OTTERBEIN COLLEGE

WESTERVILLE, OHIO

LEADERS ARE BORN

THEN MADE

In our complex world, the "born leader" isn't enough.

He needs training so he will possess the knowledge, technical skill, and the culture and vision that distinguish the leader from the rank-and-file.

These assets are, for the most part, the product of higher education. In fact America must count on college-trained leaders to hold our position in many areas . . . in science and invention, in business, trade, and jobs, in our living standard and moral influence.

But there are danger signs. Higher education is in trouble—some colleges face shortages. The big test is just ahead when applicants at colleges will double. To maintain our world lead, we must maintain our colleges—with enough classrooms, laboratory facilities and competent teachers.

College is America's best friend. Support the college of your choice.

If you want a clearer picture of how the college situation affects all of us, write for a free booklet to: HIGHER EDUCATION, Box 36, Times Square Station, New York 36, N.Y.

The year 1963 saw the largest faculty in the history of Otterbein College, providing quality education for the largest student body in the history of Otterbein; the successful completion of the one-million dollar capital gifts campaign, "Focus on Achievement"; the completion and naming of a new women's dormitory on the Otterbein campus—Mayne Hall; another successful Otterbein football season with the beginning of a successful basketball season; and the addition of many new contributors from the church, parents of students and businessmen.

Further progress in 1964 is dependent upon the continued loyal support of Otterbein's constituents.

One-Million-Dollar Focus on Achievement Goal Over-Subscribed

As TOWERS goes to press, the Development Office announces that Otterbein's million-dollar "Focus on Achievement" goal has been oversubscribed.

The Development Office declined to give a total until all year-end gifts have been received. It did say that the goal was reached without counting the amount from the Horace L. Mayne, '13, gift described on the following page, and without counting the bequest received in 1963 from the estate of Mrs. Hezekiah Pyle, x'93, in the amount of $110,808.69.

A complete financial report will be issued in the near future giving all totals of the campaign and the names of all donors.

Development Board Resolution

Whereas, more than 3000 alumni and other friends participated in the "Focus on Achievement" campaign, either as donors or workers, or both, be it resolved that we officially express our gratitude and thanks for their support of Otterbein, and request the editor of TOWERS and any other publication circulating among our friends to print copies of this resolution at the earliest possible date following December 31.

Estate Planning Conference

The Development Board in session on November 1, 1963, approved a recommendation that an Estate Planning Conference be held on, or near, Founders' Day to which would be invited all Otterbein alumni and/or members of the E.U.B. church who are attorneys, and trust officers. It will be similar to the conference held in 1959.

Tentative plans are for the conference to be held on Saturday, April 25, and all persons in the above mentioned professions should mark their calendars accordingly.

REMEMBERED FROM ROBERT FROST

by ROBERT PRICE

Be wary of the simplifying snow
And cautious of the reassuring night.

They seem, he said, to smooth the path you go

To veil the harsh realities of light.
He did not mean to hint that easy words

Give easy answers—that brooks and pasture springs

Or provident woodchucks and mid-
April birds

Bespeak a comfortable peace in common things.

But eyes for orchids at a meadow's rim

Can readier pause at riddles of design

In a moth's chill tryst with white on white, or the stark

Loneliness of an old man's winter dark;

And minds that quiet to a thrush's hymn

May stronger bear death's quick demanding whine.

New Dormitory Named Mayne Hall

Otterbein's new four-story women's dormitory is named Mayne Hall in memory of Mrs. Hannah Lambert Mayne, x'90. Her son, Horace L. Mayne, '13, of Columbus, Ohio, has agreed to give the college $200,000 to name the new dormitory in memory of his mother. The dormitory will be occupied by senior women at the beginning of the second semester.

Fall Homecoming Featured Former Queens

by SUSAN LINDLEY, '65
Tan and Cardinal Reporter

The 1963 Homecoming was undoubtedly the greatest one that I have ever envisaged. It was a perfect day as the parade with its theme, "World of Comics," began the festivities.

By 10:30 a.m., the beginning of the parade, the streets were lined with students and alumni to witness, in my opinion, the greatest parade ever. Many fraternities and sororities had unique floats, in addition to two guest high school bands from Mifflin and Linden McKinley.

The added attraction was the queens of the past. They indeed graced the parade and the Homecoming.

At the conclusion of the parade, students, friends, and alumni attended open houses to renew old acquaintances.

After the luncheons, everyone headed for the game with Marietta. Everyone was well dressed and many girls wore colorful mums. Even though the game was a disappointment, the Homecoming spirit could not be dampened.

Queen Jill and her court were truly beautiful and representative of the Otterbein traditional event. Fall Homecoming 1963 was for me, the best yet.

Football Season

Under the direction of Head Coach Robert Agler, '47, the Otterbein College Football Team completed another winning season with five wins, three losses and one tie. This marks the fifth straight year of winning football at Otterbein.

During his nine years as head coach at Otterbein, Agler's teams have won 47 games, lost 28, and tied 4. The past five years his squads have won 33 of 45 games played.

Honorary tri-captains of the 1963 Football team were David Kull, senior quarterback from Worthington, Ohio; Gary Reynolds, senior halfback from London, Ohio; and Dick Scheu, senior tackle from Miamisburg, Ohio.

Mike Green, Groveport, Ohio, was named most improved player by his teammates and Robert Lehman, Columbus, Ohio, most valuable freshman. Gary Reynolds was selected by his teammates as the most valuable player on the squad.

Living For The Fun Of It

By DR. WILLARD W. BARTLETT, Emeritus Professor of Education

"Be good and you will be happy," so they say. I wonder? But let us put it the other way around, "Be happy and you will be good." We all know stimulating personalities, who are so happy that they constantly radiate happiness and joy, who draw out all that is finest and best in everyone with whom they come in contact. How we are drawn to people who have life! To people who enjoy every minute of it! In South Pacific Mary Martin is so full of sparkle, of spirit, of the joy of living, that everyone is drawn to her. A man who for the first time heard a talk by that brilliantly happy personality, Dr. Robert E. Speer, remarked, "If I could live with Robert E. Speer I could always be good."

Be happy and you will be good. I mean truly happy, not merely having so much money and so little work, that one can spend much of his time with swanky cars, adult toys, radio and television. These things easily become escape mechanisms, pursuits to help us forget our unhappiness. Attempting to secure the satisfaction which comes from playing the game of life, by watching others play it, easily becomes an escape mechanism.

Be happy and we shall not only be good ourselves, but we shall stimulate many with whom we come in contact to be good. One of the greatest services which a person can render to those around him, is simply to be a stimulating personality. Dr. Ernest M. Ligon, in his book The Psychology of the Christian Personality, speaks of "adding flavor to life."

We all wish to be helpful to our fellow human beings. But this has its dangers. Many people do not like to be helped. Others are easily weakened by being helped. The ideal is to inspire people to help themselves. Many of us feel that our government has gone too far in trying to help its citizens, that it should have been giving more attention to stimulating its citizens to self help, and to developing a stable economy in which more of us could take care of ourselves. At best, helping others is temporary, encouraging others to help themselves tends to be permanent. The radiant personality of Christ stimulated men to do for themselves and for others. And today, here and there all over the world, are men and women who have so caught his Spirit, that they too have become radiant personalities, captivating and transforming those with whom they come in contact.

To become a great athlete a man must be happy, he must enjoy the contest. In running there is what is called 'the long distance runners pace.' One does not sprint, one does not force himself. Rather he is right off with the gun, he slips along easily, steadily, speedily, never letting up for a moment. His mind is on the thrill of his achievement.

The supreme success of an athlete, however, is when he is able to carry this spirit over into life, to bring this spirit to bear on the mighty problems of this great and suffering world. In life itself there is a 'long distance runners pace.' One does not sprint, one does not force one's self, rather he slips along easily, steadily, speedily, never letting up. His mind is on the mighty thrill of his achievement. And every psychologist knows that when a man thus runs the race of life, he will go farther than when he is merely keyed up over the necessity of getting to the top.

I am suggesting that we live for the fun of it, that we intelligently plan and strive for the greatest happiness and joy that there is in life. The first step is to throw our every resource-material, physical, mental, spiritual-into one life long effort to radiate cheer and confidence, good will and lofty idealism, wherever we go. This leads directly to the second step which is to keep ourselves enthusiastically happy. The two together mean a normal life, becoming more and more happy, more and more thrilling, right on down through the years.

Recently, I met at a dinner party, a most peppy young fellow. He was ninety-one. He and his wife had a comfortable home and a little pension. Fifteen years before they had had an opportunity to go into a fine retirement community, with everything provided as long as they lived. But they had preferred to continue on in the thick of this struggle which is human life. They are giving their time to foreign students in two colleges in their city. They entertain these students in their home, they father and mother them in their troubles, they arrange week end and vacation bus trips for them. At Christmas and at Easter times they personally conduct extended bus trips. They enlist the help of Y.M.C.A. and

Y. W. C. A. organizations, service clubs, churches which provide meals and entertainment and which play the part of hosts at various points on the trips. These two charming people fairly glow with the joy of life, an elderly couple who, early in life, learned the secret of living for the fun of it, and who, at an advanced age, are still in the thick of the fight for a better world, still bubbling with enthusiasm, radiating confidence and good will wherever they go.

I do not know who penned the following lines, but I suspect that it was some such peppy fellow as this new friend of mine:

Yet bring I in my work
an eager joy,

A lusty love of life,
and all things human.

Still in me leaps the wonder of the boy,

A pride in man,
a deathless faith in woman,

Still red blood calls,
still rings the valiant fray;

Adventure beckons
through the summer gloaming;

Ah, long and long will be the day
ere I come homing.

Editor's Note: Dr. Bartlett, author of the above feature article was Professor of Education at Otterbein from 1936-1946. He and his wife, Marguerite, live at 747 Plymouth Road, Claremont, California. He is presently serving as acting minister of the Knox United Presbyterian Church, Pasadena, California. This is Dr. Bartlett's twenty-first interim pastorate since living in California.

Dr. Bartlett will be remembered as the author of "Education For Humanity," a history of Otterbein College through 1933. He received his PH. D. degree from Ohio State University and is a former president of Rio Grande College.

Historical Gift

Judge Earl R. Hoover of Cleveland has recently contributed to the Otterbein College historical collection a hymnal from Glasgow Cathedral, Scotland, containing a reprint of Benjamin Hanby's famous Christmas hymn, "Who Is He in Yonder Stall?"

Judge Hoover, whose efforts in furthering the fame of Ben Hanby are well known, has contributed many valuable items to the archives of both the Hanby House and the College Library. The hymnal was presented to him this past summer when he and Mrs. Hoover were visiting in Glasgow. It bears the inscription: "Gift from Glasgow Cathedral to Judge Earl R. Hoover, July 6th, 1963. Warden T. Smith."

The Hanby hymn, though rarely heard in Westerville and practically unknown to Otterbein students of the present generation, is one of the best known Christmas songs through other parts of the world, especially where British church influence has been felt. Judge Hoover has made a special point, wherever he has gone in his many travels, to check hymnals for Hanby songs, especially, "Who Is He in Yonder Stall?" On his recent trip he found it in use in Kirkoswald Parish Church in the Burns country, where the Eisenhowers worship when in Scotland, and in St. George's Anglican Church, Jerusalem. The choir of St. George's Church is composed of girls from the local blind school, one of whom sang the Hanby hymn for Judge Hoover. "As I sat in this Jerusalem Church reading Hanby's hymn," Mr. Hoover writes, "it occurred to me that there are few hymns which so succinctly and simply tell what happened in the same Jerusalem and environs 2,000 years ago."

French Students Study At Strasbourg

by Sondra Spangler

When you wish upon a star, as a sophomore language major, you may discover that your star becomes an etoile hovering over Strasbourg, France, in your junior year. Such has been the case for five Otterbein students in 1962-63 and for nine girls this year. I was one of the first group whose dream became a reality in Strasbourg. The others from last year's group were: Sharlot Fuller (nee, Bly), Stephanie Locke, Judith Luxford and Donna Wolfe.

A year abroad is an adventure from the very beginning. Plans and preparations started long before pass-ports, shipping contracts, and applications were filled out. The very up-to-date Otterbein modern-language department had prepared us well. Film-text audio-visual training had put very useful phrases into our mouths, and follow-up courses had fixed these sentences into our minds. Two of us had spent a summer in Quebec at L'Universite de Laval for cours d'etc. (summer school). We arrived on French soil that October of 1962, with differing background levels of French, but all with similar inner goals and hopes for our year to come. We knew that if our experiences were positive ones, we would be beginning a "Junior Year Abroad" program for Otterbein. The dreams of many future students depended greatly upon the success of our year's work.

After a thrilling but brief visit to Paris, we traveled on to Strasbourg to our dormitory homes. There, we met our interesting French roommates and began the most difficult period of getting acquainted and adjusted to our new environment.

The Universite's organized Orientation Program not only introduced us to the Palais Universitaire, where our courses were to be held, but also to the city itself. Strasbourg, seat of the Conseil de l'Europe (important debating society of European Politics and home-base for the idea of the Common Market), important industrial and economic city on the Rhine River, and capital of the ancient province of Alsace- offered many learning experiences to us. We enjoyed the local-color aspects of Strasbourg, too - the pretty canals winding past Alsatian architecture in the quaint older sections of the city. After our Orientation ended, our days became more routine.

Our academic experiences began in mid-October. We enrolled in the Institut D'Etudes Francaises, which is a part of the Faculte des Lettres et Sciences Humaines. Our class-mates were truly from all over the world, and our means of communication was always our second language: French. We followed an entirely different study program from that to which we were accustomed in the United States. This program was a lecture and-independent-study routine. Our classes were numerous and varying in subject matter. Contrary to popular opinion, we were NOT merely taking "French courses." We were, instead, STUDYING: history, history of art, political science, economics, sociology, literature, and philosophy. Indeed a difficult schedule! And, it was all with notes to be taken in our adopted language.

We spent hours correcting and re-writing our notes-using reference books, French dictionaries, and grammar books. Dr. A. P. Rosselot, our director, gave us invaluable advice as to study procedures and introduced us to the intricacies of the Bibliothèque Nationale. (second largest library in France).

We welcomed our grammar, phonetics, and diction courses-for these were our only student participation classes, and were especially designed with our June Oral Examination in mind.

This leads me to describe an ordeal which European students undergo far more easily than do we Americans: L'Examen. They have developed in their previous studies, the ability to retain detailed material for long periods of time. The only written test of the year in a French university is the final examination in mid-June. One needs an encyclopedic mind and a keen memory to retain comprehensive material throughout the entire year.

The examination is divided into two sections: the written and the oral. One must pass the written in order to qualify for the oral. Our examiners in the written part were not simply concerned with our ability to write and to think in French, but were grading the accurateness of our responses, subject-wise. Grammar errors were "automatic outs" at this point in the game! The three of us, Judy, Donna, and I, who "sat the written" exams and who also passed the orals, will assure you that l'examen was the most difficult trial of our lives, but the satisfaction of passing made the extreme effort worthwhile.

We are all very enthusiastic about this study program and would be glad to answer any questions anyone might have concerning our work in Strasbourg. There is now a special committee at Otterbein whose purpose is to select and advise future overseas aspirants.

As spokesman for the first five, I wish to express gratitude to those who made our Strasbourg study administratively possible. To Dr. A. P. Rosselot, our director, advisor, and especially-adopted "Papa"-and to his daughter, Dr. LaVelle Rosselot, we say a sincere "MERCI BEAUCOUP!"

And, to those of you who dare, we say, "Dreams really DO come true."

APPLICATIONS FOR ADMISSION

Applications for admission to Otterbein College beginning September, 1964, are running more than double any previous year. Alumni and friends of Otterbein are urged to see that their sons and daughters make application by February 15th at the latest. All students applying for admission must take the College Entrance Examination Board Test (SAT) before final consideration can be given, but high grades on these tests alone will not assure acceptance. Performance, high school program, recommendations, and personal information are also weighed carefully.

The research is being sponsored by a $40,187 three-year grant from the National Institutes of Health.

The research is an essential link in the control and synthesis of specific proteins by specific genes. Dr. Lingrel hopes to learn about messenger RNA's chemical and physical characteristics; how genetic information is transferred to RNA from DNA (deoxyribonucleic acid) — the "store house" in chromosomes; how RNA carries this coded material and how it functions in cellular control.

Mrs. Alice Keister Weinland, '04, wrote the following about her class as they approach their 60th anniversary class reunion:

"As one wanders over the beautiful Otterbein campus, we of the class of 1904, are very proud of Cowan Hall, the $400,000 gift of Dr. Clyde E. Cowan, '04, the largest single gift to the college. Also, the Weitkamp Planetarium and reflecting telescope observatory given by Dr. Alfred H. Weitkamp, '04.

At our 50th anniversary class reunion, the Class of 1904 gave the college $1,000, the interest to be used as an annual prize in the History and Government Department. The class was small in numbers, only 22 graduating and had three members in Who's Who In America — C. M. Bookman, Chester Wise, and A. E. Fleck, all of whom received honorary degrees. The class claims one of the oldest graduates, if not the oldest, in the person of Mrs. Sarah Clements, the mother of Dr. Frank Clements. She graduated in art in 1904. The class was the last to give individual orations on commencement day instead of having a speaker. The class decorated the gym for the first Y.W.C.A. May morning breakfast in 1903.

The class yell was:
"Clickety, clackety - sis boom roar

We are the class of 1904.
Rain, snow, mud or dust.
1904 succeed or bust."

SOLICITS TESTIMONIALS

Emeritus Professor James H. McCloy writes concerning the approaching retirement of Dr. Floyd J. Vance next June:

"When I retired, my good friend Floyd J. Vance compiled a list of my former students, sent each a letter asking that they send a letter of greeting which he would file in a loose-leaf binding and present to me. The response was wonderful and I have about 150 letters in a loose-leaf binder.

"Many of you have had occasion to consult Dr. Vance concerning scheduling and sometimes more intimate personal matters. Won't you write a brief testimonial to Dr. Vance, expressing whatever you feel on a sheet 8½ by 11 inches and a 1½ inch margin at the left. Send it to the undersigned and I'll do the rest."
