About this issue: Our front cover features detail of a stained glass panel from the door leading into the Philomathean Room, Towers Hall. The panel is crafted from imported opalescent and bevel plate glass bounded by colonial bands. It depicts an urn with a network of vines growing forth from it.

When Towers Hall was erected in 1871, four literary societies (two for men, two for women) were permitted to use rooms on the third floor for their activities such as debating, public speaking, musical entertainment and parliamentary procedure exercises.

The lone reminder of this era is the Philomathean Room, originally used for one of the men's literary societies, though it displays a collection of relics from all four societies. The Philomathean Room underwent extensive restoration starting in 1982. Today it echoes its former splendor with lush, new carpet, handsome hand stenciling and detailed replastering.

The Philomathean Room is highlighted throughout this special issue of Towers magazine. As an annual report, this issue chronicles our College's current events. The Honor Roll credits donors who contribute to Otterbein's future. And the references to the Philomathean Room link us to Otterbein's impressive past.

THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Shortly after joining the College in July, 1984, I was asked by a newspaper reporter, "What is your educational philosophy?" I responded quickly, "I am a progressive traditionalist." After three years I remain convinced that my response to that question was consistent with the Otterbein envisioned by its founders and the one refined and nurtured by succeeding generations.

The first catalog of then Otterbein University stated in 1847 that the purpose of study was "...to develop and discipline the mind and to produce practical men and women who are useful to themselves and to the world." That founding statement suggests an education that has depth and breadth, an education that is consistent with tradition and responsive to change, an education that helps men and women become thoughtful and productive citizens.

For 140 years the Otterbein commitment has been to quality, to developing leadership, and to nurturing values — the most important being the pursuit of intellectual and moral truths.

Certainly each generation of teachers has been chosen because of expertise in their respective fields, but also for their potential as mentors and role models for students. From the beginning, all institutional goals have related to the primacy of teacher/student relationships.

The pages that follow highlight the successes of the past year, the challenges of the future, and give special recognition to those who have supported the College financially the past 18 months.

To all those listed in the Honor Roll we offer special thanks, and to all who review this report — we invite you to join us in pursuing The Otterbein Vision. —C. Brent DeVore

"...to develop and discipline the mind and to produce practical men and women who are useful to themselves and to the world."

Otterbein Commemorates 140 Years as a College

Celebrating Otterbein's 140th anniversary, Founders' Day was held April 27 with Otterbein displays, slide shows and a convocation.

One slide show focused on how Otterbein has grown and developed and compared the "old" Otterbein with the College as it is today. Dr. Harold Hancock, professor of history who taught at Otterbein for 40 years and wrote a book on Otterbein's history, narrated the slide presentation that was held during an all-campus convocation. ■

EDUCATIONAL PROGRAMS

COMMITMENT TO EXCELLENCE, A PROGRESSIVE TRADITION

Quality education in the liberal arts tradition and close student-teacher interaction are hallmarks of Otterbein's reputation as a college. To assure educational quality, College leaders continually look for ways to improve the curriculum and co-curricular educational offerings, and strive to support the development of the faculty.

During the past year, two programs providing important benefits to students have been revised and strengthened. The academic advising program will build on Otterbein's traditional student-teacher interaction, assuring more effective communication between each student and his or her academic adviser. The internship program has created a closer relationship between academic departments and work opportunities for students that relate to possible career paths. Both programs will supply students with a stronger sense of direction for their studies at Otterbein.

The College also is in the early stages of a campuswide review of all educational offerings. In all departments, the goal is to assure that proper breadth and depth are offered to students so they may be confident of quality academic preparation in their chosen majors.

Currently, 99 full-time faculty, supported by adjunct teachers, meet the students' academic requirements and sustain a student/faculty ratio of 13 to 1.

To help assure that faculty are current in their fields, the College has supported since 1969 a generous sabbatical program for its teachers. In spring 1987, the plan was revised to make all full-time faculty eligible to apply for sabbaticals every seventh term, with a special faculty committee recommending sabbatical projects for approval to the College leadership. Through this and other efforts supporting faculty professional growth, Otterbein recognizes the essential role played by classroom teachers in the learning and development of its students.

Several educational programs at Otterbein recently received a boost through major grants and gifts.

The National Endowment for the Humanities Challenge Grant led to the establishment of a restricted endowment of nearly $1 million, with income supporting faculty development, library acquisitions and a visiting scholar program in the humanities disciplines.

The sciences, too, are enjoying the benefits of grants. The Westinghouse Educational Foundation and the Krause Fund are sponsoring a yearly, two-day science symposium. In April, 1987, "Science 2000: The Information Revolution" brought well-known information experts together with students, staff and members of the general community for presentations and conversations about the impact of information on our society.

A competitive award by the National Science Foundation enabled the College's chemistry department to purchase computer interfaced equipment that allows new infrared spectroscopy experiments to be incorporated into the chemistry curriculum.

Another educational highlight was the 1987 Integrative Studies Festival which focused on the bicentennial of the United States Constitution. Integrative Studies is the core curriculum required of all who receive an Otterbein degree. Through a week of related classes, lectures, films and other activities, the 1987 Festival provided a forum for the campus and surrounding community to explore the Constitution in depth. The event centered around the week-long stay of Woodrow Wilson Visiting Fellow Floyd Haskell, former U.S. Senator from Colorado, who shared personal perspectives and expertise based on his experience as an active federal legislator.

A major new step currently under consideration is the addition of a graduate program in education. Teacher education has been an important aspect of an Otterbein education for decades. With a national trend surfacing for teacher education to become a five-year preparation, the College will be at the forefront of this movement with the option of a graduate program intended to serve both practicing teachers and liberal arts graduates who seek teacher certification.

Undergirding all educational programs at Otterbein is the College's commitment to the growth of each student, fostering an education that blends preparation for a career with preparation for a well-rounded and meaningful life. ■

Financial Aid

Scholarships, grants, work-study programs and loans assist students and their families with the resources to meet expenses at Otterbein. The school's financial aid policy is to meet 100 percent of each admitted student's demonstrated need.

More than 80 percent of full-time Otterbein students receive financial assistance that totals in excess of $3.5 million.

Additional gift aid to selected minority students also has been increased through the Ammons-Thomas grant, named for Ohio United Methodist Bishops Edsel A. Ammons and James S. Thomas of the West and East Ohio conferences, respectively.

Among merit awards are the Otterbein Scholar awards, recognizing academic achievement in high school, and the Presidential Scholar awards that reward special achievements in several areas. Other grants, loans and work opportunities help make an Otterbein education affordable to students from various income levels. ■

I.S. Festival Examines U.S. Constitution

Sen. Floyd Haskell, a Woodrow Wilson Fellow, shared his views on U.S. Constitution-related subjects during Otterbein's sixth annual Integrative Studies Festival in April. Here, he answers questions from students and faculty regarding his comments. To his left is Dr. John Laubach, professor of political science at Otterbein.

A celebration of the bicentennial of the U.S. Constitution, featuring Woodrow Wilson Fellow Sen. Floyd Haskell, was held during Otterbein's sixth annual Integrative Studies Festival April 20-24.

Haskell, chairman of the board and president of the Taxpayers Committee, a tax reform organization, gave speeches entitled "American Democracy/American Foreign Policy" and "Tax Reform and Economics." Films, lectures, faculty presentations and panel discussions relating to the Constitution were also held.

Among other guest lecturers, Judge Alan E. Norris of the U.S. 5th Circuit Court, a 1957 Otterbein alumnus, focused his talk on the concepts represented by the words of the Constitution, and what today's judges think about the process of judicial review enabling judges to study the actions of the legislative and executive branches for constitutionality.

Rhonda Rivera, a professor of law at The Ohio State University, lectured on "AIDS, Gays and the Constitution." Rivera is on the speaker's bureau of the Columbus AIDS Task Force and has written numerous articles on homosexuality.

According to Dr. Sylvia Vance, co-chairperson of the festival, the I.S. festivals were started in 1982 because the I.S. department sought interaction and integration between classes.

She says, "They've been fun to do...people from different areas of study get together and work on a common theme. Something happens that I think is good for a college." ■

Publications Lab Receives New Equipment

Four Macintosh computers, a laser writer, large screen and software have been purchased for the student publications lab thanks to a personal gift by Frank and Mary Jane (Kline) VanSickle, Otterbein graduates (1941 and 1942, respectively), and a matching gift from the Chrysler Corporation.

The lab equipment was donated in memory of Dr. Homer B. '15 and Norma M. '16 Kline and Frank O. '06 and Elsie '03 Van Sickle.

The lab, named "The Kline-Van Sickle Student Publications Lab," is available for student use in journalism, publications and art.

Dr. Jim Gorman, assistant professor of English and an advisor for the Tan and Cardinal, comments, "Acquiring this equipment is like a dream come true. It brings us closer to state-of-the-art in the journalism field." ■

Celebrating the Dream: Martin Luther King Day

Commemorating Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr.'s birthday, Otterbein hosted special events including films, a memorial chapel service and guest speakers January 14 through 22.

With the theme "His Dream Lives On (Social Change and Non-Violence)," the celebration's purpose was to not only recognize King, a powerful civil rights leader, but to increase awareness of the issues that were so important to King's struggle.

Chaplain Monty Bradley, a member of the Martin Luther King Day Committee, said, "We needed people to see the dream, the vision...For some of us it was a memory and for others it was a learning experience." ■

Dr. Harold Bell Hancock 1913 - 1987

One of Otterbein's most loved and respected figures, Dr. Harold Bell Hancock, died July 9 at his sister's home in Dover, Delaware. Services were at the Trader Funeral Home in Dover, and burial in his family's plot in Wilmington, Del.

The well-known historian began his career at Otterbein in 1944. He served as chairman of the department of history and political science from 1953 until his 1984 retirement at which time he was named professor emeritus of history, college historian and curator of the Philomathean Room in Towers Hall.

"Personally, I felt he was one of the most interesting, personable, intelligent and caring individuals I've ever known," related Otterbein vice president of student affairs Joanne VanSant. "To have been a colleague of his for so many years was a rare privilege, and his death leaves a tremendous void. He was a teacher par excellence and a historian whose contributions to the college, the city and the broader community will keep his name alive for generations to come."

A prolific writer, the Dover native published 12 books on Delaware history and more than 70 articles and numerous books on Ohio history, including a history of Otterbein and seven books on Westerville. This past June, he was recognized with a 1987 Stephen Taylor Award for significant writings contributing to the overall history of the American Revolution.

Dr. Hancock was an alumnus of Wesleyan University, Harvard and The Ohio State University where he respectively earned his bachelors, masters and doctorate degrees. In 1984, he culminated his full-time Otterbein career by serving as commencement speaker, having conferred upon him at that time an honorary doctorate of humanities.

The innovative professor developed and taught Otterbein's first courses on Ohio history, black culture and women's history, and during his many years of service to Otterbein was sometimes referred to as "Mr. Committeeman" for his involvement in innumerable phases of life — the library, curriculum committee, faculty committee on governance, Torch and Key and Phi Alpha Theta honoraries, Quiz and Quill literary group to name but a few.

In addition to his Otterbein involvements, he was also an active member of many professional and historical societies.

Since his "retirement" Dr. Hancock had worked part-time for the Westerville Public Library on research and writing, taught evening classes at Otterbein, accepted numerous public speaking engagements and taught classes on local history for the public library.

It is estimated that Dr. Hancock taught 10,000 students during his long association with Otterbein. His delightful sense of humor made him a longtime favorite as a teacher. Recent graduate Michael Maxwell speaks for many Otterbein students, past and present, as well as the College community when he says "I will miss Dr. Harold Hancock. Otterbein will miss Dr. Hancock. The state of Delaware (of which he was particularly proud) will also miss him. But we will remember the warm, caring individual who went the extra mile for his students and the College. He may be gone, but will not be forgotten — ever."

Contributions toward an endowed scholarship in Dr. Hancock's honor may be sent to: Hancock Memorial, Otterbein College, Howard House, Westerville, OH 43081. ■

Science Seminar Explores the "Information Age"

Otterbein hosted leaders in science and technology during a series of science seminars called Science 2000, held April 1 and 2. The theme of Science 2000 was "The Information Revolution: Exploring the Possibilities; Grasping the Consequences."

Among other prominent figures, Douglas Kiker, NBC national affairs correspondent, presented the keynote address. Kiker spoke about how journalists live constantly in and with the information age. He is the 1970 recipient of the Peabody Award for his reports on the Jordan war.

The Westinghouse Educational Foundation will support the seminar series for a three-year period through 1989, with additional support provided by the Edward Kraus Fund. ■

New Dance Major Introduced

Dance instructor Jean-Ann Marshall-Clark leads a class through exercises.

As approved by the College Senate in February 1987, a new major in dance is being offered at Otterbein starting with the Fall 1987 quarter.

According to Dr. Charles Dodrill, chairman of the Department of Theatre and Dance, the foundation was laid in 1976 when the College introduced a Bachelor of Fine Arts Degree in Theatre, which required more work in dance theory. In addition, when the theatre department separated from the Department of Speech Communication in 1983, a dance minor was introduced.

Dean of Student Affairs Joanne Van Sant, who worked with Dodrill to develop the dance proposal says, "We are very fortunate to be able to have this at a small liberal arts college."

Besides Otterbein, Oberlin, Denison and Baldwin-Wallace are a few other independent colleges in Ohio that offer a dance major. Otterbein's program, however, is unique in that it is the only one with jazz as its basic foundation. ■

STUDENT BODY PROFILE

STUDENTS, OTTERBEIN'S LIVING LEGACY

During a time when many independent, church-related colleges face serious challenges, Otterbein is growing and preparing for continued growth. This positive trend is attributable to the College's reputation for consistency in educational quality, along with its responsiveness to newer directions in educational programs, its geographical location and the recruiting assistance of faculty, alumni, friends and United Methodist pastors.

In 1986-87, Otterbein enrolled the largest freshman class since 1971 with 392 entering students. The increase reflects a 17 percent increase over the previous year. It is currently projected that the 1987-88 freshman class will include 400 students.

The quality of students being attracted to Otterbein, as judged by ACT and SAT scores, continued to increase in the past year along with the number of honors students.

The entire student body in the fall of the academic year, including traditional students and those in the Adult Degree Program, numbered 1,986.

One of the largest areas of growth in the past few years has been in the adult education program. The 730 students enrolled in fall 1986-87 represents an increase of 24 percent over the previous year. After its first full year in operation, the Weekend College program (an addition to the day and evening schedules offered adults) also has proven successful.

Retention rates have improved dramatically over the last several years as well. In 1983, 42 percent of entering freshmen earned an Otterbein degree within four years; in 1987, 56 percent.

Many prospective students and their parents are invited to the Otterbein campus through activities planned by the Admission Office and other campus departments. Special interest days such as High School Day, Arts Interest Day, Academic Interest Day and Junior Day are designed to give visiting high school students a feel for educational offerings and campus lifestyle at Otterbein. Other programs such as the English Festival, Band Day Program, and the Science Fair serve as a student's introduction to the College.

Currently, much attention is being given to increasing quality and furthering of geographical and cultural diversity among the student body. ■

Admission Programs Attract Record Number of Prospective Students

Otterbein hosted a record-breaking 675 students and their parents October 4, 1986 during the annual High School Day.

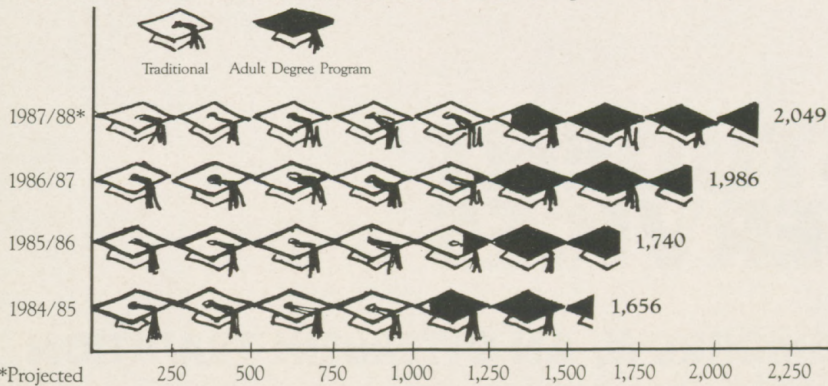

Most of High School Day was spent in academic sessions that allowed students to learn more about an academic program of their interest and in gatherings that enabled them to talk with faculty members.

Entertainment by Opus Zero, one of Otterbein's select music groups, and a campus tour by the Host and Tour staff of 45 Otterbein students also was provided.

High School Day is one of four programs conducted by the Office of Admission throughout the year to introduce prospective students to life at Otterbein. The other three are Academic Interest Day, where high school students focus on academic vocation; Minority Student day, encouraging minority youths to consider Otterbein's educational possibilities; and High School Day for Juniors, focusing on the college selection process, financial aid and career planning.

Registration figures to date for the first of these Admission programs, High School Day, to be held October 3, 1987, are well above last year's, reflecting increased interest and higher enrollment in Otterbein over the past several years. ■

Student Enrollment 1984 - 1988

Basketball Graduates Excel On and Off Court

Members of the starting lineup of the 1986-87 basketball team excelled off the court as well as on combining for a 3.2 grade-point average over four years at Otterbein College. Posing for family and friends following the 1987 Commencement are (L-R) student manager Bill Pollock; starters Mark Zawadzki, Tim Dierks, Dick Hempy, Steve Brown and Todd McDonald; and head coach Dick Reynolds. The Cardinals compiled a 93-21 record for an 81.6 winning percentage, and made three appearances in the NCAA Tournament during the four-year reign of these graduates. Zawadzki and McDonald graduated with honors.

Event Features "International Flavor"

A screening of the movie, "El Norte," food sampling of international dishes and dancing was all a part of Otterbein's "International Week" held March 1 through 6.

Mr. James Carr, former foreign student adviser, said, "The purpose of the week's events is to help the American students become more aware of the presence of international students on campus."

Among other events, a local black dance troupe, "Uhuru," performed and international table games were played. According to Carr, 22 countries were represented on campus by 48 international students during the 1986-87 academic year. ■

Otterbein Chapel Undergoes Cosmetic Improvements

Otterbein's chapel received new track lighting and wall hangings during spring and summer. These additions complement improvements to the chapel that began in Summer 1985.

The chapel is located in what was formerly known as Barlow Hall, located on the south end of Clements Hall.

Other improvements will include the installation of stained glass windows which once hung in Towers Hall.

Chaplain Monty Bradley commented that the chapel provides a main base for the religious activities such as the Baptist Student Union, Christian Support Group and Otterbein Christian Fellowship.

Funds for the chapel improvements were provided through a bequest from the estate of Harold McMillan H'59, and a grant from the Booth Ferris Foundation. ■

STUDENT SERVICES

LOOKING TOWARD TOMORROW, AN OTTERBEIN TRADITION

Campus environment and services for the Otterbein student continue to be updated and improved.

One notable movement has been the growth of the Career Development Center, an active service available to assist students and alumni with exploring career opportunities. The Center strives to be an advisory source from a student's first day as a freshman throughout his or her entire College experience. Staff oversee a variety of programs including planning special career days, implementing surveys, keeping faculty and students informed of current employment developments, supervising the Peer Career Adviser program, working with placement and building the career library.

With the growing student population, more attention is being given to the quality of residence life. A majority of Otterbein students continue to live in campus housing, and it has become important and necessary to increase available space and update current facilities through a multiple-year program of residence hall improvements. An essential move toward accomplishing this goal is the total renovation of King Hall. The board of trustees-approved plans will update both comfort and attractiveness of the hall, built in 1926, and residence capacity will grow from 72 to 96. A campaign for $1.4 million to fund the renovation is currently underway.

A new approach to health service is being offered to students this coming year as Otterbein affiliates with St. Ann's Hospital in Westerville. The program will incorporate an emphasis on wellness and a new academic sports medicine program.

Organized student activities at Otterbein remain a vital part of campus life. Areas of student involvement and service that foster leadership qualities, provide social interaction and accomplish important work for the College include the Campus Programming Board, Commuter Association, Residence Hall Council, Leadership Development organization and New Student Orientation.

Religious life continues to be an integral part of Otterbein. A variety of groups and organizations exist for a student body of diverse faiths, and outreach is guided by the College chaplain, who serves as a teacher as well as counselor and planner.

Leadership, social and service opportunities also are provided by Greek organizations at Otterbein, with sorority and fraternity memberships including approximately 56 percent of the student body. ■

Photos to right show (clockwise, starting with left photo) the floor plan for the King Hall remodeling project; King Hall as it appeared in 1930; and Dr. and Mrs. John R. King, 1894 Otterbein graduates for whom the residence hall was named.

King Hall will receive a $1.4 million refurbishing in 1988, as decided by the Otterbein College Board of Trustees during their February 1987 meeting.

King Hall is one of five buildings at Otterbein College constructed before 1930. Ninety-seven percent of Otterbein's living alumni have attended the College since King Hall became part of the campus.

The residence hall was erected in 1926 with a gift of $40,000 from Dr. John R. King and his wife, Zella, both 1894 graduates of Otterbein. The Kings served as missionaries to Sierra Leone from 1894 to 1912, and led the care of children at Otterbein Home from 1912 to 1926.

Next spring's renovation of King Hall will include a new roof, new gutters, exterior cleaning and painting, new windows and doors, resurfaced room walls, new plumbing, enlarged bathrooms that will double current capacity, new lights, a completely new heating system, new fire alarms and sprinklers and new furniture for each room.

"The Campaign for King," kicked off in June, has already raised more than half the necessary funds. Persons interested in contributing should contact Otterbein's vice president for development. ■

Career Center Helps Students Plan Futures

Helping students prepare for the work force and job search, Otterbein Career Development Center's Sixth Annual Career Discovery Week entitled "Sail Into Your Future... Chart Your Career Course" was held February 17 through 20.

Activities included a "Career Cruise," where professionals in accounting, marketing, public relations, social work and administrative services answered students' questions about careers. All professionals represented at "Career Cruise" graduated from Otterbein.

Other events were a resume workshop and programs entitled "Marketing Your Leadership Skills," "Career Treasure Quest," and "Charting Your Course: Is College Major a Major Factor?" ■

Otterbein Graduates 270 Students in 130th Commencement

Two hundred thirty-six seniors received bachelors degrees and 34 students received associate degrees during Otterbein's 130th commencement held June 14. Guest speaker General Charles L. Donnelly, Jr. '50 was honored with a Doctor of Laws Degree. The Class of 1987 is represented here by Rob Gagnon and Rhonda Gearhart.

FINANCE AND BUDGET

A PORTRAIT OF PROGRESS

The fiscal year 1986-87 was financially sound for the College. Otterbein was able to provide significant salary increases and improve benefits for all employees, increase funds for academic programs, teaching equipment and financial aid, and carry out important renovations in campus facilities.

At the close of fiscal year 1987, Otterbein completed 33 years without a deficit in its operating budget.

A major saving in utilities costs was achieved recently when the College joined a program called Self-Help Gas. The program provides fuel to the campus and allows Otterbein to purchase gas independently of the major producers, and, through separate contracts with the transmission companies, have the gas delivered to campus. The program saves the College more than $100,000 a year.

Otterbein also recently installed a new, integrated administrative computer software system. With most components now in use, many improvements are anticipated in managing administrative information.

Within overall capital improvements, residence halls have a high priority. The College completed the second year of a five-year plan to spend $1 million in general upgrading of residence halls. Plans also are underway for the total renovation of King Hall — a $1.4 million project.

An especially bright spot in the Otterbein financial picture has been the growth of the College endowment. In 1982, the endowment was $4 million. Five years later, it has grown to nearly $12 million. Endowment growth resulted from many generous gifts and sound investment management.

A balanced budget has been prepared for the 1987-88 year, and with the promising enrollment picture, Otterbein anticipates a sound fiscal future. ■

Otterbein Alumni Rally to Challenge

Otterbein received a $25,000 challenge grant from The Columbus Foundation for obtaining over $50,000 in new and increased gifts. The Columbus Foundation offered a challenge grant to Otterbein in February 1986 if Otterbein obtained $50,000 by December 31 of that year in unrestricted support from donors who contributed more in 1986 than in 1985.

In response to The Columbus Foundation's challenge, by January 2 the College had received $73,645, which came from $38,432 in new gifts and $35,213 in increased gifts.

Dr. Robert Fogal, vice president of development, commented, "Otterbein alumni respond well to challenge grants. The promotion of the challenge through the phonathon, class agent letters and president's letters was effective." ■

Sun Shines on Homecoming '86

Approximately 500 alumni returned to their alma mater for Homecoming '86 amid sunny skies and good cheer. Alumni band members performed, as is customary, in the Homecoming parade, here represented by Lauren Shuster '84 in the foreground, and Chris Bright '75, alumni band president (background, left).

DEVELOPMENT

SHARING THE VISION

Private gifts and grants received established a new record in 1986-87 of $2.7 million, a vote of confidence in Otterbein from individuals, foundations, corporations, and churches.

At the same time, the endowment campaign, "The Otterbein Vision," came to a close on June 30, 1987, with gifts and commitments exceeding $12.3 million. This first-phase effort to increase endowment established a new and vital base for future support through planned gifts to Otterbein. Additions to the endowment have provided income already benefiting Otterbein students in academic programs across the campus.

A major area of financial support for Otterbein has occurred through the endowed scholarship program. During the most recent academic year, the number of active scholarships grew from 85 to 97, supporting 220 individual students. By 1988-89, the number of scholarships will increase to 109, and an additional 27 scholarships have been pledged and will be established through future gifts and estate commitments.

Another major initiative toward future gifts to Otterbein was the LIFEndowment program. Fifty-five persons made commitments that will ultimately lead to nearly $3 million in additional endowment.

Other areas of the College receiving important, special support this year include: journalism/publications lab; chemistry/equipment from the National Science Foundation; men's athletics through the "O" Club and the "O" Club Foundation; and the department of theatre and dance through the theatre endowment.

A major benefactor of Otterbein educational programs is the Vida S. Clements Foundation. The Foundation was established by Mrs. Vida S. Clements, class of 1901, and grant support from 1968 through February, 1987, has totaled nearly $1.2 million.

Special gifts provide important support to particular areas of Otterbein College. Equal in importance is the unrestricted support provided by thousands of Otterbein alumni and friends through the Otterbein Fund. Unrestricted support for 1986-87 totaled $367,000 which is essential to the College's daily operation. ■

College Matches NEH Challenge Grant

Almost two years ahead of schedule, Otterbein was successful in matching the $250,000 National Endowment for the Humanities (NEH) Challenge Grant.

Rewards in the form of numerous library acquisitions and various programs and projects are already in effect, reported Sylvia Vance, Otterbein NEH project director.

The grant was to have been met on a three-to-one basis by July of 1988. Otterbein matched the requirement in August of 1986, adding nearly a million dollar increase to the College endowment.

"While part of the figure is composed of deferred gifts which do not immediately produce income for the humanities program," Dr. Vance said, "the major portion of the match is now 'money at work' in the Humanities Endowment."

Departments or programs falling under the NEH humanities definitions that benefit from the grant include history, English language and literature, foreign languages, philosophy, political theory, comparative religion and history, theory and criticism of the arts. "Forty percent of the integrative studies programs at Otterbein," Dr. Vance pointed out, "consists of humanities instruction as appraised by NEH guidelines."

A humanities committee, headed by Otterbein professor of foreign language Dr. Roger Neff, was created in conjunction with the NEH grant to provide planning and administer available funds. ■

"O" Club Receives Big Boost from Otterbein Supporter

Thanks to a recent gift to the college athletic boosters, the "O" Club, Otterbein now has access to its own bus.

The bus was donated by Mrs. Dorothy McVay, in memory of her husband, who was formerly on the "O" Club transportation committee that is in charge of purchasing vans for athletic transportation. ■

Dr. Norman H. Dohn '43 (right), on behalf of the College Board of Trustees development committee, presents a symbolic check to Dr. Edwin L. Roush '47, chairman of the Board. The check represents more than $12.3 million in gifts and commitments to "The Otterbein Vision," a five-year endowment-building effort to enrich educational programs, enhance faculty excellence, increase scholarships and other financial aid for students, and strengthen general endowment. See pages 37-40 for a full report on "The Otterbein Vision."

1986-87 HONOR ROLL

Two Victorian-style lighted ceiling fans were added to the Philomathean Room during its recent restoration to improve lighting and ventilation.

HONOR ROLL OF DONORS 1986-87

The Honor Roll of Donors is divided into two sections. The first part recognizes all who have supported Otterbein financially from January 1, 1986 to June 30, 1987. During this period, 4,971 gifts totaled $3,249,748. These gifts were directed to the Otterbein Fund, capital projects, special programs and the endowment. The number of leadership gifts showed important growth compared to the previous year:

	Number of Donors 1985	Number of Donors 1986-87
President's Club	26	43
Towers Club	23	32
1847 Club	99	124
Cardinal Club	99	115
Century II Club	287	357

The second section recognizes participants in the recently completed five-year endowment program, The Otterbein Vision. Their support has been an important part of the growth in Otterbein's endowment during the last three years (see page 15). Future gift commitments made as part of The Otterbein Vision will continue to contribute to this important area of the College's financial health.

Every effort has been made to ensure accuracy in the Honor Roll. If you have questions or corrections, please direct correspondence to the Vice President for Development, Otterbein College, Westerville, Ohio 43081.

We are grateful for the generous and caring spirit throughout the Otterbein community symbolized in these gifts. ■

THE OTTERBEIN VISION

In 1847 the founders of Otterbein College had a vision: to create an institution that would help young adults become thoughtful and productive citizens in a growing nation. Over the decades, that vision has built a College which continues to deliver educational quality as it responds to the needs of students in a changing world.

In medicine and law, in education and the church, in communication and business, in science and the arts, Otterbein people have made important contributions to their communities and their professions.

Otterbein is also fiscally sound. The College has enjoyed a balanced budget since 1954. An important reason for Otterbein's success has been the continuous friendship and financial support provided by many people.

To secure Otterbein's excellent educational and fiscal record, the Board of Trustees in 1982 determined that the College had to strengthen its endowment, setting a first phase goal of $11 million — the largest fund-raising goal in Otterbein's history.

On June 30, 1987, five years later, alumni and friends of Otterbein had made gifts and commitments exceeding $12.3 million to enrich educational programs, enhance faculty excellence, increase scholarships and other financial aid for students, and strengthen general endowment. Many of these gifts made direct additions to specific endowment funds. Others are future commitments that will be fulfilled through bequests, gift annuities, life insurance, charitable trusts and other estate gifts.

We are pleased to acknowledge the persons and organizations whose generosity has helped secure The Otterbein Vision. ■
