OHIO UNIVERSITY NEGATIVE DEBATING TEAM.

Guttridge, Foley, Fawcett, Captain, Falloon, Alternate.

Who will meet Otterbein at Westerville on the night of April 12.

CLUB MAKES DEBUT

"Daddy's" Protoges Will Show Off Wednesday Evening.

In what promises to be the "best ever" in the music line the 1912 Glee Club will appear before their first audience in the college chapel, Wednesday at 8:00 p. m.

The Glee Club, an organization of the sixteen best men's voices in school has a strong personnel this year. Although smaller in members than the 1911 club, it is claimed that they make up for the lack in quantity by their quality. They have some classy numbers on the program which appears on another page. The soloists are Prof. Resler, tenor, P. H. Rogers, baritone, G. D. Spafford, tenor and Lucelle Gilbert, violin.

The Glee club men have been working steadily since the first of the school year to prepare another of its high standard programs and Mr. Resler has given another year of his best effort to the club. The program this year will be quite varied. The heavier and more difficult numbers will be intermingled with the lighter, freer forms. Extracts from some of the most successful light operas of the day will be given. Solos from the club members will feature. A Spanish serenade sung by Mr. Resler with the chorus accompaniment is one of the most beautiful compositions of its kind. A Southern sketch in negro dialect with a suggestion of minstrelsy is another pleasing number.

Gillilan Ends Season.

The large crowd which attended the last of the series of the Citizens' Lecture Course felt that the season had ended in a fitting manner. Mr. Gillilan was all that was promised and more. His lecture, "Sunshine and Awkwardness" delivered throughout in a monotone, nevertheless pleased all. In the speaker's own words, the lecture was nothing more than several courses of sandwiches, little sermons with a good laugh on either side.

His poems, given intermittently, were both of the pathetic and humorous kind, and at each delivery the audience responded with hearty applause.

On April 15, the Citizens' Lecture Course committee will offer an extra number. Mr. Hamilton Holt, managing editor of the Independent will give his illustrated lecture on Japan. To holders of the season tickets the price of admission will be 10c; others 15 cents.

Library Additions.

The following new books have been added to the archives in Carnegie Library.

Initiative, Referendum and the Recall, Beard and Shultz; Auguste Rodin, Dircks; London as an Art City, Erskine; Interpretative Reading, Marsland; Creative Evolution, Bergson; and International Law, Scott.

Dr. and Mrs. J. W. Funk are entertaining the doctor's parents.

Seniors to Receive.

The regular annual reception, tendered the students by the senior class will take place Saturday, March 30, from 8:00 p. m. to 10:00 p. m. All students and faculty members and alumni are invited.

Working for Peace Contest

The annual oratorical contest of the Ohio International Peace Association will be held early in May. The local contest, for which there are already many entries, will be held April 19. All orations must deal with the question of international peace, but any phase of the subject may be discussed. The winner of the local contest will represent Otterbein in the state contest at Cleveland, Ohio. Prizes offered for the winners of the latter contest are, first prize $75; second prize, $50.

Observe Palm Sunday.

The Choir will sing the following famous anthems appropriate to Palm Sunday next Sunday—"Palm Branches" by Faure, "Jerusalem" by Parker, "Unfold Ye Portals Everlasting" from Gounod's Oratorio, "The Redemption."

Recital on April 1.

The Conservatory of Music will give the April recital on next Monday at 8 o'clock. Although this date happens to fall on April Fool's day, Prof. Grabill promises us a very choice program.

HONORS COME TO O. U.

Admitted to Membership in North Central Association of Colleges.

President Clippinger returned Friday from Chicago with the good news that Otterbein had been admitted to full membership in the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary schools. The resolution was passed at the seventh annual meeting of the association, March 22 and 23, at the Auditorium Hotel, Chicago, at which Pres. Clippinger was present.

The association includes colleges from the states of Colorado, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Michigan, Minnesota, Mississippi, Montana, Nebraska, North and South Dakota, Ohio, Oklahoma, Wyoming, and Wisconsin.

The fact that Otterbein is a member of this association will be a great advantage to her graduates in that a diploma from O. U. is as good as a certificate to teach in any of the above named states. It has been no easy matter to gain admittance to this organization. The regulations are necessarily very strict. Otterbein's claims were investigated by Inspector Pearson several months ago and upon his recommendation our school was given full membership.

The Requirements.

FANS WAKE UP

Baseball Material Being Closely Watched—Schedule.

A few short out-door practices were indulged in last week. It was hardly enough to get much of a line on the material but the bunch was of a good size and very enthusiastic.

"Res" Calihan
Captain of the 1912 Baseball Team.

Capt. Calihan says' "Otterbein has 13 hard games this season. O. U. must have a fast, snappy team to play them. We must have a team of good batters too this year. The highest average last year was 289—the year previous, 377.

The material looks excellent:
Catcher—Bevis, Bronson, Crogan, Garver, Simon.

Pitcher—Snively, McFarland, R. Calihan, Zuerner, Van Saun.

First—C. Rogers, Bale, Crogan, McFarland, R. Calihan, M. Hartman.

Second—Daub, Payne, L. Smith, Spring.

DIAMOND DUST.

Do you know all of the 86 rules for 1912 in Spalding's Baseball Guide?

There's going to be a strenuous examination on the field during the game with last year's champions, Reserve, April 12th. Get busy.

There are some new rules in Baseball this year. Get next.

Every First Team man must know the rules, and make them part of him. You may need them before the season is over.

Only 16 more practice days before the first game with Reserve.

First Team Suits have been cleaned. "Those who wear the spurs, must earn them."

Two wire backstops are being erected on the old field for batting practice.

Five men can now practice batting at one time.

"Jack" Snively
Who is expected to show up well as pitcher.

Soon as the weather permits the old field will be leveled and a heavy roller run over it so as to make a good working ground.

Baseball men had one chance to limber up, out-door last Tuesday.

Here's an excellent chance for new men to earn a baseball. "O" only one first baseman and two pitchers back from last year's team.

Kansas leads the states when it comes to college students. It has more students per capita than any other state, leading with one student for every 112 inhabitants. Ohio comes twelfth in the list, with one student to every 219 inhabitants, while New Mexico is at the bottom having one for every 1636 inhabitants.—Oberlin Review.

curriculum with a tendency to differentiate its parts in such a way that the first two years are a continuance of, and a supplement to, the work of secondary instruction as given in the high school, while the last two years are shaped more or less distinctly in the direction of special, professional or university instruction.

The following constitute the standards for accrediting colleges for the coming year.

1. The minimum scholastic requirement of all college teachers shall be equivalent to graduation from a college belonging to this Association, and graduate work equal at least to that required for a Master's degree. Graduate study and training in research equivalent to that required for the Ph. D. degree are urgently recommended, but the teacher's success is to be determined by the efficiency of his teaching, as well as by his research work.

2. The college shall require for admission not less than fourteen secondary units, as defined by this Association.

3. The college shall require not less than one hundred and twenty semester hours for graduation.

4. The college shall be provided with library and laboratory equipment sufficient to develop fully and illustrate each course announced.

5. The college, if a corporate institution, shall possess a productive endowment of not less than $200.00.

6. The college, if a tax-supported institution, shall receive an annual income of not less than $100,000.

7. The college shall maintain at least eight distinct departments in liberal arts with professors giving full time to the college work.

8. The location and construction of the buildings, the lighting, heating and ventilation of the rooms, the nature of the laboratories, corridors, closets, water supply, school furniture, apparatus, and methods of cleaning shall be such as to insure hygienic conditions for both students and teachers.

9. The number of hours of work given by each teacher will vary in the different departments. To determine this, the amount of preparation required for the class and the time needed for study to keep abreast of the subject, together with the number of students, must be taken into account; but in no case shall more than eighteen hours per week be required, fifteen being recommended as a maximum.

10. The college must be able to prepare its graduates to enter in recognized graduate schools as candidates for advanced degrees.

11. The college should limit the number of students in a recitation or laboratory class to thirty.

12. The character of the curriculum, the efficiency of instruction, the scientific spirit, the standard for regular degrees, the observation in granting honorary degrees, and the tone of the institution shall also be factors in determining eligibility.

No institution shall be considered for membership, or retain membership, unless a regular blank has been filed with the Commission, and is filed triennially, unless the inspectors have waived the presentation of the triennial blank.

The local inspector shall be the agent of communication between the college and the Commission.

Some Startling Statements.

Before one of the literary societies, recently, an Otterbein graduate after fifteen years of experience in the cold, cold world made some startling statements. He said that over one half of his college education in Otterbein, which amounted to seven years, was wasted. He maintained that he should have specialized five years earlier than he did, which meant that he ought to have left Otterbein for a school of specialization without even entering the college department or at least having spent only two years in college. The gentleman also asserted that the dead languages should have been cremated instead of being placed in a college curriculum. Now may we as students of the present, minus the buffeting experience of the world look into these remarkable utterances.

Hasty Specialization.

"The world of today demands specialists. If you are going to be a business man, a doctor, or a lawyer, be one as soon as you can. Time spent on what lies outside of one's speciality is time wasted."

If all of this were true, why should Otterbein exist? Otterbein does not provide any of her students with a speciality. She does not even fit her students to teach as a speciality, except in her summer school. What she does do, however, is vastly more important. Otterbein makes a man fit to be a specialist. She gives him not merely a good foundation for his speciality but also for life. Life is not entirely included within the trade or profession which one chooses in order to make a living.

Furthermore the "mushroom" specialist is not very much in demand after all. Who craves the services of a "short-cut" doctor, a pettifogging lawyer or an "inspired" preacher? As has often been quoted, God makes a pumpkin in a few months; but he uses many years to develop a great oak. The world's greatest example did not take up his speciality until he was thirty years of age. Are four years in college too long for a student to build a foundation for his life work?

"Dead Studies."

"When I was in school I had Latin pounded into me (I remembered the pounding, but not the Latin). I daily rode to Greek classes upon my pony. The mathematics professor tried his best to teach me that A plus B minus X equaled 0. All of this has proved of no use to me in my life in a large city. One half of my college education was wasted, etc." The true college student knows the value of these staid members of the curriculum without any one coming to their defense. It might be well suggested, however, that "killing the pony" would be a better solution to the difficulty than "cremating the Greek language."

True it is that all "advice" should be well weighed before it is accepted.

THIS AND THAT

At a meeting recently held at Berlin, representatives from 14 universities, 10 technical colleges, the royal agricultural college and other schools, an agreement was made whereby regular intercollegiate competitions will be held, patterned after American lines. The first meeting will be held in Leipzig in 1913.

The Columbus high school graduates may appear this year in caps and gowns. It is argued that many students are embarrassed each year because they cannot appear dressed as well as others, and that on this account some drop their courses before graduation, mainly to avoid humiliation. Such steps on the part of high school students should be encouraged on account of economy if for no other reason.

According to the Yale News the larger number of students now in preparatory schools, and who have been prominent in athletics, and who expect to continue their studies, have selected Yale as the college to which they will go upon graduation. Twenty schools were polled to secure this information. Seven football, seven track, and six baseball captains chose this school. Harvard, Princeton follow in order.

A Northwestern university professor has invented a machine to measure human efficiency. The person to be measured places his thumb on the top and forefinger on the bottom of two interfitted steel tubes, between which is a spring. These are pressed together and a dial measures the resistance.

This is intended for measuring efficiency of typewriters and the like. But wouldn't it work as well on some of our Seniors who expect to teach next year? It might reveal what power they have to grasp the rod, the insignia of the profession.

Don't take spells for working and try to accomplish in one day the things you should have done in two weeks.

While here he was the guest at dinner at the Barnes home on East College avenue.

CHASES SWINDLERS

Otterbein Man Leads Crusade Against "Bunco" Men.

The good state of Wisconsin for years past has been the victim of fraud on the part of the stock importers because she had no just laws and no entomologist to protect her citizens. Conditions have changed within the last few months, for the Wisconsin people have found their leader in Prof. James G. Sanders, the professor of entomology of Wisconsin State university.

It is Prof. Sanders' initiative and fighting spirit that the state owes its present successful crusade against the many forms of "bunco" that have been carried on so long within its borders. In addition to systematizing the work of inspection so that he knows personally every nurseryman, Mr. Sanders secured from the legislature of 1911 a law that really enables the entomologist to protect the people. The old statute was so faulty and indefinite that there were innumerable loopholes through which the deceiver might crawl. For instance, it did not apply to the shipment of defective stock within the state, nor did it demand of every agent a certificate proving that he was a bona fide agent of a licensed firm.

For the prevention of another form of frauds, the adulteration of insecticides, an entirely new law has been passed, which is without doubt the best in the country. To test the old law, Prof. Sanders gathered a large collection of samples, which are examined to determine their chemical composition. His suspicions have already been justified for many insecticides have been proven useless.

This investigative spirit of Prof. Sanders has won the great renown which has come to him in Wisconsin. Before 1910 Mr. Sanders was in the government entomological bureau in Washington, D. C. His original work there gained for him the position of professor of entomology of the Wisconsin State university. This was no small achievement, for the faculty of this university is noted over the United States for its strong men in every department.

Prof. Sanders is a graduate of Otterbein of the class of 1901 and Ohio State of the class of 1903.

While in Otterbein "Jim," as he is known to his O. U. friends was a famous athlete, carrying off many honors for Otterbein from both football gridiron and baseball diamond.

MAKING PLANS

Alumni Organize for Systematic Aid to Alma Mater.

The Alumni of O. U. are to be commended in their effort to renew interest and enthusiasm in their Alma Mater. Letters have been sent to all captains of the various classes from 1857 to date outlining and giving plans by which the captains are to be guided in perfecting an organization that will enlist the whole body of alumni. Many encouraging letters are being received by the president, R. H. Wagoner, '92, in response to letters sent to captains which warrants the statement that the classes are becoming interested in O. U. as never before.

The purpose is to enlist the services of the alumni in every way looking towards the welfare of the institution. Plans are being worked out by the classes for reunions which fall this year to classes of '62, '72, '82, '92 and '02. It is also suggested that as many alumni as can, be present at the meeting June 18.

Each member will receive a letter from the captain of his class outlining the work his class is expected to do. We believe it is the duty of every member of the association to respond heartily to the letter of his captain and help to boost a good thing. Come to your class reunions, come to commencement, let bygones be bygones and renew your interest in your classmates and in Otterbein.

Cornell—Jacob H. Schiff, a New York banker, has announced a gift of $100,000 to Cornell University.

Gives Practical Address.

Professor J. W. Funk was the speaker at the meeting of last week. His subject was "The Way of the Transgressor." It was the practical kind—the kind which all the fellows enjoy. It was of a scientific nature, similar to that delivered by Dr. Shannon last fall. The speaker called attention to the things which often happen and which probably will happen to the young man who transgresses the laws of God. He urged the fellows to live clean, pure lives—lives worth while.

After the regular address, reports were given by the delegates sent to the Y. M. C. A. convention at Springfield, Ohio.

Miss Stone Speaks.

The meeting Tuesday night was of benefit to all. Miss Olds was leader. Miss Stone, the Field Secretary of Y. W. C. A., gave a very good address. She began with the creation of man and traced the history of the Hebrews. She told in a few words the story given us in the Holy Bible.

She emphasized the work of the prophets, and how they knew through God's aid that Jesus Christ should come to redeem sinners.

How many of us are true prophets? Are we able to foresee coming events? We must realize that the truth always wins. Face the truth and it will be a shield in trouble. Be not ashamed to uphold the right. Remember we are but forerunners of the life that is to come.

Bible Classes Enjoy Social.

The Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. Bible Classes held a joint reception in the Association parlors Saturday evening. The games, readings, songs and refreshments were greatly enjoyed by the large number present.

Much interest is taken each year in the annual Harvard-Yale boat race on the Thames river. It has recently been announced that this event will take place on June 21.

EXCHANGES.

Ohio Wesleyan—In the dual meet at Delaware, Wesleyan came out victorious with a score of 55 to 38. The victory over Oberlin made O. W. U. the winners of the Ohio intercollegiate in-door track championship. Two records were broken and two tied in this meet.

Wooster—The first trial of the honor system was made last week. Everyone was satisfied with the result.

In the triangular debate of Wooster, Pittsburg and Allegheny on the judicial recall, Wooster won at home and lost at Pittsburg. Allegheny lost on both sides to Wooster and Pittsburg.

Ohio State—A portrait group of the entire student body, faculty and trustees will be taken next Wednesday morning. This picture will be one of the largest group photographs ever taken as it will be of over 3000 if all students assemble.

The cost-of-living canvas of the students of Ohio State, conducted by the Lantern during the past two months, shows that seventeen hundred dollars is the average amount of money spent by each student during the four years. As a rule fraternity men spent from $100 to $150 more per year than non-fraternity men.

Sixteen juniors and seniors were elected to Phi Beta Kappa in honor of high scholarship standing during this year and last.

Purdue—Purdue defeated the Indiana University in basketball
thus winning the conference championship for the tenth consecutive time. She sent a challenge to Columbia, the winner of the intercollegiate title for a game to decide the national championship, but Columbia will not be permitted to play post-season games.

Dartmouth—A student having a grade of eighty-five may cut classes whenever he chooses.
This ruling was made recently by the faculty.

Since 1889 Yale and Cornell have not had athletic relations
but now they are being resumed.
These two large eastern universities never had a track-meet.

Mrs. Grindell, of Galion, spent Saturday and Sunday here the guest of her daughter, Miss Ila Grindell.

Paul Fouts who is attending Jacob's Business College in Dayton, visited old friends here for a few days.

"Cupe" Lambert was in Columbus on business Saturday.

Rev. James Best led chapel this morning.

COCHRAN HALL ITEMS.

Miss Stone the State Secretary of Y. W. C. A. visited Cochran Hall for a few days. Monday evening the Y. W. C. A. girls held a reception for her in the parlors.

There were quite a number of visitors in the Hall this week. Miss Marie Devoe is visiting her sisters. Mrs. J. T. Walters spent the week end with her niece, Grace Straw. Misses Florence and Ethel Zuel and Miss Comfetter were guests of Hester Hudson and Verda Oglie. Mr. Llewellyn of Columbus was a Sunday dinner guest of Irene Staub. Daddy and Mother and Doc. were also present for Sunday dinner with Miss Denton.

Ruth Weimer held a spread for her mess-mates one evening of this week, which was greatly enjoyed. Misses Hudson and Oglie entertained their guests Saturday evening with a "Heart" party.

If Nell Shupe has not regained her customary smile, you must conclude she has not found her diary yet.

A new book is out and is well-worth looking up. "Our Guests" by Nettie Lee Roth and Bonita Jamison. It has quite an interesting chapter on the entertainment of guests.

In addition to the usual home-goers, Miss Sollers took Miss Carmen with her to visit in Columbus and Edith Gilbert spent Sunday with a friend in West Jefferson.

OTTERBEINESQUES.

Miss Cook—"Now, be honest, Ila, wouldn't you rather have a voter than a vote?"

Prof.—"Give the first commandment, Mr. Huber."

Huber—"I am the Lord, thy God."

Hahn—"Doesn't this weather give you the spring fever?"

Yabe—"Yes, but I'd rather have that than be crazy with the heat."

Parish's favorite song—"No Never Alone."

Wouldn't a megaphone be a good thing for chapel leaders to use who have weak voices?

Heard in the balcony when Miss Moser was bumped in the eye—"Heavens, Moses is smitten."

Miller making speech in English class, rather nervous—Miss Ruth Weimer casts her eyes upon him—Miller stopping abruptly exclaimed, "Don't look at me like that, I get so fussed I can't do anything."

Harkins, walking down street with a friend when someone whistled. Turning they saw a girl in red calling her dog. "Come on, she's whistling for the other dog."

Grace Brane took a nap in Bible recitation Thursday.

Huber (giving oration—"A house, divided against itself cannot fall.")

Williams in society—"I move Mr. Pres. that Mr. Smith purchase a new spring for the clock."

Moses—"Mr. Pres., Philomatheia already has one Spring (C. E.) I think that is sufficient."

No students, we do not have a new janitor. It is the same old Daddy with a few alterations.

Charley—"When the prodigal son returned his father ran out to meet him and lost himself."

Prof. Jones—"Where did you get that?"

Charley—"Well, it said that he fell on his neck."

Case—An Aero club is being considered and would prove interesting and helpful to those who are thinking of this line of work.
