AKRON: The home of Russell and Jane Tryon Bolin, '42, was the place of the June 9th covered dish supper. A good time was had by all and there was plenty of delicious home cooked food. Club officers Jack Coberly, '52, Miriam Wetzel Ridinger, '51, and Kathryn Hancock Lang, '52, served as program committee.

DAYTON: Spring has been busy for the Dayton-Miami Valley Club. On March 16 a record turnout of 89 heard Professor Harold Hancock talk about "Four Presidents—An Evaluation." George Liston, '52, led the invocation and Don Edwards, '56, directed the group singing, with Mary Lou Wagner, '56, at the piano. President James Wagner, '56, chaired the meeting and Dick Pflieger, '48, brought greetings from the College. A picnic, swim and recreation day was held on Saturday, June 8, at the Normandy United Methodist Church.

DAYTON "O" CLUB: On May 1 a golf tournament and sports dinner was well attended by Dayton and Westerville athletic boosters. George Welsh, '51, was the tournament chairman and Bob Corbin, '49, arranged for the "all you can eat" buffet dinner at Seven Nations Restaurant. New officers include: president, Bob Corbin, '49; vice-president, John Freeman, '50; and secretary-treasurer, George Welsh, '51. Trustee chairman Harold Boda, '25, and Herman Lehman, '22, spoke to the group about the importance of a balanced sports program and its campus-wide influence. "Smokey" Ballenger, '39, and Athletic Director Bob Agler, '48, represented the college.

DETROIT: David Cheek, '63, and Elaine Baker Bartter, '59, club officers, arranged for an elegant dinner meeting at the Greenfield Restaurant on March 16. Professor and Mrs. Philip Barnhart were guest visitors from the college and Phil spoke to the group about Otterbein's plans for the future.

NORTHERN INDIANA: The annual meeting at the Honeywell Memorial Center in Wabash was convened on April 26. Harry E. Richer, '14, and Ethel Shupe Richer, '14, were elected club officers for the coming year. Chester R. Turner, '43, represented the college and provided the program for the evening.

ZANESVILLE: A group of area alumni and friends met on April 20th at the beautiful home of Doctors Robert and Ann Carlson Brown, '51, '52. It was a very enjoyable meeting with Dr. and Mrs. Wade Miller representing the college. The Browns were most gracious hosts, and the group looks forward to future meetings.

Hawaii in 1969!

Aloha, Aloha, it's off to Hawaii in the summer of 1969. The Alumni Office is busily contacting tour agencies to arrange the best possible tour for Otterbein's alumni and friends. Preliminary drafts of a 15-day tour look both restful and exciting. Overseas air accommodations and all other first class provisions add up to a tour cost of about $850.00. Look for the detailed announcement coming later this year, or write to Dick Pflieger, Alumni Director, for details.

Club Directory

Listed below are the Otterbein alumni who are helping to make the local alumni clubs effective and interesting. Call the president in your area and give your support. As the TV commercial has it, "You'll be glad you did!"

IN THIS ISSUE

Our cover photograph shows Richard Bradfield, '17, and Norman H. Dohn, '43, in a rice field at the International Rice Research Institute in the Philippines. Read Norman's story on page 4 ("Not by Rice Alone") for an example of the way one Otterbein graduate is helping to make a better world—in this case, a better Asian world.

The long-dreamed-of day came on April 30th for a number of alumni when the Otterbein Alumni Hall of Fame was inaugurated. See page 7.

The TAN AND CARDINAL has won first place for the second consecutive year at the annual convention of the Ohio College Newspaper Association. On pages 12 and 13 we have reproduced a portion of our "T. and C. Scrapbook," and hope you feel enjoy reading some of the highlighted stories of the year.

Richard Bradfield helps Asian farmers improve production

Not by rice alone...

by Norman H. Dohn

Norman H. Dohn, '43, who is completing three years of work as information officer for U. S. AID in the Philippines, originally wrote this story for FREE WORLD, a half-million circulation publication of the U. S. Information Service which is printed in several languages and is distributed widely in Southeast Asia. He has revised the story for TOWERS to include Doctor Bradfield's nostalgic references to Otterbein. The photographs are by Josephus Daniels, as is our cover picture.

A one-time central Ohio farm boy who met most of his expenses at Otterbein by the sale of muskmelons he raised in Madison County, still grows melons and a wide variety of farm produce. But he now does his farming in the tropical soil of the Philippines — 10,000 miles away.

For four years, Dr. Richard Bradfield, '17 (Sc.D., '41) has been engaged in independent studies to support his theory that Asians need not — and should not — live by rice alone. Specifically, the studies of the 71-year-old internationally recognized soil scientist involve the feasibility of growing a wide range of carefully selected upland crops in rotation with rice as the principal rainy season crop, thereby increasing production of land already being farmed. His research also involves the substitution of machines for laborious hand methods, particularly in rice production.

He carries on his studies at the International Rice Research Institute (known by its initials, IRRI), situated in a pastoral setting 40 miles southeast of noisy, bustling Manila. Established in 1962 by the Ford and Rockefeller Foundations with the government of the Philippines, IRRI is the world center for the improvement of rice production. But Dr. Bradfield concentrates on growing crops in rotation with rice. Says he:

"The beautiful, luxuriant crops of field corn, sweet corn, grain sorghum, soybeans, mongo beans and sweet potatoes now growing in my experiments thrill me with their performance. Never in a lifetime of farming have I seen crops grow more rapidly.

"When I was a youngster," he recalls, "everyone had a backyard garden. My, how I remember my grandmother's garden. Grandmother lived off what she grew. Little cash changed hands in those days. People were self-sufficient.

"Those memories got me to thinking about people in the Philippines. Most Philippine farmers have incomes of about $100 a year. They can't afford to go to the supermarket and get their food from a can. If they're going to be well fed, they need small plots of land where they can raise their vegetables, a few chickens and a pig or two."

The Buckeye-trained scientist doesn't hope to transform every Philippine farm family's palm-thatched hut and tiny holdings into a veritable land of "milk and honey." "I'll be happy," he says, "if I can show the Asian farmer that without much effort he can greatly improve both his diet and income."

The sight of plump melons ripening in the tropical sun triggered the story of how he financed his education at Otterbein:

"Dad wanted me to go to college, but he wasn't able to help me financially. He gave me a little land, though — about two acres — and I decided to raise melons. The project worked out great. I marketed the melons in Columbus. I'd load the old spring wagon the night before, set the alarm for 2:00 a.m., and long before daylight I'd be headed for Columbus. I'd sell the melons, turn the old gray nag around, and head back to Lily Chapel. I netted about $400 an acre. In fact, the summer after my junior year I made $1400 — enough that I didn't have to take on part-time jobs during my senior year.

"One of my college jobs was helping Professor (A. P.) Rosselot landscape the lawn of a new home on East College Avenue. During my sophomore year, I took care of a woman's cow. And I used to walk north of town to the Frazier farm to cut and husk corn. I'd memorize my public speaking assignments walking to and from the farm.

"After my first visit to the campus, I had made up my mind Otterbein was the place for me. During my freshman year my roommate was Lloyd Mignery, a classmate. Our room cost us a dollar a week. We boarded ourselves for $3.50. I'd bring a few things from home, which helped to cut down on the food cost."

In his junior year, he became a charter member of Cook House, contributing its motto: "Facta no verba." "Gosh, we had a great bunch of fellows," he smiled. "I can't remember all their names but there were Harry Cook, Homer Cassel, Dutch Myers, Chuck Vernon, Gene Turner, Omar Frank, Lyle Michael. I always stop by to see 'Mike' whenever I'm in Westerville." He continued to reminisce:

"I'm so grateful to Elmer Porter ('07) for steering me to Otterbein. I have nothing but the highest praise for the training I received there. I had some of the best teachers that I've had anywhere. One of the greatest was Prof. F. E. Miller, head of the mathematics department. He made mathematics live. He gave meaning to it. To him mathematics wasn't just a mechanical process. It was beautiful and orderly and he got us kids to see it. He gave us a different concept of the universe and the world about us.

"There there was (George) Scott in history, Schear in biology, Weinland in chemistry — all great teachers. And I musn't omit Thomas Jefferson Sanders in philosophy. What a wonderful character he was. And what a fine man. Oh, yes, I'll never forget Dr. Sarah Sherrick and her courses in modern drama — Shaw and Ibsen. Boy, did she make you work — and were her standards high!"

On graduation, he was accepted for graduate study at OSU where he was told that "because of your excellent preparation in the basic sciences, you are much better qualified to do graduate work in soil science than most of our own graduates."

With a prodigious capacity for both mental and physical activity — still a distinguishing characteristic — Richard Bradfield pursued his graduate studies while supporting his widowed mother (his father died while he was at Otterbein) and four younger sisters by operating a 400-acre farm between West Jefferson and Plain City. After one successful crop season, however, his farm operation was hit by depression, and he gave up farming to accept an instructorship at the University of Missouri at a salary of $2400 a year. While at Missouri he was permitted by OSU to do research in absentia for the Ph. D., which he received in 1922.

He had moved his family to Westerville so his sisters could attend Otterbein. They are Mrs. C. Edward (Gertrude) Breithaupt, '23; Mrs. C. Merrill (Zura) Patrick, '24; Mrs. Sewell E. (Dorothy) Slick, x'27; and Mrs. Lloyd (Helen) Chapman, x'39.

Tragedy befell the young professor early in his teaching career. Ethel Hill, '17, whom he had married in 1923, died a year later in childbirth. Two years later he married Hannah Stillman, a member of the Missouri faculty who Dr. Bradfield admits is a "better chemist than I." They have five sons, two of whom hold Ph. D. degrees, and one daughter, a candidate for the Ph. D. Robert, x'50, who spent his freshman year at Otterbein, worked a number of years in Peru on nutrition problems and now heads the extension activities in nutrition of the University of California at Berkeley.

Dr. Bradfield's direct concern for the hungry and undernourished masses of the world dates to 1941 when he was invited by The Rockefeller Foundation to explore, with two other eminent scientists, E. C. Stakman and Paul C. Manglesdorf, ways in which hungry Mexicans could be fed. Their recommendations resulted in the development by The Rockefeller Foundation of a broad-gauged program in Mexico which now has been extended to many countries. The three colleagues, in a book published last year by Harvard University Press, Campaigns Against Hunger, describe and assess the Mexican plan and recommend it as a springboard to advances in agricultural science and aid programs.

Dr. Bradfield's first contact with Asia's rice belt was in 1955 when he took a year's leave from Cornell University, where he had gone in 1937, to perform another assignment for The Rockefeller Foundation — as its director of agriculture for the Far East — to explore the idea of an international rice research institute.

He made several swings through the vast territory. The idea of a research facility was well received, and leaders agreed the Philippines would be an excellent location.

"In my report," he recalls, "I emphasized that the opportunities for improving agriculture in this ancient, densely-populated area were far greater than I had ever dreamed. I expressed the opinion that the rice yields in all the countries I visited, with the exception of Japan and Taiwan, could be doubled and trebled and that, in addition, in some areas, it should be possible to develop systems of agriculture in which between rice crops, other food crops could be grown. This would again double or treble food production. It seemed to me that it would be possible to increase overall food production by at least a factor of four to six."

Although it was some time before he had a chance to prove personally his convictions, while serving as trustee of The Rockefeller Foundation (1957-61) during the presidency of Dean Rusk, he voted formally for the establishment of the International Rice Research Institute in the Philippines.

During the next year he visited all the Foundation's agricultural activities in Africa, Latin-America, Asia and Australia. Meanwhile, IRRI was well under way. Dr. Bradfield attended dedication of the facilities and gave a series of lectures.

"I was so favorably impressed," he recalls, "that I had an intense desire to tackle some of the problems that seemed to be a little outside the scope of its principal activities. Here was a facility with good laboratories, good machinery, a director who was an old friend, and there were even some of my former students on the staff."

For these reasons — and the fact the energetic scientist had no wish to retire — he asked to go to IRRI in 1964 "to see what I could do to grow crops in rotation with rice." And that's what he's been doing with remarkable success. While his IRRI colleagues prove his prediction of more than a decade ago that average yields of rice can be increased two to five times by improving the productivity and quality of the rice plant and by introducing scientific farm practices, he is demonstrating that it is possible to produce a great variety of other food crops to enrich the diet and raise the income of the Asian farmer.

He still bubbles with enthusiasm, looks several years younger than his age, and cannot find enough time to do all he wants to do. How much longer does he intend to continue in the Philippines?

Gazing over the beautiful, serene agricultural landscape from the window of his modest office at IRRI, with numerous rice paddies at various stages of development in the foreground and palm trees and mountains in the distance, he answers:

"It's hard for a man to see when he is no longer useful, so when I came here, I told the people at IRRI not to let me stay on longer than I should. I've made my point so far as multiple cropping is concerned, I still want to do some more experimenting with mechanization and cutting down on labor costs. I think I can reach this objective in one more year. Then I'll be ready to go."

Hanby, Clements, Barnard First Selections for Otterbein Alumni Hall of Fame

An impressive ceremony on April 30th marked the inaugural of the Alumni Hall of Fame of Otterbein College. President Lynn W. Turner presided.

Earl R. Hoover, '26, Judge of the Court of Common Pleas of Cuyahoga County, and chairman of the committee on alumni relations of the Otterbein Board of Trustees, made the first presentation, naming Benjamin R. Hanby, known as "the Stephen Foster of Ohio," as the first alumnus to be so honored.

In his presentation address, Judge Hoover called attention to the fact that in the writing of "Darling Nelly Gray" while still a sophomore on the Otterbein campus the young minister's son created something of national and international significance. "He was the first one of our own," he said, "who, during his student days, created something that became known in every American home . . . He is our first and only student who, during his student days, created something that appeared in so many publications and books . . . He is the first of our own, whether during or after student days, to achieve national and international fame so young.

" . . . He is the first and only one of our own to create something that reached such a measure of immortality that it endured for a century . . . He was a unique statesman—a statesman of song."

Donald J. Henry, '33, Director of Metallurgical Engineering, General Motors Research Laboratory, presented Dr. Frank Orville Clements, '96, for the Hall of Fame. Mr. Henry said, in part:

"As the Clements carillon marks the hours of the day on the campus, so does the memory of Dr. Frank Orville Clements aid many of us in our own search for a meaningful pattern of life.

Delineating the career of the former Technical Director of General Motors Corporation Research Laboratory, Mr. Henry said:

"In Detroit the Kettering-Clements team functioned very effectively to establish research as a needed ingredient for the continuing economic health of industrial firms. Dr. Clements' task from the beginning was to establish operational policies, administrative procedures and, most importantly, choose men of unusual capabilities to head the many research departments. It is high tribute to this man that now at the world renowned General Motors Technical Center the Laboratories follow today essentially the same basic philosophy of research and, indeed, have many of the same departmental identities as installed by Frank Clements almost fifty years ago."

He concluded: "On behalf of the alumni of this college, proudly I present the honored name of Frank Orville Clements, a distinguished son of Otterbein, an eminent researcher, educator, administrator, benefactor and constant friend of young people, as one of the first to be installed in the Alumni Hall of Fame of Otterbein College.

Dr. Curtis W. Tong, '56, chairman of the Department of Physical Education at Otterbein, presented the name of Ernest Sargent Barnard, '95, former President of the American League of baseball.

While at Otterbein, according to Dr. Tong, Mr. Barnard organized the college's first football team and coached it. A few years later he became attracted to the game of baseball and helped put a Columbus team in the old Western League, and when the Cleveland Indians needed a secretary he was called

Commencement Brings Honors and Elections

Horace W Troop, Elmer Funkhouser, Jr.

Four Are Honored

Elmer N. Funkhouser, Jr., 38, was singularly honored on Alumni Day when he was presented the Distinguished Alumnus Award for national eminence and for service to his alma mater. Judge Horace W. Troop, '23, made the award presentation.

Mrs. Lillian Spellman Frank, associate professor of visual arts at Otterbein; and the Reverend and Mrs. Donald N. Ciampa, of Hermine, Pennsylvania, were designated as Honorary Alumni in appreciation of their "meritorious service to Otterbein and her alumni."

Mrs. Frank was honored in absentia (she is currently on sabbatical in Japan) on the occasion of her 25th anniversary as a member of the faculty, and her faithful service to the college.

Rev. and Mrs. Ciampa, Bishop Howard

Rev. and Mrs. Ciampa were recognized for the family's contribution to the college and to the church. Four of the five Ciampi sons—Paul, Don, Frank and Ralph—are Otterbein alumni and all are United Methodist ministers. Their daughter Margery was a member of the graduating class on June 2, and their son, John, is a sophomore at Otterbein. Dr. J. Gordon Howard, '22, Bishop of the East Central Area of the United Methodist (former EUB) Church, presented the awards to the Ciampas.

Alumni Officers Elected

Mack A. Grimes, '41, assistant to the president of the Dean and Barry Company, was elected national president of the Otterbein Alumni Association during the recent election. Announcement was made at the Alumni Luncheon on June 1. He replaces Robert Barr, '50, who has served with distinction and enthusiasm.

The new president actually was elected to the post a year ago and has served on the Council as president-elect during the past year. Chosen as president-elect for the coming year was Mrs. J. H. Williams (Helen Knight, '43), assistant director of the Columbus Project Office, Episcopal Diocese of Southern Ohio.

Robert Corbin, '49, president of Foodcraft Management Corporation, Dayton, was elected vice president; and Mrs. William Skaates (Sarah Rose, '56), religious education teacher, is the new secretary. Members at large of the Council are George Simmons, '47, Akron attorney; and Robert Snavely, '27, Westerville, retired Columbus teacher.

Dr. Harold L. Boda, '25, assistant superintendent of Dayton Public Schools, and chairman of the Board of Trustees, was re-elected to a five-year term on the Board; and Edwin L. Roush, '47, owner of Roush Hardware, was elected as an alumni Trustee for the first time. He will also serve for five years.

Given Honorary Degrees

Five distinguished men received honorary degrees at the 112th annual commencement on Sunday, June 2.

Dr. Earl J. McGrath, recently appointed Director of the Higher Education Center at Temple University, was awarded the Doctor of Humanities. Dr. Shima Nakaji, pastor of Ogimachi Church, the largest Protestant congregation in Japan, and Moderator of the United Church of Christ in Japan, was the recipient of the Doctor of Divinity degree.

Roger K. Powell, x'22, distinguished tax attorney and Otterbein trustee, was given the Doctor of Laws degree. Sanford G. Price, retired businessman, churchman and humanitarian, received the Doctor of Humanities degree; and the Reverend Mr. Rex C. Smith, '40, Director of Christian Education of the Ohio Southeast Conference of the United Methodist (former EUB) Church, the Doctor of Divinity.

Largest Class in History Graduates

A record 343 seniors were graduated in the 112th annual commencement exercises on June 2 in Memorial Stadium.

Dr. Earl J. McGrath, Director of the Institute of Higher Education, Teachers College, Columbia University and newly appointed to a similar position at Temple University, delivered the address; and Dr. Paul M. Herrick, Bishop of the Central Area of the United Methodist (Evangelical United Brethren) Church, gave the baccalaureate sermon at 11.00 in Cowan Hall.

Six members of the senior class graduated with honors for attaining an accumulative point average of 3.7. They are Barbara Bulthaupt, Westerville; Rachel Cring, Sunbury; Kathryn Nissen, Berea; Michael Richardson, Jackson; Sharon Fuhly, Kettering; and Thomas Crane, Westerville.

Miss Cring also graduated "with distinction," a special citation for a senior who has satisfactorily completed an approved program of independent study and research, who has submitted a thesis, and has passed written and oral examinations in the field studied. In addition, she was graduated with departmental honors in French.

Others graduating with departmental honors include: Barbara Bulthaupt, Westerville, in Education; Richard Burrows, Kettering, in Biology; Ellen Cochran, Fredericktown, in French; W. Thomas Deever, Naperville, Ill., in Mathematics; Patricia Ellis, Brunswick, in French; Mary Feagin, Youngwood, Pa. in Biology; Linda Fritz, Attica, in Psychology and Sociology; Richard Gianfagna, Staten Island, N.Y., in Psychology; James Granger, Pittsburgh, Pa., in Speech; Lois Zimmerman Hicks, Stamford, Conn., in Mathematics and Education; Thomas James, Dayton, in Mathematics; Kathleen Keck, Barberton, in French; and James Lowery, Cleveland, in Psychology.

Also, Jane Martin, Havertown, Pa., in Health and Physical Education; Kathryn Oplinger Nissen, Berea, Psychology; Josephine Platz, Dayton, in German; Holly Puterbaugh, Centerville, in Mathematics; Michael Richardson, Jackson, in English and Education; Sharon Fuhly, Kettering, in Spanish, Speech and Education; Donna Skinner, Shelbyville, Ind., in Sociology; Lucinda Snyder, Melmore, in Mathematics; Donna Spitter, Pataskala, in Home Economics; Sandra Urteaga, Olmenares, Peru, in Psychology; Sandra Waters, Marion, in Mathematics and Education; Cheryl White, Philadelphia, Pa., in French; Virginia Wieland, Mount Gilead, in English; Cheryl Zeller, Westerville; William Zeller, Dayton, in Education; and Norma Worley Zimmerman, Fostoria, Home Economics and Education.

Mrs. Elder Exhibits

One of the features of Alumni Day and the preceding weeks was an outstanding exhibit of the paintings of Inez Staub Elder, displayed in the main lounge of the Campus Center. Mrs. Elder is an artist of note and has exhibited in a number of shows in her home state of Texas. The Otterbein exhibit was arranged in connection with the Fiftieth Reunion of the Class of 1918, of which she is a member.

Chemistry Professors Are Honored

The annual chemistry prizes which have been given for many years in memory of Louis A. Weinland, '05, chemistry professor at Otterbein from 1908 until his death in 1936, has been renamed to honor also two other long-time members of the department. They are Professors Emeritus A. J. Esselstyn, who taught from 1918 until 1961; and Dr. Lyle J. Michael, '19, who was a member of the faculty from 1937 until 1964. The awards will now be called the Weinland-Esselstyn-Michael Prizes. The three men thus honored have given a total of 84 years of service to the chemistry department of Otterbein.

College Trustees Have Briefing Sessions

As a result of the merger of the Methodist Church and the E.U.B. Church, the Otterbein Board of Trustees has reconstituted a special committee of 1966 to consider reorganization of the Board. At the Board's May 31 meeting the committee was charged with the responsibility of examining the new church connection and possibly restructuring the Board to conform to the merger.

The trustees also voted approval of an administrative reorganization which changes: Academic Dean to Vice President for Academic Affairs; Dean of Students to Vice President for Student Affairs; Business Manager to Vice President for Business Affairs; and Vice President in Charge of Development to Vice President for Development and Public Relations.

In other action, the trustees approved a new job classification and wage scale for non-academic employees and confirmed a loan agreement of $215,000 with the Urban Housing Development for a new eight-bed Health Center, which is scheduled for completion next fall.

The afternoon session of the meeting was an "in-service training" period in which three faculty-student committees presented a series of discussions. Team 1 discussed the subjects: "What is the Academic Future of Otterbein" and "What is the Role of the Teacher?"

Team 2 debated the topics: "What is the Financial Future of Otterbein?" and "What is the Role of Tuition, Gifts and Grants?" Team 3 participants examined the areas of "What is the Future of the Otterbein Student?" and "Who Will He Be and What Will He Do?"

The purpose of this semi-annual meeting is to provide the trustees with a deeper insight into the programs and operations of the college through personal dialog with representative students and faculty. The annual business meeting will be held October 25-26.

New Faculty Appointed

Eight new faculty members have been employed for the 1968-69 year, according to Dr. James V. Miller, Academic Dean. William T. Hamilton, who was an instructor at Otterbein from 1963 to 1965, returns as Assistant Professor of English. He is a Ph.D. candidate at the University of Minnesota.

Chung Young Lee, Th.D. graduate of Boston University School of Theology, has been appointed as Assistant Professor of Religion and Philosophy; Mrs. Virginia Mellott, Ph.D. candidate at The Ohio State University, as Assistant Professor of Education; and Michael Rothgery, Ph.D. candidate at the same university, as Instructor in History and Government.

Also Mrs. Mary Stahl, graduate student at The Ohio State University, as Instructor in English; John A. Taylor, Ph.D., Assistant Professor of Physics; Mrs. Betty Thalman, Ph.D., as Assistant Professor of Foreign Languages (Spanish); and Harmon Voskuil, as Visiting Professor of Economics and Business Administration.

Ray Eubanks, part-time Instructor in Music and Director of the Symphony of Winds, has been appointed Instructor in Brass and Director of the Cardinal Marching Band.

New Scholarship Announced

A new permanent scholarship fund has been established at Otterbein by the Westerville Otterbein Women's Club.

Women students who are graduates of Westerville High School are eligible for the scholarship, which is to be given on the basis of scholastic attainment, character, potential as an Otterbein student, and demonstrated need. The Scholarship Committee of the college will make the selections, and the club may make recommendations. The annual amount of the award at the present time is $400, and the grant is renewable.

Money for the establishment of the fund has been raised over the years through the activities of the Thrift Shop operated by the club.

Co-chairmen of the Thrift Shop Committee for the coming year are Mrs. F. O. Clements, '01, Mrs. Lawrence Frank, Mrs. George Henderson, and Mrs. Ralph Smith, '18.

Spotlight on Sports

A best-ever record in the history of the school (15-4) was the mark achieved by Bob Agler's Otterbein golf team this spring, while the baseball team coached by Dick Fishbaugh fashioned an 8-2 overall mark and were 4-1 in the Ohio Conference to finish runner-up to Wittenberg in the 14-team OC.

Victories by the baseball team and the tennis team over Capital on the last day of competition assured the return of the Cap-Otter Trophy to Otterbein's campus next fall for the first time in three years. Otterbein topped the Crusaders this year in basketball, baseball (twice), golf (twice) and tennis.

Jim McKee, a junior righthander from Groveport, was the top winner in the Ohio Conference (seven victories). Both McKee and the Cards' slugging third baseman, John Barratt, a sophomore from Painesville, were chosen for the All-Ohio Conference second team by the conference coaches.

The golfers and baseball team both made spring trips into the South this year with the linksmen participating in the Cape Coral Invitational Tournament in Florida, and the baseballers playing seven exhibition games in North Carolina and West Virginia.

Highlight of the tennis team's 3-5 year was the 5-4 victory over Cap to close the season. Freshman Craig Weaver pole vaulted 14'2" — only one inch off the school and one-half off the Memorial Stadium record — for the top individual mark with the track team which finished 3-8.

Department Receives Gifts

Among recent gifts to the college are two very valuable ones made to the chemistry department, according to Dr. Roy Turley, chairman. Dr. Donald R. Martin, '37, vice president, research and development, The Harshaw Chemical Company, has given Volumes 25-26 (for 1931-32 and Volumes 32-57 (for 1938-62) of CHEMICAL ABSTRACTS. Based on figures listed in a current catalog of scientific and technical research journals, these volumes have been valued at $892.00.

The B. F. Goodrich Research Center at Brecksville has sent the department a Spencer No. 482 Abbe refractometer which was the personal property of the late Dr. David Craig, a former Research Fellow in their laboratory. The equipment was made available through the generosity of Mrs. Craig, and is valued at $600.00. The college is most grateful for these gifts of needed equipment and materials.

there. Eventually he was to fill every executive position of the club, including the presidency, until he resigned in 1927 to become president of the American League.

"The death of Mr. Barnard in 1931 was a tragedy," said Dr. Tong.

"Barnard, the man, would pass any test. He was the soul of integrity, patient, always a ready listener and always fair. His humanness endeared him to all. He will go down in history as a nobleman of baseball.

"Mr. President, I would like to present Mr. Ernest Sargent Barnard, coach, writer, administrator, innovator, and humanitarian, for induction into the Otterbein Hall of Fame."

Pictures of the three great men were unveiled at the Hall of Fame Convocation, and will be hung later in a place of honor to be selected.

T&C REPEATS FIRST IN STATE

Pat Ellis displays awards received by The Tan and Cardinal at the Ohio College Newspaper Association convention during Easter weekend.

The Tan and Cardinal received top honors in its category at the seventeenth annual convention of the Ohio College Newspaper Association held in Cincinnati on Easter weekend.

The T&C took first place for the second consecutive year in its classification as the "Best Weekly Newspaper." In this category The T&C was competing with the Denisonian, the Wilmington Monitor, the Wooster Voice and the Muskingum Black and Magenta.

Judge J. W. Click, professor of journalism at Ohio University, announced that the "most important factor used in judging was whether the newspaper provided adequate, thorough news coverage of the campus." After this is achieved, "opinion columns can be introduced, but they shouldn't overshadow the news coverage..." In addition to content, the judge considered the "level of excellence in writing and editing, the quantity and quality of news photographs, and the visual impression conveyed by the makeup, typography and printing."

Contest entry regulations specified three series of three consecutive issues between Feb. 15, 1967, and Feb. 15, 1968.

Third place in the category "Best Front Page Makeup and Typography" was also awarded to The T&C.

Speech Team Places First In State

The Otterbein College Men's Speech Team won top honors for the third successive year in the State Championship Speech Contest last Friday and Saturday, March 15-16, at Akron University.

Otterbein speakers, scoring a team total of 16 points, out-talked Ohio University, who placed second and third with 12 and eight points.

Pacing the OC Speech Team were Randy Carlisle, a freshman from Wooster; and Mike Hartman, sophomore from Kettering.

Carlisle won the Extemporaneous Speaking Contest in which contestants were required to speak for seven minutes at a current news event after selecting the topic by lot.

Mike Hartman placed first, statewide, in the Prince of Peace oratory, with a speech titled "Shalom Means Peace." His speech traced the various meanings of the Hebrew word, "shalom," and applied these concepts to the achievement of peace in the world.

Second place in the State Manuscripts Reading was by Greg Sabatino, senior Dayton, with his reading from Mark Twain.

Bob Fortner, sophomore from Indianapolis, Ind., placed third in Original Oratory with a speech on the uses of revolution by independent nations.

Jim Granger, senior from Pittsburgh, added points to the total team effort by placing fifth in Oral Interpretation with a reading from Genesis.

The 1968 state speech contest marked the first time any college had finalists in all five of the separate divisions.

The State Championship Speech Contests are sponsored annually by the Ohio Speech Association and serve to designate State Champions, some of whom will participate in national competition. The Otterbein Women's Speech Team claimed its fourth championship in as many years in December.

CLINE, HODDER TO EDIT T & C

Randy Cline has been selected by the Publications Board to co-edit The T&C.

Randy Cline, a freshman from Centerville, and Beth Hodder, a sophomore from Euclid, have been selected by the Publications Board to head The Tan and Cardinal for the 1968-69 school year.

An English major, Beth is a member of the Women's Glee Club and Epsilon Kappa Tau sorority. Next year she will serve as a junior counselor.

Randy is at present a speech-theatre major. He is also a member of Eta Phi Mu fraternity. His previous experience in the realm of publications includes the sports, copy and assistant editorships of his high school yearbook.

According to Beth, the paper "should express student opinion. It should be one in which they can maintain interest, representing their views as well as those of the college — something they will be proud to have represent them."

For Randy, The T&C "should be a sounding board of student opinion and, in this respect, establish better relations between the student body and the paper — for a new look."

Each applicant for the editorship was required to submit a letter stating interest in journalism and previous experience. Individual interviews were then held to select the new co-editors.

Randy and Beth will assume their new duties next week.

Members of the Publications Board are Jared Miller, chairman, Beth Schlegel, Kim Shields, Jim Carter and Holly Paterbaugh.

Selects Officers

At its final meeting of the year on May 8, 1968, Phi Sigma Iota, national romance language honorary, elected the following officers: President: Kathy Cunningham; Vice-President: Mr. Roger Neff; Program Chairman: Beth Schlegel; Secretary-Treasurer: Susan Cotton; Corresponding Secretary: Mrs. Sylvia Vance. Faculty advisers for the 1968-69 academic year are: Mr. James Carr, Mr. Norman Dube, Dr. Elizabeth O'Bear, and Mrs. Lucia Villalon.

Twenty-Three Study Overseas

Twenty-three Otterbein students will be engaged in study abroad at seven different universities during the 1967-68 academic year.

Eleven students will leave the U.S. by ship in late September for Strasbourg, France: Penny Ackerman, Miamisburg; Kathy Cunningham, Walbridge; Barb Crippen, Youngsville, Pa.; Sue Dietz, Wadsworth; Cheryl Hall, Rittman; Gerald Kelley, Amherst; Harold Longley, Akron; Kay Needham, Dayton; Nancy Pringle, Moorestown, N.J.; Sue Schlenker, Findlay; and Ginny Zunic, Lorain.

Four Otterbein coeds will be participating in the University of San Francisco's Junior Year in Spain at the University of Valencia. They are Kathy Heinrich, Parkview; Sharon Ruhl, Kettering; Lois Shaulis, Ligonier, Pa.; and Kathy Smith, Elyria.

Three students will be enrolled at the University of Basel in Basel, Switzerland. Taking part in the program sponsored by the Regional Council of International Education will be Jan Dowdy, Lancaster; Judy Komuro, Honolulu, Hawaii; and Kathie Schrader, Annapolis, Md.

Dean Rugh, Creston, will be at the International Christian University in Tokyo, Japan. Also attending classes in Tokyo, at Sophia University, will be Kathy Moody and Patsy Schar.

Ellen Glor, Grand Island, N.Y., will be enrolled in classes in Munich, Germany, under the sponsorship of Wayne State University. Trudy Phillip, Euclid, will attend the program sponsored by Millersville State College in Freiburg, Germany.

Will Entertain in Carousel

Roger Larcom, Osterander, and Gwendy Miles, Akron will be seen as Carrie and Enoch Snow in the Otterbein College Theatre's May Weekend production of "Carousel". Curtain time is 8:15 p.m. today, Friday, and Saturday in Cowan Hall.

Women's Forensic Team Reaps High Honors

For the third consecutive year, Otterbein College swept scoring honors in the Ohio College Forensic Association State Speech Championships for Women at Ohio Wesleyan University in Delaware, Dec. 1-2.

The three Otterbein coeds scoring first place victories were Belinda Gore, Fairborn, "Peace Oration"; Bonnie O'Leary, Cleveland, "Extemporaneous Speaking"; and Gwendy Miles, Akron, "Manuscript Reading." Teri Hiatt of Whitehall placed third in "Oral Interpretation," and Mary Farnes of Westerville was sixth in "Original Oratory."

New Officers For Honorary

The pledges and actives of Otterbein's chapter of Alpha Lambda Delta, the national freshman women's honorary, held a dinner meeting Wednesday, April 24, at 5:00 in conference room 3. The meeting was also attended by a junior adviser, Dee Dee Krumm, and Dean Joanne VanSant, the faculty adviser.

The members voted on the change of requirements needed for admission to the honorary which was necessitated by the college's transition to the 3/3 plan. Alpha Lambda Delta's importance as a campus organization was then discussed. Suggestions were given for possible service projects done to benefit the college, and plans were made for future study of this problem.

At 6:00 the actives and members-to-be went to third floor Towers Hall where the activation ceremony was held in the Philomathean Room. Conducted by president Joy Thompson, the ceremony preceded with the pledges taking the oath as given by Trish Deck, vice president, and receiving their certificates of membership from Dean VanSant. The Shelia Murphy Book Award, given to the pledge with the highest point average, was presented to Marsha Klingbeil, who obtained a perfect 4.0 average first semester, by Maggie Tabor, last year's recipient.

All the girls were congratulated by Dean VanSant and urged to maintain the high standards of scholarship they had established. Those inducted were: Francine Adams, Toni Benner, Barb Bibbee, Wanda Boykin, Muriel Byers, Carol Carpenter, Nancy Fenstermaker, Ronda Fritz, Elizabeth Johnston, Marsha Klingbeil, Jane Parker, Jean Rahrigh, Lois Share, Rita Sellers and Barb Volpe.

Also included were Carol Carpenter, Nancy Fenstermaker, Elizabeth Johnston, Marsha Klingbeil, Jane Parker and Mary Jo Peirley. Others were Jean Rahrigh, Evelyn Rabadue, Rita Sellers, Lois Share and Barb Volpe. Not present was Ronda Fritz.

Senior Gives Recital

Lloyd Randall, Jr., Otterbein church music major, will perform a Senior Organ Recital at 3 p.m. Sunday, March 31, in Cowan Hall Auditorium, under the auspices of the Otterbein Department of Music.

During the 1965-66 academic year, Lloyd studied organ with Marc Sheaffer at the National Conservatory of Music in Strasbourg, France, where he won third prize in the June, 1966 organ competition.

Mr. Randall performed in a student recital for the Central Ohio Chapter of American Guild of Organists (AGO) on March 4, and he is planning future appearances on April 21 and May 14 at Otterbein.

Fifteen To Enter Honorary

Fifteen freshman women pledged Alpha Lambda Delta, the national women's scholastic honorary, on the evening of March 13. The ceremony took place in the Philomathean room and was attended by the active members and Dee Dee Krumm, senior adviser for the ceremony.

President Joy Thompson led the ceremony with the help of the other officers. Carol Mathias, treasurer, pinned the pledge pins of red, white and yellow ribbons on the newly pledged members.

Those pledged into the honorary were Francine Adams, Toni Benner, Barb Bibbee, Wanda Boykin, Muriel Byers, Carol Carpenter, Nancy Fenstermaker, Ronda Fritz, Elizabeth Johnston, Marsha Klingbeil, Jane Parker, Jean Rahrigh, Lois Share, Rita Sellers and Barb Volpe.

These girls become eligible to join Alpha Lambda Delta by attaining a first semester average of 3.5 or better.

Student Is Musical Composer

"Two Lone Leaves," a musical composition for string quartet, written by Tom James, a senior at Otterbein, has been awarded second prize in the Ohio Federation of Music Clubs Composition Contest For Young Composers, June 1-July 15.

The Dayton senior is a math and music theory major at Otterbein, and is active in the OC Theatre, having performed in such productions as "Brigadoon," "Annie Get Your Gun," "Look Homeward Angel," and "As You Like It."

Dramatists Hold Awards Banquet

The Cap and Dagger Dramatics Club and Theta Alpha Phi National Honorary Dramatics organization of Otterbein College held their annual Awards Banquet on Sunday, May 12, at the Otterbein College Campus Center.

Following dinner and entertainment highlighting the various theatrical productions of the 1967-68 season, Dr. Charles Dordill and Prof. Fred Thayer presented the annual department awards.

The Gressman-Shultz Award, made annually to the outstanding senior, was presented to Greg Sabatino for his outstanding acting in Merchant of Venice and The Crucible, and for directing Waiting for Godot as part of his Distinction Project. The George Bechtolt Memorial Award, made annually to the outstanding junior, was presented to Larry Evans for his contributions as an actor, property assistant, chancel drama work and other behind the scenes activities.

Awards for the best acting performances (above winners not eligible) were presented to Jim Graeger, Gwendy Miles, Rusty Bolla and Teri Hiatt.

Technical area awards were as follows: Service Award - Glenn Plum; Costume Award - Dawne Henkel; Lighting Award - Dave Schela; Scene Design Award - presented to William Ahl for his design and execution of setting for Waiting for Godot.

While reviewing activities for the past year, Dr. Dordill reported that both student and adult attendance percentages had increased, thus making the year 1967-68 the most successful in the Otterbein College theatre history. Over 11,500 people attended the productions and the gross ticket income was over $11,000.

Jack Vaughn of the Peace Corps will address Convocation.

Cea Hatem Reigns As Snowflake Empress

Cea Hatem, a 5'2" brown-eyed brunette from Columbus, reigns as the 1968 Winter Homecoming Queen of Otterbein College. This year's elegant empress of the snowflake season was named Saturday night during half-time ceremonies of the Hiram-Otterbein basketball game at Alumni Gym.

After she was singled out of the crowd attending the game, the petite coed was escorted to the gymnasium floor and crowned by last year's sovereign, Marlene Laansman of Dayton. Miss Hatem was elected by a vote of Varsity "O", a 95-member athletic lettermen's organization on campus.

Queen of the Military Ball, Mary Welty is presented a bouquet of roses by Major James Hamer.

Honorary Selects Eleven

Nine seniors and two faculty members of Otterbein College have been honored by initiation into Torch and Key, the college's top scholastic honorary society.

Those students elected to the 15-year-old honorary organization were Mrs. Barbara Bultshaus, of Westerville; Ellen Cochran, Fredericktown; Judy McNeelley, Whippany; Tim Moody, Dayton; Mike Richardson, Jackson; Emily Talbott, Fly; Jim Walter, Galion; Norma Wexley, Fostoria; and Sandy Waters, Marion.

Faculty members initiated into the Torch and Key were Mrs. Lillian Frank, Associate Prof. of Art; and Dr. Michael Herschler, Assistant Prof. of Biology.

For election to Otterbein's Torch and Key, seniors must have attained a cumulative point average of at least 3.5 in no less than 90 semester hours during their first three years of college. Faculty and alumni members are chosen for distinguished achievements in scholarship.

Torch and Key officers selected for the 1967-68 year are Tom Deewer, Naperville, Ill., senior, president; Dennis Hedges, Lockbourne, senior, vice president; Dr. Jeanne Willis, Prof. of Biology and Geology, secretary treasurer; and Dr. Robert Price, Prof. of English, faculty sponsor.

Steck Honored by Executive Sales Club

L. William Steck, '37, was awarded the Distinguished Sales Award by the Columbus Sales Executive Club of the Columbus Area Chamber of Commerce on April 18 at a recognition banquet. Along with 17 other Distinguished Salesmen from Texas to New York, he received the award for his sales leadership with Mark Securities, Inc., marketing stocks, bonds, and mutual funds. Mrs. Steck (Sally Kelsner, '37) received a silver tray with appropriate inscription.

Mr. Steck, who has served as mayor of Westerville for the past 14 years and is active in the United Methodist Church, also serves his college as secretary of the Development Board, member of the Board of Trustees and its Executive Committee, and chairman of the Otterbein Parents' Committee.

The Stecks have a son Fred, who will be a senior at Otterbein in the fall, a daughter Trina, who will enter as a freshman, and a daughter Gretchen in high school.

Doctor Stephens Volunteers Service in Vietnam

John E. Stephens, M. D., '42, spent two months in South Vietnam early this year, serving with the American Medical Association Volunteer Physicians for Vietnam. For his services, he is being honored on June 19 at the national convention of the AMA in San Francisco.

The Columbus doctor has previously been awarded plaques by the Mayor of Da Nang and by the Vietnam Ministry of Health, and has received the Humanitarian Service Award by the AMA and by its Ohio State chapter.

Dr. Stephens previously served at Da Nang from December, 1965 to February, 1966, and felt that he could help by returning this year. The program is administered by the AMA for the U. S. Agency for International Development, and is designed to use the volunteer services of U. S. physicians to assist in meeting the health needs of the Vietnamese. Under the impact of 25 years of war, health services have become inadequate, with 800 of the country's 1200 Vietnamese physicians in military service. Nearly 50,000 civilians are treated in hospitals annually for war-related injuries.

On his return in March, Dr. Stephens reported that the Viet Cong were much closer than they had been on his earlier visit. In fact, a few hours after his delayed departure for the U. S., the hospital in which he had been serving was over-run by them.

"The work was much the same,"

he said. "Wounds from high velocity weapons, rockets, shrapnel and burns from the Viet Cong's deadly napalm. We weren't going to leave," he said, "but were advised to because of a lack of food and water."

In addition to his private practice in Columbus, Dr. Stephens serves as team physician for the Columbus Jets baseball team and for the Columbus Checkers hockey team. He and Mrs. Stephens have three children, one of whom, John, is in the U. S. Air Force in Thailand.

Distinguished Teacher Honored on Retirement

Gladys Linnabary

Mrs. Dale Linnabary, '48, who started teaching school 48 years ago and has spent the past 18 years as an elementary principal in Worthington, is retiring. Still enthusiastic about helping children with their problems and watching them grow and develop, the former Gladys Beavers has chosen to quit while at the peak of her profession. An evidence of her eminence was the presentation this year of the distinguished service award of the Ohio Department of Elementary School Principals.

She was also honored at the high school commencement, when it was announced that the Worthington Education Association had established a $500 scholarship in her name. Mrs. Linnabary was especially pleased to learn that the scholarship has been awarded to Dwight Miller, who plans to attend Otterbein in the fall.

Mrs. Linnabary's teaching career began in a one-room school near Harrisburg, Ohio, and she came to Westerville in 1922. She later went to the Worthington system and became that city's first elementary school principal. She has been active in the Ohio Department of Elementary School Principals and has served two terms on its executive board. She holds a master's degree from Ohio State University.

"Children haven't changed much in a half century; the differences are in the adults," she said in a recent interview. She believes that the changing family life standards have brought new importance to the teaching profession. Children need guidance, and they need parental guidance, she believes.

TOWERS is proud to salute Gladys Linnabary, distinguished educator.

Named Controller at Steelcraft

William M. Lefferson, '47, has been promoted to the position of controller by the Steelcraft Manufacturing Company. In his new position, he will be responsible for the accounting, budgeting and credit activities of the company. He previously served in the capacity of credit manager and has been associated with the company for 19 years. Steelcraft is the nation's leading manufacturer of steel doors and frames for commercial use.

William Lefferson

Mr. Lefferson is a member of the National Association of Accountants and the National Association of Credit Men. He serves as president of the Groesbeck Methodist Men and as a member of the Church Board. He is committee chairman of Boy Scout Troop 828, Dan Beard Council, and a past president of the Cincinnati Otterbein Alumni Association.

Mrs. Lefferson, the former Carol Peden, '46, has been a kindergarten teacher for the past several years, is a member of the church choir and is a leader in women's work in the church. The Leffersons have a son, Chad, aged 13, and a daughter, Amy, 9 years old.

Philipp Charles Establishes Law Practice

Philipp Lambert Charles, '29, attorney and counsellor at law, and formerly District Director of Internal Revenue in Cincinnati, has announced the opening of his law office in the Central Trust Tower of that city.

Mr. Charles has spent more than 36 years serving seven different departments and agencies of the U.S. government. These positions included: Director of Personnel with the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission, 1942-46; Executive Secretary of the Philippine War Damage Commission, 1946-51; Assistant Regional Commissioner of Internal Revenue for Administration, Cincinnati, 1953-55; District Director of Internal Revenue for the State of West Virginia, 1955-59; District Director in Cincinnati for the Southern District of Ohio; 1960-65; and Chief of the U.S. Tax Advisory Mission to India under auspices of the U.S. Agency for International Development, 1965-67.

He attended Ohio State University Law School and received the LL.B. degree from George Washington University. He was admitted to practice before the bar in the District of Columbia and the Supreme Court of the United States.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles (the former Dorothea Flickinger, x'32) are the parents of three children, all Otterbein alumni. They are: Dr. Richard H. Charles, '57, a practicing physician in Cincinnati; Mrs. Joseph W. Eschbach (Mary Ann), '56; and Lt. David M. Charles, x'57, with the U.S. Navy.

Doctor Frevert at University of Kansas

Dr. Peter Frevert, '59, is now on the faculty of the University of Kansas at Lawrence, and he and his wife (Ann Reder, '58) are enthusiastic about their new situation.

The Freverts spent four years in Indiana (1959-63) while Peter was a graduate student at Purdue University and an instructor at DePauw. He received the Ph. D. from Purdue, and spent a year at Stanford University under a National Science Foundation post-doctoral fellowship. From 1964 to 1967 he was a member of the faculty of the University of Buffalo, and went to Kansas last June.

Three children complete the family. They are Elizabeth, 8; Laura, 7; and Benjamin, aged 4.

Named "Ad Man of Year" by Dayton Club

Dorothy Allsup Sanders, advertising executive at Rike's in Dayton, was named "Ad Man of the Year" on April 4th by the Dayton Advertising Club. She is the eighth Dayton winner of the coveted award for contributions to company, profession and community. The Silver Medal Awards are presented annually by Printers' Ink-Marketing Communications to draw public attention to the achievements of advertising men and women throughout the country.

At Rike's, Mrs. Sanders is director of special events and manager of radio and television advertising.

"When I wear my Special Events Manager's hat," she says, "I handle such things as our annual Foreign Bazaar, Christmas activities, Investment Schools, Bridal Week, Box Lunch Fashion Shows, Art Exhibits, etc. As Manager of Radio and Television Advertising, I supervise all broadcast advertising for Rike's."

One of Dorothy's commercials won "Best of Show" in the annual Dayton Advertising Club competition. A film on the store's new junior shops area, it won the Dayton award over hundreds of entries in 81 categories, and was in the finals of the American TV Commercials and was aired at the Philharmonic Hall at Lincoln Center on May 22.

Mrs. Sanders was named the Westerville Otterbein Women's Club "Woman of the Year" in 1957. She is a past president of the Dayton Soroptimist Club and the Dayton Otterbein Alumni Association. She has served several terms on the board of the Dayton Advertising Club and on the board of the Broadcasters Promotion Association, a national organization. She is at present on the Board of the Dayton Civic Ballet and is a member of the Dayton Sister City Committee.

flashes from the classes

Oh, How It Rained!

It was a beautiful Commencement Day—and Alumni Day was beautiful—early in the morning and late in the afternoon. During the middle of the day the sky fell—and members of reunion classes were having such a good time they scarcely knew, or cared. The reunion pictures in the following pages were taken in the Campus Center main lounge.

According to Mr. Harris V. Bear, '03, it was wonderful to be alive for so long!

He resigned from his teaching position in Havre de Grace, Maryland last June, after teaching there for three years. John and his wife (Judith Colwell, '64) reside in Bel Air, Maryland, with their three children.

We had a letter from Mrs. William Puckhaber (Stephanie J. Locke) which we are happy to share. She writes:

"We're stationed in Taiwan with Pan American Airlines as military contractor handling R & R (rest and recreation) flights for men in Vietnam. The TOWERS proves that it's a small world. In the Spring 1967 edition, I read that Dale Weston, a member of my graduating class, was transferred to Taiwan.

"Since then I've visited with him and his wife Kathy. It was quite a thrill to find someone from Otterbein in this part of the world. Thank you for keeping in touch with us. We look forward to each edition."

Our Otterbein "gals" seem to make the papers quite often. The NELSON DAILY NEWS of Nelson, British Columbia recently carried a story concerning Mrs. Herb Walker (Lois Gannett), a newcomer to Notre Dame University of Nelson, where she serves as play director, singer, and English teacher. A former Otterbein thespian and member of "The Boy Friend" cast which toured the Northeast Area Command U.S. Air Force bases in 1964, and a former high school speech and English teacher, Lois is inspiring interest in drama in the university and the community. She attended the Bowling Green State University graduate school for a year before going to Notre Dame, where her husband is also on the faculty.

Sharon Zundel is enrolled at Vanderbilt University in Nashville completing work on a master's degree, which she had started at the Oberlin Theological School before its merger with Vanderbilt. She is also serving as residence director at the YWCA.

'65

Ed Clark is an instructor in English at Purdue University Calumet Campus in Hammond, Indiana. It is the largest of the regional campuses of Purdue, with an enrollment of 3,000 full-time students. He and his wife Sandra and their two-year-old son Mike are enjoying the Chicago area.

Stephen Paul Ellis has an assistantship in the School of Chemistry of Auburn University at Auburn, Alabama.

Judy Leibbrook writes that she will be teaching in the primary grades in Seymour, Indiana next fall.

Ronald H. Marks has passed the Virginia Bar Examination and will be associated with a law firm in Norfolk, Virginia. He and his wife (Heidi Haberman, '65) and son, Jeffrey Laurence, are residing in Virginia Beach. Heidi has been teaching in the primary grades at Effinger Elementary School.

Sharon Milligan is an instructor in physical education at Findlay College, which has been expanded during recent years and now has a student body of 1200.

While her husband is on a Mediterranean cruise with the U.S. Navy, Mrs. Herbert Strickland (Jane Louise Porter) is teaching in Lorain, Ohio for her third year. After June, their home will be in Zebulon, North Carolina.

We are glad to announce that another of our "ex-students" has completed her college work. She is Mrs. Raymond Schwolow (Valerie Kneale, x'65), who received her degree from Douglass College at Rutgers University, with a major in sociology. She is currently the director of "Our Place," a youth center under OEO in Great Falls, Montana, principally for Indian young people.

'66

John M. Clayton, x'66, is a salesman with the A. L. Garber Company at Ashland, Ohio. He serves as a corporal with the Mansfield unit of the Air National Guard.

Wayne King is working as an interviewer in the personnel department of the F. and R. Lazarus Company in Columbus. He received an M. B. A. degree from the University of Dayton in December.

James Maurer has been named to "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities" at Ohio Northern University, where he is a second year law student. He was chairman of Law Day activities in which 30 law students gave programs at various schools.

During his two years at Ohio University, James B. Miskimen has been producer-director at WOUB-TV. Continuing the activities in which he worked at Otterbein, he has directed a foreign film series on the station, the nightly news program, and this year a teen-age dance program, "Teen Beat," which was recently entered in the George Peabody Radio-TV Award competition.

He will report to Whiteman Air Force Base on April 5 as an information officer trainee.

Dave Trout, a second year student at United Theological Seminary, sings lead tenor and plays guitar in "The Newcomers," a vocal and instrumental group which performs with sermons in song for youth fellowship and other church groups.

Donald Storer was cited for outstanding sales efforts in the marketing of Science Research Associates, Inc., and received one of nine product awards at a meeting of the Hundred Percent Club of the firm in San Francisco. The Storers live in Westerville.

Charlene Zundel is enjoying teaching a pre-school class in Pittsburgh. She spent last summer working at the Cleveland Day Nursery, attending the Kirkwood Baptist Camp and visiting Expo '67 with her parents and her sister Sharon, '64.

'67

Anastasia Clark Baird is now living in West Carrollton, and teaches first grade in the Centerville Schools.

Robert A. Klyne is employed at Phillips Petroleum, Akron, as a research chemist in the rubber division.

Scott Steele has accepted a position at Perry High School, teaching geometry and freshman mathematics.

Mrs. Stephen B. Stiles (Susan Gereson) is teaching in Rio Grande, Ohio.

Paul Warner was on campus in February interviewing students interested in data processing as a career. He is an employee of IBM.

A new addition to the TV 4 staff in Columbus is Henry K. Yaggi III. He is an account executive. He and his wife are living in Grandview.

Tom Wonderling has resigned as coach and teacher at Bishop Ready High School, Columbus, to become a graduate assistant in the Department of Health and Physical Education at Bowling Green State University. He will also be assistant baseball coach. He is presently working toward a M. Ed. degree at Xavier University.

Otterbein Alumni in Military Service

'41

When the massive doors of the world's largest cantilevered hangar slid open on March 2nd to allow the world's largest airplane to emerge, President Johnson was there, and so was an Otterbein man, Lt. Col. Clyde E. Good, x'41. An Air Force plant representative, Colonel Good has worked closely with the contractor to make sure that specifications were met. The mammoth Lockheed C5 Galaxy has a cargo volume four times that of America's next largest aircraft, the Lockheed C141, and it will be used to transport men and heavy equipment.

'57

Air Force Captain Richard L. Van Allen has been decorated with the Distinguished Flying Cross for heroism in Southeast Asia. While participating in an aerial rescue flight as crew commander on an HH-43B helicopter, the captain and his crew searched through the night for the crew of a downed C141 Starlifter. The mission was extremely hazardous because of flares in the fuel covering the water and ammunition floating in the debris. He is now assigned to Sheppard Air Force Base as an instructor helicopter pilot.

'58

Captain Thomas J. Miller has received the Air Force Commendation Medal for meritorious service as commander of the Air Force Recruiting Detachment in Denver, Colorado. He now serves as Chief of Airmen Personnel, Headquarters, Recruiting Service, at Randolph AFB, Texas.

'59

Army Chaplain (Captain) Bernard H. Lieving, Jr. has been assigned to the 1st Cavalry Division in Vietnam. He is chaplain of Headquarters Company of the Division's 2nd Brigade near An Khe.

'62

Captain John H. Bauer has been decorated for helping his unit earn the Air Force Outstanding Unit Award. A launch officer in the 381st Strategic Missile Wing at McConnell AFB, Kansas, he will wear the distinctive service ribbon as a permanent decoration.

Captain Richard W. Heck is a member of the 1964th Communications Group that has earned the Air Force Outstanding Unit Award for a third consecutive year in Vietnam. The unit is headquartered at Tan Son Nhut AFB, was praised for its "Yankee ingenuity" and outstanding proficiency in providing direct communications, navigational aids and air traffic control in the combat zone, and for its high degree of professionalism in spite of extreme difficulties.

Captain Thomas L. Jenkins is attending the Air University academic instructor course at Maxwell AFB, Alabama. He is an instructor for the Air Training Command at Lowry AFB, Colorado, and has served a tour of duty at Tan Son Nhut AB, Vietnam.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Quentin Kintigh and son Dennis will fly to Germany in July for a three-week visit with their son, Captain Thomas Kintigh and his wife (Judith Eckner, x'65) at Mainz, Germany.

'63

Captain Richard J. Gravatt, a transportation officer, has arrived for duty at Da Nang AB, Vietnam, where he is assigned to a unit of the Pacific Air Forces. He previously served at Osan AB, Korea.

'64

Larry H. Bowers was promoted to Lieutenant Junior Grade, USNR, at Ohio State University, where he received the M. D. degree in June. He entered the service in 1965.

Wayne T. Gill has been promoted to captain in the U. S. Air Force.

Captain Douglas L. Ishida has received the Air Force Commendation Medal for meritorious service as a personnel services officer at Kadena AB, Okinawa. He was cited for outstanding management techniques, professional skill and initiative. Recently promoted to his present rank, the captain is now at Tachikawa AB, Japan, with the Pacific Air Forces.

First Lieutenant Arnold W. Lamp, Jr. has received a regular commission in the Air Force at Altus AFB, Oklahoma, where he serves as a KC-135 pilot with the Strategic Air Command. He has previously served in Vietnam.

Captain Joseph C. Lippincott has received the Distinguished Flying Cross for extraordinary achievement as an F4C Phantom pilot in Southeast Asia. He now serves as an F-107 Delta Dart pilot in a unit of the Aerospace Defense Command at Dover AFB, Delaware.

Gary T. Marquart was promoted to the rank of captain in the U. S. Air Force in March. He is now serving as recorder for the Facilities Utilization Board, Headquarters Aerospace Defense Command at Colorado Springs, Colorado.

Captain Robert G. Post is on duty at Nha Trang AB, Vietnam as a pilot in the Pacific Air Forces. He was assigned formerly to Barksdale AFB, Louisiana.

'65

V. Wayne Moomjian has been promoted to first lieutenant at Pease AFB in Portsmouth, New Hampshire. He is now on a six-month temporary duty in Guam as navigator on a B-52. His wife (Lynne Westover, '66) and son will visit her parents in Akron until his return in September.

First Lieutenant William A. Ottewill, chief of the missile operations section in the 4751st Air Defense Squadron at Eglin AFB, Florida, has received a distinctive service ribbon with oak leaf cluster for helping his unit earn its second Outstanding Unit Award in less than four months. Previously the unit had been cited for achievement in converting the obsolete Bomarc A missile into a remote-controlled target craft, for testing of complex advanced weapons systems. The second honors were earned for exceptionally meritorious rating from January 1966 to June 1967.

First Lieutenant William E. Rush was deputy crew commander of Crew S-012 at the time of its recognition as the Strategic Air Command's top Titan II missile crew. Since that time he has been upgraded to a missile crew commander and now heads his own crew. He is stationed at Little Rock AFB, Arkansas.

Charles Zech has been promoted to the rank of captain at Bergstrom AFB. He expects to be discharged from the air force in September and will go into YMCA work.

First Lieutenant Jerry Cleaver has been assigned to Keno AFS, Oregon, following a year of duty at Cape Lisbourne, Alaska. His wife, the former Ellie Kassner, x'69, has spent the past year at Otterbein.

Lieutenant James H. Stott is being assigned to 317 TAC Airlift Wing at Lockbourne AFB as of July 1. He will be a navigator on a C-130 aircraft.

'66

Second Lieutenant Roger A. Hohn has been named for regular status in the Air Force on the basis of his duty performance, educational background and potential. He is now serving as an education and training officer at Eglin AFB, Florida.

James Miskimen will complete his course at Defense Information School at Fort Benjamin Harrison, Indiana, and has been assigned as Information Officer, 509th Bombardment Wing, Pease AFB, Portsmouth, New Hampshire. He is a second lieutenant.

'67

Second Lieutenant Howard G. Berg has been graduated at Keesler AFB from the training course for avionics officers and has been assigned to Clark Air Base, Philippines, for duty with the Pacific Air Forces.

Memorial Fund Started for Charles W. Botts

Charles W. Botts, '34, Associate Professor of Biology and Geology, died of a heart ailment on June 20. With the exception of the 1946-47 school year, when he taught at the University of Tennessee, he had been a member of the Otterbein faculty from 1940 to the present, serving as chairman of the department from 1955 to 1962.

He was a loyal alumnus. Inspired in his student days by the teaching of Dr. E. W. E. Schear, '07, he brought to his classroom the same love of the subject and devotion to the welfare of each student that characterized his predecessor.

Mr. Botts is survived by his wife, Ruth; a son, Ronald, '66, a student at Methodist Theological Seminary, Delaware, Ohio; brothers, William, '32, Frank, and Harry; and sisters, Elizabeth Hudock and Florence Baker.

Students in the Science Department have started a Charles W. Botts Memorial Scholarship Fund to perpetuate his memory. Income from the fund will be awarded to students preparing for careers in medicine. Former students and other friends may contribute by sending gifts to the Development Office.

Mr. Turney will direct the one-acts, July 2-6, and Mr. Eisenstein will direct "Antigone," July 16-20. The others will be under the direction of Doctor Dodrill, Director of Theatre at Otterbein.

Application

On March 28, 1949, an alumni couple used the "Preliminary Application for Admission to Otterbein" in an unusual way, to announce the birth of a daughter. The "application" was for admission for the fall of 1967, for Margaret Ann Houser, listing both parents as alumni: Lloyd O. and Thelma Houser, both of the class of '39. In answer to "What's the condition of your health?" the young lady was listed as "good—7#, 15 ozs."

Several years later Margaret Ann did make application for admission to her parents' alma mater, and was admitted. She has now completed her freshman year as an Otterbein girl.
