Westminster Choir Visits Campus

John Finley Williamson, '11, Director

The Westminster Choir, composed of graduates and students of the Westminster Choir College of Princeton, N. J., returning from its first transcontinental tour, stopped to pay homage to the Alma Mater of its director, Dr. John Finley Williamson.

The students, faculty, and friends of Otterbein College, as they gathered in a special Chapel Assembly on Monday morning, February 26, were thrilled by the choral singing of this brilliant choir. This is the second time that Dr. Williamson has honored Otterbein by presenting his celebrated organization in a concert within her halls.

Dr. Williamson was born in Canton, Ohio. He attended Otterbein College and was graduated from the College of Music in 1911. Mrs.

Williamson (nee Rhea B. Parlette) also graduated from Otterbein in 1911. An unusually fine baritone voice indicated clearly Dr. Williamson's future career, but a throat operation left his singing so impaired that a vocal career seemed impossible. With rare courage, he turned to choral directing and took charge of the choir of a small church in Dayton, Ohio. Soon he was offered the post of choir director of the Westminster Presbyterian Church in Dayton. The Westminster Choir College of Princeton and the Westminster Choir of today have developed from the Dayton Choir. Of course, the personnel has changed and at present it represents 41 of the best trained a capella singers now before the public. European critics have called them "American symphonic singers."

SALUTING

Dr. George W. White, professor of Geology and head of the department at the University of New Hampshire, who has been appointed acting dean of the graduate school for the second semester, 1939-40, and for the 1940 summer session during the sabbatical leave of graduate dean H. L. Slobin. Dr. White has been secretary of the graduate faculty.

Dr. White was recently elected a fellow of the Geological Society of America. He is president of the New Hampshire Academy of Science and is the New Hampshire representative of the mineral resources of the New England Council. His research on glacial geology of Ohio, which has been his main research interest during the past few years, has led to his appointment to the new National Research Council Committee on the Glacial map of the U. S.

NEWS OF THE MONTH

First Call for Class Reunions . . .

Mr. C. M. (Jack) Arnold, class of 1915, now Scout Executive in Illinois, writes that he is planning to be here on Alumni Day, June 8. We agree with Mr. Arnold that this would be a splendid time for the class of '15 to have a reunion. How about it, "fifteeners," this is your "silver anniversary?"

Travelogue . . .

Dr. T. E. Newell, '23, took pictures in Honduras while on a cruise through the Carribean.

* * *

Grace Hill Staacke, '23, is making a business trip with her husband through South America for the Goodrich Rubber Company. They will be gone probably six months.

Stork-o-grams . . .

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Laub (nee Margaret Widdoes, '26) happily announce the arrival of Bert Allen on January 9.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Shaw announced (via radio) the arrival of Donald Gordon on February 9. Mr. Shaw, a graduate of the class of '35, has just completed his fifth year with WLW.

"HAVE YOU A JOB"

Of all the things that go a long way around Westerville, a silver quarter is just about "champ." Three of them buy a day's three meals; one of them a day's lodging; four of them a day's tuition. Having or not having eight of them a day means the difference between having and not having a college education.

Parents of many students can supply only a part of the money to finance a college education. These students can enroll or remain in Otterbein only if they have the opportunity through summer work to earn the remainder. Having or not having a summer job means the difference between being and not being in Otterbein.

Here, you can play a life-saving role. Jobs don't grow on trees, but they do grow—in business and industry, and certain people do control their disposition. In two ways you can be the means of giving to an Otterbein student, that vital, career-saving, summer job. First, many of you have direct control of jobs because you own businesses and employ people, or because you are business officials, managers, superintendents, foremen, personnel directors of members of boards of directors. Second, although many of you are not in direct positions of job control, you do have class friends, relatives, patients, clients, or parishioners who control jobs, and they would make a job or two available to Otterbein students if you asked them.

Your Alumni Association is launching a program to provide summer jobs. Your help is needed. If you are in a direct position of job control, will you write to the Alumni Association now in care of the College, and assure us that you will hire an Otterbein student or two for the coming summer? If you are not in direct control of jobs, will you give us your encouragement by writing now that you will contact your friends, relatives, patients, clients or parishioners who do control jobs, and make an effort through them to secure summer work?

In this you serve Otterbein. You also help to provide a future for some youth who otherwise will not have one. Act now!

EARL R. HOOVER,
President, Alumni Assn.
