PERSHING'S BAND IN WESTERVILLE

Company of 115 Picked Musicians Enthuses Record Crowd Wednesday Afternoon.

PERSHING'S PERSONAL BAND

Westerville Smallest City in United States to be Honored by Organization.

When the annals of history are written and the travels of Pershing's band are noted one by one, it will probably run: "During the Victory Loan drive for four billion, five hundred million dollars, Pershing's band of 115 pieces traveled from coast to coast, rousing enthusiasm with their splendid concerts in the larger cities of the nation. Those cities in which it appeared are New York, Pittsburgh, Columbus, Westerville, St. Louis, Chicago, Louisville, etc. Columbus was the smallest big city and Westerville the biggest little city in which the band appeared." Fully thirty-five hundred people enjoyed the concert given on the grounds of the American Issue Publishing Company by the Pershing band Wednesday afternoon.

Two special cars brought the band to Westerville, arriving here at 2:45 p. m. Almost immediately they were lined up and after a short parade went to the American Issue grounds. The concert consisted of some of the better known selections and wound up with a splendid rendition of "The Star Spangled Banner."

T. H. Fisher, leader of the band, was for twenty years leader of the Ford's theater orchestra, and was chosen from a class of 500 band leaders, some of national repute, by General Pershing. Members of the band are the cream of all A. E. F. bands.

The afternoon classes were dismissed to permit students and faculty to witness the parade and concert.

Bishop Weekley Preaches.

Bishop W. M. Weekley of Parkersburg, West Va., preached two inspiring sermons in the United Brethren church yesterday. His visit has been looked forward to for several years and his presence was welcomed most cordially. In the morning the church was crowded to hear his simple and direct discourse on a text taken from the fourth chapter of Thessalonians.

At three o'clock Sunday afternoon Bishop Weekley met about forty students who are planning to enter the ministry or missions as a life work.

PRIZES TO BE AWARDED

Doctor Lawrence Keister, '82, Provides for Greek Prizes—Conditions Formulated by Professor Cornetst.

Recently Professor N. E. Cornetst announced extensive prizes for Greek students made possible by Dr. Lawrence Keister of the class '82. This is undoubtedly the most generous offer of this kind that Otterbein holds in trust. Doctor Keister is a retired minister of Scottsdale, Penn. and has been a loyal friend to Otterbein. The conditions agreed upon were drawn up by Professor Cornetst who will be in charge of the foundation.

(General Conditions)

This foundation gives the minimum of fifty dollars a year in prizes as follows:

I. First year pupils who earn grade B up to June 1 of each year, and whose annual test, or prize-determining examinations, shall mark 95% or higher shall receive each one dollar, except the student among these who ranks highest shall be given five dollars.

II. Second year students shall be awarded two prizes of five and ten dollars respectively according to class ranking.

III. In case third and fourth year pupils form one class, then two prizes shall be given. To the student rank-

Campaign for New Students.

May first is the date set for the opening of the campaign for new students. O. W. Briner, local Y. M. C. A. secretary, has been chosen to represent the college in the field. His work will be quite extensive and mostly of a personal character. The Otterbein district proper includes Ohio, West Virginia, Southern Michigan, Western New York and Western Pennsylvania. In these localities the United Brethren church is far behind other denominations in the percentage of college students so there is great need of just such a campaign.

CUSTER ELECTED PRESIDENT

More Than Hundred Attend Annual Banquet of Otterbein Alumna Association at Dayton.

Luzerne Custer, '10, was elected president of the Miami Valley Otterbein Alumna Association at the meeting and dinner held last Monday night at the First United Brethren church of Dayton. Other officers elected for the coming year are: Miss Chloe Niswonger, '11, vice president; Miss Ruth Koontz, '15, secretary, and L. H. McFadden, '74, treasurer.

Following the election of officers, a dinner was served at which Mrs. W. E. Bingham presided as toast-mistress. A very interesting program in which a number of the alumni took part, followed the dinner.

"The Price of Liberty" was the principal feature of the program. Dr. G. Funkhouser, '67, spoke of the price paid for the liberty of the colored race in 1861. L. N. Troxell, '13, a veteran of the World War, drew a great contrast between the war of present time and the war of Doctor Funkhouser's day.

A debate in which three members upheld each side, on the subject of "Resolved, That Otterbein Did More For Me, Than I Did For Otterbein," elicited much laughter from the audience. The speakers for the affirmative side were Miss Majorie

Notice Everyone!

You are urged to attend the May Morning Breakfast to be given next Saturday, May 3, at Cochran Hall. This breakfast is an annual affair promoted by the Y. W. C. A. girls and has always been a delightful occasion. This year Miss Gladys Howard is manager-in-chief and assures us that the eats are going to be delicious, so you won't want to miss them. Breakfast will be served anytime from 8:00 to 10:00 o'clock. Come and bring your friend(s).

EDITOR SPEAKS ON CONFERENCE

Doctor Holt, Editor the Independent, Tells Interesting Personal Experiences of Visit to Europe.

URGES SUPPORT OF WILSON

During the Six Weeks Doctor Holt Learns Much Through Private Interviews with Many Delegates.

College students and townspeople had the good fortune Saturday night of hearing Doctor Hamilton Holt, editor of the Independent, tell of his experiences at the Peace Conference. Mr. Holt is in great demand as a lecturer and it is only because he has always been especially interested in Otterbein college that Westerville people have the privilege of hearing him so often. He came here under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. and spoke in the College chapel before a representative audience.

In speaking of conditions in Europe at present, Mr. Holt said that the war made heroes and heroines of us all, but now that the fighting is over we have become human again. There is a great deal of friction right now between peoples of different nationalities; and the sooner our boys get home, the better for all concerned.

During his six weeks at the Peace Conference, Mr. Holt was in a position to receive first hand knowledge of all transactions, and had personal interviews with many of the delegates. He tells us that the League to Enforce Peace, as it has finally materialized, is also a League to Insure Progress. The covenant as finally agreed upon is partly American and

Campus to be Beautified.

Another ground breaking occurred several days ago. This was the beginning of the campus improvement project which was announced some time ago. The special committee which has been working on the planting program has deposited in the office an immense beautification plan arranged by P. O. Beckley of the Barryhill Nurseries, Harrisburg, Pa. Mr. Beckley is a well-known landscape architect and promises great things for the enhancement of our college grounds. His superintendent is now at Otterbein to direct the work. The plan calls for the planting of trees and shrubbery around all the buildings but Suam Hall and the New Science Hall, which will be plotted later.

CLASS '18 VIES WITH CUPID IN PROVIDING RETREAT FOR CO-EDS

O Noble Swing! O Rustic Structure that now sits at the southwesterly corner of the campus, Welcome! Paltry words cannot express our gratefulness to the Seniors of 1918 for having showered this blessing upon us.

When two people are ensconced in this swing, it seems that the grass never looked greener, the birds never twittered sweeter, the mosquitoes overhead and the bugs under foot never buzzed more merrily—this feeling of exultation is especially present when two poor mortals stroll pitifully back and forth, waiting for the greedy ones to go home.

"Which two shall it be?" said Prexy in Chapel, and most fittingly. Indeed this is the burning question which alas! mathematical genius cannot solve.

CAPITOL DEFEATS OTTERBEIN

Two Regulars on Casualty List and Poor Hitting by Otterbein Results in One-Sided Score.

Otterbein's second base ball game, played with Capitol, proved another disappointment. The bad weather conditions prevailing through the week coupled with the loss of two infielders was too much of a handicap for Otterbein. In the last half of the first inning Capitol took the lead with two scores. Wilde of Capitol held Otterbein down to two hits. Martin pitched a fair game but had little or no support.

In the eighth inning Martin walked, stole second, and scored on Albright's two-base smash to left center. The final score showed 14 to 1 in favor of Capitol. Martin and Albright played the best ball for Otterbein.

DOCTOR MARKLEY PROMOTED

Saw Active Service on Several Fronts Where Dangerous Fighting Occurred—Now Ranks as Major.

Dr. Stephen C. Markley, '95, who has been in the United States Medical Corps in France with rank of captain, has recently been promoted to the rank of major. Major Markley was at Pontarlier, France, with a regiment of Engineers and as these have finished their work, he was hoping that he would soon be sent home. But he has just been appointed medical inspector for a large territory lying west of the Meuse river, extending to Verdun, St. Mihiel, and as far west at the Marne. His duties include the making of tours of inspection that will carry him over parts of the country where some of the fiercest fighting of the war was carried on. His headquarters are at Evacuation Hospital No. 10, which is in sight of the Argonne wood where such heavy fighting occurred.

partly English,—probably mostly American; though England's plan was on the whole, the best single plan submitted to the Conference.

In closing, Mr. Holt urged that we at home support Woodrow Wilson as he is supported by Europe; and that we, by our co-operation, help him to "win the peace," that it may be just and lasting. Some have said that Wilson's "cursed idealism" has delayed the peace settlement; but if there has been any delay, it has been caused by two factions, the Bolsheviks and the reactionaries of all nations. This "cursed idealism" is the greatest factor of all in insuring a permanent settlement.

Tennis Begins Next Saturday.

Otterbein's tennis season will open next Saturday when Capitol will come to Westerville with a two man team. Martin, Bancroft and Gray will decide between them who is to represent Otterbein in this initial meet.

Picture of Miss Ethelynde Smith.

The Ladies' Glee Club has secured a large photograph of Miss Ethelynde Smith, the well-known soprano, who pleased Otterbein with a concert January 20. This photograph will hang in a beautiful oak frame in the music recitation room of Lambert Hall. Below the picture Miss Smith has expressed her appreciation of the pleasant visit she had with the Otterbein girls.

The Glee Club plans to obtain pictures of all artists appearing at Otterbein in the future.

ing highest fifteen dollars and the one ranking next the residue of the fifty dollars if that is not more than ten dollars. If the foundation yields more than fifty dollars per annum, then there shall be a proportional increase in each prize except the dollar awards; or, if for any reason a prize is not issued to a class, the amount shall be added to other prizes on a proportionate basis.

IV. If the third and fourth year students form distinct classes, then the smaller amount of the two prizes named in article three shall be given to the third year student making the highest credit, and the larger gift to the student of highest rank in the fourth year class.

V. The rank of pupils shall be determined by the professor's marks based on daily work, special tests, assignment and also the final examination. The Greek professor may consult with his colleagues, or the donor of this foundation during his life. These prizes shall be given out by the professor of the department, or the person designated by him. The awards may be made before commencement week, but all such shall be announced on commencement day. Reasonable changes may be made in these conditions as experience suggests.

Special Prize

A prize of ten dollars will be given this year to any student in college who possesses the best examination in Greek forms.

Miller, '21, G. W. Duckwall, '11, and Dr. P. M. Camp, '90; for the negative, Dennis Brane, '22, Luzerne Custer, '10, and Dr. J. G. Huber, '88. The affirmative was awarded the decision by Mr. E. G. Pumphrey, '91 who was selected as chief judge. President Clippinger was present and spoke of the splendid support of the college on the part of the constituency of the denomination.

About 120 members of the Dayton Alumna Association were present among whom were a number of students. Yells, and the singing of the college songs added to the enthusiasm and interest of the evening's program.

What About Scrap Day?

How are class difficulties to be solved next year? That is the question that comes up at this time, for just two years ago we were making arrangements for the "Scrap Day" program which was carried out a year ago last fall.

At that time the proposition was a new one and demanded a great deal of work. Now, all have some idea of the nature of such a series of contests. The affair being so general in its interests and purpose, should be started by an organization with such a scope. The Athletic Association fulfills such requirements and could authorize the athletic board to arrange for such a day. Rules and regulations must be drawn up now.

However, before this can be done there should be some expression on the part of the students as well as the faculty, as to their attitude toward contests similar to those held on the "Scrap Day" of two years ago. The unpleasant class fights of previous years will undoubtedly be resorted to if there is no better way provided to settle class superiority.

Indifference, or Ignorance, Which?

Otterbein students missed an exceptional opportunity to acquaint themselves with conditions in Europe and especially as regards the Peace Conference when comparatively few attended the lecture given under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. last Saturday night by Dr. Hamilton Holt, Editor of the Independent. On several occasions of recent date this same lack of interest has been exhibited by these same disloyal, depraved, good-for-nothing individuals—words truly expressive of what we think would not look well in print. If they will come to us privately we will tell them just what we think. It will be tonic to our souls and at the same time of benefit to them.

Singular as it may seem some of the supposed leaders in Y. M. C. A. thought it more profitable to go on a "feed" than to the lecture, while to the credit of others it may be said that they had good sense enough to return in time to get to the chapel by eight o'clock.

Be Broad Minded.

In the past few years, especially during the recent world-conflict, people everywhere have enlarged their views. They have been led to feel a sense of responsibility to others as well as a sense of dependency. Community of interests has been emphasized and with a spirit of cooperation much good has been accomplished and many worthy ends have been obtained.

Yet, there is a tendency for some persons, perhaps more than others, to center their affections on themselves or on restricted units of which they are part. A biased and selfish attachment to one's class, or to certain groups or literary societies, or even to Otterbein as a college or Westerville as a community is often noticed. This narrow feeling interferes with clear vision of one's relation to the larger community of which all are members. In the present day, due to the rapid communication (of all parts of the world) by means of the telegraph, newspapers, etc., the entire globe is nothing more or less than a great community. All nations have common interests and it is important that persons be informed on the great problems and that they unite in interest and endeavor to effect changes which mean improved conditions.

The present age demands men of broad, altruistic and unselfish interest. Such men will be useful and will do their share in constructing and maintaining a New Era which is almost certain to result. College students should develop and practice in their immediate interests and associations a keen sense of relation to the larger affairs of the world. The obligations to minor interests, although often good in themselves, are less pressing than the obligations to the great world without. Be broad minded in your thinking and do not allow comparatively trivial matters occupy too much of your attention.

Association Notes.

There is a column in our paper which does not receive the careful attention of students as it should.
These articles deal with the work of the Christian Associations. Many times we hear that these notes are not read. Folks tell us that those who go do not care to read them and those who stay away are not interested. The truth of the matter is that whether you do or do not go to the meetings there is a lot of good to be derived in reading a summary of the topic presented at the last Association meeting. These "write-ups" are short and to the point and give a lesson and much good advice for each and every one of us.

Reform for Banquets

Time is necessary for some reforms. This is true in regard to conduct at banquets. Several years ago there was splendid decorum on the part of non-participants in the class banquets and the orderliness was exceedingly gratifying to all.
At that time not the slightest kind of trouble was created to mar the dignity of the big social event of the year for these college classes. Both girls and boys, dressed in their very best with all the beauty of nature and man's genius, assembled and ban-queted together with perfect dignity and form.

Now, it appears that a certain few juvenile, unsophisticated freshman have thought it clever to interfere with these banquets. They are to be pitied for their ignorance and lack of foresight. In fact they showed themselves to be extremely "yellow." There is no real fun in trying to make trouble when the odds are all in your favor. There can't even be so much as a fight, for who wants to make such exercise when laced up in a scissor tailed and open-fronted outfit that only serves as a good mark for the opponents. Really there is no time when devilry brings such discord and causes so much inconvenience.
Furthermore, it was exceedingly disrespectful to the ladies of the church to cut the electric light wires and interfere with the preparation of the banquet.

It was hoped that such outrages were relegated to the past but the few "children" who mused things up for the Sophs and Seniors have stirred up discord again. It is lamentable that the one or two formal social events of the year cannot be carried on in proper style. The entire student body should escort the youthful offenders to a bath in Alum Creek.

Infringement Unnecessary.

After chapel meetings are becoming entirely too frequent. True it is that all are busy and that it is difficult to get folks together at other times. However, a little effort on the part of those in charge of various organizations should eliminate a number of these meetings at a time which infringes upon the rights of the college classes.

Dr. Wilcox is an agricultural expert and was for several years connected with the United States Experiment Station in Honolulu, Hawaii. He is now agriculturist in charge of tenancy and farm labor in the Department of Agriculture at Washington. Dr. Wilcox is also the author of several books that are recognized as authority in his field.

Y. M. C. A.

Mr. K. J. Scott, chairman of the Y. M. C. A. Prayer Meeting Committee, has inaugurated a series of contests to be held from week to week. The leader of each meeting will be judged according to uniqueness of program, number in attendance, number taking part and other points. The leader to open the contest was Mr. Replogle who led last Thursday night.

The subject of Mr. Replogle's talk was "What College Has Done for Me."

"College teaches us that we must consider the influence we have upon our associates.

"There are those who believe in the doctrine of "self-preservation" but Christianity teaches that we should take some interest in the other man.

"Out in the world, the college man is looked upon as a leader and it is in college that he acquires the initiative and ambition necessary to every capable leader."

Y. W. C. A.

Appropriate to the season, the Y. W. C. A. members discussed the Eastertide and its significance, in the meeting of the girls on April 15, the services being in charge of May Sellman. Rev. Mr. Burtner talked a few minutes; Ethel Eubanks gave a piano solo, and Lois Neible a vocal solo.

In the meeting of April 22, the leader, Marvel Sebert, discussed the interesting subject, "The Beloved Captain." The duties of leaders in all phases of life were pointed out, as well as the honor due them by followers. Each girl was led to the realization of what she owes to the "Captain of Lives."

At our next meeting we shall consider "The Blue and White," with Myrna Frank as leader.

It seems that the majority of "students" are here to go on "feeds", walk the two and four mile squares, and in general to have a good time only, judging from the attendance at the lecture on Saturday night.

BUSINESS CAREER HAS ALLUREMENT

Element of Chance and Opportunity

COLLEGE MEN NEEDED

Greater Opportunities Offered to Men in Business World Than Ever Before Claims Graduate.

[This is the first of a series of articles written by former graduates about their professions. Mr. F. D. Wilsey is a member of the class 1876.—Editor.]

Nearly all boys have implanted in them the instincts of the gambler—That is the reason they play marbles "for keeps". Most boys and young men look to a business career from the same standpoint. The attractiveness lies in the uncertainty and in the speculative elements that enter into it. No large merchant or manufacturer does not at some time go "short of the market"—In other words, he sells something that he has not in his possession and must go out and buy the goods or buy his raw material from which to make them. He runs the risk of a high market, an advance in cost of labor and an increase in freight rates. At no time in our history have there been such wide opportunities to engage a business man's attention. We are now the world power in matters of finance and the old world looks to us for its rebuilding. The steel, lumber, hardware and tools must come from America—Treaties with foreign Governments are or have been based largely on trade—Commerce has been, since the days of Tyre, the medium for communication between peoples—The Interchange of commodities has ever been the study of nations as well as of individuals. The study of the needs of the world is as fascinating as the realm of the law or the mysteries of medicine—To be merely a shopkeeper is not all there is to a business career. College men are in demand in every phase of business and college men are forging to the front in every line of business.

Greater opportunities for those at the bottom and on the way up and heavier responsibilities for those at the top.

When we entered the war two years ago, business had few attractions, because business men were confronted with a situation that they had never experienced previously, and no one knew even from day to day what was ahead of him. When such a man as Henry P. Davison of J. P. Morgan & Co. gave up his position for the past two years to lead the work in the Red Cross, or Col. Deeds of Dayton, abandoned his business to go to Washington and solve problems for the Government, these two instances, which may be multiplied many times, shows the spirit of public service that business men are learning in these days more than they have ever learned before, and after all, what is more attractive to the college man going into business than to develop that spirit of public service for his City, or his State or Nation, that means so much for the betterment of all mankind. In college athletics many a man has built up that super-abundance of good health that will allow him to make the same mark in his business as he had made in college, and it will stand him in stead, for the active, efficient and prolonged work that the average man of business must endure, if he expects to succeed. He must work with rapidity and force and at the same time without noise, not attracting attention to himself, although he may to his business as a means of enlarging it, but he must be ever alert and exercise forethought to adjust his activities to constantly changing conditions. Our boys coming back from the trenches have learned many things and are not going to demand the best simply as a reward for what they have done, but as a matter of right. Labor all over the world has come in for its full share of recognition and the successful business man of today is not the man who "fires" his help when he disagrees with them, but makes conditions such as to work in harmony with his business, because no matter how well the shop may be built or how well it may be equipped with machinery, it is the men in the organization that count after all.
