"Bun" (George K. Hoffman
Honorary Alumni Secretary
Somewhere in California (Personal

October 4, 1947

Dear Bun:

Having been asked to write a page about Homecoming and having to answer a letter from you marked "Personal" I thought I could do both things at one time. The editor of this program, you will remember, is Art Jewell's little girl Marjorie, who married Bob Brentlinger a year or two ago. She was one of the girls who helped you keep the restaurant open on Sundays during the war which Bob was helping to win. So when she asked me to do this and remembering Bob's touchdowns last year I decided to do it.

Homecoming is in just two weeks, on October 18. This seems early in the season but the way things are going now it may be the middle of winter because several professors had their tomatoes and beans frosted last week.

I was sure if I wrote this to you as a personal letter no one would read it. Last year I wrote a page for the Homecoming program and only Scoop Wilkinson and Bev Kelley ever mentioned it, so I am sure most people just read the list of players and the Chesterfield ad.

Homecoming will be a big day and I am sorry you won't be here. Of course, your son, George, and Roy will be serving coffee and pumpkin pie or the cider and doughnuts or whatever it is, but a lot of people will be going into your restaurant and waiting for a place at a table and asking about you. We suppose that with food a little easier to get Bun's and Maurice Harter at the cafeteria and the TUB across from the campus along with several other old and new eating places will be able to feed the crowd better than it has for some years.

The Alumni Directors will meet on Friday afternoon, the 17th, and the Alumni Fund Council that evening. At Chapel Saturday morning at 11 o'clock there will be the brief chapel service, which is remembered by most alumni, led by Dean and Acting-President C. E. Ficken. Then, "Scoop" Wilkinson, president of the Alumni Association, will introduce John Pyke, '27, who belonged to the great debate team along with Hurst Anderson and Art Flemming which toured the whole country. John is president of the Odevene Club of Cleveland, which is having a big migration, and they are given a special recognition. After John's speech, which will be not more than fifteen minutes long, there will be a student rally to get the alumni pepped up for the game. Incidentally, some members of the team may be there, but they can take care of themselves. The game will be against Case. We play Ohio at Athens this year. By the time you read this, if you do, I will know more about the team than I do now, but I guess it will be a very interesting game.

After the game all who care to do so will go to Sturges Hall, which you will remember as the "show place" of the campus, and have tea. Across the street at the TUB a committee of students will be welcoming alumni who would like to dance for a couple of hours. (They don't have to dance that long.) At 6:15 the "W" Association will eat together at Bun's. At 8:15 Saturday night and also on Friday night will be the play, Molnar's "The Guardsman," at Willis High School. Professor R. C. Hunter is taking reservations for the show and the Athletic Office for seats at the game. The show will cost $0.85 and the game $1.50 for reserved seats or $1.75 for box seats. (You probably won't be there, but some will.)

You will see, George, that I have made this a very general letter so that anybody might read it. By the time you get it Homecoming will probably be over, but at least you can show it to Governor Warren and other friends in California as evidence that we haven't forgotten you in Delaware.

Cordially yours,

H. M. Shipps
Alumni Secretary

P.S. I think this will be the first Homecoming you ever missed.

Welcome Otterbein

In this second game of the Bishops' 1947 football season, and in the third battle for the Cardinals, Ohio Wesleyan today is proud to play host to the Otterbein eleven, and their coach, George Novotny.

Today brings the two schools together in pigskin competition for the first time in twenty-three years. The first game between Wesleyan and Otterbein was in 1894, and following that year the teams met almost annually for 26 games, until 1924, when the last contest was held.

1947 is a big year in Otterbein College's history, for it marks the centennial year of the school's founding—a 100th birthday celebration.

Supporting cast for the Tan and Cardinal gridders and welcomed with the rest are Harry W. Ewing, director of athletics; Richard West, assistant coach; Dewey Park, trainer, and Warren Pence, student manager.

The Cardinals bring into the afternoon fray the experience of two 1947-season games, the first of which was fought on their home field against Morehead State Teachers college, Ky., and which ended in a 6-6 tie. Their second game with the University of West Virginia Mountaineers at Morgantown, W.Va., was a 59-0 defeat for the Cardinals.

Last year, Coach Novotny's first in college football circles, Otterbein turned in a seasonal record of seven wins in eight tries, a real triumph for the new mentor. This record brought the added honor of the mythical Ohio Conference Champs for 1947.

Novotny came to Otterbein from Lima Central high school via the United States Navy.

Although his college playing days at Ohio State under the late Francis Schmidt drilled in him the concepts of a single wing formation, Novotny is now a devotee of the popular T-formation.

Otterbein college, located in Westerville, O., a village of 4,000 population, is now in its 57th year of intercollegiate football, and its 100th year of education. The pigskin sport was introduced to the Westerville campus in 1890 and has continued uninterrupted, even during two world wars.

In that first year of grid competition, Otterbein failed to win either of its two games. The following year, however, produced the initial Cardinal victory, a memorable 42-6 triumph over Ohio State.

In the years since 1890, players and coaches have come and gone at Otterbein, but one man always will stand out among the others. That one man is E. S. "Rev." Bernard who took the first steps toward creating a progressive athletic department. In fact, Bernard is considered the father of Otterbein athletics.

Otterbein college, founded in 1847, has the honor of being the oldest institution of higher learning affiliated with the Evangelical United Brethren Church.

A century ago the college opened in Westerville with two teachers, eight students, two frame buildings, and a library of 300 books. Today there are close to 80 members of the faculty and administrative staffs, a student body of nearly 1000, and a library of 40,000 volumes.

The physical property of Otterbein consists of eight buildings for instructional purposes, three large dormitories, eight permanent residences for students, and 27 temporary structures for married students and veterans.

Accredited by, and on the approved list of seven leading standardizing agencies, Otterbein is recognized as a school offering a true liberal arts background for those interested in a general education and for those who are training to be teachers in all regular academic subjects and in the special fields of fine arts, home economics, music, physical education, and secondary and elementary education.

PETE

With a fine background for his position as Head Trainer of all athletics at Ohio Wesleyan University, Fred Peterson, who is never called anything but "Pete," has become a familiar and well-liked figure in the training rooms in Selby stadium and Edwards gym.

Pete's first interest in the training field came when he was attending Cornell college in Mt. Vernon, Iowa. There he was one of four freshmen in many years to earn a letter in track. Glenn Cunningham, former well-known track star and now athletic director at Cornell college, initiated Pete's liking for training work, and encouraged his reading and studying about it.

In 1942 when he joined the Marine corps and was sent to Oberlin in the V-12, Pete became student trainer there and continued in that capacity for his 16-month stay.

His next training experience came at Pearl Harbor, where he was trainer for different Marine ball clubs, composed of both college and pro baseball players. Pete says he found that the "pros" lack the "try" that the younger players seem to have.

After his discharge in June, '46, Pete registered at Illinois, ready to continue his study of training, but when at the last minute he was offered a position as assistant trainer for the Chicago Black Hawks, professional hockey team, he took the next train for Chicago. There he worked under head trainer, Ed Frolich, who also trains for the New York Yankees.

After six months of traveling and working with the Black Hawks, Pete came to Wesleyan as head trainer in the winter of 1947. His work requires a skillfull knowledge and a practical application of that knowledge, of how to treat injured men in order to put them back into action as soon as possible with no danger to the men.

Pete's favorite sport is football, but he is also very enthusiastic about the speed-of-lightning action of hockey.
