OTTERBEIN TO BE REPRESENTED

Ninth International Convention of Student Volunteers to be Held in Indianapolis.

DURING XMAS VACATION

Six Delegates Representing Every Phase of College Life to Represent Otterbein.

From December 28 until January 1 of next year Indianapolis, Indiana, will have the honor of having one of the largest conventions in the world, the ninth International Convention of the Student Volunteer Movement to which Otterbein will send six representatives. The last convention, held at Des Moines, Iowa, in 1920, had a total registration of 6,890 delegates, representing 949 institutions.

The purpose of the convention may be summarized thus: "To realize the critical needs and possibilities of the situation in the world today and to consider the responsibility of the Christian students of the United States and Canada in the light of this situation; to consider Christ and His way of life as the hope of the world; and to present the foreign missionary enterprise in the light of its achievements and possibilities as an indispensable means of bringing the power of Christ to bear upon the world's needs."

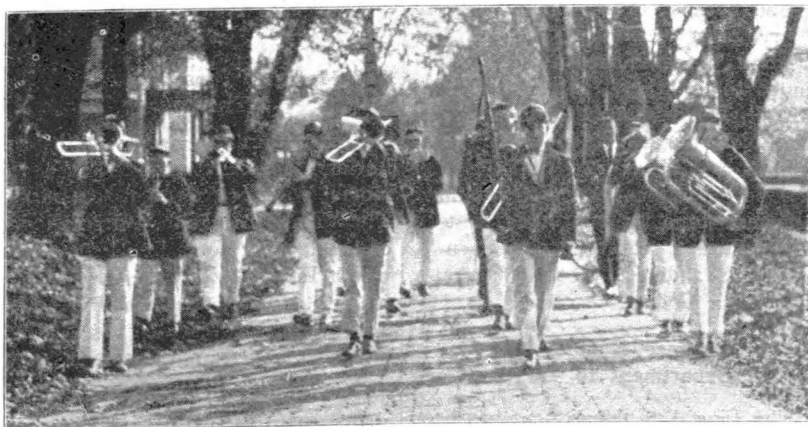

Speakers of a world character, authorities in their respective fields, discussion groups and forums will be the manner in which the purpose of the convention will be carried to the thousands of students in the world.

The method of electing Otterbein's six delegates will be taken care of by a central committee, representative of both the student body and the faculty. After deciding the method of election, the entire student body will be given an opportunity of electing the delegates whom they believe will best represent them.

Faculty Club To Be Guests

The members of the Otterbein Faculty Club with their wives will be the guests of President and Mrs. Clippinger Monday night of this week. The reception will be held in the administrative offices. President Clippinger has been asked by the faculty to give at this time the personal glimpses of his trip through Mediterranean lands.

The more you are heard, the less you will be heard of. Fame is all the things you didn't say about yourself.

OTTERBEIN'S NEWLY ORGANIZED BAND

Here is the band, organized only a few weeks ago, which furnished the music for Homecoming and which led the parade at the Wittenberg game a week ago. Otterbein wants this BAND made PERMANENT and UNIFORMED. MAY SHE HAVE IT?

United Brethren Church Choir Gives Concert at Sunbury

Last Sunday evening the choir of the First United Brethren Church journeyed to Sunbury where it gave a song service in the M. E. Church of that village. A large audience of Sunbury and Westerville people enjoyed the program of anthems and songs rendered by the choir.

Father and Mother King Here

Father John R. King, '94, Superintendent of Otterbein Home of Lebanon, Ohio, and Mother King, were in Westerville last Thursday visiting their large family of children from the Home. Mr. King extended a few words of greeting to the student body in the chapel service of Thursday morning.

Soph-Frosh Debaters at Work

The contenders for the James O. Cox, '11, twenty-five dollar prize, given to the winning team in the Freshman-Sophomore debate, are hard at work for the contest. Neither class has chosen its final team as yet inasmuch as a fair selection is next to impossible so early in the preparatory period. Those on the Freshman squad are Eby, Harrold, Keller, Martin, Roberts, H. Williams, R. Williams, McConaughy and Esther Williamson. The Sophomore squad is composed of Bragg, Henry, Hoover, Howard and May. The date of the debate will very probably be the first week of December.

Do your work with a whole heart and you will succeed—there is so little competition.

RADIO CARRIES STRANGE TALE OF EXCITING GRIDIRON FRAY

Speaking of hard luck football games, gridiron marshes, fumbles and such, we are reminded of the following account of a game by radio—

"Mule" kicks to 15 yard where "Carr" is downed in his tracks—"Carpenter" saws line for 7 yards—"Wahl" holds opponents for no gain—Time out for penalty, referee off side—"Scheer" cuts through center for 1st down—"Crook" steals 5 yards off right end—Substitution, "Ax" for "Carpenter"—"Ax" chops through center for 9 yards—"Brake" stops quarter-back sneak—Time out, umpire caught trying to intercept pass—First quarter, two dimes and one nickel found in referee's pocket—"Board" walks for touchdown when

"Bread", safety man, is caught loafing—"Cherry" tries for goal but goes wild.

"Broom" receives kick-off and sweeps down side-line for 30 yard return—"Corn" taken from back field with bad ear, and "Wreck" is substituted—"Wreck" tears down field for 30 yards.

"Cabbage" is using his head at tackle—Time out, Half ends with ball on referee's 4 yard line.

Crowd gets excited when cheer leaders go up in air—Coaches put on three-round bout—Third quarter—On kick-off "Niagra" falls on the ball near goal posts on 50 yard line—"Egg", referee, proves rotten when he puts "Light" out of the game and calls the game on account of darkness.

MUSKINGUM WINS ANNUAL BATTLE

Fumbles Prove Very Costly When Tan Team Takes Ball To Goal Line Twice.

HEAVY FIELD A HANDICAP

Blocked Punt Gives Otterbein Ball on Muskingum's Two Yard Line As Game Ends.

While two hundred and fifty or more students waited in the College Chapel last Saturday afternoon, watching play by play as they came in over the wire, the Otterbein eleven was playing hard to overcome a 6 point lead which Muskingum had piled up on the New Concord gridiron. Cheer after cheer went up from the anxious crowd in the chapel as the game drew near its end and for a time it seemed like Otterbein would yet win. Less than a minute remained to play as Muskingum put the ball in play on her own 10 yard line. The ball was punted by the Black and Magneta, Otterbein blocked the punt and fell on the ball with but two yards to go and then . . . the whistle blew and the game ended 6-0 in favor of the New Concord team.

Muddy Field.

The Muskingum field was covered with water making it extremely hard to do much running or passing. Fumbles were numerous. Otterbein had the ball over the goal line once and on the 2 yard line later and each time fumbled, losing the ball to her opponents.

Much Punting.

Both teams did a great deal of punting and especially in the third quarter when both teams made a total of nine kicks. A total of thirty punts was made during the entire game, Otterbein averaging 32 yards, and Muskingum 30 yards.

Congressman William D.

Upshaw Visits Otterbein

Congressman William D. Upshaw, known as the "Georgia Cyclone", spoke in the college chapel service last Tuesday morning. The theme, "Have a Purpose", was brought out during the Speaker's remarks which were mostly of a witty character. Congressman Upshaw has been a cripple since early life, making his way through college and up to the United States Congress under this handicap. Quite a number of the students heard his address in the First United Brethren church in the evening.

RUSSIAN QUARTET PLEASESRussian Singers Delight Large Audience With Pleasing Variety of Songs.

Seldom has an entertainment been more thoroughly enjoyed by music lovers of Otterbein and Westerville than that rendered by the Russian Cathedral Quartet in the College Chapel last Wednesday evening at 8:15 o'clock. The quartet, coming as the second number of the lecture course, is a high priced attraction and was secured for Westerville only through the efforts of Dwight Cornet who is associated with the Redpath Bureau. Appearing in Cathedral Costume and peasant garb, in addition to the regulation evening dress, the singers presented a splendid variety of songs in both Russian and English.

The first number of the evening was the "Lord's Prayer" which was impressively sung in Russian by the quartet. Each member in the course of the performance pleased the audience with a solo number. The basso, Mr. Mikhael Bataeff exhibited remarkable depth and volume of tone, characteristic of Russian basses. One of the best parts of the program was "Somewhere a Voice Is Calling", sung in English by Mr. Nicholas Vasilieff, the second tenor.

A unique feature of the evening was the singing of the Russian College "Alma Mater" by the quartet in full dress costume.

The Russian Folk Songs and especially the "Song of the Volga Boatmen" in which the quartet appeared in peasant garb, was enjoyed very much. The quartet, fine singers as the members were individually, harmonized wonderfully. It was with a feeling that the audience rose to attention while the quartet concluded the evening's program with "America".

Debaters Have New Room

The debaters this year will be privileged in having a separate room where they may do their research work, hold their conferences and carry on the general preparation for the varsity debates. The room selected is the large room in the basement of Lambert Hall next to the Tan and Cardinal and Publicity offices. Tables and debate books have been placed there for the convenience of those working on the debate subject.

Le Cercle Francais

A very enjoyable evening was spent at the last meeting of Le Cercle Francais. An interesting story was given by Miss Zura Bradfield and Miss Mary Whiteford read a poem. Several novel games were played at the conclusion of the program.

The work of the club is becoming more interesting at each meeting and as an evidence of this was the increased attendance, forty students being present last Monday evening.

We note a rather general celebration of Founder's Day in most colleges. Usually well arranged programs are given. Otterbein might take note.

Dr. Sanders Leads Y. M. C. A.

The usual number of students had the privilege last Thursday evening of hearing Dr. T. J. Sanders give a most interesting and most helpful address on the subject, "Reasons for Believing in God." "Some people," said the speaker, "make God an abstract thing such as law, but God is more than that, He is a Person." There is a strong presumption that there is a God because of the universality of a religious instinct. "The whole creation of mind and matter," continued the speaker, "is a reflection of Him." The whole world is crammed with plan, purpose and design. That implies a designer and that designer is God. Dr. Sanders did not have sufficient time to conclude his talk, but sufficient reasons were given to allow his audience to see that there must be a God.

Indian Summer Enables Art Department to Do Sketching

The Fine Arts department has been very fortunate this fall in having such unusually fine weather to do its sketching out-of-doors. Mrs. Dunn, head of the department, remarked upon it, saying that on November 13, the class had been able to sketch on the campus, while in other years at that time the weather had been too cold.

At present students in the department are busily engaged in making novelties for Christmas giving and are producing many beautiful things in the various types of work of the department.

Lights Out

Once more the scene of old was enacted last Friday night when the lights went out in the administration building. Philophronea in the middle of a most interesting love story was forced to adjourn, making the story a "continued next week" type. Philomatheia and her guests did not fare any better and therefore postponed her Installation Session until next Friday evening.

"Y" Movie to Present"The Village Blacksmith"

Next Saturday evening in the auditorium of Lambert Hall the "Y" movie will present the melodrama, The Village Blacksmith, a dramatization of the famous poem by Henry Wadsworth Longfellow. The cast includes many stars and this is easily the biggest picture presented by the "Y" movie committee this year.

Grade Cards Out Wednesday.

The mid-semester grades will be ready for distribution this week and will be given out at the chapel doors Wednesday morning in the usual manner.

National Worker at Y. W.

The Y. W. C. A. was greatly privileged last Tuesday evening in hearing Miss Aller of the National Y. W. C. A. board speak on "Y. W. C. A. as a Vocation". She enumerated the varieties of Y. W. C. A., with the special demands, qualifications, and opportunities of each kind of work. She said that an Association worker must first realize that the Association is essentially a Christian organization and that the Christian faith must be a reality

'17. The November issue of The Intercollegiate Statesman, the organ of the Intercollegiate Prohibition Association, contains a picture of Vernon L. Phillips and the announcement of the fact that he has returned to the work of the I. P. A. after three years with Otterbein College. Mr. Phillips is now living in New Haven, Connecticut, where he is taking work in the Yale Divinity School and is devoting part of his time to the work of the I. P. A. in the six New England states.

'22. Maurice M. Collins has a fine position this year at the head of the science department in the high school at Waynesboro, Virginia, and is meeting with good success in his work there.

'93. Mrs. James M. Davis (Laura Smith) of Columbus, Ohio, was in charge of the program of the music department of the Columbus Woman's Club given last Friday afternoon at the new club house on East Town street. The subject for the afternoon was "Some Famous American Singers" and a number of selections were sung by various members of the club. Mrs. Davis, who was one of the organizers and the first president of the Otterbein Woman's Club of Columbus and Vicinity, is prominent in club circles in the city.

'22. Miss Eleanor Whitney of Westerville went to Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, last Thursday to attend the national convention of the Grange which was held in that city over the week-end.

'92, '93. Miss Dell Lafever and Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Pilkington (Maud Bradrick) of Westerville spent one afternoon in Columbus last week visiting the chrysanthemum show at Ohio State University.

'23. Mr. and Mrs. Roland J. White of Eaton, Ohio, spent last week-end in Westerville as the guests of Mrs. White's parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Patterson on West Main Street.

Football Banquet

If the writer may be permitted to refer to high school days, there is one thing practiced there which might well be practiced in Otterbein. That is, a football banquet at the end of the football season at which the football team is the guest of honor.

In Otterbein we do not have enough of the social life in which the entire school shares. We should have at least two occasions in the year in which the entire student body might get together. Furthermore the football team is always deserving of a banquet of this nature. With that in mind we suggest that this matter be brought to the attention of the Student Council as well as discussed among the students in order that Otterbein might entertain her team with a banquet that would do the team honor and at the same time would not be so extravagant and expensive but that every student might be able to attend.

Varsity "O" Initiations

We do not wish to appear to dictate to the Varsity "O" what type of initiation it should put on, but since the regular outside initiation has been barred, the Tan and Cardinal suggests that a more formal occasion be made of this event. Other schools, having forbidden the "red-skin" type of initiation, have passed to the very thing which we would like to see inaugurated in Otterbein. If we have a football banquet, why not make that the time at which to present the men with their varsity "O" certificates?

If we do not have a banquet, the same thing could be done at a specially arranged chapel service. We should like to see a different type of presentation and especially since the same opinion has been voiced by other students and athletes.

Our Band

A week or two ago there came to the ears of the editor strains of martial music as the newly organized Otterbein band practiced in the open.
The spirit of the writer was entirely changed. And then again at the Wittenberg game the spirit of the Otterbein followers was much different than that which would have been had there been no band. Otterbein must keep this organization and in some way provide for its support. It will be to the advantage of our athletics and to the college itself, if Otterbein's band is preserved. Is it not possible for the administration to elect a permanent instructor for the band? Can not the college or some local class or organization in some manner purchase uniforms for the musicians? Now that they are organized let us keep them organized.

SIDE-LIGHTS

We often wonder what the people did for holidays before they had Thanksgiving and Christmas and the rest of the repertoire.

The Toledo Blade is quoted as saying, "We don't believe many of the girls would want to marry a man who could pass a mental test during his courtship days." That accounts for all the failures in Otterbein's intelligence tests.

A certain friend of ours wonders if the 49th state to the Union will be the "State of Matrimony."

Our sympathies go out to the student who takes his notes to an exam, and then accidentally turns in both notes and exam. at the end of the hour.

LITERARY PRODUCTION

By H. E. Menke, Philomatheia.

Words

The head of the Public Speaking Department at Ohio State University says that the average number of words used by every one is 30,000 per day. This seems at first to be a high estimate; but the fact of the matter is that it was determined by actual observation among representative groups of people. Many of us, of course, do not average 30,000 words a day; but remember how many women there are to make up the deficiency. So let us accept the estimate as true and do a little figuring. We find that the yearly average per person is eleven millions. What a volume they would make if printed! Yes,—and what kind of a volume would it be? If every word you uttered last year had been written down in order, what sort of reading matter would it make now? We are told of a certain angel whose duty it is to record the deeds of men. Answering to this record is going to go hard enough with us mortal wights. What if we must answer for our words as well? But no—we may safely dismiss the latter possibility. Not even an angel could keep a record of all the words being continually poured forth into the atmosphere of this terrestrial globe. With a population of one and three-quarter billion chattering human beings to whom to listen, he would be obliged to indite over 600 million words per second. Such a job would most certainly take all the joy out of being an angel.

All this is beside the point. The purpose of this paper is to do some moralizing upon the content of these 30,000 words which every one of us speaks per day, on the average. Statistics show—and indeed there are statistics upon this subject—that, contrary to general opinion, the weather is such a small part of conversation as to be negligible. Religion is mentioned but little more. Over 30% is devoted to business,—which in the case of the student is taken to mean his class work—and about 50% deals in personalities. Let us disregard all but this 50%. By personalities is meant remarks concerning other people and ourselves. In other words, if you are an average person you devote 15,000 words a day to the subjects, "the other fellow" and yourself.

Now it is a matter of common observation that there are abroad in the land some few individuals who use up nearly the entire number talking about themselves. They are conversational hermits. They "let the rest of the world go by" and regard it as a pageant for their especial benefit. Society, to their way of thinking, stands on the tiptoe of expectancy to hear of their mental reactions on every topic. The first person singular pronoun stands first in half their sentences: "I did", "I said", or "I think" so and so acts as their vocal self-starter. This class of folks, be it known, does not exist on Otterbein's campus. If, as sometimes happens, a Freshman arrives without a knowledge of the spirit of this school and exhibits a tendency toward excessive self-approval, he soon changes his attitude; if not of his own free will, then by a little forcible suasion on the part of his new associates. Public opinion at Otterbein frowns upon the daily use of 15,000 words by a student for his own advertisement. Reasonable space must be allotted other people.

Now, there are different ways of talking about other people fortunately, speaking of others too often means speaking unkindly. It is trite to say that everyone possesses weakness, and it is natural that these weaknesses be noticed. However, there is no necessity for using them as leading topics in our conversation. True enough, it is the easiest way in the world to keep a conversation going. Moreover, there is a certain sense of superiority in fault finding as if seeing a fault in another implies that we are without it. And the follies and mistakes of our neighbor frequently furnish us abundant matter for wit and pleasantry—wit that is prone to become sharp sarcasm, and pleasantry that is bound to bring unpleasantness into the life of the object of our remarks. Jest in the favorite pastime at a college boarding club for instance. It is so easily devised at our friends' and schoolmates' expense that few abstain from it altogether. Many a moment of sharp pain and disheartenment has resulted from words which were spoken with the thought only of causing laughter and without regard for the one at whom they were directed. The butt of the boarding club jokester may smile and continue his meal, but the food has become bitter. It seems to me that thoughtless joking is the besetting sin of college students. Some even graduate and carry with them into their life-work the notion that sarcasm is the highest form of humor, and that the best way to correct a fault in another person is to make fun of it.

Happily, there are others who do abstain from such jesting and sharp criticism, who speak kindly when they speak of others, who let rash deeds and quick-repent words pass into oblivion and emphasize only those acts we all would gladly have done ourselves. They are the salt of the earth. They treat human weakness gently and are the men and women who are sought and loved by human weakness. We turn to them in joy and in sorrow alike, confide to them our hopes and fears, unfold our lives to them. They are our inspiration. That is why they number their friends by the hundreds while the cynic walks his cold path alone.

Granting all this, each one of us ought to know how to direct the 15,000 words a day we have been considering. Two rules make themselves apparent: First, use capital "I" as seldom as possible; second, if you cannot speak good of another, do not speak at all. The more closely you adhere to these rules the more friends you will have, the more closely you watch your 15,000 words every day the better reputation you will bear among your associates. This half of your daily speech is the index to your character. Of significant, practical value is the Bible verse:

"By the words of thy mouth art thou justified and by the words of thy mouth art thou condemned."

MUSKINGUM WINS

Strong Start.

Otterbein made a strong beginning and it looked as if we should score within the first few minutes. Otterbein, receiving the ball in mid-field from a Muskingum punt, carried the pigskin by end-runs and line plays to the two yard line and then fumbled in an attempt to carry it over. The rest of the quarter was passed with the ball in center field most of the period.

score when Staats carried the ball to the 4 yard line, following a 30 yard sneak. McCarroll made 2 through center, Stoltz failed at left tackle, Otterbein was here penalized 5 yards and on the next play fumbled and lost her scoring chance. Play again remained in mid-field during the remainder of the second period.

President Clippinger in his return from Indiana announces that Homer P. Lambert, '12, of Anderson, Indiana will have full charge of the work in that state and that a state rally and banquet of the Indiana alumni will be held within the near future.

Word from the office brings the report that gifts, although not large, are coming every day. That is a sign of continuous enthusiasm and is the very thing for which the committees have been working.

Conference Dope

Wooster and Ohio Wesleyan continue to lead the conference, the former with 6 wins, the latter with 4. Wooster did not play Saturday, but must meet Denison next Saturday and Mt. Union on Thanksgiving, both of which she should defeat.

Ohio Wesleyan kept a perfect record by smothering St. Xavier under a 40-12 score. Wesleyan will finish her season against Akron next Saturday.

Akron and Miami played a 13-13 draw Saturday, while Denison and Ohio University furnished the surprise for the second tie game, the score being 7-7.

St. Xavier, who was defeated by Wesleyan last week will be the opponents of the Ditmer machine next Saturday.

Reserve, defeated the week before in a hard luck game with Kenyon, surprised her followers by defeating Oberlin 6-0. Reserve should easily win her game with Heidelberg who was defeated 21-0 by Ohio Northern. Northern will be the guest of Wittenberg this week, while Oberlin will rest, having finished a 50-50 season in the Conference.

Case was easy for the Cincinnati eleven which ran up a 69-0 score, the highest score in the conference this year. Case will meet Hiram this week while Miami will prepare for her Thanksgiving game with Cincinnati.

Baldwin-Wallace was successful over Kenyon by a 9-0 score. The Berea team will play John Carroll this week-end.

MUSKINGUM WINS

Muskingum Scores.

The third period opened with an exchange of punts in the exchange of which Muskingum kicked to Otterbein's 5 yard line. Andy then punted to the 25 yard line from where Muskingum was enabled to carry the ball over with a line play, an end run and a pass. An attempt at goal failed.

Fourth Quarter.

Muskingum again threatened in the fourth quarter when she carried the ball to Otterbein's 10 yard line and then attempted to place-kick. The kick failed and Otterbein took the ball. With but a few minutes to play the Tan team carried the ball to her 45 yard line where Andy punted 45 yards, placing the ball on Muskingum's 10 yard line. After three attempts to gain, Muskingum punted, the ball being blocked and recovered by Otterbein on the 2 yard line when the game ended.

The line-up:

Otterbein, 0	Muskingum, 6
Cavanagh	L. E. Montgomery
Seibert	L. T. Wallace

POST MASTER GENERAL NEW

Rendered the postal service a distinct benefit in ascertaining cost of postal business. Westerville, one of the fortunate cost accounting offices, found that she sent out weekly close to 2 tons of parcel post; 1400 pieces of third class mail; and that there has been a very general increase in all classes of mail which will make the revenues of the office close to the $90,000.00 mark this year. When the entire report is made the Postmaster General will have data to present to Congress showing the cost of each item of business, so that appropriations may be made with intelligence.

E. D. Brown, Millard W. Hancock, Donald S. Howard, Dean R. Upson, F. M. Pottenger, Jr., Committee.

Franklin County, Ohio:

We, E. D. Brown and F. M. Pottenger, Jr., members of the above named committee do solemnly swear that the above statement is true to the best of our knowledge and belief.

E. D. Brown.

F. M. Pottenger, Jr.

Subscribed and sworn to before me a Notary Public of Franklin County, Ohio, this 19th day of November, 1923.

Noble B. Smith, Notary Public.

My commission expires Jan. 6, 1925.

The above report shows that the Wire Promotion Committee has on hand $54.30. This amount will be used to pay for any deficit in the installation of the Saint X wire on Saturday. (According to previous reports from the Western Union, Saint X had no loop in, but this has been installed during the last two weeks). Any funds that are left over will be used for the promotion of the athletic interests of the college and the same thing next year. We can not afford to be without a treasury. You will see by the report that the committee had to dig in to the extent of $31.35 at one time. We do not feel that the student body wishes such to be the case another time.

We were very much disappointed by the backing given us by the student body on Saturday. This was the largest crowd yet but due to some misunderstanding gave less than ever before. The same thing will be done again this week for the Saint X. game but an admission of 35c will be charged.

Lazarus Men's Overcoats

$45 & $50 and on to $75

The sort of coats whose fineness catches your eye when you meet them on the street—and you set them down as "Expensive".

Yet they are not. By making our own, in our own shops, we've been able to get ordinary "overhead" costs out of overcoat prices, and to give men more coat for less money.

In styles, materials, colors, there's everything a man could want.

At this time of the year a Freshman can easily be singled out because she is continually springing how many days until Thanksgiving vacation and then how many days after that until Christmas. Poor kids!

Virginia Dent was forced to return home because of illness. We hope she will not be seriously ill.

Lorene Smith, Ladybird Sipe, and Wanda Gallagher were at their respective homes over the week-end.

The Lotus Club entertained their sponsor, Mrs. Gilbert Mills, Sunday evening.

The Arcady Club entertained with a party at Lincoln's, taking into their membership three new girls, Irene Powell, Gertrude Knapp, and Ethel Wright.

A push was given Saturday evening by the Arbutus Club for its new member, Thelma Bonnell.

Mrs. Homer Kline and Miss Janet Gilbert, graduates of Otterbein, visited in Cochran Hall several days last week. Mrs. Kline had with her, her little daughter, Mary Jane, whom she is planning to send to Otterbein.

Miriam Conger came to Cochran Hall Friday to help her sister celebrate her 7th birthday. While here she was entertained with a chili-concarne feast.

The Lotus Club was invited to enjoy a party given at Saum Hall as a celebration of Helen Webster's birthday.

Alice Sanders entertained the Talisman Club and guests with a party at the home of Mrs. T. J. Sanders.

THE DORM IMP

Heard that the Saum Hall Freshmen have been chasing mice with sticks. They should have a few of the cats that insist upon lounging in Cochran Hall.

Knows of one social group that has rehearsals of their meetings in order to attain the proper conduct to have a meeting with their sponsor.

Felt dreadfully dumb after she had raved for fifteen minutes about Menke's brilliant playing in a certain football game. Then to have her attentive listener who seems to be closely connected with the actions of the team reply in a very superior manner,

"Oh, did you think he played well,—why, he wasn't even in the game." So it must have been some one else.

TACKS AND CRACKS

Subject for next week's agitation: "Mid-semester is almost here, Examinations are drawing near; The more we study, the less we know, The harder the lessons the faster we go.

So here's to Miss Lyons, we hope she will live

As long as some of the lessons she gives."

Subject for this week's cogitation: "Oh what did you get in English? What did you get in Math? I'm sure I got the whole thing wrong; Oh, I know I'll never pass!"

Isn't it surprising how popular the freshman girls are becoming? Why, there isn't one in college who hasn't a regular bow!

Student: "I can't find a chair."

'Nother Student: "Sit on your thumb."

Student: "I can't, its got a nail in it."

Prexy—"Professor Weinland, I understand you are a Physical Culturist, and quite interested in Daily Dozen."

Prof. Weinland—"Yes, I practice with dumb-bells every day."

Prexy—"How many students have you?"

To sing or not to sing,

That is the question.

Whether it is nobler to pluck the banjo's strings

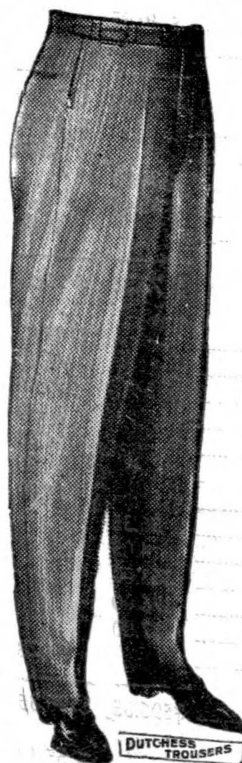

Or sweet harmonies in manly bass or tenor trill.

Miss Lyons—"Mr. Bechtolt, are you a fundamentalist or an evolutionist?"

Whisper from rear—"Neither, he's a devilutionist!"

"Eliza," said a friend of the family, to the old wash woman, "have you seen Miss Edith's fiance?" Eliza pondered for a moment, then bent over the laundry tubs once more. "No, ma'am," she said, "it ain't been in the wash yet."
