer to stay fer a while and I suppose you kinder settled down. To the traces Ma suggested as Id rite a few lines to let you know as we be all O. K., and as at the same time give you a little advice. O course we aint had no scollin like as you but we have got a few ideas as how things orter go and we intend to write you often so you can calkified; what character etc. Remembars to read em. Now I don't know where to ketch you so I'm ritin this care of the editor of the colleg paper fer him to hand to you if he be so kind. I heerd a bout this foot ball play in. Now Henry you aint any too buetly none and ittelp the other fellows out a lot to have you to play as well as you are larning. Timmy the mightiest case and he tryin to git to play when foks is lookin on you can get the idear am maybe after your first season you will top out a little more. A couple of blue spots aint gon to spleil your beuty none and ittelp the other fellows out a lot to have you to play as well as you aint. Sally maw ez not to fall in I aint ever in otter an I aint ever in I. I'm ritin this care of Timmy Sickel.

P Sally maw ez not to fall in with no girls who plays peenekon ner you nether Ned as it aint nice.

CLUB TALK

To the Editor:

Otterbein athletics are at last on the go. For the past several years our athletic seasons have not been such as they should and the general dissatisfaction has been gradually growing, which has finally been halted by the adoption of a new athletic policy. It surely seems as if a new era is dawning in the athletic circles of our college. This is for one very true Otterbeinite surely desires that that era be everlastinglly brilliant. Such it can and should be. But such success is possible only through the hearty support and co-operation of every true-blue booster in this school.

No system can succeed if it has to drag along scores of "dead ones" but almost any plan can be a success if given the proper kind of support. Our new coach is only a human being and he will need real blooded "pep" to aid him in his work.

So in a measure this entire proposition is up to us. We can either make or break the best athletic opportunity this school has ever had. What shall the answer be?

Personally I am in favor of a royal welcome for our new coach. I believe that will make the hearts of our sister colleges tremble. All we need is enthusiasm, a burying of the hammer, and some real "fight-to-the-finish," Otterbein spirit!

Shall we have it? I say—we shall.

ther duties which he will be required to perform which will be greater and of more value, and which will require more preparation, more strength and effort, and more real courage to perform. He then cited several incidents in which college men have come to the front during critical times of our nation's history and have rendered an invaluable service to our country. He recalled the scene in 1774 when the men of New York were holding a meeting to arouse the people to a new sense of freedom. Great men made speeches at the close of the meeting a young, tawny, dark-haired college student told his fellow students that the things which impressed him most were the things which these speakers did not dare to say. His fellows pushed him upon the platform, and as he began to speak, the crowd turned toward the young college man and it was he, Alexander Hamilton, who inspired the people to action. Then when our freedom from Great Britain was gained, it was James Madison, a college man who drafted the constitution of the United States. Webster and Horace Mann who were both college men wielded so effectively the public sentiment of their day that the history of their lives is now a part of the history of our country. Then when that great mob was on their way to the office of the New York World, it was the voice of James Garfield who raised his right hand and said to the people in a quiet and deliberate manner, "God reigns, and the government at Washington still lives." The history of such men as these the governor commended to each student old and new.

Governor Willis says that the college student should have a good time and should at the same time develop himself physically, mentally and spiritually. The student in college should prepare for a great responsibility in after life. He should make the best of every opportunity which comes to him, and get all the information he can, for he knows but little of what may be called to do. As an example of this he spoke of Francis Burton Harrison of Philpines fame, who through his knowledge of chemistry secured his present position.

"Then," said Governor Willis, "it matters not what profession you intend to follow, keep clean, live honorably, and leave whiskey alone. "Whiskey can do you no good; it will bring only evil upon you." "Shun it," he says, "as you would shun a plague." He said that if the college student could hear the pleadings of wives and mothers who come to him asking for the pardon of a husband or son in the penitentiary, he could realize the work that whiskey is doing. For ninety-five per cent of these women are wives or mothers of men who are in the penitentiary on account of drink.

Finally he said that the college student of to-day should not forget the old fashioned virtues. "Associate with good company. Be honest, thrifty, industrious, and never think it a disgrace to work your way through school. Be cheerful and help others all you can and try at all times to live so that you do justice to the reputation of this grand old institution."

A quartet composed of Misses Myles and Anderson and Messrs. Kelsor and Bendinger pleased the audience with some splendid music. The chapel was filled with students and citizens of Westerville and judging from the applause and enthusiasm the audience did enjoy the occasion fully as much as the Governor.

Following the introduction of his address Governor Willis made various comments on Westerville and Otterbein and wound up with a glowing tribute to President Clippinger, announcing at the same time that he had selected him as one of two committee of three to serve as advisory board for the civil service commission. The duty of the board will be to investigate the work of the examination department of the civil service commission of Ohio. The appointment was a complete surprise to President Clippinger and the announcement brought forth a great ovation of applause.

When all again reached the first floor it was found that there was something more to be enjoyed and everybody was helped to a generous consignment of punch, ice cream, and cakes. "Jimmie" Hartman scored high as punch server with Miss Lu­

Owing to a raise in the price of paper, leather and printing, it was found necessary to charge ten cents for the Association handbook this year. The book is much better than in former years. There are more pages with more information than in the past. Most of the articles were rewritten. It is bound with an at­tractive leather cover and will be of much service to all. One should be in the hands of every student. If you haven't one, get one. The edition and numbering of the book was in the hands of A. C. Siddal, '19.

of roosters will occupy the team on the Denison trip and a mighty battle is sure to be fought.

The long grind began in earnest Monday when fifteen gridders donned their togas for the first time in school. New men arrived during the next days and on Friday thirty men were on the field. Jellings has been conditioning the men and every man is in tip-top condition except for a few sore legs. Forward passing, fumbling on the ball, dodging and getting away quickly were practiced with finger. scrimmage at natural was well lined up for the first real exhibition. University.

Men who have had experience on the gridiron b an in earne ·t the men will be the best athletes in the high school. Four years' experience at tackle in high school. Mundhenk was set for quarterback and Masc a husky lad who is expected to receive no small amount of attention.

Mundhenk played end on the Marshall College and cornmunity, where he has been on the campus three campaigns; Hig has been on the intramural grid. His election as one of the gridiron captains, because of the number of returning men should take an active part in the gridiron affairs, and guard against any loss of interest and enthusiasm with which we worked in our own communities.

Booth, Ream, Weber, Schnake in and compose the athletic board.

The value of this engagement to the Otterbein spirit was considerable. At every engagement there was no rowdism and the contribution to the social life of the campus was considerable. At every possible hour the club would get together and sing the college songs along with the old familiar melodies. Our college yells were given a thorough airing throughout the campus. The Otterbein spirit was made prevalent and the Chautauqua folk could be heard to point out the boys to friends and commend their sere-nades and enthusiasm. In the way of Otterbein publicity it was invaluable and at the same time the club was of service to the management of the Chautauqua to which it is truly indebted for its kindness in many respects.

The boys engaged in all kinds of sports and had a good time. Volleyball, ball, tennis, boating and swimming and some of the energetic ones got pretty serious with some young ladies.

THE GLEE CLUB SINGS

AT CHAUTAUQUA

Several songs presented by the club had been sung previously by professional talent. Especially the universally known "Swing Along" by Cook. However well this number may have been presented, the manner in which our boys staged it called forth a grand applause. Also the original Negro spiritual songs arranged by Prof. Spessard took very well. Following are the two programs given on the two scheduled evening preludes at which there were no less than fifteen hundred people gathered in the amphitheater and under the shade trees about it.

The value of this engagement to the Otterbein cannot be overestimated. Certain it is that the boys conducted themselves in an orderly manner. There was no rowdism and the contribution to the social life of the campus was considerable. At every possible hour the club would get together and sing the college songs along with the old familiar melodies. Our college yells were given a thorough airing throughout the campus. The Otterbein spirit was made prevalent and the Chautauqua folk could be heard to point out the boys to friends and commend their serenades and enthusiasm. In the way of Otterbein publicity it was invaluable and at the same time the club was of service to the management of the Chautauqua to which it is truly indebted for its kindness in many respects.

The boys engaged in all kinds of sports and had a good time. Volleyball, ball, tennis, boating and swimming and some of the energetic ones got pretty serious with some young ladies.

Rush! Rush! Only a few rooms left for the fourth adow! Mrs. Stover and Mrs. Howard were guests for the first few days.

Ask Cleo and Etta about the family toothbrush.

Dr. and Mrs. Clippinger were the honored guests at the Cochran association welcome Wednesday.

Mr. L. O. Miller of Dayton, Ohio, took dinner, Sunday at the Hall, with his daughters, Edna and Marjorie.

Many thanks to the fellows, who have given us the serenades. We appreciate the music and hope that the good work continues.

There seemed to be quite as many on the outside looking in the night of our reception as there were on the inside looking out.

It sure was good to have Ruth Drury with us again, even if for only a short visit. Ruth is going to Ohio State University this year. Her many friends wish her good luck.

Florence Reese visited at the Hall for a couple of days. On Thursday evening, a party was given in her honor in Minerva and Helen's room. Music, eats and a good time were enjoyed.

Stop! Look! Listen! Where are we? Why two spoons? Dinner at 5:15. Salad all the time? New rugs and decorations? Croquet for luncheon? Discovery! Wonder Workers! A Dean and Dietitian!

Ring out the old, Ring in the new.

Many new girls have come to the Hall and it is up to the old ones to make them feel at home. We wonder what it is we miss on the third floor. Oh yes! the noise makers, who left us, but we think some mighty good substitutes are here.

Dean McNadden, in explaining care of the lights—Girls, we have the privilege of the lights all the time, providing we turn them off, when not in use. Some may be careless, but others I know have had training along this line. Miss Fries, when at home, I know turns off all the lights, including the porch light, each evening.

Room 3 on second floor was a lively place Friday evening, from 8:30 until 10:00, when several of the old girls entertained the new ones. Grace played the guitar and sang! Just all the old ones over and over again. A lunch was served and it is certain that some of the girls were kept from loneliness and homesickness.

The porch swing behind the Administration Building is the private property of the janitor and he objects to its use after reasonable hours. It squeaks.

The tennis courts are not yet completed. The ground has been underdrained and graded. It is hoped that they will be completed within a short time.

Please pardon a pun. We have heard it said that Wilbur Davis looks quite "spectacular" since he came back.

The freshman should keep their eyes open for material for the bonfire at the football rally to be held next week. All the alley signs are expected to be cleaned up at that time.

Should the Freshmen get into any trouble they will find a safety zone painted on the pavement at the corner of State street and College avenue.

On Monday the college enrollment mounted to three hundred and twenty, exactly the same number as that of last year. More are expected to enroll in the next few days which will mean a small gain over last year. There will be no less than eighty in the Freshman Class.

In a recent debate one of our prominent sophomores by the name of Bennett decisively clinched an argument for the annual scrap day, when he said "Now if we would not have scrap day the boys would go out in the evenings and there would be a tendency to become 'ruff' ."

We now have a regular platform in the chapel. In size it is sufficient for all occasions without making an enlargement necessary when a minstrel or other attraction is to be put on. Its oak floor adds much to the appearance of the room and will be in keeping with the new organ which is to make its appearance next month.
