MEN PLAY HARD DURING SEASON

Team Wins Two College Games on Difficult Schedule But Fights All the Time.

LUCK WITH OPPONENTS

Otterbein's Inexperienced Combination Outplays Strong Teams But Loses on Flukes by Small Scores.

The 1915 Varsity has finished a successful football season for their Alma Mater and all Otterbein feels justly proud of its gridiron warriors. The team has ever fought tooth and nail with the Otterbein spirit, that of true sportsmanship. They never gave up, fighting with every nerve and muscle in defeat as well as in victory. The team never quit gritting its teeth in the foe, and such pep, endurance and never die spirit is what pulled Otterbein through an excellent football season.

"Tis true the team won a majority of the games; but the victorious team is not always the best. Luck figures in the score and it was this one thing that lost the games. In six games of the strong schedule Otterbein out-played her opponents in every department, and it was only tough luck they lost the contest. Every college after a hard season comes out with a hard luck story; but read on.

The season began with a team made up of inexperienced men. The only veterans to return were Captain Lingrel, Counsellor, Walker and Walters. All the other men were green at the game and about this combination of four men the team was built. Being inexperienced it was necessary to learn the very simplest rudiments of the game and in the early stage of the season, the gridders were thus handicapped. At that they outplayed Kenyon. Experience is the best teacher and as the season progressed the team developed into a formidable combination. The work of the Otterbein machine against Wesleyan and Northern suffices for examples.

The season opened on September 22 when "Tink" Sholty, brought his South High team to Westerville for a contest. South had one of the best teams in the state in interscholastic circles and played well; but Otterbein proved too much and won the game 13 to 0. The game showed a lack of experience on Otterbein's part. The low score was due largely to the hot day, as the men became fatigued early in the game.

Kenyon came to Westerville on October 23 for the first real contest of the year. It was Kenyon's first appearance here for years. Otterbein

J. P. Hendrix Speaks to Men
On Prayer and Thanksgiving.

Why do we pray? Why should we pray? Why has Thanksgiving been declared throughout the land as a day of thankfulness and prayer? Why have the Christian Associations conducted a week of prayer during the last week? It is because we believe in prayer, and can recognize its many results. Prayer benefits us by putting us in intimate relation with God, by giving us a pure heart and life, and by revealing to us the great wisdom of God. Prayer is the one great means of intercession. As Christ gave a life of service to save us from our sins, why should we not express our loyalty and love through prayers? We must talk with God, and heed his instruction. He has promised to hear us. Why don't we pray?

Have you, the young men who heard this stirring talk by Joe Hendrix at the Y. M. C. A. last Thursday evening, thought upon these questions since then? They are questions worthy of careful consideration. Why don't you pray?

Elmo Lingrel
Football Captain 1915.

Students Pay Honor to Team Upon Return Saturday Night.
When the football squad arrived by train from Westerville on Saturday evening at 11:15 a band of twelve pieces with seventy-five followers were at State street and College avenue to welcome them. Yells were given and then all went down to Prexy's. After several songs and yells Captain Lingrel gave a speech. Prexy had come out by this time and he responded to the cries "speech, speech!" The girls of Cochran Hall were serenaded and then a march was made on Coach Martin who was called out. He praised the team and the students for their splendid spirit.

Clases Elect Captains for Interclass Basket Ball Teams.
At the request of the Athletic Board the different classes have elected during the past week the captains who will lead their teams in the interclass basketball contests this winter. The girls will have a class league this season. These games will be played with an elimination schedule, a defeated team dropping out entirely from the contest. The boys will play the same kind of a schedule as that followed last season. The following have been elected to act as girls' and boys' basketball captains respectively from the various classes:

Seniors—Lydia Garver.
Juniors—Iva McCaullin.
Sophomores—Ruth Fries.
T. B. Brown.
Freshmen—Mary Griffith.
J. C. Siddall.
Academy—Hilda Bauer.
R. F. Peden.

New Men Learn Game With Eager-ness—Old Men Improve Much Over Last Year.

Every man on the Varsity squad is to be congratulated on the fighting games which they put up this season. Here’s to each of them.

Elmo Lingrel played every minute of the season. He was the main stay, the ground gainer, the punter, the tackler and captain, of the 1915 eleven. The team was built around "Ling". "Ling" was an excellent tackler and captain, of the 1915 season. He was the main stay, "Ling". Whenever called upon he delivered the goods. He is conceded by many to be the best half-back in the state. All honor to "Ling" for the 1915 season.

"Bill" Counsellor has been chosen to be the Captain of the 1916 eleven. "Bill" certainly deserves the honor and hats off to our next leader. During his play on the varsity "Bill" has distinguished himself by his never die spirit. He has played guard and has developed into a formidable tackler, one of the best in the state. Besides being a player "Bill" commands the highest esteem of all the men. Otterbein looks forward to a successful season under the leadership of the 1916 captain.

Rodney Huber, our varsity fullback, has fought his last game for his Alma Mater. He was a star in backing up the line, and an excellent line plunger. Rodney kept up the spirit of the team with his supply of 'pep'. The fullback position will be hard to fill next year.

Clifford Schnake, the basketball captain, displayed his ability on the gridiron as well as in other sports. "Schnapp" played a good game at end. At Wesleyan "Gill" put up the best game of his career. He was good at tackling, spilling interference and getting down under punts.

Harley Walters played his second year on the varsity at the guard position. Harley is a fighter, tooth and nail and his place on the varsity was never in doubt. Great things are looked for from Walters next year.

Clarence Booth—"Boothe" held down the center position in excellent fashion. Not one gain was made through center this season. Booth played some good men; but always held more than his own. "Boothe" will be with us next year and we can thank our "lucky stars."

Sholtz came to us as green in the football game as could be; but by hard, and persistent work he made a berth at guard and played a whirlwind game. Sholtz will be a star next year.

Glenn O. Ream, who starred at Rising Sun made his "O" by consistent play. He made a good running partner at half to "Ling". Ream developed wonderfully. He is a star tackler and a good line plunger. The 1916 eleven will be Ream's chance and he sure will make good.

Higlemire the big tackle from Michigan made the team from the beginning. He played a good game all season. With "Hig" taking care of a tackle position on one side and "Bill" on the other the line looks formidable in 1916.

Gilbert our little quarterback, came from Greenville, where he starred on the high school team. He did not get in the first few games; but when he got his chance, "Gil" made good and played the remainder of the season. "Gil" has a good head and chooses his plays well, besides being a sure tackler and good ground gainer.

Peden made an end position from the start. He rapidly developed into a good end. Peden starred on end runs this season; but look out for the future. He should make one of the best ends in Otterbein history.

Roscoe Mase, a beefy lad, made his "O" at the guard position. Mase is a plunger. He works hard and never gives up.

A. W. Neally although not making his "O" was in the fight from start to finish. He was instrumental in the touchdown against Kenyon, when he intercepted a pass and ran for 30 yards. Two minutes later Otterbein scored.

Wallace Miller displayed unusual ability at center as well as at end. He had big men to beat but did not. He was instrumental in the touchdown against Kenyon, when he ran for 30 yards.

Earl Barnhart worked hard all season at end and half. "Barny" is fast and bids fair for the future.

Mrs. Billheimer Speaks on "Africa."

A record attendance was present at Volunteer Band to hear Mrs. Billheimer, the sister of Benjamin Handby, speak on the subject, "Africa."

"Africa is the most difficult foreign field to work because they do not

I will praise thee with my whole heart: before the gods will I sing praise unto thee. I will worship towards thy holy temple, and give thy name for thy loving-kindness and for thy truth: for thou hast magnified thy word above all thy name.

Do It Well.

To those of us who are spending our last year in Otterbein and in many cases our last year in school there are many questions which are prone to give us some worry. In but a few months we shall have a college diploma and then what will we do with it? What will we do with ourselves? In what paths of activity are we to travel? What will be our future? What will we do with our leisure when all the exercise will be over?

The Next Exercise.

Football season is over. All the gridiron warriors armament has been put away on the shelf. The season for basketball and gymnasium work is at hand. The schedules have been formed for both intercollegiate and intramural basketball. The time for gym classes and all practices has been arranged. The association building will be the bus place now for the next few months.

The kind of exercise which is offered now is of a more moderate kind. It could appeal to a greater number of students who have not taken part in athletics up to this time. Every opportunity is open to all boys and girls alike. It is the business of a great many to avail themselves of every chance to take physical training. It is highly important that some form of regular and systematic exercise be taken and Coach Martin gives exactly this kind.

To the Seconds.

Bumped and bruised up yet they deserve much of the credit for the success of the Varsity for the Seconds have worked hard and regularly. Upon only a few evenings have the men on the "scrub" eleven failed to appear on the field ready to work out against the Varsity. Manager George Schrider was able to secure a few games for these. Nevertheless he tried hard at all times to give them a real chance. Regardless of these disappointments the spirit kept up and real games were staged against the first string men.

The world is waiting on the trained man. The business of getting into the minor league is the business of the trained man. The buffer has no hold on anything. He may hang on for a while but then the trained man takes his place.

To the trained man the demand is to do it well no matter how great or how small it is. Entirely too many fail to go the full distance, miss the real end and fail short of success. The exact situation with which we are brought face to face is that we must find some kind of work for our life work which we can do better than anyone else can. It makes no difference what the work is. It is in shining shoes we should do it so well that we would give the very best shine in town.

"Doing Something, or Just Busy?"

"Are you doing something, or just busy?" is the query which was thrust at us when we had attempted to avoid a new obligation by the thread-worn excuse of not having time. After consideration we decided that a great part of the efforts which we think we are exerting toward accomplishing something serve only to give us the illusion of thinking we are doing something when we are not. No one is too busy to do what he most desires. No one has the day filled so full that there are not numerous periods of ten or fifteen minutes which could be turned toward some new and useful activity—Delphic.

Congratulate every man who played on Airman's scrappy team.

Weather conditions were against the Band last Thursday evening, the attendance at their concert being far below what it should have been. The director and members of the Band need not feel discouraged in the least for those who were present enjoyed every minute of the hour's concert. We hope that this new and growing organization will appear again soon in such a splendid popular program.

Because of the Thanksgiving recess the Otterbein Review will not be published on Monday, November 29. The next issue will be on December 6.

Westerville's telegraph service is exceedingly poor when messages received in the evening are not delivered until the next morning, if then. With an establishment like the National Anti-Saloon League and a Colegrove who will stand in the path of progress it would be expected that Westerville citizens and students might received moderate conveniences at least.

The College Bell.

The college bell! The college bell! What memories gather here, it makes our hearts with rapture swell.

At that old sound so dear, it called us when the day began and told us when to eat.

And when the class would meet, the next issue will be on December 6.

had the edge in the first quarter keeping the ball in Kenyon's territory. Kenyon scored in the second period when on the 20-yard line, Lingrel's pass was intercepted which gave Kenyon a touchdown a few plays later. Otterbein scored in the last period on a pass to Walters after bucking the ball down the field. Kenyon stole the game when their half back took the ball from Ream for a touchdown after he had received a pass from Schnake. Score, Otterbein 6, Kenyon 12.

On October 9, the varsity journeyed to Marietta and met the last team of that college. In this game Marietta proved too strong for Otterbein and took the game by a 67 to 6 score. The game was not a disgrace, as Marietta had one of the strongest teams in the state. They were stars in all departments and outweighed Otterbein 10 pounds to ten man. Against such odds the varsity was doomed to defeat; but fought with all the gameness of Otterbein fame.

The next struggle took place at Wooster. The day was ideal and the Wooster field was in perfect condition. Quite a number of the alumni were on the sidelines. Otterbein outplayed Wooster in every quarter keeping the ball in Wooster's territory, Otterbein scored in the final period, when Captain Lingrel broke through the entire Wooster team for a 50 yard run and a touchdown. The goal failed; but the game was won. Score, Otterbein 6; Wooster 0.

October 23 was Babcock Day and Westerville put on a gala appearance. After the ox-roast all the people journeyed to the Athletic field to witness the struggle between Otterbein and Ohio. The great combination of Finsterwald and Palmer proved too much and Otterbein went down to defeat before the largest crowd in Otterbein history. At times Otterbein seemed to outplay their heavier foesmen and three times they worked the ball within striking distance. In the last period the Tan and Cardinal men braced and Lingrel scored a touchdown. Score, Otterbein 7; Ohio 48.

Otterbein came back stronger the Ohio defeat and won over Marshall at Huntington, West Virginia. Coach Martin's men out-classed the Huntington gridders at every stage. Gilbert scored in the first period when he bucked Marshall's line for 20 yards. Higelmire downed Worthington for a safety adding to the score. Lawrence of Marshall fell on the ball for another safety. Huber succeeded in his first touchdown, when he intercepted a pass and ran 30 yards. Score, Otterbein 19, Marshall 0.

The last home game of the season took place on November 9. Heidelberg came with much confidence and followed by loyal supporters. Otterbein looked like an easy winner when they smashed Heidelberg's line and drove them to their 10 yard line; but no score was registered. Three minutes later Otterbein was again 19 yards from a score; but a fumble stopped the march. Heidelberg scored in the second period and kicked goal. The Tianna team scored again on an end run. Otterbein came back in the last period and Captain Lingrel plunged through tackle for a touchdown and later kicked goal. The rest of the game was do or die for both teams; but neither could count. Score, Otterbein 7; Heidelberg 18.

The annual game with Wesleyan brought much joy into the camp, for Otterbein out-played their ancient rivals. The team was followed by a loyal band of roosters one hundred strong. The game was furious and was the best the Otterbein team played in the past season. Every man fought tooth and nail and Wesleyan put up a desperate battle to keep Otterbein from scoring. Otterbein pushed the red and black gridders back to the 10 yard line. Wesleyan was all in but recuperated, when the referee took time out to put the crowd back. This act saved Wesleyan. The only score of the game was registered, when Pride received a punt and ran 40 yards through an open field for a touchdown. Wesleyan never came near scoring at any other time. "Beaten, but not disgraced" was on every tongue. Score, Otterbein 0; Wesleyan 7.

A successful season was closed at Ada, when both teams were smothered in the mud. Water covered the field and a baseball diamond added greatly to the possibility of drowning. 36 was swiftly a stopping affair. The team went to defeat, although they outplayed Northern. Score, Otterbein 7; Northern 9.

Northern offense when ever they armed their attack against his end. Counsellor and Higelmire, both played stellar games in the tackle positions. Walters, Booth and Mase held up the center of the line in great fashion. "Gil" was handicapped with a weak ankle and had to leave the game in the last quarter. He used good judgement in calling plays and carried the ball for nice gains.

"Plowed Up Brick Reminder of Old Foster Mill at Corner of Plum and State.

About fifty years ago there stood on the corner of Plum and State streets, the site on which Clay Barton is building a home, an old frame mill built by George Foster, now living in Colorado. The mill burned and was replaced a few years later by another built of brick and remarkably well equipped for the period. The first mill made flour by the burr process, that is two huge flat stones ground or mashed the grain into flour. In the later mill, however, the roller system was used, similar to that now used in most mills. Between thirty-five and forty years ago this mill also burned and left nothing but a few straggling brick walls to show where once the grain from the surrounding territory had been ground into flour and feed.

Several persons about town were employed in this mill. Frank and James Alexander were both engineers on this mill. William C. Beal for a time was proprietor of the mill.

A relic of this old structure is a fish pond, commonly known as the Houghton pond, which was fed by a spring and which was stocked up with fish—paca and potato eyes—by Alexander. Houghton was a man who liked to have conveniences at his finger's ends and had the pond dug out to his order and then supplied with the fish, that he might enjoy the sport of fishing without exerting himself by a walk to Alum creek. He was exceedingly selfish with his domesticated fish pond and even those who had assisted him in securing the fishy family were not allowed to enjoy the sport of drawing them out by hook and line. One night when the old town was sound asleep the fish pond mysteriously disappeared. Houghton peered out his back window the next morning on a big empty hole. Investigations were made about the place and at last moles were blamed for draining the pond. Moles it might have been, but there has always been more or less mystery about the draining of Houghton's fish pond. Until a few years ago the spring which fed it was still active in the hollow back of the Stoner house but gradually it dried up and now all that is left to show where the pond was, is a depression partially filled with trash and old rubbish.

When Mr. Barton started excavations for his new home at the corner of Plum and State streets the plow turned up hundreds of broken bricks and old stones which reminded some of the older citizens about town of the old mill which formerly stood on this site. Those bricks and stones found in the lot are what remains of the old building.

On Monday noon the Junior Class decided to purchase their pins of D. L. Auld Company of Columbus.

COCHRAN NOTES

Table number eight had unusual trimmings Sunday noon. The guests to enjoy the "scenery" were Mr. and Mrs. Emerson Frigo, Mr. Anderson, Mr. George Schriest, Mr. Weber and Mr. Young.

Grace Moog left for home Sunday afternoon because of sickness.

"Oh Shoot! The ice cream ran out! But that didn't spoil the "push" at all that Edna Bright had on Saturday night. From all in the ball come reports of the grand good time."

In honor of her guest, Myra Bre nizer, Irene Wells, treated her friends to pop-corn and apples, chocolate and toast. Myra thinks pushes are so nice that she'll come back next semester.

Last week, one of the most praise-worthy deeds was witnessed, when Edna Miller was rescued from "Room 13" by the "man of Cochran Hall." Indeed the days of chivalry are not over!

You've heard of "boxes from home"—then you know how royally Alice Ressler entertains her friends a Friday night. The festivities extended even to the morning when a grand breakfast was served.

As the Thanksgiving season approaches Mrs. Carey is warned to keep a close watch on her "chickens."

It pays to have your room torn up when the "stacker" comes back and "cleans up."

Sh-h-h! There's going to be company down stairs Monday night. Don't yo' make no noise!"

Again the dice were shaken—the tables were changed—we're trying to get acquainted.

Surprise! Every week some one has a birthday. Mary Pore got the shock this week. Who'll be the next?

Helen Bovee and Gladys Lake had a "push" in their room Friday night. Everything from toast and butter to candy and peanuts helped appease the hunger of the assembled crowd.

The football spirit reached the "Dorm" last Saturday night. Many a maiden stood by her window—heard the speeches and wanted to clap.

Fried chicken, sandwiches, olives, nut bread, cake, everything, were served by Kate Shupe on Thursday night. All came out of a "box from home" which accounts for the reports—"best push yet."

Penn State students are making a hard fight against compulsory chapel attendance. They contend that the worship is largely a mockery since the students are of such a variety of religious denominations. Princeton abolished compulsory chapel attendance last year.

The University of Chicago baseball team is at present in Japan.

Alumni.

Alumni. Do you ever stop to think, that your former classmates, and the friends you had while at Otterbein are interested in you? That they are as glad to hear of you, as you are to hear of them? That your Alma Mater rejoices with you in your achievements, and extends to you its sympathy in time of trouble? You are as one great family, striving for success, and to excel one another in advancement. We, at Otterbein are proud of you, and glory in your attainments. Will you not aid us, and your friends through this column, to keep in touch with you? If modesty forbids you to speak of yourself, speak of your friends, that we may all share the glory which belongs to you and your Alma Mater.

burned eighteen years ago and no facts could be found concerning the fire at that time. The Westerville fair was an important event in the country and was well attended. After the fire the usual fairs were discontinued. The fair grounds on West Walnut streets are marked now only by the gate way and the traces of the old race track.

"Adam and Eve couldn't run an auto."
"Why not?"
"They lacked attire."—Ez.

The marble block for the monument in remembrance of the soldiers of Otterbein, who fought in the Civil war, has been placed on the campus.
The monument will be set up in the spring.

An Insinuation.
Hazel—"I do hope that photographer will succeed in making a good picture of me."
Aimee—"Oh, no doubt he will.
They say his specialty is photographing white folks well."
—Indianapolis Star.

The Volunteer Band is taking up deployment work. On Sunday Misses Raymond, Mount and Mills and Messrs. Recob, Haber and Summerlot accompanied G. T. Roselot to Pick-ckett where they conducted a missionary service.

Doctor Jones—"Who was Moses's wife?"
"Krushappee,"—Mrs. Moses.

Mrs. R. H. Wagener successfully underwent a serious operation at Otterbein hospital. She is recovering slowly.

He (as the team goes by).—
"Look! There goes Ruggles, the halfback. He'll soon be our best man."
She—"Oh, Jack! This is so sudden!"—Harvard Lampoon.

J. W. Everal is building a dike on the banks of Alum creek. The steam shovel, which was used in grading
the Shrock road is being used.

Heard Out of Doors.
"Well, look at the rilly goot. He's the first one I've seen for ages."
"He's hardly an impressive looking object."
"He may not be impressionable,
but he certainly has a shrinking forehead."—Boston Transcript.

During the past week President
Clippinger addressed the Christian Associations of two of the denominational schools of the state. At Tiffin he spoke at a joint meeting of the Young Women's and Young Men's Christian Associations of Heidelberg.
