BECOMES HEAD OF DEPARTMENT

Arthur Ray Spessard Selected to Succeed Professor Bendinger as Director of Voice.

VIOLIN INSTRUCTOR CHOSEN

Mr. Earl Hopkins of Columbus Will Assume Vacancy Left By Professor Spessard.

Announcement was made at the last regular chapel service before the Christmas recess that Professor Arthur Ray Spessard, present instructor in voice here has been appointed to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Professor John A. Bendinger as Director of the Vocal Department of the Otterbein School of Music.

Mr. Spessard is a graduate of the department of music of Lebanon Valley College at Annville, Pa. In addition to his under-graduate work there he had the privilege of studying voice for a year with George Russell Strauss in Philadelphia. Later he spent one year with George M. Greene in New York City and a summer with C. Sparks in London, England. With such complete preparation he accepted a position as director of music and teacher of voice in the Moody School at Mt. Hermon, Mass. Then after a period of two years spent in teaching voice and stringed instruments in Southern institutions, the professor was offered a position in the same line of work in our own school. This is Mr. Spessard's fifth year at Otterbein and during that time, in addition to his regular work, he has given considerable attention to the directing of choral societies and various other musical organizations about the school.

The newly elected instructor to fill Mr. Spessard's place is Mr. Earl W. Hopkins of Columbus, O. Mr. Hop-

Supt. Francis Has New Honor.

Supt. John H. Francis has received notice of his appointment on a committee on publicity, by the department of superintendence of the National Educational association. The committee, which is composed of 10 public school superintendents in different sections of the nation, is asked to bring to the attention of the communities for which they have been named the best types of organization in American schools, rules of various boards of education, school charters, state school laws, school budget systems and other matters of interest relating to school administration. Superintendent Francis' bailiwick includes the states of Ohio, Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Kentucky.

OUR HONOR ROLL

SERVICE FLAG DEDICATED TO MEN WHO ARE IN SERVICE.

As a continuous reminder of the patriotic spirit of the men of Otterbein, a service flag now hangs in the college chapel. This flag which is six feet long and four feet wide, was made and presented to the school by the wives of two of the professors, Mrs. A. P. Rosselot and Mrs. C. A. Altman. It is made large enough to hold 131 stars, about 65 of which are already in place. The list of men represented is given below. We do not have the addresses of all on the roll and any one knowing the whereabouts of these men or others will do a great kindness by sending them to this paper.

NOTED ALUMNUS DIES SUDDENLY

Judge Shauck of Class of '66, Succumbs in Mt. Carmel Hospital After Short Illness.

WAS SUPREME COURT JUDGE

Had Retired from Bench and Was Practicing Law in Columbus With E. L. Weinland.

Judge John Allen Shauck, aged 76, for several years a resident of Westerville and former judge of the supreme court of Ohio, died at Mt. Carmel hospital, Columbus, Thursday morning from an illness of two weeks which resulted in uraemic poisoning. Judge Shauck became acquainted in this vicinity while attending Otterbein, graduating in 1866. He was one of the few old graduates who occasionally pay their Alma Mater a visit.

Soon after his graduation from Otterbein he attended and graduated from the law school of the University of Michigan. As most of his life was spent in Columbus after leaving Westerville he has since that time held a wide acquaintanceship in this vicinity. His daughter occasionally took part in college affairs here.

He entered upon the general practice of law in Dayton, continuing until 1884, when he was elected to the second circuit court bench on the Republican ticket and was re-elected five years later. In the fall of 1894 he was nominated by the Republican state convention for election as judge of the supreme court, and was successful at the polls, taking his seat on that bench for the first time February 9, 1895. His first colleagues there were judges William T. Spear, J. P. Bradbury, Marshall J. Williams, Jacobs F. (Continued on page two.)

Prexy Goes West.

President Clippinger left Thursday evening for Chicago where he attended the annual meeting of the Association of American Colleges which convened there on Friday and Saturday. From Chicago the president will start on a tour of the west touching such places as Omaha, Portland, Seattle, San Francisco, Los Angeles, Phoenix and El Paso. In Los Angeles he will attend a great Otterbein banquet which is being planned by workers there who are interested in the College. The main purpose of the trip is, of course, in the interest of the campaign and it is understood that Dr. Clippinger will visit several of the trustees of the school. He is not expected to return before the last of the month, probably not before the twenty-seventh.

GRABILL GIVES RECITAL

Director of "Con" Presents First of What Promises to be Series of Musical Programs.

On Thursday evening, Jan. 10, Prof. Glenn Grant Grabill, Director of the School of Music, gave the music-loving public of Westerville and vicinity an unusually pleasing treat when he rendered the first organ recital of the year in the College Chapel. The recital opened shortly after 8 o'clock and for a solid hour the near-capacity audience that filled the chapel hall gave Prof. Grabill their undivided attention.

Prof. Grabill presented a pleasing and varied program of selections from Spence, Macfarlane, Bach and other noted composers of the past and present. Especially fine were his rendition of the "Nuptial Song," from Orange Blossoms by Friml-Faulkes and his beautiful interpretation of "Scotch Fantasia," by Macfarlane. The former is "a dainty little melody, with harp-like accompaniment which sings itself into the hearts of the listeners." The "Scotch Fantasia" blends with the plaintive beauty of Scotch folk songs, the imposing strength of their National Airs, in a delightful medley arrangement.

The program was brought to a close by stirring Fantasia on "Battle Hymn of the Republic," after which the audience stood and sang together the national hymn, "America."

The best possible evidence of the public's appreciation of Prof. Grabill's work was the perfect attention accorded him and the hearty applause that greeted each number.

First Campaign Bulletin is Out.

People who have from time to time been "hearing things" about the big educational campaign will now sit up and take notice when they see the first visible signs of actual work along the line in a bulletin which has just come out as a starter in the big publicity movement. The bulletin states the challenge in a forceful way and gives ten weighty reasons for the support of the campaign. That it has the backing of the entire church and that unprecedented needs are confronting the Christian college today are among the arguments used. A full statement of the plan of campaign is given together with a complete explanation as to how the money shall be used. This bulletin is being sent as rapidly as possible to a mailing list of over 12,000 names, and will doubtless be placed in the hands of students within a short time. It is the plan to issue similar bulletins at intervals of one and two weeks. A special folder has also been prepared for the Alumni.

Three Otterbein boys, A. W. Nealey, Frank L. Schweheimer and Stanton B. Wood, were selected for the officers' training camp which opened at Camp Sherman Monday. All of the boys already had non-commissioned offices. The men who make good in the training will be held in reserve as officers for the army.

NEWENS WILL READ

Popular Entertainer and Interpreter to Recite "To Him That Hath" on Wednesday Evening.

"To Him That Hath," is the reading selected for rendition by Adrian M. Newens who appears in Westerville Wednesday night, Jan. 16, in the fourth number of the Lyceum course. This is not Mr. Newens' first appearance on the local platform. He has appeared on both the Lyceum course and the summer chautauqua program. He will probably be better remembered by local admirers in his rendition of "The Message from Mars." Mr. Newens was scheduled to appear here Jan. 15, but because of conflicts, the date was changed to one night later.

"To Him That Hath" is a great purpose drawn; it depicts not the man who denies his country, but the man whom his country rejects. It is a great discussion and vivid of human relationships, of how far a man's word may carry for better or for worse in the making of individual and community life.

BECOMES HEAD OF DEPARTMENT

(Continued from page one.) kins studied music under the best teachers in this country and afterwards supplemented his knowledge with three years' study abroad. He had wide experience as a teacher and concert worker, being the head of the Hopkins Trio which has given concerts in many places. He also spent some time on the Keith circuit as a director and violin soloist. At present the new instructor is so busy with his teaching in Columbus that for a time he will be able to come out only one day a week to take care of the work here. Later however he will give as much time to work as the need seems to demand. Mr. Hopkins' first public appearance will be on the program of the annual concert given by the Choral Society the last of this month.

Six years later he was re-elected and in 1906 was elected to still another term of office, making his term of service rank in years with the longest on record there.

Retiring from the bench in 1913, he entered upon the practice of law here and continued his residence in Columbus. He had an office partnership with E. L. Weinland, '91, located in the New First National Bank building. At the time of his death he was president of the Ohio Bar Association.

He had been in failing health for more than a year. In search of health he spent some time in the Isle of Pines.

Funeral services were held at Trinity church, Columbus, at 4 o'clock Friday afternoon and the body was taken to Dayton, his former home, for interment.

Arthur Ray Spessard.

Recently Chosen as Director of Vocal Department.

Postpone Service Flag Unveiling.

Because all of the Westerville boys are under quarantine for measles at Camp Sherman the United Brethren service flag unveiling has been postponed until they will be able to attend the service. The meeting was announced for Sunday. It is thought that as soon as the quarantine is lifted Major General Glenn will permit the local boys to attend the unveiling of the flag. If they are permitted to come their transportation will be provided for.

Y. W. C. A.

At Y. W. C. A. Tuesday night the speaker was Miss Agnes Drury, a graduate of Otterbein, class of 1914. Miss Drury sails January 23, for the Philippines, to become an instructor in the Bible School at San Fernando.

In her speech she brought out the fact that there are two classes of women today—one class, embittered because the war has defeated personal ambitions, failing to realize that today we should be above personal sacrifice and think in larger terms; the other class wants to do big things and fails to grasp the true meaning of service. We must be of service to someone else who is of service.

Besides material ways for serving there are spiritual ways also, since the world as never before is seeking the realities of life. In these days nothing is more needed than the true spirit of friendship.

This spirit is shown in its fullest sense in our Master Friend, who trusted and believed in his friends, not forgetting the smallest and most humble.

This love which Jesus bore to his friends was his whole plan for carrying the gospel, and said Miss Drury in conclusion, "It is because I want to tell others of this great friend that I am going to the Philippines."

Word reaches us from the sands of Texas that John B. Garver has become a "bird" and is so far progressed with his flying course that he has made several flights as a pilot.

Y. M. C. A.

Y. M. C. A. was led by "Artist Peden" who had a heart to heart talk with the fellows. He illustrated his talk by drawing a picture of a bee hive, then contrasting the honey bee and the drone, applying the truth to life. The honey bee goes out and gets the honey. She has a definite purpose and works hard to accomplish that purpose. The drone does nothing. So in life the industrious worker, the one with a definite purpose, the one who has the sting—the PEP—is the honey bee. While the slacker, the knocker, the cheat, any one without a purpose is the drone. "Be sure you know the purpose God has for you, then dig with all your life to fulfill that purpose. Don't be a drone."

Bible Study Classes were organized. Let all who can, get into the work at once. Also come out to Y. M. C. A. Be a honey bee and make Y. M. C. A. a bee hive next Thursday evening. Don't stay at home like a drone.

Set it down as a fact to which there are no exceptions, that we must labor for all that we have, and that nothing is worth possessing or offering to others, which costs us nothing.—John Todd.

Good Music.

Do you, or can you, appreciate good music? Music is one of the fine arts, to be sure, but yet a very common thing. The opportunities to hear good music are innumerable. No meeting of any consequence is complete without some music, and it has been so for ages past. And yet just how many persons can give even a mental criticism of a concert such as the organ recital afforded Thursday evening?

When one attends a lecture, worth while, he usually considers some of the thoughts of the speaker in his own mind afterward. The ideas of the lecturer are compared with those of the hearer, and often the latter adopts those ideas and profits by them. Is there any good reason why something of the same nature should not obtain in the case of good music? Every musical composition is intended by the composer, to convey some idea. When that composition is played or sung the listener should receive some thought from it, something of value. We are all too prone to look upon the better music as for the few, whereas it should be beneficial to everyone, and would be so if each individual would consider it so.

Musical appreciation is taught in many schools of music, and a course of this kind is being planned by our own music department. We can not all take this as a special study, but we may take advantage of the local opportunities to study good music from the standpoint of the hearer, which will put us well along toward an appreciative ear. Let us pay special attention to the regular student recitals and the series of organ recitals promised during the coming months, that this side of our nature may be enlarged and that we may be better able to place a just valuation upon musical productions.

Does It Pay To Educate?

In reply to the argument upheld by many that most of our young people are lost to the church as result of a college course, statistics have been compiled showing proportionate representation of Otterbein graduates in various lines of work. Of the total number of graduates up to and including the class of 1917, 1276 to be exact, five hundred and fifty-one entered the teaching profession for a short period at least, two hundred and eleven became ministers, all but five in our own denomination, and one hundred and thirty-six entered the business world, counting only such as went into business for themselves or had a managing interest. From the ranks of these alumni have come thirty-one college presidents and ten general church officers. One hundred and twenty-three "grads" have held or are now holding responsible positions on the faculties of our own colleges, and thirty-two have gone out to serve the world in the mission fields.
Besides this forty-two have entered the profession of law, six of whom sat on the Judge's bench. "Does it pay to educate?"

Camouflage.

Now that word bothers most of us.
We really don't know just how to say it and its meaning is still more vague. It sounds rather mystical or foreign and has a "Somewhere in France" connotation. Almost everyone will have to confess that it was difficult to make that word feel at home in his active vocabulary. And since "Camouflage" is now so much in the lime-light, all of us ought to round up as many facts as possible concerning it.

There's really nothing puzzling about it. When it is brought over into speakable English it signifies nothing more than pure bluff. We all comprehend that perfectly. Don't the French bluff the German aviators when they make them believe there is no hospital there, but just a dump of trees and bushes? And it's a very clever and practical piece of bluff.
Work indeed when the submarine sharp shooter fails to see the transport because of the waves painted on the sides. Bluff is playing an important part in this war and it is done by the most skillful and well-trained minds.

But there is another kind of camouflage with which we are all more familiar. It's the one we practice every day on the professors. A hundred times a day in the class rooms some poor student is trying to make a prof believe there is something back there in his brain when there isn't. If the faculty could only take a lesson from the experiences in the war zone they would appreciate better how clever and acute a mind must be to put on an appearance of something that does not exist. And maybe instead of bluffing if we should "camouflage" the professors they would take it more kindly. A lot of good things are going to come out of this war and one of them will be the rise in influence and power of camouflage, but we hope that it will find its place and stay there.

We've Been Thinkin'

That our own Prof. Grabill is to be appreciated.

That Santa Claus is a pretty good old chap, still.

That a little more studying now will save cramming for examinations, soon to come.

That if the spirit of the service flag is to be maintained, a printed honor roll should be displayed publicly.

That "Lym" Hert will surely be missed from Otterbein activities.

That it would be about all right if the coal supply would run out just before "exam" week.

That under the circumstances the Athletic Association is wise in abolishing base ball for this year.

That Prexy is wise in choosing this kind of weather to leave for California.

That judging from personal contact with the stuff Santa cheated Hayes on his box of gum.

That Mrs. Rosselot and Mrs. Altman should have some visible evidence as to the appreciation of the student body for the beautiful service flag.

That when the basketball team gets away from home they should at least wire the results of the games.

That it is mighty hard to get an editorial staff back at work after a three weeks' vacation.

And while we think of it we wish to make another appeal to your sympathies. You will probably soon be asked to make a contribution to the fund to provide Maxim Silencers for use on some of the Freshmen on soup days at the Club. We beseech you to be liberal in your contributions for anyone at the Club will assure you that the boys at the front have nothing on us when it comes to encountering nerve-shattering noises.

After getting so deeply absorbed in watching the girl in the next row dawdle with the intricate array of many-colored, sized and shaped pins in the back of her hair, that the bell rang before we had once thought of looking at our watch, we had to admit it was the most interesting lecture we had heard in the course.—

THE "EFILUO" CLUB.

"Hello Mac, got over your grouch yet?" said Doc, as he entered the study and slapped Mac across the back with his gloves.

"No, don't bother him, he's still as bad as ever, but I think I've discovered the trouble," said Bill.

"Let's hear it."

"Well you know he felt pretty bad about leaving home, and besides he hasn't caught up in the sleep he lost since he came back, so it's no wonder he is so grouchy. Guess he has started to study up for the examinations that we'll be having in a couple of weeks too."

"He's wise, it wouldn't hurt some of the rest of us to do the same."

"No that's it, we need the study more than he does."

"Enjoying yourselves boys? I make a pretty good subject for discussion, don't I?" said Mac who had finished, his work and had come back to life.
"Is there any information I can give you to further enlighten you on the subject?"

"I fear not, Mac, only for goodness sakes, get over that grouch."

"Can't help it, boys if you knew how blue I feel, you wouldn't blame me for being grouchy, so forget about it and I'll get over it in a couple of days when I get caught up a little."

"Heard from the basketball games yet, anybody?" joined in Tom from the other side of the room, where he was engaged in his usual game of solitaire.

"No, don't know what the trouble is, something the matter with the manager or else we've been beaten so bad he didn't want to send the score home."

"Maybe they've been held up some place by the weather or else they must be having a big time up at Pandora."

"That may be the case, or else they're waiting on Schutz to see that he gets back safe."

"Say, Bill how's the gas coming over there, room's getting warmer isn't it?"

"Yes I believe it is coming on better for a change. Thank goodness for we've nearly frozen the last few days. I hear that even the gas office up here in town have gotten a coal stove set up."

"By the way, Doc were you at the recital Thursday night?"

"Yes, why?"

"Oh I just wondered, pretty good, didn't you think?"

"Yes I thought it was fine, especially that second piece, where he played those Scotch tunes."

"I liked that one too but I enjoyed the whole thing. I didn't get tired like I generally do at such affairs."

"You'll cultivate a taste for music yet, Bill" said Tom jokingly.

"Wouldn't doubt it a bit boys only just now my taste for eats is better cultivated."

"That taste seems to get along without any cultivation," said Doc.

"Pretty poor jokes boys, come on Tom, give us those cards and we'll have a little hand."

Present Bible as Memorial.

As a memorial to their mother, Mrs. Mary Leasure Jones, Miss Flo Jones and Mrs. Lennie Jamison presented a morocco bound pulpit Bible to the United Brethren church Sunday. The service was given over to the presentation. Mrs. Mary Jones joined the church in 1859, being one of the oldest members.

Richard Seneff writes to his mother concerning his first airplane trip. He likes flying exceedingly well but says the thrill was not as great as he had expected. It is thought that "Dick" was in the corps of U. S. airmen who last week moved to the French front for scout duty. When the letter was written training there was not yet complete.

CONCERT TO BE GIVEN

Choral Society Will Present "Rose Maiden"—Columbus Soloist to Assist.

January 29 is the date set by the Choral Society, at which time that organization will appear in its first concert, the "Rose Maiden" by Frederick Cowens being the chosen work. The "Rose Maiden" is a popular production and a favorite among choral societies everywhere. The soloists have been selected and the finishing touches will be worked out in few succeeding rehearsals. Mr. James Tiernen, a lyric tenor of Columbus, will be one of the soloists. Mr. Tiernen who came but recently to Columbus from California has had wide experience in choir and concert work.

Mr. Floyd Stanley Crooks also of Columbus and a pupil of Cecil Fanning will sing the baritone. Mr. Crooks has sung with many of the greatest of America singers. Two of Otterbein's own products, Miss Ruth Brundage and Mrs. Verda Miles Dailey, will sing the soprano and contralto parts, respectively. Miss Brundage, since graduating from the local Conservatory has studied with Cecil Fanning and has been Director of the Conservatory of Wilmington College. Mrs. Dailey has been touring the west in concert work since her graduation last June.

This year's concert promises to be as popular as in the past, it being rumored that several persons of musical renown are coming from Columbus to hear this old favorite concert number resung. Mr. Earl Hopkins, the new instructor of violin, will appear on the program in several numbers.

COCHRAN HALL

Betty Fries returned to school Wednesday after a two weeks' vacation at Camp Sheridan.

Alice Hall returned Wednesday from her home in Dayton.

Janet and Helen gave a party Tuesday evening. The honor guests were Mrs. Clippinger, Miss Alma Guitner and Miss Agnes Drury.

Neva Anderson spent the week-end at Chillicothe.

Lois Bickelhaupt has been ill for several days.

Ask Helen Bovee about the high prices of paper.

Edna Farley is slowly recovering from a badly sprained foot.

Some of the girls imagined that Betty would be a bride when she returned to school so they decorated her room. It took her several days to remove the artistic designs.

Helen McDermot of Columbus spent the week-end at the Hall.

Dean McFadden entertained us Saturday night with a sleighing party. The social committee furnished the sleigh and the snow drifts.

Selling "Smileage Books."

F. J. Resler has gone to the Pacific coast, having charge of seven Western states, in the campaign for the sale of "Smileage Books." The "Smileage Books" are issued by the Lyceum bureaus and sold at a minimum price to provide amusement for the soldiers. The plan of the bureaus is to sell the books to friends of the soldiers who will forward them to camps for the soldiers' use.

LOCALS

Lyman Hert has left school to teach at Canton, O.

Elizabeth McCabe, from Greenville, who was in school second semester last year, expects to be with us again next semester.

Lawrence Replogle, who is teaching in the high school at Union City, writes that he is more than pleased with his work there. He expects to pay a visit to Otterbein friends soon.

Herman Michael, owing to an operation, was unable to return to school until Friday evening.

The first of the Intercollegiate Debates will be held in the College Chapel, Tuesday evening February 19. Wittenberg withdrew from the triangle, so this first debate will probably be a dual one with Muskingum College. On March 1, a dual debate will be held with Hiram College.

We hear that "Deacon" Davis will be in school next semester.

Mrs. A. D. Cook and little daughter left for their home in Cleveland Saturday after a several weeks' visit with Mr. and Mrs. R. O. Cook.

Just arrived—A big shipment of "Arrow" Shirts, $1.50, $2.00 and $2.50. E. J. Norris.—Adv.

An even dozen fellows and girls enjoyed a piping hot chicken dinner at Hotel Central, Worthington, last Wednesday evening after an exciting sled ride.

The Declamation Contest has been postponed until the first of the second semester. This contest offers a good opportunity for talented Freshmen and Sophomores to earn fame and money without a great deal of work. The contest was postponed in order to give the opportunity for more people to enter.

O. W. Mourer, who is now a member of the band stationed at the Columbus Barracks spent Wednesday night with Otterbein friends.

Corp. Curtis Young, of Camp Sheridan, Alabama, arrived in Westerville Sunday, on a seven days' furlough.

The college office force has been increased by the addition of Mrs. Lovell, Mrs. Higlemire and Bertha Hancock, who are helping Helen Enzor in the added campaign work.

Every person interested in journalism or the publicity campaign of the College should be in Doctor Jones' recitation room Wednesday evening at seven-thirty. At that time J. H. Larimore, chairman of the campaign publicity committee will effect the reorganization of the Otterbein Press Club. Such an organization was in operation here in past years and a great deal of good was accomplished in the way of advertising the school. If you are a booster and want to help win in this campaign, lend your active support to the new Press Club.
