MAY BREAKFAST A HUGE SUCCESS

Y. W. C. A. Girls Serve Dainty Repast to the Delight of Hungry Breakfasters.

TABLES WELL DECORATED

Violets and Blossoms Beautiful—Menu Well Chosen and Served In Excellent Style.

More than two hundred guests were present at the annual May Morning Breakfast given by the Y. W. C. A. girls in the Cochran Hall dining room Saturday morning. Ideal weather and well organized planning combined to make the affair very successful.

Gladys Howard as chairman of the committee on all arrangements, deserves a great deal of commendation, as well as all the sub-chairmen. The decorations were very pretty, being spring flowers and ferns, used in combination with tall baskets of pink and white carnations, furnished by Mrs. Mary E. Lee. The waitresses, dressed in white and delicate colors, completed the daintiness of the scene.

One interesting feature was the advertising, which was carried on largely by means of posters. A number of girls whose artistic ability, up to this time, has been unknown to their friends, displayed unusual talent and originality in making posters. Their work is highly appreciated; and doubtless much of the success of the whole affair is due to the wide publicity given it.

The chairman wishes to take this opportunity to thank all the girls for their splendid work; and the citizens of Westerville for their hearty co-operation and patronage. She reports a fine net profit, which will go towards the Summer Conference Fund.

Otterbein Has Close Meet

With Capitol in Tennis.

Although suffering defeat in tennis from Capitol Saturday, Otterbein showed evidences of a crack team. With only one afternoon practice all spring the team in technical skill outclassed their opponents. Martin in the first singles outplayed the Capitol man but was forced to give in because of a sprained ankle. Score 6-3, 6-8, 4-6. Gray's man proved to be too fast for him probably due to lack of practice. Score 2-6, 2-6.

In the doubles Otterbein won an easy victory. Bancroft and Martin playing their opponents off their feet. Score 10-8, 6-4.

Next week the team will play Wittenberg at Springfield.

FRESHMEN BANQUET JUNIORS

Dinner and Program Make Evening Pleasant for Juniors. Gordon Howard is Toastmaster.

Otterbein's annual Freshman-Junior Banquet was held Tuesday night, April 29, in the basement of the United Brethren church. A select orchestra furnished the music. Gordon Howard was the toastmaster. The Freshman-Junior banquet is one of the big social events of the college year and this one was a success in every way. The dining hall and the tables were uniquely and tastefully decorated with purple and gold.

After the tables had been cleared Miss Genevieve Mullin, chairman of the social committee, presented Gordon Howard as the toastmaster of the evening. Mr. Howard in his introductory remarks expressed the regret of the Freshman class that Harold Freeman, the class president, was unable to be present. He then introduced "Bob" Martin who welcomed the Juniors to the banquet. Fred Gray, president of the Junior class, responded to the welcome. He expressed a wish for comradeship between the classes. Following this, Miss Beatrice Fisher, '22, gave a delightful vocal solo. Dennis D. Brane, '22, gave the first toast of the evening—"Five Minutes." Miss Josephine Foor, '20, followed with the toast "Post Toasties." Both of the toasts were alive with wit and humor. The formal program closed with a fascinating reading from Hugo, by Miss Helen Keller, '20.

Then came the extemporaneous speaking. Dr. Jones and Dean McFadden were called on by the toastmaster. They expressed their appreciation of the evening's program, gave reminiscences of old times, and some kindly advice to the members of the two classes. "Herb" Meyers '20, and Charles Pulse '22, gave extemporaneous toasts. The college song was sung and the Freshman-Junior Banquet of 1919 was ended.

WOOD HAS UNIQUE MEETING

Students Make Complaints Against Otterbein in Y. M. C. A. Meeting. Remedy Is Proposed.

Last Thursday night the second number of the contest being held by the Y. M. C. A. was led by L. J. Wood.

Professor Fritz, garbed as an old "country jake," complained that here in school his son didn't study but eight hours a day and had learned to play checkers, rook and tennis.

P. K. Noel, in a baseball uniform and lugging a huge sledge hammer, knocked the athletics of Otterbein. He recommended the erection of a new gym and the improvement of the present shower baths and locker rooms.

Mr. Bert Jaynes complained that they didn't have a pool table in the Association Building and that if he wanted to dance he had to go home to the local church.

Mr. H. H. Meyers also complained that the "preacher crowd" around here were too ardent in their efforts to secure converts to their way of thinking.

Mr. C. K. Pulse brought forth the plea that he studied hard, but, because he lacked "class" he was not given a prominent place in school activities.

Mr. Wood said everything could be remedied by unselfishness.

Often the unselfish road will be dimmed by clouds but if we persevere we will see each evening the "sublime, sweet evening star which is the unselfish love of Jesus Christ."

Miss Vance To Give Organ Recital.

Miss Helen Vance will give an organ recital on the chapel organ Tuesday evening, May 13. Miss Vance is a member of the 1919 graduating class in piano of the Otterbein Conservatory of Music and an advanced pupil in organ of Prof. G. G. Grabill. She is a member of the American Guild of Organists and has taken charge of the newly installed organ at the Presbyterian church.

MUSKINGUM WINS BY LARGE SCORE

Visitors Score Eleven Runs In Single Inning—Many Errors Are Made by Both Teams.

HITS ARE MADE AT WILL

Frost for Muskingum, Martin and Mignery for Otterbein Showed Real Baseball Ability.

Otterbein was defeated in her third game of baseball with Muskingum, Saturday afternoon by a score of 23 to 10. Loose playing seemed in vogue, both sides making a great quantity of errors. In the first inning Otterbein pushed ahead by a 3 to 1 score. In the second inning no scores were made by either side. The next time up, Muskingum walked away with the game by scoring eleven runs. Martin replaced Dano as pitcher. Otterbein lost her punch after this blow rallying only in the ninth when four runs were scored. Hits by either side were made at will, Otterbein getting 10 hits and Muskingum taking 17. Frost for Muskingum, Martin and Mignery for Otterbein showed real base ball ability.

Philomathean Literary Society

Buys Many New Books.

Approximately seventy-five of the best books of recent publication have just been received by the Philomathean cataloguer and placed on the shelves of the Carnegie Library. The list of books and authors is too long to print but the fact is that the selection was made with deliberation and counsel by capable men. Students should look over these books carefully and take advantage of such an excellent opportunity to read the latest and best books of fiction, history, religion and biography.

On Teachers' Program.

Dr. E. A. Jones is scheduled to speak at the annual meeting of the Ohio State Teachers' Association to be held at Cedar Point in June.

BID FAREWELL TO PHILOPHRONEAN HEIRLOOM—STARTS ON JOURNEY

Alas! Alas! the old Philophronean Temple is a thing of the past. That sacred structure so long cherished by the brothers of "Philia Kai Phronea" has been defiled by the sacrilegious hands of the house mover. Whither it is going no one knows, but, going it surely is, as is evidenced by the multitude of peculiar contraptions that have been placed beneath the beloved edifice.

Farewell! fond land mark; we bid thee sad adieu, God-speed! long fostered heirloom—may you spend many more fruitful years of service although corrupting hands have torn you from the hallowed ground where you have nestled for many years.

NEWSPAPER WORK HAS ATTRACTION

Nolan R. Best, Editor of the Continent and Member of Class, '92, Writes on Journalism.

UNLIMITED POSSIBILITIES

Urges That Journalism Challenges
the Attention of College Graduates of Fair Literary Ability.

In the recent commemoration of the centennial of the birth of James Russell Lowell, there has come to light a quotation from Lowell which I had never known of before, but which puts into words very satisfyingly for me the original conception (then of course but half conscious and wholly inarticulate) which drew me, even before I ended college, to decide on newspaper work as my vocation in life. Said Lowell:

"See what a pulpit the editor mounts daily, sometimes with a congregation of fifty thousand within reach of his voice, and never so much as a nodder among them. And from what a Bible can he choose his text, a Bible that needs no translation and which no priest-craft can shut and clasp from the laity, the open volume of the world, upon which, with a pen of sunshine and destroying fire, the inspired Present is even now writing the annals of God."

To my mind, everything which is here set down by our great American poet and essayist stands valid today to challenge the attention of any young man or young woman possessing a fair gift for writing English to the opportunities of the profession of journalism. To be sure it may seem a bit stilted for a college student to appropriate as his reason for selecting this particular calling in life a conception of its possibilities so far-reaching and potent as Mr. Lowell's description implies. And of course the sensible student well knows that there are grades of success in journalism which do not all afford the sweep of power contemplated in this view of its influence. Even if a man could know himself to be destined to ultimate success of these proportions, he would have to look forward to years of drudgery having little apparent relation to the great public and social services that journalism renders through its ablest representatives.

Neither of these considerations, however, should make a man ashamed to seek the life and work of a newspaper man with candid acknowledgement that the best capacities of the profession attract him. For when any man identifies himself with a calling of great civic usefulness, he honors and lifts himself by imposing on himself the finest standards which have been developed by the fraternity that he joins. To become a physician, an attorney, a minister or an artist with sincere motives is to make one's self a sharer with the life and honors of the very best men who adorn that profession in one's own time or in the previous history of the calling. So likewise to become even a "cub reporter" on a very ordinary daily paper is to be included, if one looks at it broadly, in all the honorable estate won by those who have served the popular interest journalistically with their gifts for writing clear and forcible English.

A young man beginning his work with such ideals in mind and following it with such devotion, he may be sure of rising to whatever position of influence his talents may command; and meanwhile he may be certain of a life more fascinatingly interesting than is offered by any other line of work in which a man of intellectual talent may engage.

I venture this last claim for newspaper work because, as the quotation from Mr. Lowell virtually says, it seems to me true that working on a newspaper introduces one to the whole human drama in a light more vivid and searching than any other viewpoint of life can afford. It is the newspaper man's good fortune to be a specialist in every sort of human interest. And when, in order to approximate the ideas which his ideal sets before him, he may find himself obliged to tread many devious windings in a rocky, uphill road, he will certainly find no part of the journey dull; and if material rewards are not as great as they usually are for equivalent service in medicine or the law, he will enjoy other compensations which, unless he has mistaken his calling, utterly, will save him from regret for choosing the varied and always stirring life of a newspaper man.

Mothers' Day.

Sunday, May 11th, has been set aside over the entire world as Mothers' Day. The occasion is not local, sectarian or limited to any one people. Instead, it is universal in its scope and will be observed by everyone who has the cherished memories
of a loving and thoughtful mother, and who has that deep respect and admiration for motherhood.

Mothers' Day was founded by Miss Jarvis who had for her purpose to honor and uplift motherhood and to give comfort and happiness to "the best mother that ever lived—your mother." In her words "Do something to show your mother that she is 'Queen of the May' in your heart." Hence, it is only fitting that she should be remembered on that day by some token. Be with her if you can. If such is impossible, send her some remembrance, write her a letter or wire her of your praises and gratitude. If she is not living think of her in the glad recognition that she was the best mother who ever lived.
The white flower is the memory flower for the occasion. It's whiteness stands for purity; its form, beauty; its fragrance, love; its wide field of growth, charity; its lasting qualities, faithfulness; carnation, mother sufferings of the flesh—all a true mother's attributes. This beautiful flower should be worn by every one in grateful remembrance of the one who in our infancy watched over us with tenderest care; in our youth,

carefully guided us to higher ideals,
and in maturity is the ever faithful counselor.

Professors Deserve Increase.

We understand that recently the professors of Ohio State University have asked for increased salaries and we do not think it would be amiss if the professors of Otterbein would follow suite.

Certainly there is no college where the professors are so devoted to their work or so loyal to the school as at Otterbein. We would wager, also,
that no school the size of Otterbein
has a corps of instructors so well prepared for their particular branches of work as are those of this school.

More than one professor here has received tempting offers from other institutions. In these positions the pay would be far better, the work more attractive and it is only a high
"sense of duty" that holds the professors true to Otterbein. But a "sense of duty" won't pay grocery bills, so it is about time for some one to give the trustees of this institution a jolt regarding this matter. We appreciate the fact that the trustees are doing much for the school but they seem sadly negligent over this important matter. The trustees should be reminded that prices have gone up two hundred percent while salaries of our college professors have scarcely increased fifty percent.

A capable professor must spend far more time and money in preparation for his life work than a business man and at least as much as a first class lawyer or engineer. Why is it then,
that they must content themselves with a recompense hardly equal to the salary of a high school graduate?
Our sense of justice cries against this outrage and we hope the time is not far remote when it will be remedied.

Innovation In Chapel Services.

Chapel services have been unusually interesting in recent weeks because of the talks of certain professors. Professors Snavelly, Jones, Altman and Scheer especially, have followed definite lines of thought which were both instructive and interesting.

Why cannot the music be varied and made more interesting? It seems absolutely necessary to always sing
one hymn and that one at the opening of chapel and seldom is this monotony changed. A solo, quartet or any other innovation would add interest and relieve the monotony so evident to all students.

If it were not for the faithfulness of a particular few, a college editor
would lose all faith in mankind.

Learn the New Song.

It is scarcely proper to speak of the "Otterbein Love Song" as a new song since it was written a year or more ago, yet it is new to many of us.
Possibly the tune is familiar but few have learned the words well enough to join in with enthusiasm when it is sung at assemblies or games. Without doubt this song has merit in its beauty of melody and appropriate words. The tune was written by Professor G. G. Grabill, Director of Otterbein Conservatory of Music and the words by his wife. Why should not everyone commit to memory the lines that follow:

Otterbein Love Song.

In a quiet peaceful village,
There's one we love so true;
She ever gives a welcome
To her friends both old and new,
She stands serene 'mid tree tops
green;
She's our dear Otterbein.

Her halls have their own message
Of truth and hope and love;
She guides her youths and maidens
To the life that looks above.
Her stately tower speaks aught but power
For our dear Otterbein.

Chorus.

Old Otterbein, our college,
We sing of thee today;
Our mem-ries round thee linger
In a sweet and mystic way.
O, Otterbein, we love thee!
Our hearts are only thine;
We pledge anew we will be true,
Dear Otterbein.

A "Call to the Colors"

Last April a species of referendum and a chance for the alumni to cooperate for the future good of the college was sent out by a committee appointed at commencement in June, 1917. This committee solicits constructive criticism, suggestive new policies, and new ideas of all kinds that will make for a bigger and a better Otterbein. Such data as is accumulated will be tabulated by the committee of which Mr. F. O. Clements, is chairman, and presented to the President and Board of Trustees at the annual meeting in June. No names will accompany the abstracted report.

Mr. Clements' own words are, "This committee believes that the alumni have a message of value for our college and should have an active share in shaping future policies." This seems to be a very practical plan and it deserves the hearty support of everyone who is interested in Otterbein so why can not the present student body make suggestions as well as alumni. We are most wide awake to the needs of the college and undoubtedly the committee would appreciate our point of view. We suggest that students take this opportunity to unload their minds with constructive criticism which will aid this committee in formulating their program intended for Otterbein's future
good.

Y. W. C. A.

Helen Bovee was the leader of the meeting with the subject, "The New Death." The new conception of death is not that the gloomy grave will be the end, but that we will live on in a sweet immortality with God as our companion.

In preparing for a short journey say to Columbus, we take little care in getting ready but when taking a long trip to Chicago or New York, we would exercise much more care and thought. We are preparing now for a long journey—Immortality, therefore we should think deep and prepare carefully.

CLUB TALK

To the Editor:

Scandal! Scandal! That is evidently the very breath of life to certain individuals. They are not happy unless spreading tales and cannot rest contented unless casting, far and wide, rumors, innocent enough perhaps, in their origin but enlarged upon at each repetition until finally they become something really serious.

How many a pleasant friendship is marred by this contemptuous evil? How many congenial young people are alienated from one another by untrue, malicious stories that some people enjoy repeating? It is indeed, true that the devil finds work for idle tongues as well as idle hands. If some of the worthless, tale-bearing creatures would spend their time in helpful, personal criticism to the one concerned and in praise to the public, they would find themselves well recompensed by increased happiness to all concerned. —Bolshevist.

FOOTBALL SCHEDULE FIXED

Prospects Favorable for Strong Team
Next Fall—Manager Moore
Announces Schedule.

Otterbein has a promising outlook for football this fall. With the old material that won letters in former years and returning soldiers who distinguished themselves on the grid-iron, Otterbein will have one of the best teams in its history. The position of quarterback will be hotly contested: Gilbert who piloted the successful 1916 team will be back; Smith who called signals last year, and Martin who is a very good prospect, all entertain hopes for the pilot position. Howard at center, Roy Pedan, a returned soldier and an all star end, Camp a "speedy" half back, Powell a big guard, Howe at tackle and Myers in back field are all looking forward to a position.

Manager H. F. Moore has arranged a strong schedule. It follows:

Sept. 27—Ohio Wesleyan at Delaware.

Oct. 4—Antioch at Westerville.

Oct. 11—Denison at Granville.

ENTHUSIASTIC RALLY HELD

Students Parade Trough Town—
"Pep" Speeches Are Made and Farce Game Is Played.

Plenty of enthusiasm was displayed at the baseball rally last Friday night. After a rousing "snake" parade around town and over to the "dorm" the students assembled in the chapel for a "pep" meeting.

Rousing applause for the college band was followed by a speech by R. H. Huber who spoke for the boys. The "castiron" quartet vied with the "heavenly" warblers. Miss Warner spoke for the girls after which a farce Muskingum game was played by the team. After a tennis announcement by "Hindu" Bancroft the supporters of Otterbein's athletics called it an evening and broke ranks. "Bill" Vance our cheer leader was master of ceremonies for the evening.

Doctor Herrman Speaks in Chapel.

Beginning a series of addresses to the students, Dr. Jesse Hermann of Avondale Presbyterian church, Cincinnati, spoke in the College chapel last Wednesday night. His subject was "Facing the Future."

Student problems are not essentially different from problems of other people, and the principles that apply to world problems in general, are also applicable to student questions. One of the greatest lessons to be learned in college, Dr. Hermann said, is to appreciate a problem, not necessarily to solve it. Another benefit derived from college training, is the ability to consider people

DOCTOR THOMPSON SPEAKS

President of Ohio State University Is First Speaker of Series Planned
by Christian Associations.

The Young Women's and Young Men's Christian Associations of the college are arranging a series of addresses on the student's relation to the present world situation. The aim is to spread the word out, as it were, before us that we may consider our responsibility to it. President Thompson, President Ohio State University, began the series with the subject, "The Problems of Europe," at the church service Sunday sight. He spoke of the meaning for us of Europe's failures. Certainly very few men are so well qualified to speak on this subject as is President Thompson. Everyone profited by hearing this important message.

On Tuesday evening the Reverend W. Irving Maurer, pastor of the First Congregational church of Columbus, will give the second address in the series. He will speak on the subject, "Christianizing America." His address will deal with the most serious of our social problems and with the solution for them. It is fortunate that we can have Mr. Maurer here. No student should miss this address.

The third speaker in this series will be Bishop Alfred T. Howard, who will speak on "The Challenge of the Orient." He will be here next Sunday and Monday, May 11 and 12. He will speak at the morning service Sunday. The following Sunday Dr. O. T. Deever and Rev. J. B. Showers will speak on student life in general. At a later date someone will be secured to speak on special forms of Christian service.
