FINAL GAME OF THE YEAR LOST

Football Eleven Lose to Kenyon in Last Appearance of This Season.

O. C. PLAYS HARD GAME

Several Rooters From Otterbein on Sidelines—Camp, Mattern, and Howard Do Best Playing.

Playing the last game of this season, the Otterbein foot ball men were defeated by the Kenyon team Saturday afternoon, at Gambier, by a score of 39 to 0. There was very little line smashing and there were no sensational runs, Kenyon scoring all her points by forward passes which the Otterbein eleven were unable to intercept.

The game of Saturday was the last one in which the Tan and Cardinal team is to engage and several Cochran Hall girls together with a few khaki clad S. A. T. C. men were on the scene to root when the chance was given. The game was hard fought and although Kenyon was penalized quite often, the odds were against Otterbein and she was unable to make any headway.

Otterbein displayed far from perfect team work but the play was not ragged. The greatest trouble seemed to be between the backfield and line. Many times they were not able to work together in executing plays. Only short end runs from punt formation were used and these gained but little ground for the team.

No doubt this was a gratifying vic-

Judge Alden Coming Soon on Citizens' Lecture Course

Presenting the first number in the Citizens' lecture course the Montague Light Opera company Saturday evening, Nov. 16, delighted a crowd of listeners which was the largest for years for an opening number. The program was very good.

The next number is George D. Alden, of New York, lecturer, who comes on Friday evening, November 29. Tickets may be had at the Bank of Westerville and Hoffman's at the old price.

Judge Alden, a descendant of John and Priscilla Alden, is one of the best platform men in America. Such newspapers as the Cincinnati Enquirer, Springfield, Mass. Republican, Lowell Courier-Citizen and the Pittsfield Advertiser, have written flatteringly of him. He is strongly endorsed by Senator Warren G. Harding and other public men.

Otterbein Now Boasts of An Organized Girls' Glee Club

In the absence of a men's glee club in these military times, a girls' glee club has been organized. Professor Spessard is director of the club, and he has chosen the voices from among the musical people of the college. The first meeting was held Monday night, and the following officers were elected:

President—Audrey Nelson.

Secretary and Treasurer—Agnes Wright.

Manager—Ethel Eubanks.

The organization is composed of: Cleo Coppock, Lois Clark, Gladys Lake, Audrey Nelson, Marie Staats, Elizabeth Fontanelle, Beatrice Fisher, Nelle Mills, Wray Richardson, May Selman, Helen Keller, Lorna Clow, Helen Vance, Goldie Windom, Esther Harley, Vida Wilhelm, Ethel Eubanks, Fay Byers, Edith Bingham, Bertha Hancock, Agnes Wright.

Invitation to Barracks:

Thursday afternoon at 3:00 o'clock, the citizens of Westerville are cordially invited to visit and inspect the barracks where the young men of the Otterbein S. A. T. C. are housed and fed. From 4:30 to 6:00, the officers and "rookies" will have "open house" for the young ladies of the college. A buffet lunch will be served from 5:00 until 6:00 in the mess hall.

Briner In Charge.

Orville Briner who has been in Y. M. C. A. work at the Columbus Barracks for several months will have charge of the local post exchange for S. A. T. C. men which will likely be opened next week. Mr. Briner would appreciate anything in the way of furniture, such as chairs, stoves, rugs and cushions to make the house comfortable for the men. Communications should be made with the college office.

'Nother Rally!

Friday night at the regular hour of 9 p. m. those loyal students who were enthusiastic enough to come out in the cold, gathered for a rally, preparatory to beating Kenyon in football. The crowd snake-danced up town, yelled in the heart of the city, snake-danced back, and piled in the chapel after the approved fashion of rallies. The speeches the fellows made persuaded their listeners fully that Otterbein would get Kenyon Saturday.

Ralph Vernon Married.

Just as we go to press, word comes of the marriage of Ralph Vernon and Miss Daisy Bowman of North Lawrence.

Director Glenn Grant Grabill

Director Grabill some time ago obtained the degree of A. A. G. O. This being interpreted means associate of the American Guild of Organists which organization is not a "jinning" society, but composed only of musicians who are willing to submit to an exhaustive two days examination. They must merit fifty per cent. at least in each item of the two days' tests, with no lower than seventy per cent. as a total grade. For the organ playing tests, the judges are screened off, so they may not know who is performing. The paper tests are judged by no less musicians than Samuel Baldwin and Horatio Parker, both noted organists and composers. The number of organists of the U. S. attaining this degree is offered each year comparatively few. There is only one examination. The last examination was attempted by over eighty candidates, from the various parts of the U. S. A., more than half of whom failed to receive passing marks. Those passing receive a diploma, having affixed the signatures of the examiners together with the officers of the Guild.

Cabinet Honors President.

Honoring Mrs. Lyndon La Rouché, who was recently married, the Y. W. C. A. cabinet gave an informal surprise party in Room eleven, second floor of Cochran Hall Saturday evening. Mrs. La Rouché, who was formerly Miss Jessie Wier, is president of the college Y. W. C. A. Her husband left last week to do reconstruction work in France.

As Mrs. La Rouché entered the room, entirely ignorant of what was about to occur, the cabinet "orchestra" began to play "Here Comes the Bride." After a number of songs and a good social time together, refreshments were served. Mrs. La Rouché was then given a silver sandwich tray.

STUDENTS HEAR BRITISH PASTOR

Very Reverend Canon S. A. Johnston Gives Unique Talk in Chapel Friday Morning.

RECEIVES HEARTY WELCOME

Delegate to World Wide Anti-Saloon League Conference Held in Columbus Last Week.

In the chapel service Friday morning Otterbein students and friends had the unusual pleasure of hearing an address by the Very Reverend Canon S. A. Johnston, Rector of St. George's Church, Birmingham, England. As a representative of Great Britain, Canon Johnston is attending the World-wide Anti-Saloon League Conference now being held in Columbus, and since his stay in this country is to be of short duration, Otterbein was greatly favored in securing such a distinguished speaker.

That which impressed him most, the Canon said, was the American enthusiasm, the big way in which they go about things. Since this is his first visit to America he had never before come into direct contact with the American spirit of which he had seen so many evidences, especially since the United States entered the war. He spoke briefly of the terrible loss in lives and money sustained each year through the liquor traffic and hoped the time had now come for the whole world to be free from it. Most of his remarks were centered on the importance of building up an

Westerville Red Cross Again Elects Rosselot President

At the annual meeting of the Westerville Red Cross, Tuesday evening, the following officers were chosen for the coming year:

President, A. P. Rosselot; vice president, Mrs. C. S. Pilkington; secretary, Mrs. F. N. Thomas; treasurer, C. H. Sowers; executive committee, E. J. Richardson, Miss Cora McFadden, Charles Snavelly, Miss Ethel Hoffman, G. L. Stoughton, W. B. Johnston, Mrs. Helen G. Snavelly.

The success of the past year is due to the untiring work of the heads of departments and their helpers and every one who so faithfully did his or her bit. The coming year should be a most important one. Much work is to be done here and in foreign countries. If every Red Cross worker, says President Rosselot, is as diligent and faithful the coming year as in the past year Westerville will not only maintain but surpass her proud record.

influential personality and keeping true to one's personal convictions. Christ blessed and healed those about him unconsciously by means of his personality and high ideals. If we have a worthy aim and hold rigidly to it, remembering always that the future depends upon the present, we will constantly develop a stronger personality, have influence on those whose lives touch ours, and leave the world a better place than we found it. It pays to uphold our own convictions even if we are in the minority, the Canon said. He always admired Mr. Bryan, whom he spoke of as our "champion leader of minorities."

The growing feeling of fellowship and brotherhood between the two nations who speak the same tongue was exemplified in Canon Johnston's address. He also displayed the "Old English" wit, and whole-hearted, genial spirit of a true "Britisher." Many were anxious to shake hands with him when he finished speaking.

EDITORIALS

We cheat ourselves in many ways.
We juggle our motives, doing something wrong, or unworthy under a pretext which confuses our real reason.—Anon.

Hold Your Temper.

Get mad if you must, but don't fly off the handle, is the advice of a sage.
When you express yourself others see what's in you, and as a rule see less than they thought was there; but if you are silent you have them guessing, and the chances are that they will think there's more in you than there really is—which will be greatly to your advantage.—Exchange.

Concerning Conservation.

Men will win the War—ships will win the War—food will win the War —labor will win the War—conservation will win the War—well, they did.

The War is won. The German goose-step has given way to the Foch trot, and everybody's happy.

You men of the S. A. T. C. probably have a bit of regret mixed with your happiness, the regret of not having been there personally to see that things were properly wound up.
It is certainly discouraging to be all nerved up to rush down and capture a burglar, and arrive on the scene to find the police have him neatly shackled. However, there's no use in feeling useless these days, for the door of service, far from being labeled "Closed since Nov. 11," is wider open than ever.

And not the least of the ways of service is conservation.

Conservation? You know conservation. It used to be "Conserve to help win the War." Now it is "Conserve to help pay the cost of Victory.
The need of it remains the same.
For Uncle Sam, now that the War is over, can not sit peacefully back in his easy chair and take a well deserved rest. No. Now is the time above all others when we must not relax a moment.

The expenses of war did not cease with the firing of guns. The money must go now, not for destruction, but for reconstruction. More than 120,000,000 men, women, and children of our Allies are now dependent wholly or in part on America for food to keep them alive. Uncle Sam must play dinner host to all of Europe—even to the latest guest—all powerful and all-hungry Germany herself!

Our army of 2,000,000 men in France has not magically dissolved at the first breath of peace. It is still in France, not fighting, but working, guarding regained territory, helping in the great task of rebuilding a country ravaged and plundered by war. This army must still have the best that America can provide in the way of clothing, food and equipment, as must also the other army of over a million men in this country, men like yourselves who are willing to serve actively, but whose services were not required in that form. The nation is glad and eager to do all in its power to express its deep gratitude.

But that nation's expenses right now are going on at the rate of one and a half billions of dollars a month.
Another Liberty Loan is looming on the horizon and taxes run merrily along, war or no war. Is it fair to impose any more than is absolutely necessary on your Government at this time of all times?

Waste is one enemy that cannot be made to sign an armistice. It is fighting all the time, slyly, alertly, day and night, not in a spectacular manner, but quietly and insidiously.
Every army camp and every S. A. T.
C. camp in the country that does not take active arms against it had better demobilize at once. Uncle Sam may not need you to fight for him, but he does need you to save for him.
Save food. Take what you need on your plate, and no more. The doctrine of the clean plate is still fashionable. Save clothing by taking care of what you have. Needles, thread, shoe-brushes, soap and water may not be impressive weapons with which to fight, but they turn the trick. Save lights—turn 'em off when they are not in actual use. Save everything that you possibly can.

No need of Conservation now?
More need than ever!

Thanksgiving

Thanksgiving! The pronouncing of the word brings visions before your eyes, you get life size portraits of turkeys, almost too fat to strut, of pumpkins with the frost still on them, of corn fields, content to rest after yielding their golden harvest.

The scene changes, is transformed.
The turkey, the pumpkin, the cornfield appear again, but in different forms. Your father beams as he brandishes a shining carving knife over the body of the bird that was once lord in his kingdom, your mother smiles, as mothers do, as she offers thanks that all are together once more, your little sister or brother announces proudly that the pies are made from the "pumpkin that grew in my garden." And you are happy, you are thankful for life and home.

Again the scene changes. You see great armies, their duty done, celebrating the most real Thanksgiving the world has ever known, you see barbarism reduced to oblivion, you see the spirit of democracy, which has crowned your homeland, begin its healing work in the land of your brother.

As you look, you are happy. Peace is here.

Have You Realized—

Have you realized how little the war has really touched us? Have you thought how few of our men have been called to pay the supreme sacrifice? Look at our service flag.
Among the blue stars, which are not nearly enough to represent our men in service, there are only three gold ones. Three men only, so far as we know now, from the great number with the colors, have died for the cause they served.

In our Thanksgiving this year should we not bow a humble gratitude to the God of Battles, who has kept our men safe in danger, to the Lord of Hosts, who has heard our prayer, who has kept our men, over there, in His care, and who will "bring them home, vict'ry crowned."

Notice

There will be no issue of the Tan and Cardinal next week. Under normal conditions, there would be a vacation from the Wednesday before Thanksgiving until the Tuesday following, and the Staff feels that it is entitled to a slight vacation, even though college classes continue this year. You will remember that during the weeks of quarantine the Tan and Cardinal appeared as usual.
Therefore we are declaring a holiday for both Staff and readers, this one week; and we wish you all a very happy Thanksgiving.

Idle Dreams.

If I were not so weighty and if my Wintry years were not so close to 80, I'd scrap like seven steers. You would not see me sitting here in an easy chair, while martial lads are hitting each other everywhere. I'd like to be a flier, and mount an aero-plane, and soar up high and higher than you'd consider sane. I'd chase the Prussian birdmen with patriotic glee and show them they're absurd men to mix things up with me. To Potsdam I'd go flopping on my large duplex wings, and there they'd see me dropping a lot of bombs and things. I'd spoil the Kaiser's palace, and leave it pounded flat, or else I'd bust a gallus and likewise break a stat. And then I'd work my pedals, and soar back whence I came, and have a lot of medals hung on my hero frame. And Pershing, Foch and Joffre would cry "Parbleu! Gee whiz!

Did ever mortal duffer see valor such as his?" And every pretty maiden within a dozen miles would come, with laurels laden, and hand me wreaths and smiles. My picture would be printed in all the magazines:
"this man," it would be hinted, "has spilled the Prussian beans!" Alas, an old guy's dreaming is vain and futile now; I hear the housewife screaming, "It's time to milk the cow!" For me no tilts or tourneys to shake the tyrants' thrones; on little piffling journeys I stir my ancient bones.—Walt Mason.

General Conservation's come to our camp to stay,

To save our scraps, patch up our clothes, and haul our junk away.
I yearn to lead a wasteful life, but I don't dare, 'cause, gee!

Old General Conservation's got his awful eye on me!

A Dream of the Return.

The others leaned toward him unconsciously. "Even now in our banishment we can look on with pride as people of all races worship the ancestors and memorials of ours. Even now the influence of the few poor Jews in Jerusalem who wail and mourn beside its walls in the evening is paramount among the rest." He glanced about triumphantly, then saddened as he went on. "Yet we can do nothing, nothing. We scratch on the surface of things but where is the gain? We talk of funds and universities but as long as the heathen Turks patrol the holy streets we must continue to mourn and groan outside the city walls."

It was left for Joseph Goldrich, finally, to break the silence and say what he knew they all wanted him to say. "Father, the Jewish race still lives in us. Do not be discouraged for some day we may help fulfill your plans."

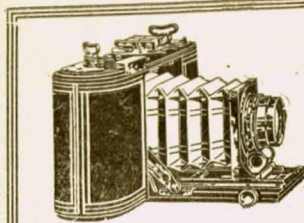

The clock on the landing of the stairs struck eleven and the street lamp in front of the house began to flicker occasionally. The men, one by one, began to arise and start toward the hat-rack in the hall exchanging the conventional words of parting in subdued voices. Father Thalmann, the last to leave, pressed Goldrich's hand meaningly as he went toward the door.

Just then a cheery "good-night" was heard, and a bouncing step on the porch. As the door swung open Rebecca rushed in, jostling the old Rabbi's arm severely in her haste.

"Many pardons, Father," she said cowering, "I was very rude."

"My child," replied Rabbi Thalmann majestically, "you have forgiveness, but keep ever in mind consideration and respect."

As soon as he had closed the door Rebecca's good spirits returned. "Oh, dad, we had the grandest practice—

Y. M. C. A.

Thursday night's meeting of the Y might have been called a leaderless meeting, being in charge of the president of the local association, R. J. Harmelink. Departing from the usual custom of choosing a subject for a talk, the president merely made a few remarks to the men in regard to the prospects for the Y. M. C. A. in Otterbein for the rest of the year.

Within the next week the house East of the library on College avenue will be put in shape and fitted up for a "Y" headquarters. The building has been rented by the College and turned over to the Y. M. C. A. to use as it sees fit. There will be room for the secretary's desk for the distribution of desk supplies, a reading room, a writing room, and such other things as it may be found advisable to establish. In case the possibility of a post exchange becomes a reality two of the rooms may be sublet to the company for the exchange.

With the opening of the "Y" rooms will come a secretary, Mr. Briner, a graduate of Otterbein of the class of '14 and at present doing "Y" work at the Columbus barracks. He has had a good bit of experience in the work and is full of enthusiasm and ideas which he has the ability to put in practice. Announcement will be made later as to the date of the formal opening of the building.

Bertha Hancock led a wide-awake interesting meeting in Y. W. C. A. on Tuesday night, on the broad subject "The Wide, Wide World." The leader based her talk upon world conditions of today. For four years we have talked world war, and now the popular subject is world peace and world wide Christianity. We have seen the results of greed and avarice in the example that Germany set before us, and we saw how that once great nation fell, as a result of trusting in her own puny strength. Had she trusted in God as did the Allies, she might now still be a strong nation. But a crisis has been reached. The nations of the world have come to believe that there is a God.

America aided in bringing about this crisis, by sending provisions and soldiers to aid the Allies. Just as she has risen to the cry for aid and helped in war, America will also have a large part to play in the peace terms. After that, she will have her part to play in the reconstruction period. Our great nation did not enter the war depending on her own strength, but she took God with her to the front, and the soldiers have accepted Him as never before.
