VARSITY "O" MINSTREL TO BE STAGED THURSDAY EVE

Athletes Will Give Program Of Local Color In Wit and Humor Galore.

"O" MEN HAVE TICKETS

Reporter Feels Contagion of Humor As He Gets Behind Curtains For First Hand Dope.

The second annual Varsity "O" Minstrel will be given in the college chapel Thursday evening, Feb. 4 at 8:15. Those who saw the minstrel last winter will testify that the old theory that athletes could do nothing else but play athletics, has no place in Otterbein. Last year's production was a great success, and from reports received behind the curtain, this year's entertainment will outclass any production of its kind at Otterbein in recent years. With such vocal artists and comedians as Upson, McMichaels and Richter on the menu, the success of the show is assured. Included in the riot of jokes and gags is a sketch by "Uppy" Upson and "Bus" McMichaels entitled, "And It Wasn't A Good Day for Hunting Either." A novelty in the person of "The Radio Announcer" will be introduced in this production.

Those taking part in the program are men who have won their letter in an inter-collegiate sport and who have then joined the Varsity "O" organization. The proceeds of the entertainment will be used to assist in the purchase of Varsity "O" sweaters and watch-charms.

The songs that are to be included in the program are as follows:

Manager of Glee Club Secures Contracts For Two More Concerts

J. Ruskin Hoover has received letters within the past few days from several Ohio towns accepting a contract for the appearance of the Otterbein Glee Club and Banjo-Mandolin Orchestra. Canal Winchester has accepted a contract and Rev. E. H. Daly writes that Portsmouth will be ready to receive the Glee Club with one thousand strong.

A complete itinerary of the Glee Club trips will be made as soon as all the contracts are signed.

PROMINENT SPEAKERS AT Y. M. AND Y. W. TONIGHT

Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Doan, World Travelers to Address Y. M. and Y. W. Tuesday, Feb. 2

Tonight, at 6:00 o'clock, the Y. M. and Y. W. will be addressed, respectively, by Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Doan of Columbus. Though Mr. and Mrs. Doan are quite near neighbors, living only a few miles below Worthington, they spend much time traveling on the frontiers of the world.

Mr. Doan is known as a business man in Columbus, but for the past twelve years he has voluntarily given his time to the study of the mission fields of his church. He is a Christian laymen doing a unique piece of work. He has made four trips to the Orient, the last of which was of eighteen months duration. Mrs. Doan travels with him. They recently returned from South America, where they spent most of last year. Mrs. Doan is a Canadian by birth and before marrying spent a number of years as a missionary in Japan.

Mr. Doan has been a popular speaker. (Continued On Page Two)

EUGENE CORBIE WILL SPEAK HERE FRIDAY

Eugene Corbie, a colored student taking post graduate work at the College in the City of New York, will be on the campus Friday, February 5, speaking in chapel and possibly some of the class rooms, and delivering an address in the chapel in the evening.

Mr. Corbie was one of the ablest student speakers on the race question at the Student Volunteer Convention at Indianapolis. He comes highly recommended as a clear thinking student on the present race situation.

Professor J. H. McCloy has been confined to his home for the past few days with an attack of influenza in a light form. His little daughter is now quarantined with scarlet fever.

First Grandmother Graduate to Receive A. B. In June

President and Mrs. W. G. Clipping-er entertained to dinner at their home Saturday evening, January 30, Dr. and Mrs. J. H. Harris, Professor and Mrs. L. W. Warson, Professor and Mrs. Oscar Charles of the Philippine Islands, Rev. and Mrs. W. H. Widdoes of the Philippine Islands, and Dr. John R. King of the Otterbein Home. The party was arranged because of mutual family and social interests. The conspicuous feature of the dinner was this, that it was largely in honor of Mrs. J. H. Harris who is completing her work for the degree of Bachelor of Arts in Otterbein College and who will be the first grandmother graduate in the history of Otterbein College.

REPRESENTATIVE STUDENTS WILL BE SELECTED SOON

Winners To Remain a Secret Until Photographs Appear In 1926 Year Book

Selection of representative men and women from the senior class will be made soon after the second semester gets under way. A committee composed of three faculty members and three members of the 1926 Sibyl staff will select a number of candidates which will be presented to the student body for a popular vote. Two men and two women will thus be selected as representative of the present senior class.

The photographs of the winners of the contest will be placed in a beautifully engraved section of the 1926 Sibyl. This is the first time any Otterbein annual has ever contained this feature. The names of the students who win the contest will be kept a secret until the 1926 Sibyl is off the press.

The only rule connected with the contest is that the candidate must have been in Otterbein for at least seven consecutive semesters. Athletics, scholastic work, and various other factors will be considered in the selection of the candidates.

O. C. WALK AWAY IN SECOND HALF

LED AT HALF 11-9

Capt. Widdoes Led Squad in Mounting Score. Tri-Color Men Held To One Basket Each.

Otterbein kept her hold on second place in the Ohio Conference by defeating Heidelberg in a loosely played game at Tiffin Saturday night, January 30, 24-15.

The story of the game could be told almost in one line. They shot and missed and followed two or three times with the ball still not through the hoop. Then the Tan and Cardinal quintet would take the ball back down the floor and try it again with the same results.

Widdoes missed an easy shot to begin with and not long after Heidelberg took a lead. Otterbein tightened and went to the lead. This lead was not relinquished during the rest of the game. Otterbein led at the intermission 11 to 9.

The second half was a repetition of the first half with the exception of (Continued On Page Five)

PLAY CAST IS SELECTED

Will Begin Work Soon on Comedy To Be Given By Seniors Commencement Week

Selection of the cast for the Senior class play, "Kempy" which will be produced Commencement week, was made last Monday afternoon by Prof. Leon McCarty.

The eight characters, which are equally divided between the men and the women, are Don Phillips, Zane Wilson, Lester Cox, Harold McMichael, Alice Sanders, Adda Lyons, Pauline Knepp and Wanda Gallagher. Definite parts have not been assigned. It is an interesting co-incidence to note that the cast for "Kempy" is the same, with the exception of two members, that produced the Junior play last year.

This play, which was written by J. C. and Elliott Nugent, created a sensation in New York and Chicago about a year ago. It takes two and one-half hours to perform. The setting is a modern small town which is modern to the point of humor. One interior setting is used throughout all three acts.

UNIFORM BOOKKEEPING SYSTEM ADOPTED

All Treasurers of Campus Clubs Will Use System Devised by Dr.
R. V. Phelan.

Pres. W. G. Clippinger has announced a uniform of accounting and of accounting supervision for all student organizations at Otterbein. The plan is that of Dr. Raymond Phelan, and was adopted unanimously by the faculty and student council.

This plan is prefaced by a declaration by both students and professors at Otterbein.

Dr. Phelan says, "Otterbein has a vital interest in the financial operation and financial condition of every group, club, or other organization associated with the college.

"The public does not differentiate between Otterbein College officials and the various clubs, associations, and other organizations of the college. Consequently, if one of these organizations suffers in prestige or reputation because of its failure to be wise or strictly honorable in some financial transaction, Otterbein College also suffers.

"Loyalty to Otterbein requires businesslike methods and the strictest business honor in the affairs of every one of its organizations.

"Vital principles of good, honest business conduct are: contract to pay for no more than you can pay for; pay bills promptly—either when you agree to pay, or when it is customary to pay; when unforeseen circumstances prevent prompt payment, see your creditors and arrive at an understanding with them; cultivation of good financial habits in college is a matter of life long value and often a preventive of future disaster."

The books prescribed by Dr. Phelan's system are dry book, budget, cash book, ledger, property account, and a statement of assets and liabilities to be required twice each year. The plan put into the hands of the students includes models of all these accounts with appropriate instructions for keeping them.

International Relations Club

Considered Farm Situation in U. S.

The Farm Situation in the United States was the topic considered by the International Relations Club at its bi-weekly meeting last Monday evening, Jan. 24, at the home of Dr. Snively. This was thoroughly discussed from many angles. Dr. Phelan who was visiting the club, made some enlightening remarks. At the next meeting, the club will discuss the Czecho-Slovakian election and the Spanish dictatorship.

This minstrel comes at a very opportune time. Since the "exams" are over, an opportunity will be afforded for both students and faculty to recuperate.

Tickets are 50 cents apiece, and may be secured from any Varsity "O" man. There are to be no reserved seats.

STUDENTS GAVE RECITAL

In spite of it being examination week, a fair sized crowd attended the recital of the school of music, Thursday evening. The program was begun with an organ number by Betty Plummer. Elizabeth Marsh, Ethel Kepler, Pauline Knepp, and Isabelle Ruehrmund gave vocal solos. Carl Patton played "Danse Rustique" on the violin. Piano numbers were given by Frances George, Glendora Barnes, Florenz Prinz, Mary Whiteford, Lucile Leiter, Meredith Osborne, and Harold Thompson. A piano quartette by Helen Irwin, Mildred Kinsinger, Byron Wilson, and Mildred Wilson concluded the program.

Staff Reorganized.

At a meeting of the Publication Board the resignation of the editor was accepted and Wayne Harsha was elected to fill out the unexpired term. Louie Norris will serve as assistant editor. Gerald Rosselot was added to the staff.

ALICE PROPST IS VICTOR IN DECLAMATION CONTEST

Dean Wise and John Hudock Take Second and Third With Same Selections

Miss Alice Propst, the only girl contestant on the list, took the first prize of $15 in the annual Russell Declamation Contest which was held in the chapel Monday evening, January 25. Dean Wise and John Hudock won second and third prizes, respectively, with the same declamation "Nominating Woodrow Wilson." Miss Propst's winning declamation was entitled "A Tribute to Lincoln."

The remaining four contestants, all of whom were selected from Professor Leon McCarty's public speaking classes by a competitive vote, were Louie W. Norris, Mason Hayes, Claude Zimmerman and George W. Rohrer. Music for the intermissions was furnished by the college orchestra.

Judges for the occasion were Miss Christine McBride, teacher of public speaking in Westerville High School, Rev. W. J. Holmes, pastor of the Presbyterian church, and Prof. E. H. Jackson, an instructor in the public speaking department at Ohio Wesleyan. Earl Hoover was the chairman of the contest.

Dr. Howard H. Russell, founder of the Anti-Saloon League of America, has provided each year for the last fifteen years the sum of $30 which is divided into prizes of $15, $10 and $5, and given to the winning participants in a declamation contest. He is very much interested in every form of public speaking and has taken first prize in several state and interstate oratorical contests.

ALUMNAL PAGE

ALUMNI GROUPS ACTIVE IN MANY OHIO COLLEGES

Growing Spirit of Loyalty and Sacrifice Among All Alumni Associations Everywhere.

Much has been said and written concerning the place of alumni influence and activity in the life of the college to which the alumni belong. There is a variety of opinions expressed with regard to the advisability of alumni control over any phase of activity of the college. Some are willing to admit that the alumni should be given at least advisory membership on the various boards and committees which are responsible for the affairs of the college. Athletics has been the particular field in which we find most of alumni influence—and it might be added, sometimes with good results and sometimes with results not so good. Whatever position we may take with regard to the place of the alumni in administration, we must admit that the largest single force to be reckoned with in the future is the organized effort of the alumni.

The alumni organizations of many institutions are now in the midst of very definite movements for the improvement of their institution. There is no good reason why alumni should not give assistance to their Alma Mater. Consequently, there has been a growing spirit of loyalty and sacrifice among alumni groups everywhere. No graduate of any institution can say that his life is no better after having completed the prescribed course and received a degree. The same holds for the ex-student. The spirit, the culture, the life, and the ideals of the college belong to him—and more than that, the thing we many times overlook, he has a broad foundation for a useful life.

Ohio University at Athens plans to begin at once the construction of a Memorial Auditorium 120 feet wide by 165 feet long, seating 3,000 people. The building is to be of the finest concrete and steel construction and beautifully finished. It is the gift of the alumni to the university.

When Mt. Union College at Alliance, began its campaign for $2,000,000 to be used for buildings and endowment it selected two prominent alumni to head the organization.

President Parsons, of Marietta College says that the Alumni Revolving Fund has been of incalculable value to the college. It has made possible, solving difficult athletic problems, given timely need to many needy students, helped the college to close its books for three years without a deficit. In addition alumni interest has been quickened.

The $8,000,000 campaign launched sometime ago by Ohio Wesleyan University is now in the hands of the alumni organization with good prospects for success.

There are other alumni groups do-

DAYTON SOROSIS HOLDS INTERESTING SESSION

The Dayton-Otterbein Sorosis met January 21 at the home of Mrs. Roy Peden.

"Victor Hugo and his influence upon French Literature" was the subject of the evening's discussion led and prepared by Miss Florence Stevens of Stivers High School.

Plans for the coming year were discussed and approved by the club.

Mrs. Rachael Cox Roberts invited the club to hold a summer picnic at her home near Lewisburg, Ohio. The invitation was accepted.

The social hour was particularly enjoyable. The members were seated about the open fireplace and were served cardinal punch and dainty tan sandwiches. The coziness of the scene was enhanced by the howlings of a fierce blizzard that blew outside.

Mrs. Peden was assisted in her duties as hostess by Mrs. Gordon Howard, Miss Lucille Wahl and Miss Helen Ewery.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Miss Lucille Wahl on February 18.

O C FACULTY CLUB WILL HAVE VALENTINE PARTY

The members of the Faculty Club are looking forward to a jolly good time at their Valentine Party to be held the evening of Friday, Feb. 12 at the new Park street home of Prof. and Mrs. J. P. West. The committee promises a most interesting and entertaining program. Among other things, there will be a drawing of names from an urn according to an old Roman custom in the celebration of the Lupercalia, or feast of Luper, a rustic deity.

Dr. R. V. Phelan will give an account of the origin and development of St. Valentine's Day celebration.

The party being held on the birthday of Abraham Lincoln, part of the program will be given to numbers of a more or less patriotic nature in his honor.

Special music will be furnished by Prof. Spessard, Mrs. Starkey, Miss Vance and Miss Barngrover.

This party had originally been planned for Saturday, Feb. 13, in accordance with the suggested plan of having most social functions on Saturday evening. The date was moved forward, however, because there is a basketball game Saturday evening.

Dr. Phelan is chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements for this party.

ing things for their institutions. These are just a few within our own state. Alumni organizations are loyal, giving of means and service to their "old of means and service to their "old school". The future of any college depends upon the way in which this powerful force is used.

THE CLASS OF 1947

It's another girl. Say fellows this class is going to be a dandy—all the girls you want.

Alice Anne Braderick is enrolled this week. Her father is J. C. "Johnner" Braderick of the class of '23 and her mother, Marguerite Reed, Ex.

Oh, by the way. Alice Anne has a very illustrious grandfather, T. H. Braderick, Sr.—you know that fellow with the big voice who belongs to that modest crowd of shrinking violets so inconspicuous at every alumnal dinner—'94.

The Bradericks live at Middletown where "Johnner" is assistant employment manager for the American Rolling Mills Co.

O C ALUMNALS

'98. Mrs. W. B. Gantz, (Maude Barnes) visited her sister, Miss Tirza Barnes on her way to her home in Detroit. Her Westerville visit was made in connection with a trip to Hamilton, Ohio where she had addressed a meeting of the Woman's Missionary Society.

'08. Dr. Mabel E. Gardner, of Middletown, Ohio, recently completed work enabling her to perform major surgical operations. The work of Dr. Gardner is notable in as much as she is the only woman physician in the State of Ohio capable of performing a major operation. Otterbein takes pride in adding another achievement to the long line of accomplishments of her sons and daughters.

'83. One of the interested spectators at the Heidelberg-Otterbein game was Professor T. H. Sonnedecker, professor of Greek at Heidelberg. Professor Sonnedecker was in a position to find satisfaction whatever the turn of victory since it was his Alma Mater opposing his adopted Alma Mater.

Among the large number of Otterbein followers attending the game at Muskingum last Tuesday night there were several alumni.

"Len" Newell, '24, came down from Reynoldsburg where he is principal of the High School. Several of his boys came along with him.

Dwight Blauser, who is a teacher in the High School at Zanesville was a "wicked" rooter also.

'25. Dean Upson attended the Otterbein-Heidelberg game and reports progress in the work of organizing the alumni of Lucas county. That group like many others needs simply to be livened up and the contact with the old school renewed.

'19. Charles R. Busch has recently resigned as pastor of the South Congregational Church of Columbus and will be succeeded by O. C. Wright.

Rev. Wright is not an alumnus but is the father of Agnes Wright, '19.

'12. Milo L. Hartman, Alliance, Ohio, is one of a party of ministers on a cruise to Palestine, starting this month.

ALUMNI COUNCIL WILL DISCUSS REUNION PLAN

Dix Reunion Plan As Used In Many Colleges Will Be Considered Thursday.

The alumni council will meet on Thursday, the regular time of meeting, and discuss the adoption of the Dix Reunion Plan. Many of the leading colleges and universities of the country now use the Dix Plan for commencement reunions. It has received the sanction of the National Association of Alumni and Alumnae Secretaries.

The chief point to be advanced in favor of the plan is that it brings together all the members of a college generation once in twenty years, at the same time it provides a class reunion once every five years. Many ties, particularly with the older classes, a person would return to find that he was the only one of his class present. With the call being sent to four classes of one group there are sure to be some persons present with common interests.

As an example of how the scheme would work if adopted by the alumni council as the plan for Otterbein,—in 1926 the classes to meet would be,

Group 1, '76.

Group 2, '86, '87, '88, '89.

Group 3, '05, '06, '07, '08.

Group 4, '24, '25, '26.

Group 5, '96, '16, for a thirty and ten year reunion.

The alumni council will give the plan serious consideration and will be glad to entertain any suggestions from any alumnus with regard to this or any other plan designed to give some system to our annual reunions.

O C
'16. Milton S. Czatt, for the past few years a student of theology at Yale, will assume the duties of minister of the Centre Congregational Church at Brattleboro, Vermont, on March 1.

Mr. Czatt has been president of the Yale-Otterbein Club. He resigned at the meeting of the club on January 20 and Mr. J. O. Todd, '17, was elected to succeed him.

O C HOME BREW

The Prof. was at the blackboard as deeply engrossed in a math problem as a chess player in a tournament. A feminine voice in the class asked a question. "Yes," he replied, and then arousing out of his absent-mindedness, asked, "What was it you asked? A man has to be mighty careful these days how he answers a woman without hearing her question."

The philosophy professor was speaking in all the glories of his realm. Chemical terms were introduced by way of explanation, and CO₂ became the center of discussion, when up pipes "Helium," the Senior, "What's CO₂ in English?"

EDITORIALS

A Resume.

In the background of every newspaper there are some folks doing a considerable amount of honest labor without the recognition granted to the one who plays before the grandstand. Such folks are contented to live their lives in an even tenor, contributing in a modest way the product of their labors. The Tan and Cardinal has been blessed throughout the past months with such a background.

The cooperation of various members of the faculty in supplying news items has been of great value. The sincere interest of Pres. Clippinger, the encouraging remarks of Dean Cornet and Dr. Sanders, the kindly criticisms of Profs. Altman and Hursh, the contributions of Dr. Phelan and Prof. Hanawalt, and the news sense of Miss Bowman, have made the retiring editor's experiences pleasurable. Three students, Alice Sanders, Verda Evans, and Perry Laukhuff, have been consistent contributors of news and humor without recognition.

Harmonious relations of the staff has been the distinctive feature of the year's work. The Tan and Cardinal of this year has been far more than a "one man's paper." Individual responsibility on the part of staff members has been met with a deepening interest in the success of the endeavor. It is not pleasant to think of severing such congenial relations.

Unusual indeed has been the campus life of the past semester. In our college experience we have not known so widespread cooperative interest in all activities. Attempts have been made to account for this. It seems that we have talked cooperation until we have come to live it.

The sensations of the semester have been sorrowfully unfortunate. The desire to write a winning headline was postponed until the last few weeks. As a college we have been sobered to the more stern realities of life. Experience has taught us the worth of life and a persistent struggle.

It has been a good year to be the editor of the Tan and Cardinal. The inauguration of the Alumna Page is a noteworthy feature contributing to a more widespread interest. News has generally been sufficient. Our effort has been to make the Tan and Cardinal truly representative of the real Otterbein College.

To resign from the agreeable duties of the Tan and Cardinal editorship is the demand of a concluded college life. The editor wishes in full sincerity for his successors the best of all he has known.

On The Level.

It was out in front of "Willies" that we met and talked for quite a while. The mid-semester grades had been out for a week or so. His folks had written a perplexed letter. A faculty note had carried a warning. Poor grades do get one in trouble. And his had.

Out of the darkness of failure he drew a memory. One man had played him square and he had fouled. A certain professor had gone more than halfway—it was the only bright spot, but he had not even met him fairly, and a conscience some would call dull was doing its work. And here we met on the level.

Every man has a high and a low mark. But somewhere along the ascent there is a common grade. This man and his professor had met on common soil. Today the one stands higher because the other had vision enough to meet him on his own ground. By such practical faith and works, and not by argument, are men won to doing the right.

"Dogs Also Bark."

Outbursts of censure and harsh reproof are often heard coming from the rooster's bench. A criticism is so easily made. The faults of our fellows stand out as a wart on the nose. His weakness is our chance to jibe. And no opportunities are lost. In common parlance, we like to "rub it in."

This trait creeps out in most human relations, whatever their nature may be. Honest turning of the tables will reveal a subtle chuckle behind the words of Don Marquis, "When a man can find nothing else on earth to laugh at, there is always himself."

Behind the whole affair, is there not a reluctant feeling toward seeing the good in the other fellow? Is there not a mental unwillingness to justly appraise the worth of another? In a collection of the sayings of Heraclitus, an old Greek philosopher, we find these apt and pungent words: "Dogs also bark at those they do not know."

IT STRIKES US

That we got more than a dime's worth of fun out of the game Friday night.

That for the last time we have "done" our editorials and news, spilled our "home brew", and struck off this.

HOME BREW

Freshie—Why can't a fellow call at the dorm for his girl between 1:30 and 2:30 on Sunday.

Senior, who is well acquainted with dormitory life—Oh, that's Quiet Hour, the girls use it for silent prayer and meditation.

Our Roman nosed Sophomore says that the only neckin' an Otterbein student gets is chicken giblets at the Blendon Restaurant.

They were gathered in the club room discussing the problems of the day. One embryo scientist asked, "Say, do you know that it takes the water from the heating plant only five minutes to make the whole circuit of the college buildings?"

Then it all began, and feet were lifted high.

"No wonder we don't get any heat in the class rooms, the water goes through too fast."

"It loses thirty degrees."

"Yea, it loses all that between the buildings."

"Sure, all we get is the heat of friction in the pipes."

"It gains ten degrees going through the public speaking rooms." "And loses ten more going through the cold atmosphere of the history room."

"Say, why don't they burn some coal down there at the heating plant? The women across the street have been hanging out white washings for the last seven years and they have never been able to find a speck of soot yet."

"Oh, listen, I'll recommend that they use the crooked students for cleaning out the radiators."

—and then another member joined the crowd.

"Hey, did you know that the Science Hall is so substantial that Prof. Schear won't allow anyone to sneeze on the third floor for fear it will shake down the building?"

"Sure nuff, fellows, that's right. They're so cautious down there that they keep the frogs in water so that it won't jar the building when they croak."

—and then they floated out.

the fact that the Tan and Cardinal defense worked well enough that the Tri-color pill tossers were able to garner only one goal from the field during the final period.

If any man missed one shot he missed a dozen. Shots which ordinarily meant baskets rolled over the basket with sickening regularity.

Widdoes was the high scorer of the game with 10 points as a result of four baskets and two fouls. Barnes was tied with Keufauder of Heidelberg for second scoring honors with six points, waving the net three times from the field. Keufauder's six points resulted from a field goal and four fouls.

The Otterbein defense was working in pretty good order as no Heidelberg man was able to locate the hoop more than once during the whole game from the field.

Porosky played a good game, allowing the Heidelberg men to follow hardly any shots. Every time one of the up-staters attempted a shot Porosky was there to take the ball off of the backboard.

Coach Edler was hardly pleased with the work of the squad on this trip. The play in general and especially basket shooting will have to improve considerably if the Tan and Cardinal expects to handle Ohio Northern next Saturday and Muskingum Saturday, Feb. 20.

Denison has swimming and wrestling teams this year which will go to the Buckeye Association Meet to be held in Cincinnati the week-end of March 5 and 6. Both teams will be minor sports at Denison this year for which no letter will be given.

Professor Little of the University of Michigan, declares that 85 per cent of college students are a drawback for the serious minded students.

It often takes students of the University of South America two or three hours to go from one class to another because the buildings are so far apart.

A physically milder but mentally harder form of athletic competition will take place between Columbia, Yale, Princeton and Harvard when the four rivals will meet in the opening round of an auction bridge tournament. The first session will be played at the Columbia university club, the tournament to consist of four sessions at intervals of a week.

Discussion of the need for a new name for the college is under way at St. Xavier. The undergraduate alumni, thought to be "stickers" for the present name have specified their willingness to change the present name to a new and suitable one. Although a new name is thought necessary, all are agreed that no choice should be made without much thought and consideration.

Great benefit is derived by basketball players from dancing the Charleston, according to Coach Hoyer, of Washington Agricultural college. He says, "Basketball players are susceptible to fallen arches or flat feet. In the Charleston, one's weight is supported much of the time on one's toes. That is good exercise to build up weak arches."

A course in canoeing has been offered at the University of Missouri.

This giant hydro-electric unit weighs 750 tons and consists of a vertical shaft hydraulic turbine attached to an electric generator delivering 52,000 kilowatts at 12,000 volts.

Bigger Generators— Cheaper Electricity

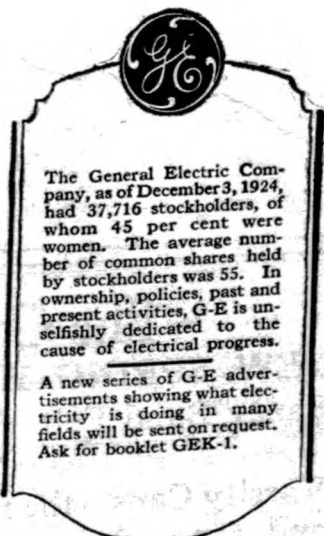

A 70,000 horsepower hydro-electric unit recently installed at Niagara Falls utilizes the same amount of water as seven former 5,000-horsepower units, yet does the work of fourteen such units. And it saves 700,000 tons of coal yearly for the nation.

As more and still more uses are found for electricity, larger and more economical generators are installed. At the power plant, as well as at the consumer's end, important changes and startling developments have steadily reduced the cost of electricity for light, power, and heat.

And wherever electricity has blazed its trail—in towns, cities, industrial centers, and rural communities—comfort and progress have come to stay.

Generating and distributing electricity concern the technical student. But electricity's application in the betterment of industry, the professions, and home life concerns every educated person. Cheap electricity means many startling achievements today, but countless and unbelievable possibilities tomorrow.

COOK HOUSE AND LAKOTA LEAD MEN'S GROUP LEAGUE

Bailey-Annex and Dubs Hold First Position In Prune League—Meyers Still Leads Scorers.

Seven of the eight intramural games scheduled for last week were played as scheduled. The Deltas forfeited to the Wobugas. The Lakotas swamped the Country Club squad by the score of 19 to 1. Paul Meyers kept the lead among the scorers of the Group League by scoring 10 of his team's points. The other 9 were scored by C. Hoover.

The Philotas surprised the Cook House in the first half and were leading 2-0 but the Cook House pill tossers with their customary second half spurt shot buckets from all over the floor to win 20-6. Marsh led the scorers with 6 points.

The Alps won from the Sphinx 9-5. Weaver and Yantis with 5 and 4 points respectively led the scorers.

The Annex, last year's champions, successfully defended their title in the Group League games of the week when they defeated the Jondas 31-9. Davis went to second place in the League scorers by the aid of the eighteen points he scored in this game.

The Kozmops defeated the Deltas 20-8. Miley made 10 points and went into the lead as high scorer of the Prune League with 29 points in 3 games. Mendenhall of the same team is second with 26 points.

DEKE USED SIXTEEN MEN AGAINST VIENNA SQUAD

Expected Difficulty Was Not Met With In Easy Game Against West Virginians.

Otterbein did not experience the expected difficulty with the Vienna Athletic club of West Virginia, and defeated them at the high school gymnasium last Friday, 45 to 31.

Coach Edler used the entire squad of sixteen men to do the trick. McMichael, Carroll, Reigle, Upson and Van Curen started the game and after they had played about ten minutes the first team was put in and the score began to mount. The score at the end of the first half was 20 to 8.

Otterbein took an early lead and was never headed, though the score was tied during the first half at eight all.

Widdoes was high scorer of the game with twelve points by virtue of swishing the net six times from the field. H. Clark was the highest scorer of the visitors with eight points.

OHIO NORTHERN GAME WILL COMPLETE HALF OF SEASON

Otterbein goes to Ada next Saturday night to meet Ohio Northern in Otterbein's sixth conference game of the season. It will mark the finish of the first half of the schedule and the general thought is that the first half of the season will be finished without further loss. The squad will have to show improvement over their work at Tiffin as Ohio Northern defeated Heidelberg the week before by the one-sided score of 30-12. That only partially shows what the Tan and Cardinal pill tossers will come up against when they take their trip northward next Saturday afternoon. The Northern Bear Cats will have the additional advantage of playing on their own floor and no walk away is to be expected. Ohio Northern will put a team on the floor that will average not very far from six feet in height.

That the other day she was down in the T. and C. office reading some exchanges from other colleges in which they spoke casually of dancing and even advertised it and that she was so glad that our faculty didn't see it or they'd have been dreadfully shocked.

That she's had an awful struggle with suppressed desires this last week. P. S. Cribbing.

That she has a friend who may have to wear strong glasses the rest of her life to get her eyes back in place as a result of last week's activities.

That her boy friend thinks seal rings have fur on them.

That the other day in chapel one of our professors did a significant thing. He got up, looked over the student body and then prayed for the school.

That she saw in "List'nin' In" that the University of Missouri offers a course in canoeing but that we seem to list it as extra-curricular work around here.

That she's going to insist on parking places around the Dorm because she got the wrong good-night kiss last night.

That now she can quit studying until mid-semesters come around.

That she's helping prepare an indictment against those professors who didn't use their last year's examination questions.

That she discovered the following modern version of the First Psalm and that she thinks it fits her case in view of the action of certain professors:

"Their flunk notices and their weekly tests makes me study;

They springeth a test upon me in the presence of my ignorance;

It maketh my head whirl, my thinking power becometh stationary.

Surely spirits of psychology and weekly tests will follow me all the days of my life—

And I shall dwell in the insane asylum forever and ever."

That the other day a certain senior friend of her's was crabbing about her education exam and that she said it was actually so stiff that as a last resort she had to use her head.

That she heard that they caught a certain Frosh cheating in Physical Ed Theory. The question was how many vertebrae do we have and he was caught rubbing his back.

That the fellow that's been taking all the coats around here must have a melancholy sense of humor or a large family to clothe.

That exams have her so rattled that she drank two quarts of black coffee the other night and crammed until 3 o'clock for an 8 o'clock exam and then found it didn't come until 1 o'clock. Wonder what her I. Q. is?

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVORERS ENJOY UNIQUE SESSION

Christian Endeavor waxed legal and lengthy, but laughter-making too, when Gwynne McConaughy, vice-president, was brought before the court in mock trial charged with conduct maliciously intended to demoralize the society. The attorneys for the prosecution were Dwight Arnold and Ruth Braley; the witnesses for this side, Emerson Bragg and Lenore Smith. Robert Knight and Florence Rauch supported the defendant in his plea of "not guilty" and Carl Eschbach and Alice Sanders testified in behalf of the accused.

The various court officials were Earl Leiter, judge; Wilbur McKnight, bailiff; and Murl Houseman, clerk of court. In the course of the procedure the vice president was accused of neglect of his official duties added to general misconduct and insincerity as a member. Though the charges brought were heavy and several proved to the satisfaction of the court, the accused was valiantly defended so that the judge in rendering his decision saw fit to dismiss the court with the admonition that the defendant had been found guilty only of gross neglect, which however approached malicious intent in the seriousness of the offense. He further warned society members against negligence as brought out in the example of the case at hand.

The entire meeting was in charge of Carl Stair, the leader for the evening. The scripture reading by Herbert Stoughton and a piano duet by Florence Howard and Gladys Snyder preceded the trial. It was followed by a second musical number, a vocal solo, by Betty Plummer.

POSITIVE PROOF FOR ETHER

Positive Results of Michelson-Morley Ether Drift Experiments Negative Part of "Relativity Theory."

After making some 60,000 readings giving some 7500 measurements of "other drift," Professor Dayton C. Miller of Case School of Applied Science is ready to declare that there seems to be positive proof for the existence of ether, a medium whose existence Einstein ignored.

The measurements were made with the "interferometer" an apparatus planned by the famous scientists Michelson and Morley. In this experiment a beam of light is literally split in two. These two beams of light may thus be made to travel paths at right angles to each other. At the end of the desired path each beam is reflected back upon itself and the two come together where they first separated. In the experiment the interferometer is so adjusted that one of the beams of light travels in the direction in which the earth is moving through space, and the other beam of light is at right angles to this. According to the theory, the observed velocity of light should be different in these two directions.

The results of the experiments show not only the presence of ether but show also that the motion of the solar system is not as previously calculated about 12 miles per second, but rather about 65 miles per second.

WATCH YOUR TEMPERATURE

In these days of 14 degrees below zero, slippery side-walks, icicles and frozen pipes, we find an occasional glimpse of sunshine as welcome as an oasis in a desert.

Can you imagine anything more heartening and encouraging on a blizzardy Monday morning than to struggle through the blinding snow to a 7:30 class and after arriving with frost bitten nose and toes tinged with the bite of the winter morning find the temperature of the classroom slightly below par and still falling? You are picturing to yourself the figure you would make should the whole class be frozen stiff and are trying to smile your prettiest in preparation for this sad scene, when in walks the professor.

He seems to, sense somehow that the temperature of the class is even more frigid than usual. He paces the floor nervously; he blows on his fingers fast stiffening with cold; he finds that his breath is steaming in the dead cold of the room. The class sneeze in unison.

Then—the unexpected happens. Friend professor suddenly makes a wild grab in the direction of his hip pocket and draws out—a thermometer. He takes the temperature of the room; looks at the result; feels his pulse—and dismisses the class.
