COLEMAN GIVES FIVE LECTURES

Speaks in Chapel on Subject, "Team Work"—Nations Must be Taught to Work Together.

TOWNSPEOPLE HEAR TALK

Dr. Coleman Believes that New Clause Should be Inserted in U. S. Constitution.

All the students and visitors who attended chapel Tuesday morning were privileged to hear a splendid talk on "Constitutional Efficiency" by James Coleman, educational secretary of the Reformed Presbyterian church. This was but one of five lectures which Mr. Coleman has given in Westerville this week, for both the students and townspeople. His purpose is to arouse a public sentiment which will bring about the insertion in the preamble of the United States constitution of a clause recognizing the authority of Jesus Christ and thus making this a true Christian nation.

In the chapel service Mr. Coleman emphasized the value of team work in everything, on the Athletic field, in the home, in the church, and in the government. Team work is important, he said, because it requires that all work by the same set of rules or by a common law, and demands some sacrifice from each. This is the principle which President Wilson is trying to teach and upon which the league of nations must be founded if it is to succeed. Following this idea in his other talks, Mr. Coleman

Recital to be Given on Tuesday Evening, Jan. 28.

Otterbein's first recital of the year will be held on Tuesday evening, January 28. The time is 8:00 o'clock, in the place Lambert Hall. Owing to the unusual conditions prevailing during the first part of the year no recital has yet been given by the School of Music. It is reasonable to assume that with so long a time of preparation on the part of the performers, those interested in music will hear an exceptionally well rendered program. The first number is the wonderful "Overture" from Richard Wagner's "Tannhauser," given as a piano quartet, Miss Agnes Wright having the leading part. This number alone ought to bring a large audience. Besides the quartet there will be a varied program of violin, piano and vocal numbers.

BRINER Y. M. C. A. SECRETARY

Has Had Army Experience—"Y" Building Being Furnished—Bible Study Classes to be Formed.

Putting into practice the principles of applied Christianity will be the aim of the Otterbein Y. M. C. A. this year, according to the president of the Association, R. J. Harmelink. O. W. Briner, '14, is on the job as secretary for the Association and is already putting into operation new plans for a broader work among the men of the College. He has had experience not only among students but also among the men of the army, having been stationed at the Columbus Barracks for several months.

The parlors of the "Y" building, long considered useless, are being redecorated and furnished. The College took the initiative in fixing up the building itself, putting it in better condition than it has been for some time. To the local association fell the work of furnishing the place to meet the needs of the students as

U. B. CHOIR GIVES CANTATA

Professor Spessard Directs Music—Solo Work Pleasingly Rendered—Appreciative Audience Present.

"The Story of Christmas," a cantata by Mathews, was given Sunday evening by the choir of the United Brethren church. This cantata was to have been given before the Christmas recess, but was postponed on account of the influenza epidemic.

The production was divided into four parts. The first part was the prophecy of Christ's coming, with the announcement to Mary; the second described the vision and journey of the Shepherds; the third part told of the quest of the Magi; the fourth gave the fulfillment of the prophecy.

Audrey Nelson sang the leading soprano solos. The first was the message of the angel Gabriel as he came to Mary with the word that she was to have a son who would reign in the house of Jacob; then, the glad tidings brought to the shepherds—"Unto you is born, in the city of David, a Savior, Christ the Lord."

Miss Nelson's singing was characterized by ease and poise. Her tone quality had the clearness and finish that comes from confidence.

Mr. Hollinger sang the part in which the tidings of Christ's birth are brought to Herod. His voice is a wonderfully deep baritone. This was his first appearance as a member of the choir.

Helen Keller rendered very well the

NEW CLUB ORGANIZED

Membership in Club Purely Honorary—Purpose is to Awaken Interest in Modern Literature.

The department of English takes great pride in introducing the Quiz and Quill club to the faculty and students of Otterbein.

This club has been organized for the purpose of stimulating more interest in the English language and literature; to awaken a taste for the most worthwhile in modern poetry and prose, and to direct and encourage any special talent for creative writing that members may show.

To be elected to membership in the Quiz and Quill, the student must be of Senior or Junior rank in college, hold active membership in one of the literary societies, have completed one and one-half units of English, and show evidences of exceptional ability and taste in English work. Because of such qualifications, election to the club will be purely honorary and will be indicative of the highest rank in college English classes.

The organizers and present members of the club hope to make it mean much for Otterbein and expect the approval and support of every professor and student, for a working knowledge of the English language is essential in any line of college activity, and the more proficient one becomes in the use of it, the greater the degree of success in other branches of learning.

OTTERBEIN LOSES GAME

Capital Shows Good Team Work and Wins Easily. Large Crowd Accompanies Team.

Last Friday evening Otterbein met the basket ball team of Capital University on the latter's floor, playing before what was said to be the largest crowd that ever assembled in the Gym. Otterbein taking the little end of the score in the exceedingly uninteresting game. The visiting team was accompanied by something like a hundred students but it can hardly be said that the team was supported.

At the very outset of the game interest ran high when for nearly two minutes neither team was able to score. Finally the Columbus tossers got busy and resorted to their familiar fast passing and in a short time had caged the ball for the first time. From this time on the game was all Capital's way. So fast was their work that they rolled up 20 points before Otterbein was able to count. This sort of thing continued and the half ended with a score of 40

HYPNOTIST WINS HEARTY PRAISE

Dr. Finton Uses College Boys as Subjects in Demonstrations of Hypnotism.

AIRSHIP TRIP A FEATURE

Boys Enjoy Fleeting Trip to Europe and Bring Kaiser Back to Westerville Before Waking.

Many doubters became believers, and those who already had faith in hypnotic power grew firmer in their belief, when Prof. Finton, principal of the high school at Findlay, Ohio, appeared in the college chapel Saturday evening. Prof. Finton, who was brought here under the auspices of the Junior class, stated that the aim of the evening was two fold; to make people laugh, and to give them something to think about. The audience universally agreed at the close of the program, that he had reached his goal.

Prof. Finton began his program by telling the real value of hypnotism in the treatment of certain diseases, in administering a hypnotic instead of an anesthetic when a surgical operation is to be performed, and in the treatment of the victims of shell shock in the late war.

Then he turned to a practical demonstration of hypnotism, furnishing explanations for the conduct of his subjects as he proceeded. After a number of individual tests, he showed his power by working on the entire group of subjects, and one by one the

Going Up!

The world is like a see-saw, and everything is well balanced, even our meals. But what we want to know is this, when board goes up, what comes down? This ought to furnish food for thought.

Time of Contest Announced

Prof. Fritz announces that the Declamation Contest will be held Thursday evening, February 27, in the college chapel. This is a contest which always creates a great deal of interest among both college folk and townspeople. Only Freshmen and Sophomores may enter. The first prize is fifteen dollars, the second, ten dollars, and the third five dollars. The names of the contestants will be announced later.

boys fell to the floor with a thud, in a condition of hypnotic sleep.

Probably one of the funniest little comedies was played in a strawberry patch, when half the boys believed themselves to be young ladies. He said they all acted perfectly natural in the environment he created. Perhaps they did!

The big event of the evening was a trip in an airship to the battlefields of France. The boys saw vividly all the horror of war, as was easily shown by their actions and the expression on their faces as they gazed on the dead and dying, and followed the retreating Germans. They also went into Holland, captured the Kaiser, and brought him proudly back to Westerville.

Before restoring the boys to their normal state, Prof. Finton told them that henceforth they would recognize their own powers and would have more strength of will power and confidence in whatever they would undertake.

well as possible. To this end curtains are being put up at the windows, a few more easy chairs added, and other minor things done to add to the looks and comfort of the rooms. Daily papers and magazines will be placed on the tables and writing facilities provided. For further amusement and recreation some simple games will be at the disposal of the men. Not as much can be done in this way now as could be desired but these improvements are bound to lead to others in the course of time.

Not only does the program of activities cover the social and recreational needs of the men but a great deal of attention will be paid to their religious life. A detailed program of Bible study has been planned to be carried out in the very near future. Bible discussion groups will probably be formed immediately after the beginning of the next semester. On Thursday evenings the usual devotional meetings, will be held and these will be planned to cover problems that actually confront a man in College as well as out in the bigger outside world.

As the year progresses, it is hinted, several new phases of work will be entered upon. The school may expect to hear more from the Y. M. C. A. before the year is over.

part which describes the visit of the Wise Men to the King. She had good breath control, and her words were pronounced distinctly.

Ethel Eubanks sang the lullaby for the Holy Child—"Sleep, Holy Babe." Her tones were characterized by their sweetness and richness; her manner, by poise and ease.

Beatrice Fisher, in the triumphant solo—the fulfillment of the prophecy, the promise for world redemption, sang in clear, full tones. She also made her first public appearance, and Otterbein will look forward with much pleasure to hearing her often during the year.

The rendering of this cantata was satisfactory and pleasing in every way, and too much credit cannot be given to the director, Professor Spessard, and the organist, Professor Grabill, as well as to every one who took part.

concluded by showing that the United States, which is molding the thought of other nations, should express loyalty to Christ through its government, for there can be no league of nations without Christianity as its basis.

Following is the preamble which Mr. Coleman wishes to have adopted: "We, the people of the United States devoutly recognizing the Authority and Law of Jesus Christ, the Saviour, and King of nations, and desiring to form a more perfect Union, establish Justice, insure domestic Tranquility, provide for the common Defense, promote the general Welfare, and secure the Blessings of Liberty to ourselves and our posterity, do ordain and establish this constitution for the United States of America."

Otterbein Basketball Schedule.

Otterbein's basketball manager has arranged a schedule of twelve games with some of the fastest teams in the state. Five of the remaining nine games are to be played at home, so that Otterbein fans will have ample opportunity to see the team play. The entire schedule follows.

to 6 in favor of the Capital quintet.

At the beginning of the second half Capital ran in her second team and Otterbein made substitutions in a mad effort to stop the onrush of the Columbus lads. As a result the second period was little less than a rough and tumble on the floor. Likewise Capital took the lead in this half and the game ended with a score of 48 to 9.

Otterbein showed the lack of team work and had much difficulty in getting organized. Throughout the whole game they resorted to long shots which went wide of the basket. If there was a star player on the Tan and Cardinal team it was Freeman, as he was the only one able to score. For Capital, Wild and Winterhoff did the best work. The lineup is as follows:

Otterbein	Capital
Hollinger	R. F. Ridenour
Albright	L. F. Holstein
Freeman	C. Wild
Fox	R. G. Rickert
Meyers	L. G. Winterhoff

Field goals—Wild, 6; Winterhoff, 5; Holstein, 5; Ridenour 4; Freeman, 3; Rickert 2.

Fouls—Rickert, 4 out of 6; Fox, 3 out of 8.

Referee—Dunlap of Denison.

Substitutions—Kantzer for Rickert; Lamphardner for Ridenour; Feick for Holstein; Windom for Meyers; Sprout for Fox; Richmond for Albright.

Rally Round the Basket-ball.

Thursday night after society the students held a rally in the chapel to arouse enthusiasm for the game with Capital Friday night. Dr. Jones and Prof. Weinland were the speakers of the evening, entertaining their listeners with funny stories and reminiscences of other days in Otterbein's basketball history. One of the musical features was a sextette composed of young men, which sang for the audience. After some peppy speeches, songs and yells, the rally broke up.

One of the most useful pieces of advice is the slang expression "forget it."

Yesterday with its disappointments and "left to the jaw" is passed—let's forget it. We took the old kayo yesterday but today we'll crawl thru the ropes grinning and begging for more. If we get floored again we'll take our medicine like a man and forget it, and be so much the wiser.

When someone hands you a bum line, punch his nose and forget it. When you hear some scandal or a name dragged in the dirt . . . forget it. When you loan a fellow "jack" . . . just forget it; but when you borrow—pay him up.

If you think that everything that's rotten is coming your way and that somebody's got it in for you and is riding you,—forget it, kid, you're off your trolley.

When you are tempted to tell your own hard luck, or when someone pours his troubles in your ear, forget it. When you've got the blues and are feeling low, or if you've got a pain in your head, a full night's sleep will help you—forget it.

And remember your ambition ought to be, and your duty is—to better yourself. If you've got the idea that it's easy to do or that life is a cinch—get it out of your head—just forget it.—The Case Tech.

Examinations.

What is it that causes the burning of more electricity, the consumption of more candles, puts money into the pockets of pen, ink, and paper manufacturers, uses up more nerve tissue and more religion, turns a mild looking professor into an ogre, and an innocent young damsel or a gallant young gentleman into an inconglom-erate heap, without power of feeling?
The answer is painfully simple—examinations.

No wonder the pastor of the church finds February first the most suitable time for a revival—having just passed through a revival of learning, one's fund of "ethics" has been shamefully depleted.

You go into the once familiar classroom—the blackboard is covered with row after row of hieroglyphics, probably meant to phrase perfectly good English sentences. The professor at whom you have smiled so hopefully for weeks past, now glances at you with an "I told you so" grin. You yourself, clutching at bits of information saved from the wreck, seem to be floating away on a sea of printed matter.

At intervals you land on an island.
You write busily for about two lines,
then the island itself seems to melt away and you are adrift again. This process is repeated indefinitely.

There is no one to take pity on you,
no one competent to offer help, although many can extend the hand of fellowship. Gradually you lose faith in humanity and you agree that "much wisdom is wearisome to the flesh." You even determine to write an editorial or a drama with the title, "The Absurdity of Education." By this means, you can become famous without having your brain searched semi-annually.

There is, however, a brighter side to this picture. Because of the great elasticity and adaptability of youth, within four months the memory of this ordeal has disappeared in the dim dawn of antiquity and—exam time has come again!

—G. M. A.

The Quiz and Quill Club.

With the organization of the Quiz
and Quill Club, the heads of the English department hope to give a new stimulus to advanced literary work, in this way filling a need that has been felt in Otterbein for some time.

It is strange that so many of us are eager to devote our energies to all other branches of education, but must be forced to read great authors, and compelled to obtain even a working knowledge of our language.

The ability to express a thought in clear, vigorous language, the adoption of a simple style in writing, and the possession of at least a passing acquaintance with the best in English literature, are indispensable requirements in successful business and social life.

By granting membership in the club only to those whose attainments and tastes in the department of English are highest, the members mean to present new standards and ideals of scholarship, to create a greater desire for worthwhile literature among the general student body, and to encourage such talents for creative writing, so may be found among the members of the club.

Prohibition at Last.

At last the day has come, to which we have been looking forward so anxiously for years. It is a day which is welcomed by those who truly have the welfare of the nation at heart.
The United States is dry! Within the year Dinty Moore and men of his occupation will go out of the questionable business of keeping a saloon, and will be forced to seek another means of livelihood. The people of Ohio so recently rejoiced in the state victory over saloons, and now the overwhelming fact that the whole nation is dry has burst upon us. When we pass along the streets in large cities, we will not be obliged to dodge the path of men reeling in drunkenness. Undoubtedly, the police forces will have less to do than ever before,
because they will not have their usual task of hauling the "toughs" and "bums" on their occasional visit from the corner saloon to the station-house.

This epoch should be a sign of prosperity, for who can say, with a clear conscience, that with this evil removed, our nation will not be the cleanest and best in the world?

—E. A. H.

In the motley fragrance throw."
Hand of slaughter, crimson red,
Poison gas by kultur sped,
Tongue and lip of perjured Hun,
Sixtus' letter, Princip's gun,
Bitter tear of Belgian maid,
Severed hands of tender babe,
Ash from many a holy fane
Smoking 'neath the pitying rain;
Poppies red from Fryatt's grave,
Spikes that crucified the brave;
Foul disease germs floating by,
Hunnish oath and Cavell's sigh.
Wilhelm stirs the horrid broth—
Mixed with German curse and oath,
With the witches' wand that bore
German flag of black and gore,
That in Belgian lands was seen

The song is dedicated to the "Blue Devils" of France, in whose honor it was first sung by the Pittsburgh Male Chorus at Exposition Music Hall last June. ### Y. M. C. A.

The Y. M. C. A. was addressed by Rev. Prof. James M. Coleman, and it was the last of the series at Otterbein. He said in part: Christianity is a practical thing, a vital thing, and that the Bible is really the guide-book of life. Men have tried many other things, but all have failed. A Professor of the Sorbon, saying France had tried Art, and Science, and Philosophy, when asked if it had tried the Sermon on the Mount, replied it had not. The only democracy is the democracy of Jesus, and his church is the most democratic institution in all the world. High and low, rich and poor, meet together. His religion is the only thing that will make a real democracy for the world.

Y. W. C. A.

Virginia Bürtner, led last Tuesday's meeting with the rather difficult subject, "The Gap." She chose two scripture lessons which applied to the subject. One was the story of the self-righteous priest and the religious Levite who passed by the suffering man who lay by the road side and called for help, and the poor Samaritan who had a warm heart and a desire to help the wounded man. This Samaritan filled the gap by doing what the self-righteous priest and pious Levite would not stoop to do. The leader also read the story of Martha, the busy housewife, and Mary, who knelt at her Savior's feet. Too often college girls busy themselves with Martha's petty tasks when they should be listening to His teachings. The girls entered into the discussion and found many gaps in college and home life to be filled, if only they were alert and ready to see their duty.

Reinstatement in the Civil Service of Men Who Left to Bear Arms.

Anticipating the time when men who left the Federal classified civil service to take up arms in defense of the country would be mustered out and, therefore, seeking employment, the United States Civil Service Commission recommended to the President that provision be made for reinstatement in the civil service of such men. Accordingly, the President issued the following Executive Order dated July 18, 1918:

"A person leaving the classified civil service to engage in the military or naval service of the Government during the present war with Germany and who has been honorably discharged may be reinstated in the civil service at any time within five years after his discharge, provided that at the time of reinstatement he has the required fitness to perform the duties of the position to which reinstatement is sought."

It will be noted that under the terms of the Executive Order, a man who was separated from the civil establishment to take part in the war may be reinstated in a civil service position within five years after his discharge from the military or naval service. It will further be noted that there is no restriction that the man must be reinstated in the particular position from which he was separated. Under the terms of the Executive Order, he may be reinstated anywhere in the civil service, provided that at the time of reinstatement he has the required fitness to perform the duties of the position to which reinstatement is sought.
