OTTERBEIN WINS OVER HIRAM

HOMEcoming A GLORIOUS DAY

Many Alumni and Ex-Students Return to Share In the Various Events of the Day.

BAND MAKES APPEARANCE

Homecoming Banquet Unites Alumni and Students In Making Second Advance for Gymnasium.

Beginning early last Saturday morning and continuing on the part of some until the wee hours of the following day, Otterbein's 1923 Homecoming was one of rare joy and enthusiasm. For the most part every event of the day was well planned and well received. The victory over Hiram served to add a new spirit to the life of the college—the spirit that means a fight in the Ohio Conference, the spirit that Otterbein has been seeking for the past few years, and the spirit that will bring liberal gifts from the alumni for the new gym.

Society Reception.

The Homecoming began at 9:30 Saturday morning when Otterbein's four literary societies united in a joint reception in the parlors of Cochran Hall. Although the numbers were few, the spirit of the program was not lowered in the least. Miss Elsie Mae Congor played a very beautiful flute solo after which Miss Vera Johnson favored the guests with a musical reading, rendered in her characteristic manner. The short program was concluded with a vocal solo by Mr. Harold Darling. Following the program the guests filed into the adjoining room where punch and wafers were served to all—Phreaneans and Matheans, Cleios and Letheans—all buried the hatchet during the few minutes of the reception.

Rally at 10:30

At 10:30 the College Chapel was filled with Homecomers and students while the committee in charge presented the most unique rally of the year. After some practice cheering, the cheer-leader called on Cueto and Morrey for a return exhibition of their skill in the art of tumbling. The old grads. were not disappointed in the act since the tumblers had most of them guessing all the time.

After the tumbling act, there was staged one of the cleverest stunts ever seen. The Freshman class developed

ALUMNUS DEVELOPS CHOIR

One of the 'World's Great Choirs' Touring States under Direction of Mr. Williamson.

John Finley Williamson, graduate of Otterbein in the Class of 1911, has developed one of the leading choral organizations in the country. The Cleveland Plain Dealer and the Canton News acclaim it one of the foremost choirs in America "with no superiors and few equals." Mr. Williamson organized his choir in the Westminster Presbyterian Church in Dayton in 1920 and in 1921 it made its first public appearance at Winona Lake. In April 1922 Mr. Martin H. Hanson, famous New York manager and impresario, took over the general management of the organization.

The first tour of the choir was made in November 1922, the opening concert being given in Pittsburgh. The itinerary included Cleveland, Detroit and cities as far north as Grand Rapids. In January and February 1924 the Westminster Choir will again make a tour, this time traveling to the West Coast. Concerts will be given in more than 60 cities in Missouri, Oklahoma, Texas and other states as far west as California where it will appear in Los Angeles. (Continued on page five.)

BAND RECENTLY ORGANIZES

Otterbein Musicians Unite in Forming Musical Organization To Back Tan and Cardinal Eleven.

Twenty-two Otterbein musicians, dressed in white trousers, blue coats and tan and cardinal head pieces, marched up the gridiron last Saturday afternoon for the first time this year.

The band was organized within a short time and did nobly in its first public appearance. Under the leadership of Cheer-leader Dean Upson the musicians added that fighting spirit to both players and students which has in past games been missing entirely.

That a band is an essential part of a school's organization should be recognized by everyone. Now that Otterbein has a group of musicians who have sufficient talent to play in a band, why not make it a permanent organization with regular nights for practice? Otterbein must have a band to follow the team on several of its trips, if she expects the team to have the real fight. If the band is willing to sacrifice certain periods for practice and for permanent organization, the school and the students should be willing to pay at least part of the expense of out-of-town trips as well as contributing to a fund for the purchase of appropriate uniforms.

TEAM BADLY HANDICAPPED

Large Number of Old Grads See Game—Greatly Pleased With Showing of Team.

Otterbein's Homecoming was celebrated with a decisive 13-0 victory over Hiram. Playing against a team with one of the biggest reputations in the state and before a large crowd of returned alumni, Otterbein completely outclassed her up-state opponents, the conquerors of Oberlin.

Otterbein was never seriously threatened although Hiram had the ball in scoring territory on two occasions. Otterbein's forward wall proved to be impenetrable and the Hiram forward passes were either knocked down or intercepted. Hiram made only four first downs in the whole game while Otterbein gathered nine.

Otterbein was not long in scoring her first touchdown. The locals gained possession of the ball on Hiram's twenty-two yard line. Two passes and an end run by Beelman placed the ball on Hiram's twenty yard line after Otterbein had been penalized 15 yards and Andy had lost five yards on an end run. Andy's pass to Porosky was good for 10 yards and 'Swede' crossed the goal line unmolested with only five minutes of time having been consumed. Andy failed in an attempt to drop kick.

The rest of the first half was a battle royal, with both teams using every means of placing the ball in scoring position. Andy tried a drop-kick from the 20 yard line late in the first half but the kick was blocked. Otterbein made five first downs while Hiram made three.

Hiram started strong at the start of the second half. Hadly returned Faust's kick-off from the five yard line to Otterbein's forty-five yard line. Hiram lost the ball on downs, however, and the visitors' grand opportunity of scoring had passed.

The play in the second half was nearly all in Hiram's territory. Otterbein had the ball on Hiram's three yard and five yard line, but lost the ball on both occasions.

OTTERBEIN CELEBRATES HEIDELBERG'S TIFFIN DAY FOR HER

We went, we saw, we conquered! To have Tiffin Day celebrated by the ringing of the Otterbein chapel bell and a chicken supper at the Shawhan Hotel with the Otterbein team the sole guests, must be a good deal like going to your own wedding and seeing your would-be bride marry the butler, or like rescuing a drowning man and pinning the Carnegie Medal on the corpse.

Regardless of how they liked it, it was a good game. The Tan and Cardinal went through their line like a German band through "The Wacht Am Rhine." They took to touch-downs like a drove of Erin's daughters to a college Freshman class. To have stopped the Otterbein attack would have been like fanning Casey Stengel in the world series. Beelman didn't seem to get to going right until he wired a message to a fair watcher over the Western Union line, but having gotten that out of his system, seems to have lifted a great burden from his soul.

When it came to deciding on the length of quarters Cap. Stoltz said he wouldn't care if they didn't have any daylight to play by at all. He explained that he had the lightest backfield in the state, and enough stars for a constellation beside, so why worry about so insignificant a matter as sunlight?

Previous to the game Heidelberg had a nice li'l parade with Otterbein riding in a long black box and further back in the parade was a limp Tan and Cardinal form resting on the back of a horse. The members of the team witnessing the parade could picture Henry Ford attending a Jewish synagogue far more easily than Heidelberg laying Otterbein cold as illustrated.

Twenty-one Otterbein gridders again stand ready to celebrate Tiffin Day in 1923, if invited.

HAS PART IN SERVICE

Rev. J. H. Mayne with Ex-Governor James M. Cox Bids Farewell to Noted Old Church.

To Rev. J. H. Mayne, local retired pastor and friend to Otterbein, came the privilege Sunday October 14 to pay his last visit to the church of which he was once pastor and of which Ex-Governor Cox was sexton. The church is located in Jacksonburg, Ohio, the boyhood home of Jimmy Cox.

Forty years ago Rev. Mr. Mayne labored faithfully to build there a live church. It was at that time that the ex-governor was serving in that church as sexton. While there Mr. Mayne baptized Jimmy, who became a member of the United Brethren Church. It was therefore a great privilege which Rev. Mr. Mayne had in receiving an invitation to partake in that service through a special messenger from Mr. Cox.

Destruction of the old building was to begin at once in order that a new building might there be erected. However, the plan was changed when the former governor agreed to maintain the 80-year-old landmark as a community library. The new church, it was decided, will be built on an adjoining lot.

an invention which promises to rival anything which Thomas Edison ever invented or Henry Ford ever produced. The matter under discussion was nothing more or less than one of the most up-to-date vehicles of the stage. The stage car has not yet been named, although it promises wonderful possibilities. The act received the hearty applause of the house, all of which means that the yearlings are to be commended for their clever stunt.

The third act on the program was a demonstration of the powers of hypnotism by the famous hypnotist "Piggy" Harris and his subject "Johnny" Hudock. Most of the boarding clubs accepted the unconscious warning of "Johnny" when he lifted five eggs for his breakfast. The fact that some people of low mentality cannot be hypnotized probably entered into the decision of most of us when the invitation was given to come to the platform. The stunt was very enlightening as well as entertaining.

Professor Fritz entered the program at this point for his annual rally reading. The first number, which he gave, would not satisfy the "ralliers" with the result that the professor was given a second trial to make good. He made good.

Characteristic of literary programs and the like, extemporaneous speaking was next in order. "Skinny" Weinland was called upon and in response presented the horseshoe which we hope entered into the victory of the afternoon. R. P. Sando, '13, and L. S. Hert, '21, concluded the rally program with a few remarks concerning the afternoon's game.

The Parade.

At 1:30 there was formed in front of the gymnasium on Grove street the Homecoming parade which most of the students did not see. Headed by the newly formed Otterbein band the line moved down College avenue to State, down State to Home, and down Home to the athletic field. Following the band was the senior float carrying out the thought "Bring the Bacon Home, Boys". Immediately behind the senior float rode "Tim" Newell as "The Spirit of '25". The Sophomore float which came next was perhaps the best carried out of the three. Riding on a large hay wagon (Continued on Page Seven)

Field Secretary Leads Y. M.

Speaking on the topic, "Be Thou Strong and of Good Courage," Rev. C. V. Roop, field secretary for the college, led last week's Y. M. C. A. meeting. The speaker emphasized the danger of the little mistakes made in life which later cause the moral breakdown. Speaking out of a number of years' experience as an evangelist Rev. Mr. Roop furnished many illustrations of his meaning.

The leader closed the meeting with some statements of what the Y. M.

C. A. in Otterbein had meant to him as a student here.

The Junior Class will be responsible for the Y. M. C. A. meeting this week. The program is in the hands of a Junior Committee of which Wilbur Wood is chairman and R. Ward and D. Upson associates.

Our Guests

This week-end Otterbein will again have the privilege of entertaining between thirty and forty student representatives of other Ohio colleges as well as officials of the Student Volunteer Movement. The treatment, the entertainment and the impressions which these, our guests, receive from us, the students of Otterbein, may mean more than we realize in the future good name of Otterbein.

When we visit another college and again return to our Alma Mater, we usually judge that school by the treatment that we received while there.
Its endowment, the beauty of the buildings and campus, and the size of its student body may all leave their impressions on us, but nothing will mould our opinion of that school as quickly and as firmly as the manner in which we were treated socially.

Therefore let us watch during the three days during which our guests are with us that we leave with them a very favorable impression of Otterbein. While they are in our rooms, in our halls and on our campus, can we not show a friendly interest in them? We trust the students of Otterbein to see that their Alma Mater's good name shall be lifted still higher in the estimation of twenty or more neighboring colleges.

October

A few more days and we shall have left behind this grand old month, the most beautiful of the twelve, the consummation of the life and freshness of spring and summer and the preparation by Nature for a period of rest. A few more days and October shall have past.

What man is there who can not take a new hold on life in October? To awaken in the morning and to inhale this crisp October air is life itself.
To walk the campus during these days is to admire the beauty of Nature.
What artist can paint a picture with all the coloring of the maples with their leaves of scarlet, yellow, red and yellowish green? What sound is more pleasing to the ear than the rustling of the fallen leaves? Beauty, ah, October, is truly a synonym of beauty.

But October is not only the month of varied colors and falling leaves.
October is the month of which James Whitcomb Riley wrote. This is the month of final preparation for the days when Nature lies asleep. To walk in the country now is to see long rows of corn gathered in the shock with its pile of yellow ears by its side.
A little farther one may see the smiling face of what may soon be a jacko'-lantern. The cellars are filled with apples, cabbages, potatoes and all that product of the months of life. October is the month of harvest.

Soon October will be gone, but now it is here. Let us use it, let us enjoy these days of peace and quiet, let us live. While we hear the call of the signals on the gridiron, let us not fail to hear the last notes of the song of the parting birds. As we feel the inspiration of human genius and the artificial, let us not lose the greater gift of Nature.

By blending his own ideas with those of these masters and basing the result on his wide experience Mr. Williamson has reached the place he holds today—that of director of one of the world's really great choirs.

FIGHTING SPIRIT WINS FOR LOCALS

The march for the last touchdown started early in the fourth quarter. Kelker of Hiram kicked to Staats on Hiram's forty yard line and "Chic" ran the ball back to the thirty-five yard line. Then a series of bucks with Ruffini carrying the ball, coupled with a pass, "Andy" to "Ruff", scored the last touchdown. Andy's pass to "Chic" was good for the point.

Hiram opened up with a number of passes, completing several of them. The longest run of the day came just before the whistle blew. Stoltz intercepted one of Hiram's passes on Otterbein's twenty-five yard line and ran 35 yards with a clean field ahead of him. Bates, Hiram's left tackle, overtook him and prevented him from scoring another touchdown.

Otterbein played a "scrappy" game throughout. The line deserves most of the credit for the victory, especially in the second half when, with several substitutes starting the second half, the line never relaxed and Hiram was able to make only two first downs and one of these was by means of a pass. Seibert played his best game since entering Otterbein while Faust, the other Steele product, was in every play. Captain Stoltz was a "star" in the back-field while Ruffini's line bucking in the last quarter could not be stopped.

Otterbein was seriously handicapped by injuries. Staats entered the game in the first half with a badly wrenched knee, taking the place of Beelman, who was taken out with a sprained ankle. Menke and McCarroll were withdrawn from the game with injured shoulders.

Train to Wittenberg

The special train to Wittenberg on the 10th of November is assured. The trip last year was not a success but Business Manager Pottenger has arranged so that any number of students can be accommodated and everybody will be assured of a good time with the privilege of seeing the "Tan and Cardinal" team administer a defeat on the Lutheran eleven.

With the approach of the half way mark in the Ohio Conference football season, the list of contenders for titular honors has been narrowed down to five. Saturday's games effected the elimination of one aspirant, Western Reserve having defeated Ohio Northern 14 to 0, but brought another team in the select group possessing perfect records, Mt. Union having won its first Conference game from Kenyon 20 to 0.

Wooster tops the conference with a 31 to 6 win over Case. Wesleyan marred the dedication of Wittenberg's new stadium Saturday by winning 14 to 0, while Denison after a great battle with Akron was a 7 to 0 victor. St. Xavier, the other undefeated eleven, contented itself with a non-conference team, defeating John Carroll Uni. of Cleveland 13 to 9.

The two surprises sprung in Saturday's game were Cincinnati's 13 to 6 victory over Ohio and our own Otterbein 13 to 0 victory over Hiram. Oberlin was favored by fortune in her 13 to 6 win over Miami.

Next Week's Schedule.

Cincinnati at Wooster.
Wesleyan at Colgate.
Denison at Miami.
Mt. Union at Akron.
Kenyon at Wittenberg.
Ohio at Western Reserve.
Otterbein at Case.
Muskingum at Heidelberg.
Ohio Northern at Baldwin-Wallace.

NOTES OF THE GAME

The day was ideal for football.

Hiram had a big and well balanced try. Nobody was near "Swede" in his team and lived up to the reputation they have made in the Ohio Conference.

Andy's pass to Porosky was a beau-run for the first touchdown.

Beelman was one of the stars of the game although he played only a part of the first quarter.

Seibert was a regular "ball hawk", recovering two fumbles as well as playing a good offensive game.

Andy's punting is improving in every game. Andy got one off for fifty four yards in the second quarter.

Captain Stoltz had a clear field ahead of him when he intercepted a Hiram pass in the last few minutes of play, but was overtaken by Bates, Hiram's star tackle, after a sprint of thirty-five yards.

Four officials are something of a novelty on Otterbein's field.

Coach Tillotson of Hiram slowed up the game in the last quarter with many substitutions in an effort to score a touchdown.

Air Stunts Give Thrills.

Edgar T. ("Red") Clifton, brother-in-law to Coach Ditmer added to the program between halves at the football game Saturday with a little air carnival and stunt flying. The aviator nose dived and barrel-rolled over the football field and headed right for the grandstand then glided just over the top. A note was dropped to Coach Ditmer from the plane and landed in a yard near Hiram's tent and was delivered to the Coach by Kenneth Detamore.

Lucille Wahl Leads Y. W. C. A.

"What kind of woman are you planning to be?" was a thought-provoking question which was put to the Y. W. C. A. members last Tuesday evening.

The leader, Miss Lucille Wahl, developed the topic, "As Ye Are Able." She brought out a number of good thoughts, some of which follow.

Our lives are the gifts of God. One of our best experiences is to find something new in ourselves, others, and in God. In order to make our lives count, we must live in close touch with God. He has given us our lives and we must use them for something worth while. This is what God expects of us. In our daily lives, character and motives are the factors which will count. The girls at Otterbein are more privileged than many others, therefore the demands upon them are greater. They should be willing to give their service at college and at home.

The leader asked for suggestions as to how this service might be rendered. "Don't grumble." "Tell the new girls you're glad they came to Y. W." "Smile." These were some of the responses.

The girls always appreciate the special music, which at this meeting took the form of a piano solo by Mary Whiteford. The evening's devotions were in charge of Ruth Lucas and Ruth Davis.

Homecomers Banquet

Meeting at the First United Brethren Church at 6:15, the returned alumni and students formed in line and marched to the banquet room in the basement for the Homecoming Banquet. After the appetites of the hungry two hundred and fifty had been satisfied, D. R. Clippinger, '25, chairman of the Program Committee, introduced H. W. Troop, '23, as toastmaster of the evening. With his usual wit Mr. Troop introduced Park Weinland, '11; Prof. A. P. Rosselot, '05; Harold Anderson, '24; Coach Dittmer, '10, and President W. G. Clippinger, each of whom spoke interestingly. That "we have arrived" at the place in athletics for which we have been dreaming for years, and that the new gymnasium will be ours, if we want it badly enough, were the emphatic thoughts expressed by the speakers. A beautiful piano solo was rendered by Miss Thelma Bonnell during the middle of the program. Following the remarks of the president, those attending the banquet arose and sang "The Love Song", after which the banquet closed with a rousing "Yea Otterbein".

Later in the evening most of the Social Groups entertained their alumni and friends in one way or another, which brought to a close this most wonderful homecoming.

Will someone kindly explain what evil spirit it is that turns on the rain and turns off the lights every Thursday night just as all the Philaethean and Cleiorhetean sisters are trying to get ready for society? When it happens three times in succession, we are forced to say that it makes us rather provoked.

Of course the football game was the really important thing, so we sent out a special reporter to get a first-class report of the game. And here's what she said,

"I had a beautiful time at the game—I saw such a lot of goodlooking clothes and I do love to watch those boys make little hills out of mud. I'll bet they have fun! There was one thing I didn't like tho—it wasn't a bit fair when the boys were all lined up and most of them trying to think, why one of them would keep jumping around and trying to scare them. It's no wonder they didn't get along very fast—who could think with somebody yelling '47-32-91-86-Hep! Hep! Hep!' all the time. Oh, I almost forgot to mention the boys along the side who ran up and down carrying some sticks fastened on a chain. They were terribly interesting. And I liked the boy that carried the bucket of water too. I took a lot of notes and I think I put down the score too, but I lost my notebook so I don't 'spose I can tell you much more. I'm so sorry. But I like football—I'm going again sometime."

THE DORM IMP

Thinks that Home-coming is very heart-throbbing and is always glad to see everyone back; but it has its dark side too, such as carrying all your own bed clothes and enough for fifteen alumnae about six blocks in order to have a slumber party and then carrying it all back to the dorm on Sunday morning.

Heard of two quarterless co-eds who ascended to the ten cent balcony of the Grand theater and they were the only ten centers there until they spied a man struggling upward and behold! It was our public speaking professor.

Knows of many sarcastic things to say about this picture-taking business especially among the Seniors, such as girls going to the city carrying their hats, taking all sorts of varieties of hair curling apparatus with them and many other things too frightful to mention, also fellows carrying their stiff collars with them to be put on before and removed afterwards, but will refrain from saying anything definite at this time for fear of hurting someone's feeling.
