SUMMER SCHOOL PROSPECTS GOOD

Return to Normal Conditions is Expected to Revive Old Time Interest and Attendance.

NEW INSTRUCTORS SECURED

Newly Elected County Superintendent to Head Department of School Administration and Methods.

Otterbein's summer school program promises to be one of the best for some years. In all probability the attendance will be larger than for several years. The removal of the stress of war conditions and the return to a normal program will doubtless bring back the old time attendance.

The college is fortunate in securing two splendid teachers for school subjects. The newly elected superintendent of schools for Franklin County, Mr. Charles W. Cookson, A. M., Ped. D. will teach School Management, School Administration, School Methods and Arithmetic. Mr. Cookson has had a wide experience as a school man. He has been superintendent of the schools at Shawnee, New Straitsville, Somerset and Troy. For the past seven years he has been a teacher in the summer school at Miami University. Otterbein is glad to introduce him to her teachers and to make this opportunity for Franklin County teachers to become acquainted with their new superintendent.

Miss Haidee Gross will succeed Miss Chase. She will have charge of the Model School with practice and critic teacher. Miss Gross is a graduate of the State Normal, Athens, Ohio and has studied widely in several large universities. During the past few years she has been county director of normal work in Ansonia and Pataskala, Ohio.

Walter Jones Speaks at Club.

At the regular fortnightly meeting of the Quiz and Quill Club the members especially were honored in two ways. Instead of meeting in the Administration Building as usual, Professor Altman entertained the club at his home on East College avenue. The session took on added importance through the presence of Walter Jones, a well known short story writer from Boston, and son of Dr. Jones. Mr. Jones gave a practical talk on the art of short story writing from a practical standpoint. He delighted his hearers with accounts of his own personal experiences. The members of the Quiz and Quill club feel proud to count Mr. Jones among their friends.

Ramey H. Huber.

Mr. Huber will be next editor of the Tan and Cardinal. He is well qualified for this important position, in that he has literary ability, together with the executive qualities and initiative necessary for a successful administration. He is a member of the class of '20. With a capable staff to support him, readers of the Tan and Cardinal may rest assured that the college paper is in safe hands for the coming year.

Work to Begin Monday.

Monday, April 7, the excavation for the basement of the new Science Building will be started. Construction will proceed as fast as the weather conditions permit and contracts are decided upon. Building material prices are being watched and every minimum cost will be taken advantage of.

Summer School Meets Standards.

The work of the Otterbein Summer School meets all the requirements of the new school law and is fully endorsed by the state school commissioner.

MEMORIAL SERVICE HELD

Fitting Tribute and Respect is Paid the Life of Doctor Miller by Philomatheans and Friends.

As a tribute to the life of Dr. F. E. Miller one of her most beloved and time-honored members Philomathean invited her friends to share with her the solemnity of a beautiful memorial service last Friday evening at her hall. The service was simple and impressive. During the evening, there was presented by several of Dr. Miller's intimate associates his complete life.

Dr. Jones chose his scripture reading from the Ninetieth Psalm, the thirteenth chapter of St. Luke and several passages from Revelations. After these appropriate selections he offered an earnest and touching prayer.

Professor Wagoner then spoke of Dr. Miller as he had known him, as a college student, as a Philomathean and as a mathematician.

Mr. Replogle gave a splendid review of Dr. Miller and his work as a student saw it. His talk was inspiring and reverent, revealing many of the everyday occurrences which reflected the man of the classroom.

Dr. Snively presented still another phase of the man's life, that of the faculty member. His characteristic precision and sound judgment were enlarged upon in the course of the talk.

As a fitting close to the evening's service Dr. Clippinger added a few remarks emphasizing our heritage from Dr. Miller's life.

The characteristic praised most highly in Dr. Miller's life was his simplicity. Simplicity seemed to be the watchword of his existence. He was endowed with a dignity not found in many men. His speech and his actions portrayed a profound realization of the inner being of the man. His soul was wrapped in humility. (Continued on page five.)

APPROPRIATE RESPECT PAID

Otterbein Suffers a Great Loss in the Death of This Distinguished and Honored Professor.

Dr. Frank Ellsworth Miller, professor of mathematics in Otterbein College, died unexpectedly Wednesday evening, following a hemorrhage. He had been feeling as well as usual, and had met all his classes that day.

In fact, he had not missed a class during this college year.

During the day he and Mrs. Miller entertained Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Wein. (Continued on page five.)

Juniors at Work on Play.

'Husbands on Approval' is the play which will be presented in the College chapel, Tuesday evening, April 15, at 8:00 p. m. by the members of the Junior class. It is a comedy of three acts, written by Wm. M. Blatt and tells a story of a maid who is in love with four men at once. How she finds the right one, at the expense of her brother's and sister's sneers, at first, and later by their help, is most delightfully disclosed. Sparkling Irish wit and amusing situations furnish much diversion; while the calm, serene dignity with which the maid handles everything balances the comic element.

The cast has been hard at work for the past two weeks and under the direction of Professor Fritz promises to present a successful play.

SERIES OF CHAPEL STUNTS CLIMAXED BY REMOVAL OF PEWS

All we needed was a pillow apiece to make the scene complete and also to make those severe-looking benches a little more "sittable". But hard as it was to sit thru a chapel service on anything as hard as those seats, the whole thing will be chronicled down through posterity as a blazing success, although the blaze would have been brighter if the pews in the balcony had been led down a country lane with their brothers of the main floor. The platform might have appeared gaunt and lonely had it not been that the dangling arms and legs of the professors, which usually found a refuge behind the pulpit, filled in the vacuum. This brilliant episode put a sting in the breeze which has been wanting since the days before the war and we hope some unfortunate cow will find a midnight haven in the dormitory before the season is over.

DISPATCH PRAISES O. C.

Dr. Snively Calls Attention to Interesting Item of Several Years Ago.

Dr. Charles Snively had occasion recently to refer to back numbers of the Columbus Dispatch. He ran across the following news item of June 24, 1900, which he copied and turned over to the Tan and Cardinal. The record spoken of holds good at the present time as well as twenty years ago, we have reason to believe.

OTTERBEIN AGAIN WINS

Distinction at Yale, Through the Brilliant Achievements of One of Her Students.

"Wells K. Stanley, editor of the Yale Law Mirror, and an Otterbein Collegiate with hosts of friends in this City and Westerville, will next week achieve the unusual and distinguished honor of securing a Yale Law School diploma from a two years' course of study.

"Stanley is one of five Yale students in a class of sixty, that has scored this brilliant collegiate triumph, and his laurels add fresh wreaths to Otterbein's long roll of honor. No college in Ohio has a greater record at Yale and Harvard than the modest little institution of learning at Westerville, and a greater percentage of Otterbein students has carried off Yale's theological prizes than the students from any other college entered for post-graduate courses.

"A degree from Otterbein is an open sesame to the hearts and minds of the faculties of Yale, Harvard, Princeton and Columbia, and not only Franklin county, but Columbus is proud of Otterbein and her students."

Lyceum Course Number.

Gay Zenola MacLaren appears on the Citizens' Lecture Course on Tuesday, April 8, instead of the seventh as shown on ticket. Miss Gay MacLaren is an artist of the first class. She has appeared twice in Westerville and is very popular. More reserves will be put on than usual. The entire course has been very well received and the committee feels thankful to the patrons.

Executive Committee Meets.

Otterbein's Executive Committee met on last Wednesday in the College office. Several important matters were under consideration at that time.

A general campaign of publicity was approved and the employment of an expert campaign manager was authorized.

It was decided to make a survey of the co-operative territory, in connection with the work of the Board of Education of the denomination, with the view of getting all the available information regarding prospective students. Research work was planned to ascertain why young people do not go to college and what they do instead.

The architect of the new Science

Building was present and the plans were gone over and the site was agreed upon.

A new track on the Athletic field was authorized. This work is to be begun immediately.

"Y" MAN SPEAKS

Chapel Service Given Over to Mr. Jesse Halsey, Formerly Chaplain in Russian Army.

Mr. Jesse Halsey, pastor of the Seventh Presbyterian Church of Cincinnati, Ohio, spoke in chapel the morning of March 31. Mr. Halsey has been in the employ of the Y. M. C. A. as a chaplain in the Russian Army, and is still doing Y. M. C. A. work as a speaker. He is making addresses at a number of Ohio colleges. He goes from here to Denison.

Mr. Halsey was stationed near the North Pole, two hundred and fifty miles north of the Arctic Circle. The loyal units of the Russian army last year at this time were driving back the Fins and Germans, when the temperature was fifty degrees below zero. Through all the hardships of battle, bitterness of weather and lack of food, the cheeriness of the Y. M. C. A. huts shone out over the dark tundras, veritable "myaks", or light-houses in our language. Since the intimate mingling of the Americans with the Europeans, the words "wop" and "dago" have been erased from the American language, because of the good will that exists among the soldiers.

When President Wilson went into Italy not long ago, he secured the friendship of the peoples of southern Europe. They look to America as the lighthouse of the world, whose flash—flash—flash shines out as if to send aid. The words—"Wilson-America" form the piercing ray which illumines dark Europe. America must supply men and women or the light may be extinguished.

Prexy Speaks in Columbus.

President Clippinger will speak at the first of a series of noon-day Lenten meetings to be held at the Majestic theatre Monday, under the auspices of the Columbus Federation of Churches. The meeting is to open at 11:50 and close promptly at 12:30. Karl Hoenig will direct the music. The subject given to Doctor Clippinger, who is president of Otterbein college, is "The Nature of Sin." Subsequent noon-day Lenten meetings will be held at this theatre every day but Saturday and Sunday until Easter, at which prominent ministers will be the speakers.

Dayton Gets Church Meeting.

By unanimous vote of the conference board of trustees of the United Brethren church it was decided to hold the next Miami annual conference in that city the latter part of August. Bishop G. M. Matthews will preside. The conference membership includes 120 ministers and 70 laymen.

O. C. Co-ed Married.

Fifty guests were present Thursday evening at the marriage of Miss Phoebe Marie Larimore to Mr. Harold L. Clapham, solemnized at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph H. Larimore, 127 North State street. Rev. James Best, retired Presbyterian clergyman, read the service. The bridal chorus from Lohengrin was played by Miss Grace Irma Sterritt of Marengo. Mrs. Mary McLeod sang. The bridal party, grouped before an altar of ferns and pink carnations, included Miss Olive Porter of Marengo and Mr. Clarence Clapham, brother of the bridegroom. Little Edith Jane Needham carried the ring and Eloise Carrick carried flowers. The bride was gownned in a frock of white silk chiffon and carried a shower of bride's roses. Mr. and Mrs. Clapham after April 1 will be at home in North Vine street.

EDITORIAL

Don't lie. The truth is short, simple and final; a lie goes on forever.—Selected.

In Parting—

This is the last issue of The Tan and Cardinal under the regime of the present staff. The advertisements found in these six pages were solicited by girls, the editorial work was done by girls, a girl did the proof-reading, a girl made up the forms and took the page proofs, girls wrapped and mailed out the finished copies. In short, the girls have been "it" on The Tan and Cardinal during the past year. And as it has been the only time in the history of the college paper that such a condition prevailed, so, probably there will not be in the future, a staff composed entirely of girls. The fact which we wish to emphasize is that the girls can be counted upon to sacrifice their time and use their energy along untold lines when the need arises.

To be really truthful, we are not sorry to turn the paper over to the new staff, for we feel that we have done our bit. We wish them the best of success, and as much enjoyment from the work as we have had during our term. We wish to thank all those who have contributed to the paper, officially or unofficially, and to express our appreciation of the people who have loyally supported The Tan

and Cardinal through thick and thin.

The Passing of a Great Man.

It seems as if it is not possible to take up our matter-of-fact school life again, since the passing away of Dr. Miller. The loss of this quiet, unostentatious man has made us hushed and reverent. Even in passing his class-room door we cannot but feel that his spirit still reigns in that room, where he so often instilled in us his unassuming philosophy of life while explaining a simple problem.

Dr. Miller once said that a great man was not truly great unless he could walk down the street and be entertaining to a little child. Unconsciously, Dr. Miller was truly great, and every one of us is better for having come under his modest influence.

One of the highest tributes that could possibly be given him has been paid in the appropriate way in which his friends have conformed to what they know would be his wishes at the time of his death. His simplicity was one of his marked characteristics, and all observances have been in harmony with this remarkable trait. Dr. Miller was a distinguished man in many respects and his memory will always exert an influence, and will continue to live in the hearts and lives of all who were privileged to know him.

What Is Your Purpose?

Some students are here because their friends came, or just because it is the thing to do. Some think it will help them make a living. Some are looking for information, others for discipline, others for culture.
With their parents some believe that this is the surest way to secure a real enrichment of life. Some are determined to prepare themselves in the best way for the largest social service.

It appears that different students have widely varied ideas of what a college is. If we judge by actions, some students consider college an athletic club where the price of membership includes attendance of a few classes, unrelated to the basketball court or baseball field. Others appear to regard college as a society center where the round of social life is interrupted by the uninteresting details of Latin and mathematics. Still others treat college as if it were a library of useful knowledge to be cramped night and day until wisdom is acquired.

The college is a community of young people and taken collectively

it may be said that students have a common purpose. When all the world is calling, "Come, try your skill", the college student has heard another word—"You are not yet ready; come to college and prepare for your work." Otterbein students have answered that call. Are we pressing forward to success or failure?

Spring Fever!

How dear to our hearts are the modest violet, the dainty little birds, the balmy breezes, the—

April Fool! You thought this was going to be a dissertation on Spring—but it isn't. You can find one, however, among the collected works of any poet or near poet. This little product of the pen is only to remind you that the time has come for you to prove whether your wits are wit-tier than other wits around you, or whether someone else can outwit you.

Do you know, you have to have an awful lot of imagination to really appreciate April Fool's day, because the events that take place that day
call for a peculiar philosophy.

If you can't imagine the joke in candyless candy and letterless letters, you have missed the spirit of this venerated occasion.

So, on Tuesday, prick up your imagination, stir up your creative talents and you will be able to laugh at all the jokes, even if you are suffering from

Spring fever!

A curve in the road and a hillside
Clear cut against the sky;
A tall tree tossed by the autumn wind,
And a white cloud riding high;
Ten men went along that road,
And all but one passed by.
He saw the hill, and the tree, and the cloud.

With an artist's mind and eye;
And he put them down on canvas
For the other nine men to buy.

'98. Mrs. William B. Gantz (Maude Barnes) of Detroit, Michigan, is visiting her mother and her sister on East College Avenue.

'77. Dr. Samuel W. Keister, pastor of the United Brethren church at East St. Louis, Illinois, spent last week with his family in Westerville.

'92. Mrs. F. A. Z. Kumler (Mattie Bender) has returned to her home in Dayton after a visit with her mother and her sister in Cleveland, where she was called by the serious illness from pneumonia of her sister, Mrs. Alice B. Dickey, who is now recovering.

'07. Karl H. Rymer of Huntingdon, Pa., is visiting his mother, Mrs. W. W. Rymer and other relatives in Westerville.

'92. George L. Stoughton of Westerville, Ohio, is spending some time in the West in the interest of the Methodist Centenary to be held in Columbus, Ohio, next summer. His headquarters are now at St. Louis, Missouri.

'97. J. P. West was in Wooster, Ohio, week before last attending a convention of the treasurers of the Ohio colleges. Mr. West was chosen as a member of the executive committee of the organization at this meeting.

'11. Miss Grace Coblentz and her mother of Galion, Ohio were in Westerville for a short visit early last week.

'15. Rev. Walter Roush was recently elected President of the Ministerial Association of Alliance, Ohio. This is a fine recognition especially since Rev. Roush has only been in the ministry two years and is the youngest minister in the city.

'96. Rufus A. Longman, superintendent of the Children's Home at Cincinnati, Ohio, is also secretary of the Ohio State conference on child welfare. He is advocating the building of two additional institutions for the feeble-minded in this state, as provided in the Federman bill now before the legislature. Recent investigation made by the state bureau of juvenile research shows that one-third of the boys and girls being cared for in seven county children's homes are mentally defective. Mr. Longman believes that these children should be placed in institutions especially designed for them.

'98. Mrs. John Thomas, Jr. (Martha Newcomb) of Philadelphia, Pa., returned to her home last week after a short visit with relatives in Columbus and Westerville. She was called to Ohio by the illness and death of her brother Louis Newcomb of Columbus.

'81. Mrs. Robert M. Mateer (Madge Dickson), who has for many years been a medical missionary in Weih-sien, China, is in this country on a furlough. After a protracted visit with relatives in California, she and her husband expect to come to Wooster, Ohio, to remain until the expiration of their furlough, when they will return to China.

'77. Edwin L. Shuey of Dayton, Ohio, was in Westerville last Wednesday attending a meeting of the Otterbein Executive Committee of which he is a member.

'16, '17. Word has just been received in Westerville that Clarence L. Richey and Earl D. Brobst have been fortunate enough to secure government appointments to the University of Toulouse, France, where they will study for the remainder of this college year.

'94. T. H. Bradrick, who was the first Otterbein man to enter Young Men's Christian Association work with the army in France is now in Coblentz, Germany, with the army of occupation. Mr. Bradrick will probably remain for some time in Europe.

Y. W. C. A.

"The Girl in Industry" was the modern and vital subject discussed in Y. W. C. A. by Josephine Foor. Woman used to be dubbed "the weaker sex" but now she is proving the endurance of her strength and character. Her work in the world used to be looked upon as a jest, but her part in the war has changed all this. However, when the world returns to its normal conditions, woman's industrial work will cease, and she will settle back into her old lines of activity, but of course there will be a deep underlying change because of her vision of service.

Industrial clubs for women are being formed by the Y. W. C. A. In Ohio alone are 150 clubs at present, enrolling 5000 girls. The object of these organizations is to attend to the material and spiritual welfare of factory girls. They are taught how to keep in good health, how to work and how to play—for the settlement workers are discovering that working girls have never really learned to play.

College girls, particularly, should strive to be sympathetic, not merely tolerant, when thrown with factory girls. The criticism of today's college girls is that they are supercilious and overbearing when they mingle with working girls. The women who work in the lowliest factories are our sisters, to whom we should try to bring all the beauty we find in life.

Back to the ancient "pinafore rule" for Albion College co-eds. The fair ones are restricted to only two dates a week with any individual man. Truly the war has turned back the wheels of progress.

"HAS 'EM GROGGY"Hypnotized College Students Have Personalities Changed to Those of Faculty Members.

About twenty-five college men were entertained at 118 North State street last Thursday night with a demonstration of the fakes of spiritualism and the power of hypnotism.

"Beelzebub" Busch, one of the smallest men in the house, showed the power of mind over matter in numerous ways. At his bidding big college men fell over powerless. Beckoning with his finger they followed him like sheep to the slaughter. He took away their ability to use various parts of the body, and great amusement was manifested to see men unable to walk, open or shut their hands, pick up objects from the floor, or even shut their mouths, or take in their protruding tongues.

Another part of the entertainment was experiments with inanimate objects. A number of men were unable to sit on their chairs for they seemed to take them over the house like bucking ponies. Some tried to stand and hold them but found that they acted worse than ever, and even threw them to the floor. Seven men tried to hold down a table, which, in spite of their combined efforts turned upside down and got away from them.

The last part of the program was devoted to pure hypnosis and psychic phenomena. After putting some of the boys to sleep the operator took them on a trip to heaven. They sprouted wings and had a good time walking around over the gold paved streets, but as some of them wanted to cut a chunk of gold out of an old black sofa it was necessary to bring them back to earth. Some were turned into men of various nationalities and even to the other sex and played their parts well. One young man was turned into a monkey and straightway went on all fours and was subject to his Dago Organ Grinder master. The spirits of the dead were brought back—Caesar, Rameses III and others. These spoke English and their native language, and others under the spell acted as interpreters.

As the last act of the evening, two young men had their personalities changed to those of President Clippinger and Professor Rosselot. The boys greatly enjoyed hearing them discuss the problem of discipline for rowdy boys who would disturb college property. They called a number of boys up on the green carpet and lectured them severely, but at last they fell out between themselves because they would not agree on how to dispose of the case against the boys who had stolen the chapel furniture.

The seance closed at twelve o'clock and it was noticed that there were a number of sleepy folks at chapel Friday morning.

He thought he surely made a hit—
When for his photograph she prayed—
"Out—when he calls," she wrote on it,
And gave it to her maid.

land, of Columbus. Dr. Miller was 57 years old and has been a member of Otterbein's faculty for nearly thirty years.

Dr. Miller was a graduate of Otterbein in 1887. His A. M. degree was conferred in 1890. In 1892 his alma mater gave him the degree of philosophy. For a few years he was superintendent of schools at Mogadore, then was professor of mathematics in and later president of the Northeastern Ohio Normal School. He came to Otterbein as professor of mathematics in 1890.

His life, marked by simplicity and modesty, has had remarkable influence upon all who knew him. The beauty and strength of his character; the intense loyalty and love for his classes in his chosen subject; his earnest search after truth and his painstaking care that his pupils might find the truth, led everyone to profoundly respect him. Otterbein lost a great man in Dr. Miller and it will be a long time till they find another even to teach the subject. They can never find a man to take his place.

The funeral service was held in the United Brethren church Saturday afternoon. President Clippinger opened the service with a very appropriate prayer following which Dr. Jones read a life history of Dr. Miller written by his very close friend Dr. George Scott.

Walter Bailey of the class of 1911, spoke of Dr. Miller as the students knew him following which Reverend Burtner paid appropriate tribute and respect in an impressive sermon. The funeral was largely attended and many flowers, were evidences of the high esteem and love in which Dr. Miller was held by all who knew him. Burial was made in the Otterbein cemetery.

Dr. Miller is survived by his widow, who was Miss Nellie S. Knox, and his mother, Mrs. Martin Miller. He was a member of the United Brethren church and a director of the Bank of Westerville.

Y. M. C. A.

"Are We Alive?" This is the subject upon which Mr. H. F. Moore addressed Y. M. C. A. last Thursday evening. He gave a "peppy" talk and caused many to take an inventory of themselves and answer this question, "Are We Alive?"

Mr. Moore said, "If we are alive we will always be on the alert to see possibilities, and to grasp every opportunity that presents itself. We will have an ambition to render useful service and will do all in our power to accomplish something worth while.

"Again if we are alive, we will be 'optimists' and 'boosters'. Don't knock, but get to work and improve things.

"The world is in chaos now, because nations do not have Christianity as the corner-stone of civilization. And the League of Nations, unless it includes Christian ideals, will not solve the world's problems.

"Be industrious," Mr. Moore concluded, "our destinies lie, in a large measure within our own power. It is not fate entirely that controls us, but our own wills help to determine our future."

Call for Musicians of Westerville.

For Monday evening there is going forth a call for all musicians to meet at the Board of Trade rooms. Propositions will be presented to those interested that should prove very attractive. There is considerable demand for a musical organization of this kind in the community. With over fifty eligible musicians in the town there is every chance to get a good band together.

Come out to the meeting Monday evening at 8 o'clock at the Board of Trade rooms.

PROCLAMATION

By authority reposed in me as Governor of Ohio, I hereby proclaim

FRIDAY, APRIL 4, 1919, AS ARBOR AND BIRD DAY,

respectfully urging those in charge of educational institutions at that time to give attention to instruction, by special programs, in the planting of trees and their care and maintenance. It is suggested that a place in programs be given to the protection of bird life.

That trees be planted as a memorial to our fallen heroes would be in keeping with the spirit of the times.

Hope is expressed that every citizen of the state will aid in the observation of this day.

In Testimony Whereof, I have hereunto subscribed my name and caused the Great seal of the State of Ohio to be affixed in the City of Columbus, this twentieth day of February, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and nineteen.

James M. Cox, Governor.
Harvey C. Smith, Sec'y. of State

Why kick about your Income Tax?
Throw off that frown and wear a grin!

The tax is small; why make a squall?

Be glad your income's coming in!

Consider well the ants that dwell

In busy, peaceful little packs.

Come wot or weal, they do not squeal!

Why kick about your Income Tax?

Why kick about the cost of dress?

'Tis true your grandpa went his way

Togged out in clothes that cost much less—

But grandpa drew Two Beans per day!

Eight dollars for a pair of shoes

Is high—but keep your temper sunny.

No man should mope and have the blues

Till they cut short his long green money!

Why kick about your chilly flat?

Why roar about the steam pipes leaky?

It's warmer far where you are at

Than up north fighting Bolsheviki!

The general tramp, an idle scamp,

Though he possesses no gleaming treasure,

Would call your berth a heaven on earth,

And three square meals one round of pleasure.

Why kick about the pinch of war,

To which we've had our introduction?

We've won what we were fighting for—

Now do your bit for Reconstruction.

Be glad you've seen the Tyrant's fall instead of feeling glum and cranky.

Why kick at anything at all?

"Be downright glad that you're a Yankee!"—Ex.
