FEATURE WRITER MAKES DISCOVERY

Mr. A. G. Crouse, '75, Made First Recitation in Present Administration Building.

REVEAL INTERESTING FACTS

Mrs. A. G. Crouse, '72, Still Wears Original Philaethan Literary Society Pin.

It must have taken a lot of nerve for a man to make the first recitation in Otterbein. But Mr. A. G. Crouse of the Class of '75 did it, and is still living today to testify that he did for Otterbein what no one else has ever done. His recitation was not absolutely the very first in the history of the college but it was the first to be given in the Administration Building, which was completed in 1871.

Sharing an equal honor with her husband, Mrs. A. G. Crouse, of the Class of '72, had the privilege of wearing the first Philaethan pin that appeared on the Otterbein campus. Mrs. Crouse still retains possession of the pin and wears it on all society occasions which she attends. The emblem which she wears is about four times larger than the present one and actually cost $4.50. Mrs. Crouse became a member of the society before the

LAST FOOTBALL RALLY OF YEAR WELL ATTENDED

The last football rally of the 1924 season was held in the college chapel Thursday night. A large and enthusiastic crowd of students was present and responded mightily to cheers led by the various cheer leaders.

The newly organized college band was present and enlivened the occasion with several selections, among them "The Old Gray Mare," a favorite with O. C. students.

Cheers were given for the six members of the team who played their last game for Otterbein Saturday at St. Xavier. "Toad" Collier, "Chuck" Lambert, Don Howard and Don Clippinger gave short speeches.

Quiz and Quill Club Elects New Member at Last Meeting

At the second meeting of the Quiz and Quill Club held last Monday evening Wendell Camp, '25, was elected to membership in the club.

A brief business session was held and a short program was given. Plans for future meetings and programs were also discussed.

CLUB BEGINS WORK

Cap and Dagger Will Present First Program in January—Class in Dramatics to Be Organized.

Things are stirring in campus dramatic circles, as evidenced by the program for the coming season outlined by the Cap and Dagger Club at its last meeting, held Monday, November 17. Although the club lost several members through graduation last June, the present personnel is up and doing, making up in quality what is lacking in quantity.

The first program of the year is scheduled for December 8, and will be for members of the club and their invited guests only. Following Christmas recess try-outs will be held to select five girls for membership in the club. In the early part of the second semester, at least one, and possibly more public programs will be presented by the club. Later, if it is feasible, it is planned to give several performances in nearby towns.

In Professor McCarty, the Cap and Dagger Club has found a worthy successor to Professor Fritz, who served as mentor and coach during previous years. At the beginning of the second semester, a class comprising the entire membership of the club will be organized under Professor McCarty's instruction, which will provide for study and practical work in play production, with an aim toward aiding those who may desire to coach dramatics after graduation. College credit will be given for the work done by the class.

Pottenger An Inventor.

Besides being a Democrat the versatile Francis M. Pottenger, Jr. takes his place among the Edison's, Steinmetz's and other men of the inventive world. Pottenger is now patent-holder of several devices connected with lawn sprinklers.

WATCH YOUR "CUTS"

To inform the new students and as a reminder to the old we here print the pre-vacation and post-vacation ruling passed by the faculty last year.

"An unexcused absence from a class in any course prior to, or following a recess or vacation deducts one hour's credit from that course." It is important to remember that the last class in a course may recite on Monday and if that class is cut one hour's credit will be deducted. This ruling was passed by the faculty last year.

SNAPPY RALLY HELD

AT CHAPEL FRIDAY

One of the liveliest and peppiest chapel rallies was held last Friday morning in connection with the raising of enough money to send the band to the St. Xavier game at Cincinnati. F. M. Pottenger, Jr., made the appeal and while a number of students "passed the hat" the members of the band played two snappy marches. Over thirty dollars was given by the students and this sum provided transportation for the band via truck to Cincinnati.

No Issue of The Tan and Cardinal Next Week

Because of the Thanksgiving recess and the suspension of all college activities from Wednesday until Monday there will be no issue of The Tan and Cardinal next week. Vacation is welcomed by the staff and they promise to put out a good paper December 11, when the next issue will appear. So when you don't get your paper next week don't blame the Circulation Manager.

FROSH AND SOPHS TO CLASH IN GRID CLASSIC TUESDAY

Tuesday's Battle on Local Gridiron Promises to Be Replete With Thrills.

FROSH ARE FAVORITES

Captains Have Teams Ready—Both Classes Are Confident of Victory.

The Freshman-Sophomore football game, Otterbein's intramural athletic classic, will be played on Otterbein Field Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Each team has elected its captain and he has chosen the probable line-up for the game, and is giving his men some intensive practice. "Bob" Snavely will captain the Sophs and "Jew" Crawford will lead the Frosh.

It would be difficult to say which team has the greater advantage this year. The Freshmen have exceptionally good material. Its line has succeeded in holding the Varsity time after time all season, and its back field men have gotten away for large gains on numerous occasions in the daily scrimmages. They have the further advantage of having played together all season.

The Frosh eleven will have four men in the backfield who will give no end of trouble to the Sophs, both offensively and defensively. Hankinson is a line plunger of no little ability and can run the ends well. Drexel

Prof. Louie's Ford To Make Last Effort.

That old Ford touring car which has so faithfully served Prof. Louis Weinland for the past decade will make its supreme and probably last effort this week-end when it will endeavor to complete a trip to Baltimore and return.

This week, Zane Wilson, '26, and Bob Buchert will try to drive or rather "humor" the car to Baltimore where they will see the annual Army-Navy football game. It is understood that the car changed owners for a consideration of 20 simoleons. Students who were familiar with Louie's car join in wishing the safe return of the young adventurers.

DORM GIRLS GIVE PARTY TO DEAN M'FADDEN

"Time cannot change, nor age decay
Her infinite variety."

Thus thought a host of dormitory girls Friday evening as they gathered at Cochran Hall in celebration of Dean McFadden's birthday. Just before the ringing of the last dinner bell the halls were filled with white-clad figures stealthily darting about. When the bell sounded a general rush was made to first floor followed by another rush to the candle-lit dining room. A gorgeous bouquet of roses and a birthday cake gleaming with candles welcomed Dean McFadden at her place.

A specially prepared dinner was served by the Freshman girls. The remainder of the party took place in the parlors. The program consisted of a violin solo by Hazel Barngrover, a play "The Tragedy of Samantha Peabody" and music by a stringed orchestra. In behalf of the girls Helen Cherry presented Dean McFadden with the picture "Daybreak" after which the birthday love song was sung. A few remarks of appreciation from Dean McFadden concluded the party.

ANTIOCH SYSTEM IS EXPLAINED BY SPEAKER

Organization of Down State School Is Explained at Faculty Club Meeting.

To go to school five weeks and work five weeks is the ideal way to run a college according to the theory advanced by Dr. Morgan, president of Antioch College, and expounded by Miss Agnes Turner, head of the Home Economics department at Antioch, before the regular monthly meeting of the Faculty Club last Monday afternoon. Miss Turner, a graduate of Vassar, has been with the college ever since this system was put into effect and is well equipped to describe it in detail.

This co-operative educational scheme has been tried out for a number of years in the various schools and universities throughout the country and has proved very successful. Such schools as the Cincinnati University and the Boys' Marine School of Cincinnati have made a decided success of the plan.

Students go to school for five weeks and then work for five weeks. The student body is divided into a number of groups which are continually alternating, making one group absent all the time. Dr. Morgan claims that this scheme gives students the business and practical side of life as well as the theoretical side. The system is in effect at all times during the year except August. Thus by this method each student will receive twenty-four weeks of school and the same amount of time for business experience. The co-operative plan is considered by the foremost educators of the country to be one of the most practical yet developed.

Antioch College is situated at Yellow Springs, Ohio, and was founded in 1852 by Horace Mann. This year there are two hundred and sixty four pupils registered. The institution is not large, having only five buildings, is not endowed and is non-sectarian.

The next program will be given by members of the Faculty Club on December 15 and will consist of their own artistic talent.

Y. W. C. A. Holds Unique Meeting In Association Halls Tuesday

The candle light service, one of the most beautiful and most impressive of the year, was held in Y. W. C. A., Tuesday evening. Elizabeth Saxour read for devotions a portion of Matthew 5. The leader, Christena Wahl, gave a short talk. The room was darkened save for the candles held by cabinet members while a quartet of girls, Lucille Judy, Lenore Smith, Ruth Braley, and Amy Morris, sang the Hymn of the Lights. The new girls formed a semi-circle about the room, lighting their candles from those of the cabinet members, and the room became flooded with light from the myriads of candles, symbolic of the light Y. W. C. A. brings to girls all over the world. The old girls then completed the circle and all sang, "Blest Be the Tie That Binds."

HENRY LEADS "Y"

Leader Gives Interesting Discussion on Subject, "Does Christianity Vitally Affect Race Conditions?"

As a continuation of the discussion of the race problem, Joe Henry led the discussion group at Y. M. C. A. last Thursday evening on the theme, "Does Christianity Vitally Affect Race Conditions?" As a prelude to the discussion Wendell Camp favored Y. M. C. A. with two vocal solos.

The leader showed that so far as science is concerned and the biological interpretation of the race problem, Christianity does not have a direct bearing upon race conditions because the Bible is not a book of science nor does theology or philosophy include the biological viewpoint of things.

"The ethical and social viewpoint of the race problem is influenced by Christianity," declared the leader. He affirmed that so far as religion is concerned, no race is discriminated against and that in the New Testament there is no word given that applies to only certain bloods or races. Mr. Henry maintained that the foreigner, whether he be of a different color or not, should be considered a brother, and that it is against the principles of Christ not to do so.

The point was brought out in the meeting that self-respecting negroes and self-respecting Caucasians did not desire inter-marriage and if this is true the problem of the amalgamation of the races could be eliminated if mulattos and those of degraded birth were not allowed to reproduce.

Members of Faculty Hold Surprise Party at Troop's Monday Evening

Professor and Mrs. H. W. Troop were the unexpected hosts of nearly all members of the Otterbein faculty at a surprise party held at the Troop home last Monday evening.

Professor and Mrs. Troop were sitting in their parlor when they suddenly heard what seemed to them the stamping of a hundred feet on their front porch. Upon investigation they discovered that the noise was made by members of the Otterbein faculty and that a surprise party had begun.

The party lasted only for an hour but it was long enough to include refreshments. Professor McCarty presented a clock to Professor and Mrs. Troop as a wedding gift from the faculty.

Who would ever know now that the plot of ground on which the Association Building now stands used to be a common ordinary blackberry patch? The first main structure, a white frame building, stood on this section of ground. In this building, long since torn down, were all the departments of the college, including the literary societies. The only other structure at this time was a girls' dormitory which stood between the two sidewalks leading to the Administration Building and was an exact replica of Saum Hall.

The main building that preceded the present one stood at the northeast corner of the campus. It was destroyed by fire January 26, 1870. Then the original dormitory was torn down and the bricks used in the new Administration Building.

The present Saum Hall was built in 1855 and was first used as a men's dormitory, later as a girls' dormitory, and in 1898 was remodeled into a science hall. A few years ago it was stuccoed and remodeled again into a girls' dormitory.

Who would ever believe that the corner of Main and Grove streets used to be such a swampy mudhole that in the wintertime wagons often got stuck in the mud up to the hubs and froze there often remaining thus for weeks at a time?

The local "Toonerville Trolley" hasn't improved a great deal on the time from Westerville to Columbus they used to make with the stage coach away back about 1853. For many years Mr. George Stoner owned a span of spirited and quick horses that he hitched to the stage coach. He made the trip in an hour and a half and in even less time than that in cases of urgency. When the attendance in Otterbein increased the stage made daily trips and carried the mail.

'07. Elmer L. Porter of Columbus, Ohio, who has served as superintendent of schools in various Ohio cities, having been at the head of the schools of Ironton last year, left last Saturday for Daytona, Florida, where he will have charge of the Florida Tourist Schools. These schools in Daytona are something new in our educational system. They open December 1 and continue until April 1. They are incorporated under the laws of the state of Michigan and have a board of directors consisting of the Honorable T. E. Johnson, superintendent of public instruction in Michigan, president; C. H. Brough, ex-governor of Arkansas; and Colonel A. L. Mondy, lecturer.

These schools are established for the children of tourists, to permit them to continue their regular school work while spending the winter in the South. Children can enter at the beginning of the season and are ready to continue the work with their class when they return to their homes in the spring. This plan is gaining great popularity and seems to offer great advantages to school children by making it possible for them to enjoy the privilege of travel without losing their standing in school.

The pastor there is Lewis Moore, '11. Before the meetings began some were so much discouraged that they felt this church in the country would have to be abandoned, but the pastor and the evangelist have brought new life and hope into it and the congregation is now looking forward with confidence to the future.

'24. Miss Mary Elizabeth Brewbaker of Dayton, Ohio, general superintendent of the children's division of the Sunday School department of the United Brethren Church, is one of the speakers at the conference on religious education which will be held in the First United Brethren Church in Dayton, Ohio, December 2-4, 1924.

Observing Thanksgiving

Wednesday many students will return to their homes to spend the annual Thanksgiving vacation. To "spend" Thanksgiving is an appropriate term for its expresses very plainly just about what all the students will do when at home. The idea of having a good time has entirely too prominent a place in our Thanksgiving vacation program. It is a deplorable fact that so few of us pause to contemplate the real significance of the day, and instead of spending at least a part of our time in the sincere giving of thanks, we are more inclined to use the vacation period for pursuing personal pleasures and selfish desires.

The faculty has seen fit to close the college doors that each one of us might enjoy this day which is fast becoming a day of sport instead of thanks. We can indeed be proud of Otterbein for on that day her team does not participate in an athletic event. Even though tempted with dazzling guarantees Otterbein's Athletic Board of Control, to its own credit, won't schedule games for Thanksgiving Day.

Those of us whose homes are nearby are indeed fortunate in that we can spend the day among those who make it possible for us to be here. Others not so well situated are obliged to remain in Westerville to seek their vacation pleasures as best they can.

But all are united in the one intention to make the vacation a period of joyful recreation.

Let us all make a new resolution that this Thanksgiving will be spent in the spirit in which our forefathers spent the first Thanksgiving Day.

May we not forget our gratitude to the Giver of the many blessings that we have enjoyed the last year.

Punctuality

Punctuality is one of the cardinal virtues. The man who is on time is the man who will be successful here in school and in the life work yet to come whether you define success in terms of money or service to mankind.

You can easily remember a time or occasion when many have been delayed and inconvenienced through the failure of someone to be on time.
There are a lot of students here in Otterbein who think nothing of being late for appointments or for meetings and the sad part of it is that these students don't realize that they are cultivating a habit that will soon cost much in time and money.

Lack of punctuality is due to apathy, thoughtlessness, or the absence of consideration for others, which is but another word for selfishness. A true sense of one's obligations to others will cause a man to be on time and thereby avoid the inconveniences that result from being late. If you are really considerate of others you will be punctual at a meeting whether it be Student Council or a departmental club. Those who have the interests of the organization at heart are very rarely late.

How often have you noticed that the man who is the busiest and who has the most engagements is the man who is punctual. Being on time is not usually a matter of time, distance or conditions. Those who live farthest from the college frequently have the on-time-habit at classes, and those who live the nearest often acquire the never-on-time-habit.

Right here at Otterbein is the best place to cultivate the habit of being on time. If punctuality is cultivated here at school you will find that it will be a great help to you in later life. Be on time at all meetings whether you think they are important or not. Be on time for class and at all college activities.

Here are a few of the many ways to cultivate the habit of being on time.
To be orderly and punctual we must get the desire to be so. Just as confidence begets confidence so does punctuality beget punctuality. It is yours merely for the taking.

Midsemesters

Midsemester examinations are past and it is needless to say that we are somewhat relieved. These examinations should mean something to all of us. Midsemester examinations are not to be taken too seriously or too lightly. However much we may think so the professor does not give them with revenge in mind but only to check on you to know how much work you have been doing. The instructor does not use the midsemester examinations to lash you into studying, but rather to remind you that you are here primarily to learn and to be instructed.

The grade you receive is neither to be considered wholly as a reprimand nor as a compliment, but rather is a warning or as a mark of encouragement. Midsemester grades should be taken seriously. Low grades should be taken as a warning to you to get busy, and good grades as a notice not to lie down on the job.

The midsemester grades are not final. Neither are they recorded on the permanent records of the college.
To the student who receives a high mark it should be an inspiration to continue his good work and to the student who receives a low mark it should be an admonition to do better work.

DR. BRADLEY LECTURES

Nationally Famed Divine Appears as Third Number of Citizens' Lyceum Course.

Dr. Preston Bradley, nationally famed preacher, lecturer, and orator, addressed the patrons of the Lyceum Course last Wednesday evening. Dr. Bradley is in great demand, having lectured six nights a week since October first, returning in addition to Chicago every week-end to address the great audiences which throng the People's Church of which he is pastor, to hear his Sunday morning sermons.

The personal magnetism, keen wit, humor, and genial philosophy which are his, coupled with the excellent quality of his message, make it easy to understand why his church is filled to overflowing every Sunday. Dr. Bradley's presence in Westerville was the more deeply appreciated in view of the fact that he was confined to his bed all day Wednesday by illness, and made the trip against the advice of his physician, at a great sacrifice to himself.

In his message here, Dr. Bradley emphasized two things: first, that the hope of the world lies in a renaissance of the ideals of Jesus on a world basis, and, second, that the youth of today is not suffering from a moral and spiritual let-down. In discussing the former, he said, "The way for the preachers to fill the churches is to fill the pulpit; we must offer not stones, but bread."

OTTERBEIN COLLEGE HELPS COMMUNITY FUND

In the recent Community Chest Drive for Westerville, Otterbein College was one of the four divisions of the town. Districts were made of the residential sections and industrial houses and another of Otterbein to raise funds for the Community Chest of Franklin County. Team captains strove for donations from one hundred percent of the constituency of their respective areas. The faculty of Otterbein responded one hundred percent and gave a total of about $165 while the student collections in chapel netted $53 for the combined charities.

New Rules are Explained at Meeting of Cochran Hall Association

Last Thursday evening the Cochran Hall Association held an important business session in the library at Cochran Hall. The purpose of the meeting was to explain and emphasize certain dormitory rules. The live persons back of the "little gray book" were introduced to the Association and cleverly responded, explaining the duties of their respective offices. Dean McFadden discussed several important phases of dormitory life. The session was of a serious nature but had touches of wit and humor which made it an interesting one. A hearty spirit of cooperation was manifested and it is hoped that it will continue all year.

LARGE AUDIENCE HEARS SECOND STUDENT RECITAL

At 8:00 o'clock last Tuesday evening in Lambert Hall the music students presented an interesting program to an appreciative audience.

The program consisted of a piano quartet, piano and vocal solos, and violin and organ numbers, three of which were executed by Freshmen. The success of this recital shows the high grade type of work being maintained in each department of music.

'Black and Magenta'
Lauds Howlers'
Cheering

Many people were impressed by the splendid cheering of the Otterbein students at the Otterbein-Muskingum football game last week. Not only did compliments come from professors, townspeople and visitors, but also from Muskingum fans. Here is what "The Black and Magenta," Muskingum College's paper, said in the write-up of the game in regard to the support accorded the Tan team by the Otterbein stands, and particularly the "Howlers."

"Many followers from Muskingum were at the game to back the team, but their strong cheering was of no avail. Otterbein had a cheering section which appeared to be mostly Freshmen. Many displays of pep were forth-coming and fine spirit was shown on this special occasion."

SIDELINES

St. Xavier is a true host. It would be well if more Ohio Conference Colleges would copy her methods of receiving and entertaining a team.

St Xavier has one of the finest football playing fields in the state, barring none, not even Ohio State's.

The Queen City school has a fine team yet they are not 48 points better than Otterbein every day in the season. Otterbein encountered the Saints when they were going "good." Saturday was a "warm" day for them and we believe they were playing far over their heads.

Porosky did the punting for O. C. and he did it well. Time after time he got the team out of danger with his long boots. One kick was good for 80 yards.

St. "X" pulled enough Frank Merriwells Saturday to make one's head swim. However it might have been ability but ability isn't so consistent.

Renner played a good game, both offensively and defensively. "Art" made many hard and sure tackles.

Snively as safety man made some tackles that stopped runs for touchdowns. Several times "Bob" was the only man between the ball carrier and the goal line and each time "Bob" made his tackles good.

The day was ideal for football. The field was in fine condition for the game, the slight rainfall of the morning having entirely ceased by noon.

TEAM FALLS BEFORE ATTACK OF SAINTS

"Saints" Uncork Dazzling Offense and Conquer by 48-0 Count—
Team Plays Hard.

The Otterbein eleven suffered defeat at the hands of the St. Xavier warriors to the tune of 48-0 last Saturday afternoon at Corcoran Field in Cincinnati. The game was featured with the splendid aerial attack of St. Xavier which netted three of their touchdowns and paved the way for the others. St. Xavier completed nine passes out of ten attempts.

Otterbein had her only chance to score early in the first quarter, when a long pass, Renner to Porosky, took the ball to St. Xavier's 18 yard line. But O. C. was held for downs, the Saints punted to the center of the field, and were never in danger of being scored on the rest of the game.

The open field running and tackling of Snavelly and Renner for Otterbein was notable. For St. Xavier it is impossible to name any outstanding stars for it seemed that each man was as consistent as the other.

St. Xavier's line was heavy and at the same time fast. This fact is responsible for the wall-like interference which they gave for their backfield runners.

The punting of Porosky was some of the best of the season and at critical times during the game he booted the pigskin out of dangerous territory. In the last quarter when Otterbein was backed up against her own line "Swede" booted the ball 70 yards over the St. Xavier safety man.

From all reports St. Xavier was in her best form of the season to play this Home-coming game. It is no disgrace to lose to a team the calibre of St. Xavier. The shift plays and passes which were used were of the type used by Coach Rockney of Notre Dame.

Seniors Win Last Soccer Game

The last obstacle to a 1,000 percent season was easily overcome by the Seniors when they defeated the Freshmen in the last soccer ball game of the season, Wednesday afternoon.

Although neither class had a full team on the field, the game was hard and fast. The Seniors were eager to complete a perfect season while the yearlings were determined to mar it for them and to squeeze in another victory for themselves. However, the Seniors had little trouble in scoring six points, while the Frosh managed to shoot only one through the goal.

The Sophomore-Junior game, which was to have been played Monday afternoon, was called off because of the heavy snow.

BASKETBALL BEGINS

Varsity Squad Will Begin Practice
December 3, in Preparation for Stiff Schedule.

With the closing of the football season comes the opening of the favorite winter sport, basket ball. Preparations are being made for an unusually large squad, and next week Coach Ditmer will sound his call for candidates.

Otterbein lost several good men by graduation last year but she is fortunate in having a large number of veterans to fall back on. Besides these, there is a wealth of good material from last year's Freshman class. Altogether, the prospects for a successful season are very bright.

Captain McCarroll, Durr, Porosky, and Widdoes are the letter men of last year's squad around which Coach Ditmer will build this year's team. McCarroll and Durr are two first class guards and the combination of the two will give the team much defensive strength. Porosky is a rangy center and against many teams he will control the tip-off. In Widdoes, Ditmer has as fast and shifty a player as Otterbein has had in recent years. He also is a first class basket shooter.

Last year's Freshman class furnishes much material. Allison is a good forward and Buell and Carroll will make two good guards. Snavelly is also a snappy basket ball player but there is some doubt whether or not he will be out.

The student body will have many opportunities to see the team in action this year, as over half of the games will be played at home. Seven of the eleven games will be played in the high school gymnasium, where there are good facilities for accommodating a large crowd.

STOREY WINS FROSH CROSS COUNTRY RUN

Last Monday afternoon most of the Freshmen boys and a few Sophomores lined up on Main Street at Grove and awaited the signal from Professor Martin which would start them on their long jaunt around the two-mile square. The signal came at four o'clock, and just twelve minutes and thirty-one seconds later, Storey, winner of the event, broke the tape at this same corner, nosing Kinsey out by a mere yard or two. Sheek finished in third place.

The course of the run was from Grove street to West on Main, north on West street around the well known two mile square, coming in on State and finishing at Grove on Main street.

The winner of the event will be awarded a bronze medal with his name engraved on it.

GRID RACE NEARS CLOSE

Oberlin Wins Ohio Conference Championship by Winning All Eight Games Played

Saturday's gridiron menu provided another so-called upset in Ohio Conference football, namely, the disastrous defeat of Wesleyan by the little flaunted Ohio University team. Ohio made the only touchdown of the game early in the first period. The defeat Saturday shoves the Methodists down to third place in the conference standing, and leaves Oberlin the undisputed champions of the 1924 season.

A hectic game between Wooster and Denison at Granville, played in a driving rain storm, was anybody's game until the last quarter. In this period, Capt. Starn put over a drop-kick for the visitors, winning 3-0.

In the thirty-third annual Case-Reserve game at Cleveland, the score stood 0-0 when the crack of the pistol announced the end of the game. It was an even battle throughout.

Ohio Northern gave Muskingum its fifth defeat of the season by scoring two touchdowns and a drop-kick, and preventing the Muskies from crossing the goal line.

Kenyon walloped Baldwin-Wallace, with a score of 29-0. Baldwin-Wallace beat Case last week, 11-7.

Akron came out a touchdown ahead of Toledo. The score was 14-7.

The next issue of the Tan and Cardinal, which will appear December 8, will be the annual Football Number. The paper will contain individual pictures of the football men and coaches. All the writeups and articles will be on football and the paper will be athletic throughout. Don Howard will have charge of the issue and it is his desire to make it a hummer.

and Minnich, halfbacks, are fast and can run or pass. In Jacoby the yearlings have a clever quarter back.

The forward wall of the Frosh team boasts of two good ends in Pinney and Reigel. Norris and Reck, tackles, can turn back plays with ease. The Sophs will have to play heads up ball to outplay Captain Crawford. He will be one of the big lights in the Freshman defense.

However, the Sophomore squad is composed almost entirely of varsity men, six of whom have participated in intercollegiate football this year. The Snavelly-Carroll combination in the backfield has been successful all season, while Felton, Lambert, Collier and Scheer have done commendable work on the line.

Those who saw the game last year know that this annual event is not a mere farce. It is an exhibition of real football, profuse with thrills, and featured by everything that makes football the major American sport.

Professor Martin will referee the game and Dave Parks will umpire.

Below is the probable line-up for the game:

West Virginia Wesleyan has established a unique and effective method of administering justice to Freshman girls who break rules and ignore customs. This law enforcing body is a Tribunal to which the offenders are brought and tried with the president of the student government organization acting as judge and the other members as a jury. After the trial the judge metes out punishment for the offense. Due to this organization fewer rules and customs are disregarded.

The event, Students' Activity Day, at University of Buffalo has proved a success and has instilled students with appreciation and admiration for their Alma Mater. This day is set aside in the fall and, there being no classes, is devoted entirely to the explanation of campus activities and their relation to the students. Besides these exercises a big parade and exhibition of "pep" is a special feature. This instills the college spirit into the town folks as well as the students.

Cook House is giving a banquet to her football men tonight.

"Red" Camp's brother, V. Camp, of Beach City, Ohio, was here for a short visit last Tuesday.

Albert May made a week-end visit to his home in Fremont, Ohio.

This scribe surely would like to write up the trip via truck to the St. X. game, but he really feels he must uphold the T. and C.'s standards of pure English.

Keene VanCuren spent the week-end at Delaware where he visited several friends in Ohio Wesleyan University.

The members of the Jonda Club and several Freshmen were the guests of Prof. and Mrs. Hanawalt at the Rabbit Fry at the M. E. Church last Thursday evening.

Aside from the band, which was sent to Cincinnati, Saturday, a fairly large number of O. C. students followed the team. Among them were Clarence LaPorte, Franklin Young, Emerson Bragg, Ralph Tinsley, "Ted" Seaman, "Patty" McGuire, Wilbur Wood, Gwynne McConaughy, Clarence Broadhead, "Bob" Cavins, F. M. Pottenger, Jr., Harold Mayberry, Howard Minnich, Ernest Reigel, B. M. Jacoby, "Bob" Weitkamp, "Shorty" Long, Clarence Endsley, H. T. Lai, Delbert Neff, Grant Allan, G. A. Mitchell and A. O. Barnes.

Two fairly regular O. C. visitors, J. B. Crabbs, '23, and "Len" Newell, '24, were on the campus last week.

After the game Saturday all visiting Otterbein students were invited to attend the Home-coming Dance at Saint Xavier. That's the spirit, St. X.

Prof. Altman informs us that a "date" used to be known as a "point" around Otterbein. He explains that the term was probably used because two persons both tried to get on one point. Personally, we can see no good reason for ever having discarded the word for we feel that it is still quite appropriate.

Prof. Hanawalt and Edward Keck went on a rabbit hunt last Saturday, up around Mt. Vernon. The Professor bagged eight rabbits while Keck got ten.

"HOWLERS" HAVE WILD TRIP TO ST. XAVIER

Howlers Have Eventful Trip to Cincinnati—Experience Is One of A Lifetime.

"Hey, leggo m' leg"—"Get your boot outa my face"—"Wind up your neck, guy"—"Gimme part of that blanket"—"All together, gang, let's turn over"—"Say, dumbell, that's my back you're scratching"—"Chew somebody else's ear a while"—"Get off my chest, I'm no settee"—"Give us some air"—No, you're wrong folks, this is not the chronicle of an Irish street festival, but merely excerpts from the general conversation of the forty Howlers and bandmen who embarked for St. Xavier.

At six o'clock Saturday morning, while the sun was still dawdling somewhere in Asia, a sheepskinned, slickered, blanketed, and booted mob of Howlers and bandmen were gathered before the Blendon Hotel endeavoring to stow themselves aboard a huge truck, whose resemblance to a cattle-limousine was more and more perfect as the voyageurs succeeded in getting a handhold somewhere in the straw-upholstered tonneau. By six-thirty the last straggler was on hand, or foot, or whatever other portions of his neighbor were most convenient, and the long journey down state to Cincinnati, one hundred and forty miles away, was begun. The persons who pass out the weather were undecided whether to provide rainy or cold, but after a period of awful suspense for the Howlers, decided upon the latter. Accordingly, each man sought close relationship with his fellows, and when the gray dawn broke, a mass of gay cardinal blankets, with here a boot and there an instrument case or a head protruding, flanked by a huddled group of figures encased in "baa-baa" coats and slickers, graced the bouncing truck as it roared down the highway.

Thus through Columbus, Springfield, Dayton and Middletown, the Howlers greeted the citizens lustily and loudly with cheers for Otterbein. Ten miles beyond Middletown a halt was made at a roadhouse whose enticing sign, "The Barbecue," struck sympathetic chords aboard the truck. The hungry mob swooped en masse upon the food and endeavored to strip the shelves, but time forbade, so after partially fortifying themselves, the crowd hastily clambered back into the straw and blankets and set off for St. X., reaching their goal shortly after the opening whistle had blown for the game. Once in the stands, the band struck up an air to let the team and the world know that the Howlers were among those present; the rest cut loose with yells and cheers which did not abate until the final whistle had blown.

After the game, a rush back to their beloved truck moved the Howlers as one man, and they were further moved to exclamations of joy to discover that during their absence a tarpaulin had been hauled over the vehicle, transforming it into a "covered wagon." Upon embarking for the return trip, the scientific minds of the crowd agitated for a systematic seating, or rather packing order, which succeeded so well that two occupied the space filled by one before, and were only twice as crowded; the result would have moved a sardine or a department store elevator operator to tears of sympathy. Nevertheless, the dauntless Howlers answered the query, "Are we downhearted?" with a hearty "No-o-o!" and the truck was off up the Miami valley. At "The Barbecue," the gang descended to finish the task left uncompleted earlier in the day; this performed to their satisfaction, and with a more cheerful attitude prevailing, the journey homeward was resumed. Nightfall having cut off the view and the scenery, the time was beguiled by singing and bedtime stories; whether as a result of the latter or of the asphyxiating influence of the fumes from the exhaust and the close air beneath the tarpaulin, the majority were either asleep or in a state of coma by the time Dayton had been passed, lulled by the monotonous drone of the engine and the rumble of the wheels.

'Twas three-fifteen Sunday morning when the truck pulled up at its starting place before the Blendon, after having been nine hours on the road, and 'twas with sighs of relief which well nigh lifted the "cover" from the "wagon" that the Howlers and the band greeted the termination of their first trip abroad, and set out in quest of the liniment bottle and bed.

As they dispersed, one Howler murmured in accents optimistic still, "Well, it was a great trip—but never again!"
