OTTERBEIN WINS FROM MUSKINGUM

Debaters On Both Teams Present Argument That Showed Long and Thorough Preparation.

HOWE BEST FOR OTTERBEIN

I. M. Ward Entertains Audience With Two Solos While Awaiting the Decision of the Judges.

Otterbein's negative debating team opened their season very auspiciously Tuesday night by winning a decisive victory over their old opponents, Muskingum. The question for debate was, "Resolved: That Ohio should adopt the unicameral system of government, constitutionality conceded." This is a question that requires a thorough study for an intelligent presentation. The manner in which each team presented its side of the debate showed the result of long and thorough preparation.

Muskingum was represented by Robert Montgomery, '21; E. H. Jackson, '20; and Ralph Ault, '20. Otterbein's case was presented by R. P. Mase, '18; R. E. Kline, '18; and J. R. Howe, '21, with Kenneth Arnold, '20, as alternate.

R. P. Mase discussed the history of the question showing clearly that our present bicameral system has proven a universal success and that the proposed unicameral system has, as generally, failed. Mr. Mase had a clear forceful manner of delivery and the ability to make his points stand out prominently.

Mr. Kline brought out a very practical side of the question by proving that a two house system is necessary to represent all the people. He showed conclusively that one house would be controlled entirely by the

Editor Gifford Talks To Club.

Otterbein Press Club met on Wednesday evening and took up the consideration of the small town weekly newspaper. Mr. Gifford of the Public Opinion, was the speaker and brought out in a practical way the essentials of a successful small town weekly of today. By illustration and example he showed the faults of the old-school journalists and the demands of the present.

The Press Club meeting next week is to be a very unusual one, unlike any that has yet been held. All who have attended and others really interested will do well not to miss this special session. Ask any of the members for particulars.

Authorities Are Planning Another Big Day In April.

President Clippinger is as busy as ever about the campaign. He spent the greater part of last week in Westerville planning and organizing the work. Sunday he spoke three times on the Pickaway circuit, near Circleville.

Though the plans as yet are rather indefinite, it is expected that there will be another big day for boosting the drive sometime later. The date will probably be April 7 and the event will take the nature of Laymen's Day.

Reports from the college office indicate that the work is progressing in fine shape and everybody is in line for a strong drive. Special workers and speakers are going out from time to time doing scout duty and making advances into the front line trenches.

WILL COMPETE FOR HONORS

Underclassmen to Contest for Prizes Offered by Dr. Russell Thursday Evening in Chapel.

Aspiring members of the Freshmen and Sophomore classes will compete for the honors of the Russell Prize Declamation Contest Thursday evening in the chapel. The program is scheduled to commence at eight o'clock, and is free to the public.

At present there have been seven entrants for the contest, three of them are Sophomores. Those entered are Neva Priest, Catherine Ellsworth, Ira Mayne, Lillian Coe, Lura Jones, Lloyd Harmon, and Glenn Sandusky. Miss Priest and Mr. Mayne appeared in the same affair last year and did credit both to themselves and to their instructor in Public Speaking. All the other contestants are new performers.

The contest is one the nature of which almost nothing needs to be said around Otterbein. It is an annual event open to all underclassmen. The prizes of fifteen, ten and five dollars for the three best declamations are given by Dr. Howard H. Russell. Dr. Russell is himself a good reader and much interested in platform activities. In the establishment of this contest

Recital to be Given.

Tuesday evening at eight o'clock the music department will give a recital in Lambert Hall. The program will consist of vocal numbers and instrumental performances, on the violin and piano.

One special feature of the program will be two numbers from Grand opera by a piano quartet.

PROCEEDS FOR NEW MONUMENT

Relatives of Reverend and Mrs. Benjamin Franklin Cunningham Prepare Biography as Memorial.

GRADUATE OF OTTERBEIN

"Boy Preacher" As He Was Called Had a Great Record as Evangelist.

"The Cunningham Memorial," by Thomas Edwin Hughes and Frances Barnett Hughes, is the biography of the lives of Rev. and Mrs. Benjamin Franklin Cunningham. It is a book that all who knew, and were converted under the guidance of the "boy preacher" will want to cherish as a last memory of him. The many school and classmates of Rev. and Mrs. Cunningham at Otterbein will be eager for this biography of their friends of yesterday.

All proceeds above the actual cost of production of the book will be devoted to a fund which is to be used to procure and erect a monument to the memory of Rev. and Mrs. Cunningham at Inglewood cemetery, near Los Angeles.

Benjamin Franklin Cunningham was born in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, June 14, 1878. When but eleven years old, he had a remarkable conversion in evangelistic services being held in a tent near his home. Shortly after his conversion, he actually began to preach, and was known everywhere as the "boy preacher." He held successful meetings in Littleton, Hanover, Harrisburg, Cape May, Ocean Grove, Claiborne, and in many other places during this early period. Often from sixty to one hundred persons were converted in a single campaign.

Make Gifts To Library.

Before leaving for France, T. H. Bradrick, '94, gave to the college library seventeen volumes of miscellaneous works and to the Philomathean library "The Writings of Lincoln" in eight volumes and Tiscot's "Life of Christ" in three volumes.

Benjamin Carlson, who entered the army last year gave to the Philomathean library his collection of books, consisting of twenty-four volumes of miscellaneous works and a Photographic History of the Civil War in ten volumes. Loyalty to Otterbein is united with patriotism in the hearts of these men and their gifts serve to bind them closer to the institution.

Another Campaign Bulletin Is Issued Thursday.

"Into the Trenches" is the title of the seventh of a series of bulletins being published by the college relative to the campaign. It is in the form of a four-page leaflet, the main object of which is to set before the people the general program for the carrying on of the "drive". Much emphasis is laid on the fact that the forces will go "over the top" May 9, and everything will be done by that time. The fact that a definite time has been set makes the thing more real and insures more energetic co-operation on the part of all. The inside of the pamphlet is covered with a chart showing the authorization of the various bodies backing the movement. It is announced that the bulletins to be published from now on will be issued much more frequently.

LAST GAME IS LOST

Capital is Easy Victor—Four Games Won, One Tied and Six Lost During Season.
(E. L. Doty)

Otterbein played her last basketball game of the season last Thursday night, meeting Capital in the local gym. For the first few minutes Otterbein led in scoring. But the visiting team soon tied the score and procured a lead which was impossible to be approached in any later period of play. The home boys played a good game despite the fact that they were losing. But they were unable to break up the passing and shooting of the veteran Lutherans who have been playing together for a number of years. Barnhart and Smith played a good game at guards. Miller and Wagoner at forwards were too closely guarded to do much scoring. Fox was high scorer, making five baskets and three free throws.

This game ended Otterbein's basketball season. The boys have played under serious handicaps this year but have showed the real pep and fighting spirit in all their games. They deserve the hearty commendations of the school. Otterbein has

Board of Trade To Assist.

An unqualified vote of approval of the big Otterbein College campaign that is now being waged by the college and the United Brethren church in the nine co-operating conferences was given by the Westerville Board of Trade Tuesday evening. A committee was ordered appointed to assist President W. G. Clippinger in the local drive.

PROCEEDS FOR

NEW MONUMENT

Following the advice of Bishop E. B. Kephart, he entered the Academy of Otterbein university in 1896, and graduated from the university in 1903. The same year, he entered Bonebrake Seminary, from which he graduated in 1906. In June, 1909, his marriage to Louise Gertrude Barnett, a schoolmate at Otterbein, took place.

After graduation from the seminary, Rev. Mr. Cunningham entered the active ministry of the United Brethren church. He began at Independence, Kansas, and from there went to the First United Brethren church at Grand Rapids, Michigan, where he served for five years. Anderson, Indiana, was the next pastorate of this rapidly rising young minister. Led on by the missionary spirit, Rev. and Mrs. Cunningham took up the work at Los Angeles Second church. Here they labored until September, 1916, and were both looking forward to one of the best years of their lives, when one day at an outing, while bathing, both were drowned. A great work which they had begun so auspiciously was abruptly interrupted—and three charming children were orphans.

Prof. Hughes and Mrs. Hughes are brother-in-law and sister of the late Mrs. Cunningham, and have taken in to their family the three orphaned children.

The United Brethren Publishing company, Dayton, is publishing the book.

cities, to the great detriment of the rural districts. Mr. Kline's argument was presented in a straight forward and convincing manner.

The case for Otterbein was ably concluded by J. R. Howe. He discussed the greater efficiency of our present system of legislation over that of the proposed system. Although Mr. Howe is only a Freshman and this was his first inter-collegiate debate, he presented his subject as logically and as forcefully as the most experienced of debaters.

While the decision of the judges was being awaited, Mr Ward entertained the audience with two vocal solos and was called back for an encore.

The judges were Rev. E. C. Tittle of Columbus, Supt. J. D. Williamson, of Mt. Gilead, and Supt. W. L. Atwell, of Cardington. Their decision was two to one in favor of Otterbein. Dr. Charles Snively presided over the meeting in a very pleasing manner.

Although all the debaters displayed natural ability, much of the credit for their success must be given to their long and careful coaching by Prof. Fritz.

'12, '10 Word was received in Westerville last Thursday morning of the death in Anderson, Indiana, of the three-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Homer P. Lambert (Lucile Morrison). The burial occurred at Anderson on Friday.

'85. Amos A. Rothrock of Fairlawn, Ohio, was a guest at the home of Professor Miller several days last week.

'99. Miss Adda Dean May died last Thursday at the home of her sister, Mrs. J. B. Hughes (Jessie May) in Marysville, Ohio. Miss May had been in ill health for several years. Funeral services and interment occurred at her old home, Lewisburg, O.

'04. The United Brethren church at Arcanum, Ohio, under the leadership of Rev. Dudley R. Wilson, assisted by Dr. E. J. Forsythe as evangelist, has been having a gracious revival. The town of Arcanum has been stirred as never before and many converts have come into the church.

'13. Roscoe H. Brane returned home last Saturday from Pittsburgh, Pa., where he and Mrs. Brane were called several weeks ago by the serious accident to Mrs. Brane's brother, William L. Brown. Mr. Brown's death occurred last Monday.

'94. T. H. Bradrick left Westerville yesterday for New York on his way to France where he will engage in the army work of the Young Men's Christian Association. A farewell reception to Mr. Bradrick was given last Monday evening in the parlors of the Methodist church, at which time a military wrist watch was presented to him by the members of the church.

'03. '12. Special music at the Farmer's Institute recently held in Westerville was furnished by Mrs. F. G. McLeod (Mary Best) and Miss Ruth Brundage.

'92. Dr. John H. Francis, superintendent of schools of Columbus, Ohio, went to Washington, D. C., last Friday to attend a meeting of prominent educators called by P. P. Claxton, commissioner of education of the United States. This week Dr. Francis will attend the annual meeting of the National Education Association at Atlantic City, where he has a part in the program.

'11. Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Bailey and son George, of Columbus, visited Mr. Bailey's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Bailey, last week.

'17. Richard Bradfield, who is teaching in the high school at Lily Chapel, was a week-end visitor here.

'17. Alta Nelson came home from Canal Winchester over the week-end.

1879.

"I have always had one lode-star;
now

As I look back, I see that I have halted

Or hastened as I looked toward that star—

A need, a trust, a yearning after God.
—Shelley."

Our New Head.

Your attention is called to the new head for the Tan and Cardinal which is being used this week for the first time. The design was made by Albert S. Nichols, '21, who receives as a reward a life subscription to the paper. We are glad to submit the changed appearance of the paper to you and hope that you will be pleased with the added attractiveness which the head lends to the sheet.

Do You Know It?

One week ago, on the occasion of Launching Day, copies of the Marching Song were scattered broad cast wherever Otterbein College is known.
These copies contained the words and complete score of the song and were used to advantage in the launching services.

We may estimate that thousands of persons were thrilled by those strains that day, but how many of the students here could sing the complete song from memory? This is a subject that has been discussed frequently, and this may appear to be a repetition, but there are some things that can be learned in no other way.

The use of the verses of this song is not popular among the students, the chorus being the only part usually sung. There seems to be no reason for this omission of the verses and we would suggest that they be revived and learned. The song complete may be found in the Handbook. May we not all learn the verses and get into the habit of singing all the words instead of the chorus only.

Disrespect.

One night this week a student's room was entered while the occupants were known to be away and the place "stacked." This is an old, old stunt fortunately one not very popular in recent years. Naturally the joke was not appreciated and especially did the culprits, two in number,
condemn themselves in their haste.
Several pennants were pulled from the wall, and among them the Tan
and Cardinal emblem of the College.
This pennant was torn in transit and otherwise disfigured. Such acts can't be funny when they disgrace the institution by insulting its flag. It is a criminal offense to injure in any way
the National emblem, and punishable by the government. It is no less a misdemeanor to bring the college
colors to shame.

College students are supposed to have enough self-respect to revere
the flag of their school.

Vacation.

Vacations are often anticipated
with much pleasure, and just as often viewed afterward with a feeling of regret. It is a debatable question whether vacations are a real benefit to the student. The chief idea in dismissing school for a holiday, aside from observing the significance attached to the day, is to furnish a rest from regular work. This day might well be used by the conscientious student in "catching up" with back work
and in preparation for future tasks.
But it is doubtful if many persons thus observe a holiday. Too often the vacation period is spent in loafing or is so occupied as to make the student less fit for work, rather than in recuperation. It is safe to say that there are more unprepared lessons and more sleeping in classes the day after a short vacation than any other time during the year.

THE FOOD OF LOVE A Lyric of Meatless Days

Eat to me only with thine eyes
And I will munch with mine;
Or let my lips but brush thy locks
And I shall seem to dine;
The hollow 'neath my belt that lies
For flesh of beeves doth pine;
Yet might I wolf a roasted ox,
I would, of course, decline.

I sent thee once a juicy steak
To prove thy troth and see
If in that stern ordeal's test Steadfast thou still wouldst be.
And thou thereof one sniff didst take
And post it back to me,
Since when I wear it next my chest,
Potted, for love of thee.

—O. S. in Punch.

THE "EFILUO" CLUB.

"Well, boys, I'm glad vacation's over. I've sure had a punk time the last few days," said Tom as he picked up a book preparatory to studying.

"If you'd do a little work, it wouldn't seem so long. I got a lot of back work done up that I've been waiting to do for some time."

"That's all right for you, Mac, but I can't enjoy myself at that and when I did try to have a big time in Columbus, I failed utterly by going to Keith's which put the climax to my punk time."

"Since you're telling your experience of this vacation, I can say that I've had a very, very nice time, the weather being excellent for dates."

"Leave it to, Doc! You can see where his mind is every time."

"You put up a good debate the other night, Mac, but I can't see your idea
in getting so fussed."

"I know I got fussed, but that was because I looked back at you fellows."

"Sorry I wasn't there to hear you,
Mac, but I had an important business engagement to fill that day."

"I suppose you're taking life easy
since the basketball season is over, Tom."

"Yes, after that game with Capital
I feel like quitting basketball playing altogether. That was a fright."

"We'll have to hand it to Capital.
They have a good team this year."

"The only thing that's worrying
me now, is whether we get our credit
if we are drafted soon. I may be selfish in my reasoning but I think that we seniors ought to get credit for the year's work if we are called before the semester is half over, because there is no chance of us ever finishing school anyway when we come back."

"That does seem about right, Tom,
only let's hope you get to finish the year."

"Oh shucks, I can't study," growled
Tom closing his book with a bang.
"Come on, let's have a little hand before bed time!"

The College Man.

The college man has come to the front in this war. Do you remember the cartoons that were published in semi-humorous magazines, depicting the college youth as a round, stoop-shouldered individual with a fondness for loud ties and socks and the extremes in styles? Yes, you remember the cartoons, but that self-same man who has been the butt of many jokes on the part of persons who did not know is now among those who are fighting in the trenches at the front.

The college man can no longer be held up to ridicule, for he has shown that of all classes he is the most willing to go and is perhaps better fitted to go than any other class. The college man is not only doing his bit,
but he is doing his best, and his all.
The college man is now returning the interest on the money put out on investment on his education.—Purdue Exponent.

Edith Wert of Oberlin College was Vida's guest for the week-end.

The dinner guests at Hall Sunday were Dr. Sarah Sherrick, Nora Stauffer, Edith Case, Lieut. Hendrix and Lieut. Davidson.

Vida Wilhelm entertained Saturday evening in honor of her guest, Miss Edith Wert from Oberlin College. Sixteen guests, masked, enjoyed the cleverly planned Washington's Birthday party.

Garver Starts for France.

Owing to lack of space last week we failed to mention a visit which Lieut. John B. Garver paid to Westerville. Mr. Garver stopped off here to bid farewell to friends, enroute to France via Garden City, Long Island. Enlisting in the flying service last fall he received his ground schooling at Ohio State and "bird" training at Fort Worth, Texas. Upon completion of his course in the southern camp and passing the tests Mr. Garver received his commission as an aviator and is now on his way to disprove the recent statement that the Boche have control of the air over the American sector in France. He is a member of the 148th Aero Squadron.

Fred Gray and Bill Evans left Wednesday for Pennsylvania to attend the funeral of Tom Brown's brother.
