Sixty Years of Leadership

[At our urgent request Professor Henry Garst has furnished us, in advance of its delivery, a brief outline of his address at the sixtieth anniversary of the founding of Otterbein University, in order that it may appear in this number of the ÆGIS. The title of the address is, "Sixty Years of Leadership," and the outline follows.—ED.]

1. Among the great questions agitated in our country during the past sixty years upon which Otterbein University is entitled to a position among the leaders of thought is the question of human slavery and the agitation for its overthrow. The University is entitled to a position among the leaders upon this question, because it was from the beginning an anti-slavery center and was one of the very first colleges of the land to throw open its doors to persons of color, in the period before the war of the Rebellion; because it was willing to bear the odium which at the time attached to those who plead the claims of a Higher Law against such enactments as the Fugitive Slave Law and other enactments, by which it was sought to maintain and perpetuate human slavery. It is not claimed that the University was a very great force in the conflict, but what there was of it at that early day was at the front and on the firing line on the side of freedom and human rights.

2. Otterbein University is entitled to a position among the leaders of thought in our country because it was one of the first colleges of the land to throw open its doors to young women on equal terms with young men and helped to lead the way to the enlarged sphere of useful service in which women to day are toiling with efficiency and success.

3. The University is entitled to a place among the leaders of thought upon the temperance question, by the attitude it has, from the beginning, maintained against the beverage liquor traffic. The University was compelled to make good its claim to leadership upon this question by two strenuous campaigns against two desperate attempts to establish the traffic before its very doors. It is not intended to claim all the credit for the University in the success of these campaigns, but it is fair to claim that the University was at the front in the efforts which settled the question that the saloon must go, and must go to stay.

4. The University is entitled to a place among the leaders of thought on the question of foreign missions and Christian organization. Very early in its history its board of trustees took action upon the question by recommending the organization of the students into a foreign missionary society and directing their attention to the great field of world evangelization as one demanding the utmost culture and discipline possible for them to attain. This leadership has constituted the University a kind of modern Antioch and supply station of missionaries for the board of the church in charge of this work.

So the leadership of the University appears in the fact that the first college Young Men's Christian Association in the state of Ohio was organized in Otterbein University in 1877, and the first college Young Women's Christian Association in the state in the University five years later, and the first college Christian Association building in the state was erected in 1892-3. All these three forward movements were distinctly student enterprises and show that the spirit of leadership is not confined to the management and the teaching force, but characterizes also the student body. The movement by which the students of Otterbein University led all the colleges of the state in the erection of the Christian Association building, when all the circumstances are considered, affords the grandest display of heroism, loyalty, self-sacrifice and devotion, which has occurred in the past sixty years. It is not strange that this grand student achievement should be the forerunner of the grand Knox plan achievement of 1893-4, and the scarcely less grand Sanders-plan achievement of 1902-3, and other achievements since, which in the last half dozen years have nearly tripled the net resources of the University.

While very much remains to be desired and accomplished, yet these recent achievements have so relieved the long and sore embarrassment of the University and so strengthened it for its work, that, with the steady increase of students, we are permitted on this sixtieth anniversary and diamond jubilee, to rejoice in a measure of prosperity, efficiency and success never before attained by the University.

BENJAMIN C. BAILEY hails from Lockington, this state, where the name Bailey is well known. His work here was supplemented by two years spent at York College, York, Nebraska, where he won special distinction in oratory. Ben goes in for all there is to be had.

OTTERBEIN A. BAILEY is a mighty man in every respect. Reared in Lockington, he reflects great credit upon his locality. He was football captain for a season, and his hard work is commendable. He has been surveying for several months and is in line for good work next year. Science is his delight.

ORA BALE graduated four years ago from Westerville High School, and has since pursued her college studies uninterruptedly. For some months she has taught in the public schools of this city, and she will probably continue teaching next year.

GERTRUDE AND FRANCES BARNETT came from Richvalley, Ind., not far from the famous "Puckerbrush." Their studies have been interrupted by periods of teaching in the public and high schools of Wabash, but they were permitted to complete their college work together. Art studies have been their delight. They will probably teach "if anybody will have them."

NELLIE BORING hails as a teacher and native from Rushville, Ind. Her college work began in 1902 and continued with an intermission of two years between sophomore and junior.

BERTHA CHARLES has given attention to many interests while in college. Athletic sports, particularly basketball, and stenographic work have shared her favor with Y. W. C. A. She attended Otterbein for the full academic and collegiate courses, and graduates with credit.

OSCAR CHARLES claims Hillsboro for a native home, and the Philippines, or some point on the Pacific route, as his present home. Entering in 1901 he left school after three years to teach. He served as superintendent of schools at South Charleston, married Miss Caroline Lambert, of Westerville, and came to finish his college work with the class of '07. The government wanted just such a man to teach the Filipinos, and Oscar has undertaken the task. May success attend him.

MARY COURTRIGHT has pursued her college course without interruption. Her home formerly was at Galloway, but at present is in Columbus. She is also an art student. We are in doubt as to what she may do.

NELLIS R. FUNK, born in Western Pennsylvania, reared in the Keystone scenery, removed to Dayton, Ohio, after several years, completed his academic work and also college work in Otterbein, and is a combination of things and abilities. In football, basketball, track and field athletics, gymnasium work, and in music he is an all round good man. He has been in school continuously since he entered.

W. D. KRING is small but mighty. As manager and captain of basketball and captain of baseball he is brilliant. He also captured third place at one time in the mile race. He entered in the fall of 1902 and has pursued his college work with credit. He served this year quite capably as Business Manager of the Ægis. Mr. Kring will make his influence felt wherever he goes. He came from Pitcairn, Penna.

DORA MOORE is a resident of Westerville, and passed from high school to college in the fall of 1903. She made a specialty of English studies and modern languages, with a view to teaching. Her work is fine and she will be a pedagogue well worthy the name.

MARY SHAUCK WEINLAND, a resident of Westerville, is well known to all friends of the college. Her preparatory training she received here, at the same time devoting much energy and time to music. She resumed studies after a trip to Europe two years ago, and is graduating with the class of

'07. Her place will be hard to fill.

EUGENE CLARK WORMAN came to Otterbein in 1902 from Cleveland, where he had been engaged in Y. M. C. A. work. He has been general service Y. M. C. A. man ever since, being president of the association one year. Wherever he was appointed there was "something doing." He goes into the association work after graduation, and we predict success for his effort.

HIRAM MAYNARD WORSTELL, ex-captain of football team, Otterbein's star right guard, and everybody's friend, came to Otterbein in 1900. He since rose to the dignity of a building contractor, in which capacity he has beautified the village with several new residences. He may soon erect an imposing edifice for himself. Public speaking is his delight, particularly the short poems of Riley.

MARY LAMBERT formerly lived in Union City, Ind., but now comes from Anderson. She entered upon her college work in 1903, and has carried it on continuously ever since. The weather man gave us no forecast as to her future.

L. E. MYERS is a native of Alliance. His career as a pedagogue has been brilliant and he expects to follow that line after this year. He assisted in teaching in Otterbein's summer school. He has been in school since 1903. Last winter he contested meritoriously for the Rhodes scholarship, standing second in the long list of applicants. He is aggressive in whatever he undertakes.

GEORGIA PARK is a resident of the college town and her college days have been spent at home. She delights in history and is a hard student wherever she is found.

E. L. PORTER came from Mowrytown in the summer of 1902 in the garb of a school teacher. Ever since that time he has appeared as a student. Football and basketball were his delight. He devoted considerable time to English. He is looking after a position as professor.

S. L. POSTLETHWAIT, from Buchanan, W. Va., has for five years been a faithful student of whatever might pertain to college or baseball. Having some experience as a minister, he devoted some little time during his student days to ministerial work. His support of every feature of college activity is worthy of emulation. "Sam" has really put the college through him. He expects to go to the seminary in the fall.

F. A. RISLEY, a native of St. Johns, Michigan, came to Otterbein in 1904. He has been preaching for some time, and expects to study theology after his graduation. He has been a valuable member of the track team.

HARRY F. SAYRE received his first two years of college training at Ohio Wesleyan University, entering Otterbein when his father became pastor of the Westerville M. E. church. As a practical business man Mr. Sayre has made himself felt, while his college work has been of the highest order.

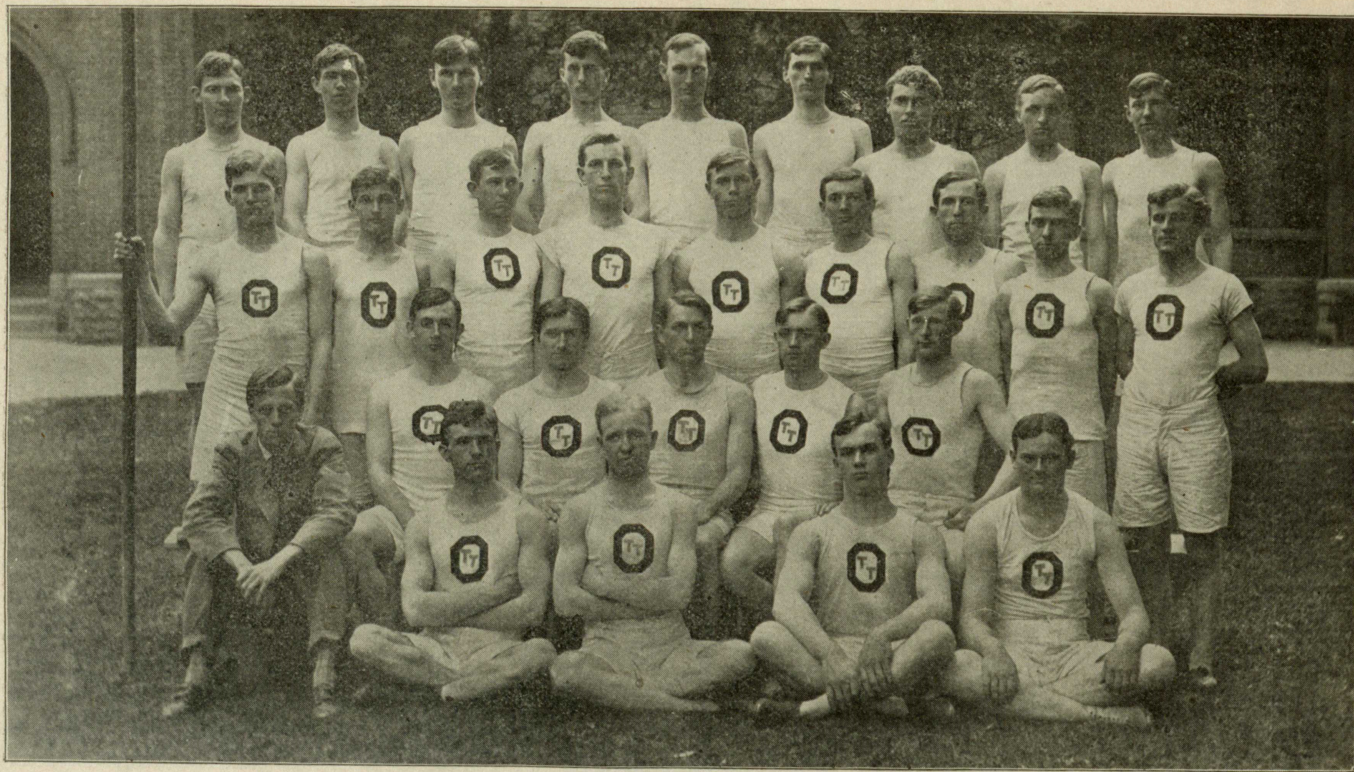

E. W. SCHEAR, of New Philadelphia, came to us in 1901. Later he brought his mother to Westerville and has been a resident ever since. His oratorical work has been of the highest order, as is recorded on another page of this issue. Mr. Schear expects to teach upon leaving school.

As You Like It.

"As You Like It" is the most ideal of Shakespeare's plays. It is a pastoral drama, in which the interest arises more out of sentiments and characters than out of actions or situations. It is not what is done, but what is said that claims our attention. The action is wholly in the open air, and the drama is redolent of woods and green fields and all the charms of a pastoral and rustic life. For this feature the rendition of the play is best conducted on the campus, where the trees and grass suggest a forest. The Seniors have worked hard on their product. Too much credit and praise can not be showered upon Prof. Evans, who devoted much time, labor and thought to the preparation of the play, giving it his best energy.

The Conservatory of Music graduates a promising class of seven. The large classes that leave this school of music are the best test of efficiency that can be imposed. Dr. Meyer and his assistants are to be congratulated on the success of the year's work.

This issue closes the work of the present staff of editors, and with regret we lay down the pen to go our several ways. The association and work has been delightful and profitable, for it has without doubt a bearing on one's preparation for future vocation. Practical education means much in the line of equipment. We wish to thank the students for their hearty co operation and support, and only hope the paper proved itself worthy of such returns. We wish the same hearty support and consequent success to those who take up the work after us, and confidently expect to see a greater degree of efficiency than has been granted in the past. May the new year mean much to the college we love.

The Ægis extends congratulations to the members of the graduating class, to the college and to all its friends. The year has bright prosperity and happiness, and there will be no lack in results when the final reckoning is made. Sixty years have produced from a humble academy with no register of graduates a large well-equipped university with a strong class ready to receive the diploma. We celebrate the anniversary of the founding during this week, and can with reason take both a retrospective and a prospective view of the work of the college. Internal conditions are splendid for such an occasion, and the anniversary will be a mile stone for the future wayfarers along this oft trod way.

The first year of college seems long to most students, and the last seems the shortest. How much is involved in a year is hard to tell. The Senior feels more able to tell as he approaches graduation day, for to him the hours slip by before he realizes. If the Freshman realized the shortness of the time he would cease wishing for the swift passing of the years. One year means but ten months of study, divided by numerous vacations and respites, but yet it holds weighty consequences for the future. It passes the Freshmen to the Sophomore year, and the "prep" becomes a Freshmen; but at the same time it crowds the Senior off into the busy whirl of life. It is the proper moment for him to go, but the last year seems extremely short, and its consequences are therefore greater.

Seniors.

from Mechanicsburg a capacity for work of all kinds, and as a result his name has been heard on all sides. As leader of the college band, manager of basketball and general service man for everybody, Bill has spent four profitable years in Otterbein. Mechanics, especially steam engines and steam rollers, is his hobby.

JAMES WARREN AYER, of Cherry Grove

farm, or more properly, from the village of Cincinnati, is our crack track man. Of exceeding high ability and ambition as a runner, he won laurels for himself and for the college. He has been in Otterbein since the spring of 1902. Besides track athletics, football received his undivided attention. Mr. Ayer expects to teach upon leaving school.

FLOYD SMITH, of Greensburg, Pa., entered in '04 and has been at the front ever since. He was elected captain of this year's basketball team, and the season was a most successful one.

ZETTA MAUD TRUXAL came from Braddock, Pa., in the fall of '01. She has been out two years since that time, engaged in teaching. She will teach next year also. She is a leader in more ways than one, and her absence will be noted with regret.

KARL H. RYMER has been in school since 1903. The languages are his line, mathematics to go on the side. He is in line for teaching next year, but we can't say what he will do.

VINTON D. SINGER, of Dayton, O., came to us from Lebanon Valley College, where he had studied a year. He also graduated from Steele High School. His work has been of the highest order.

With this brief statement and history of the class of 1907 we cannot help saying as did our friend the Irishman:—

May good luck attend them,
And Hiven defend them.

Alumni.

W. L. Richer, '96, who for six years has been principal, of Coshocton High School, was recently elected to the chair of mathematics in the New Mexico School of Mines, a large institution maintained jointly by the territory and the U. S. Government and one of the best schools of its kind in the Southwest. Prof. Richer pursued post graduate studies in Chicago. During his stay in Coshocton he saw the high school grow from less than one hundred pupils and three instructors to two hundred scholars and six instructors.

Among the earliest visitors to commencement were W. G. Stiverson, '97, J. W. Funk, '06, Zoia Munger, '03, H. V. Bear, '03, and Ed. Truxal, former student.

Y. M. C. A. Notes.

Watchword—On to Niagara. Otterbein is to have a large delegation at Niagara conference this year. Eight men have already decided to go, namely, L. C. Hensel, J. H. Weaver, G. W. Duckwall, A. E. Brooks, M. C. Dutton, C. U. Roop, P. C. Luh and F. A. Kline.

The school year closes with the new Y. M. C. A. officers hard at work planning for the fall term. Several changes have been made that have put the organization upon a stronger basis. It is the plan to have a paid secretary next year and to convert the Y. M. C. A. parlors into reading rooms. It is also expected that the boys' club work will take a more definite form. This work was dropped this year for want of the faculty's consent to the plan.

Medicine as a Lifework.—Dr. J. U. Barnhill, of O. M. U., Columbus, May 16. Dr. Barnhill gave a brief history of its advantages and disadvantages and the great possibilities in the medical profession in the future. He said that, in any profession, when one feels that he can render a better service to the world than in anything else, that alone constitutes a definite call.

Y. W. C. A.

The closing weeks of the term have been of special interest to the Y. W. C. A. girls. At five o'clock on the evening of May 21, the girls assembled on the campus in front of the Association building and partook of a lunch with which each girl had provided herself. After the lunch Miss Una Karg read a scripture lesson and commented upon it. Miss Minnie Leshner gave a description of Lake Geneva, Wisconsin, where the Summer Conference is to be held this year. Miss Dora Moore who attended the conference at Lake Winona last year told of the recreation at the conference. Miss Gertrude Barnett spoke of the State Delegation Day. Miss Mabel Gardner spoke on "Benefits Derived from Attending the Summer Conference." The rally was the most enthusiastic one held for years. There are twelve girls planning to go to Lake Geneva, Aug. 30 to Sept. 10.

Miss Gertrude Barnett led an impressive meeting May 28. Subject, "Responsibility of Knowledge." Key-note, the responsibility of the college girl in her home community during the summer vacation.

The cabinet held the last meeting for the term June 1st. The Bible Study and Mission Study Committees have the courses arranged and the leaders for each of the classes appointed.

A Missionary meeting was held Tuesday evening, June 4, at which time names were enrolled for mission study classes next fall term.

Miss Katharine Barnes, the energetic chairman of the Alumnae committee led an alumnae meeting of Y. W. C. A. Tuesday, June 11.

O. U. 3—Kenyon. 1

Westerville, May 30. One of the prettiest games of amateur baseball that has ever been seen on the local field was played here between Otterbein and Kenyon. The scoring commenced in the first inning when Strahl got first on fielder's choice, stole second, went to third on Kring's bingle and scored on Funk's fly to left. Grabill was pitching ball all the time and the Kenyon lads couldn't get a runner across. In the fifth O. U. scored two more, and Kenyon followed with one in the sixth. Here the score boy sat down to rest and it was all up with the scoring machine. The feature for the fans was Grabill's good pitching and a double in the eighth when Strahl made a long run for a fly and doubled to first, Watson making a phenomenal one-handed catch of a high throw. Kenyon was able to get but one hit off Grabill.

Bases on balls off McGloshen 6, Grabill 1. Struck out by Cunningham 1, by Grabill 10. Umpire Kalmbach. Time 2 hours.

Baseball.

Two of the games scheduled for the baseball season were cancelled on account of rain. Six have been played, Otterbein having won three and lost three. The team has put up a good article of ball. Grabill and Lloyd did good twirling and were strong with the stick. Sanders played an excellent backstop position and O. U. may expect great work from him in this position next season. Watson, Ketner, Funk and Young on the bases were steady and always in the game, Watson and Funk especially playing excellent ball. Bailey, Crosby, Strahl and Titus watched the gardens and for the most part played well, Strahl doing the best work in that part of the field. In all the season was a successful one and another season ought to see Otterbein nearer the front in diamond activities.

O. U. 0—Athens. 6

Otterbein suffered her first shutout at Athens, May 25. The game was played on a wet field and Ohio made five of her six runs in the first inning. Three hits and three errors were responsible for the scoring. Grabill pitched fine ball but luck seemed to be with the Ohio batsmen. He was also there with the stick and "swatted" the ball for one of O. U.'s three hits.

Track.

The track season closed with O. U. to the good as far as victories are concerned, but of the three intercollegiate meets scheduled two were called off on account of rain. However, Otterbein showed her ability in this branch of sports in the two meets in which she took part—a winning part. In the practice meet with North High School, O. U.'s men showed good form. In the meet with Wittenberg University the good results of long training manifested themselves as the score of 93 to 16 will show. Capt. Ayer upheld his reputation on the track in the mile, ½ mile and the ¼ mile. Libecap won the 100-yd. and 220-yd. dashes breaking the college record in the hundred.

Funk, Porter and Rodgers captured the honors in the hurdles.

Lloyd, Funk and Davis won high-jump laurels.

Stouffer and Martin threw the discus and hammer, and put the shot out of their opponents' range. Wittenberg, however, took the honors in the pole-vault and 2-mile run. The meet was an easy victory for the tan and cardinal athletes. This good showing of O. U.'s team can only be attributed to the hard, faithful work of the men under the excellent direction of Capt. Ayer who will be missed in future years in this branch of athletics.

LOCAL ITEMS.

At the Interstate Peace Conference which was held at Cincinnati May 17 and 18, it was evident that Otterbein's standard of literary excellence still floats high. There were eight contestants chosen from twenty applicants to contend for three prizes. Fred G. Bale, formerly of Otterbein, now of O. S. U., and E. W. Schear, '07, were the winners of fourth and fifth places respectively. The winners of the first three places were all from Indiana.

The common pastime for Otterbein students seems to be fishing. On the 18th several beaux and belles took a delightful trip to the Big Walnut.

On Sunday morning, May 19, Dr. McGaughay, of Chicago, delivered a fine sermon in the college chapel. This gentleman was in attendance at the great Presbyterian Assembly, held at Columbus May 16 to 22.

Bertram Saul's brother and sister recently spent a few days with their brother in this town.

John Watson visited with his nephew, John Morrell, in Murray City, Ohio, May 25-26.
