DELEGATES GIVE REPORTS SUNDAY

Eight Thousand Delegates Attend Student Volunteer Convention at Des Moines—O. C. Sends Five.

REPORT AT CHURCH SERVICE

Professor Schear Presides and Otterbein Representatives Give Interesting Accounts of Speeches.

On Sunday morning, the regular morning service at the United Brethren Church was given over to the delegates who recently attended the International Student Volunteer Conference at Des Moines. Professor Schear, the faculty representative, presided. After an introductory statement to the effect that only the merest gleanings of the great gathering could possibly be presented, he introduced Miss Josephine Foor, the delegation leader.

Miss Foor presented a brief picture of the convention as a whole. The meetings were all held in a Coliseum accommodating 8,000, and every seat was occupied. On the speaker's platform sat such leaders as John Mott, Robert E. Speer, George Sherwood Eddy, Sam Higginbotham and many others. Back of the speakers' platform was seated the foreign delegation, which numbered 400 and represented 40 different nations. The great enthusiastic Canadian delegation sat next, and behind them, the students from the States. Ohio's delegation was among the largest of these numbering about 300. The four great aims of the Conference as stated by Dr. Mott were (1) that students should receive a new world vision, (2) that they should receive a

Gone Again

Lost, Strayed or Stolen! Which? Nobody will ever know, but at least the chapel song books, the pulpit and speakers chairs have departed for another vacation. How they went will ever remain a mystery. The chairs, no doubt, just naturally strutted away on their legs. The pulpit, having no means of locomotion was, we suppose, carried away on the "backs" of the books, which fluttered their leaves and sang to the sleeping students, "God be with you till we meet again."

WESLEYAN WINS

Second Game of Season Goes to Methodists—Otterbein Quintet Lacks Ability to Score.

Otterbein's quintet traveled to Delaware Tuesday night, Jan. 13, where they were trimmed by Wesleyan by the score of 34 to 15.

Wesleyan scored first but Otterbein came back and at the end of the first ten minutes had tied the score and a few minutes later took the lead. The Methodists, however, in the remainder of the half scored four field goals while the Tan and Cardinal could not add to their score.

In the second half Wesleyan was on the long end of the score the whole way and always had a comfortable margin of points. Coach Watts' men fought hard during the entire game. They passed well in streaks taking the ball down the floor where they would lose it in a futile attempt to score. At one time during the game they shot no less than ten times in succession at a comparatively short distance and yet were unable to place it within the steel rim.

Smith and Torrance carried away the honors for Wesleyan. Fox developed a streak of his old time shooting in the first half but it ended suddenly. In this game as in the former one with Denison, Ranck's guarding was of an exceptionally fine character. His work in getting the ball and carrying it down the floor has been stellar to say the least.

Debates.

Otterbein's debating schedule has been practically completed. A triangle debate with Muskingum and Heidelberg will be held on March 23, the negative team going to Muskingum and the affirmative team meeting Heidelberg at home.

Another triangle debate, for which no date has been set, will be staged with Mt. Union and Ohio Northern. On this occasion the negative team will remain at home while the affirmative team will perform away.

FAVOR RATIFICATION

Students Here Vote for League and Treaty Without Amendments or Reservations—Schools Differ.

Otterbein students favor the ratification of the League and Treaty without amendments or reservations according to the referendum vote taken here on last Tuesday at chapel. All American colleges and universities voted on the propositions as stated by the Editors-in-Chief of eastern university papers.

Originally there were six propositions submitted but later these were reduced to four. Otterbein and most schools voted on the first four only.

At Otterbein the first proposition which favored the ratification of the League and Treaty without reservation or amendments swept the field with 149 votes. Proposition four that favored any compromise on the reservations which will make possible immediate ratification of the Treaty and the League ranked second with 93 votes. Propositions two and three received 15 to 21 votes, respectively.

Otterbein's faculty vote stood as follows: Prop. I, 4 votes; Prop. II, 1 vote; Prop. III, 2 votes and Prop. IV, 16 votes. The vote was in favor of any compromise on the reservations which will make possible immediate ratification of the Treaty and the League.

Ohio State University differed from most schools inasmuch as they voted on the six propositions. Number five, that United States should make peace with Germany now and decide the fate of the league of nations later won out with 780 votes. Its nearest rival was that favoring ratification of the Treaty with Lodge reservations, which received 456

Fox Elected Captain.

C. L. Fox was re-elected captain of this year's basketball squad on Monday evening. This year makes Charlie's fourth of varsity basketball. His first year was perhaps his most successful as the past two years the squad has not been up to par. He has led in shooting each of the past three years and has scored more points than any other Otterbein player. Six more points will bring his total to five hundred.

He was acting captain in his Sophomore year and captain in his Junior year. All recognize his ability in the floor game and it is hoped that this year will see an enviable climax to his basketball record.

TEAM LOSES TO FAST QUINTETS

Marietta and Muskingum Finish With Big End of Score—Collier and Cutler Show Ability.

PLAY HERE SATURDAY

Next Friday Otterbein Will Play St. Mary's at Dayton and on Saturday Capital Here.

Otterbein's quintet dropped two games on their week-end trip, the first to Marietta on Friday night by the score of 34 to 19 and the second to Muskingum 47 to 33.

Collier and Cutler played well in both games.

The next game will be next Friday night at Dayton with St. Marys. Capital beat them bad last Saturday so the Tan and Cardinal quintet stands a good chance to win this next game. On Saturday night the team will play their first home game with Capital University. Reserved seats will be put on sale at the Association Building Friday noon at 12:30.

Declamation Contest.

It is well for students to bear in mind that the annual Declamation Contest will be held about the last of February. This is a contest open to Freshmen and Sophomores. The selections given must be declamations committed and not original compositions. The prizes awarded are $15, $10 and $5.

new commission, (3) that all should gain an impression of the unity and solidarity of the whole world, (4) that all should receive a new extension of their own personal power.

J. R. Howe spoke next on "Side-lights of the Convention." Among other interesting things he mentioned the missionary exhibit of cartoons, pictures, etc., the denominational meetings held in the various churches for the delegates, the cablegrams received from foreign fields, and the honor roll of missionaries who died in service during the recent war.

Manson Nichols gave a short talk on "The Great Need of the Non-Christian World." He mentioned four great needs: (1) sanitation and medical aid, (2) education, (3) a plan developing the agricultural resources of the soil, (4) a higher regard for women and children. The appeal made in each of these fields is one to challenge any college student.

Miss Bertha Hancock was then introduced; and she gave a view of "The Problems of the Christian Church." She said we had brains enough to usher in a millennium, but not religion enough, so instead, the world has just undergone four years of hell. If 12 apostles could move their world for Christ, what could 8000 students do? What could not be done by them in the way of freeing India, Africa and Armenia? The important question is not how to make a life. The soul of improvement is the improvement of the soul.

In concluding the report, Professor Schear spoke a few moments of "The Christian Student's Opportunities." This is the moment of moments for our colleges. The next five or ten years is to be the most important period in history. Every life should be invested where it will count most. There is a definite call to any one line of service as much as to any other. The open door is opportunity, and opportunity is a call. It is always a crime to be a little man, and thrice a crime in such a time as this.

Most of the better known universities favored immediate settlement of the controversy by compromise.

At Capital University ratification of treaty with Lodge reservations received 84 votes; any compromise to get ratification, 84, and ratification without amendments or reservations, 18. Ten students opposed the treaty in any form.

Immediate ratification by compromise was favored at Harvard, Wisconsin, Michigan, Columbia, Yale, Western Reserve, Case, St. Ignatius, Wittenberg, Ohio Northern, Kenyon, Western College for Women and Muskingum.

Cornell and Denison voiced their approval of ratification without reservations.

The University of Pennsylvania decision was also for peace now and a league later.

Johns Hopkins, University of Maryland and Loyola registered their disapproval of a league in any form.

SOPHS HAVE "BOB" PARTY

Huge Bob Sleds Take Hilarious Sophomores to Central College—Have Memorable Time.

Sleigh bells, laughter, songs, jokes, eats, games and everything and anything else that goes for a good time.

That was the program that the Sophomores enjoyed on their bob-sled party last Wednesday night. It was an ideal evening and a more congenial crowd could not be imagined than that which left Westerville loaded and tucked in by warm blankets on two "bobs" bound for an hospitable farm house near Central College. A brisk drive and the crowd arrived, eager for a warm room and food. These two things were soon realized and after a delicious lunch had been disposed of the tables were pushed back and games participated in until, all too soon, the chaperons, Prof. and Mrs. West, by the way, announced it time to return.

Then the ride home, more songs and yells and finally the breaking up of what the "Sophs" will always claim as the best "bob" party of the year.

Hearty Response Appreciated.

Otterbein's student-body again displayed its sincere loyalty to the old school by going enmasse to Columbus last Saturday morning. The same spirit that has brought forward a united Otterbein on previous occasions was greatly in evidence. Although such an undertaking is necessarily awkward yet the Sybil trip can be stamped as a complete success. The encouragement which the Sybil management received from such hearty patronage will have a far-reaching effect. The Sybil Board and co-members of the Junior class wish to thank the student body, one and all, for their co-operation in securing the larger pictures for the 1920 annual.

Social Committee of Y. M. C. A.

Promotes Social Gathering

Last Saturday night at the Association Building a social gathering was held by the "Y" social committee for the school at large. The first part of the evening was spent in participating in various games and chatting with friends. Professor Spessard then took charge of the program, leading those present in what might be termed a community sing, rehearsing a number of school songs with which the majority were unfamiliar.

Professor Fritz then entertained with three reading which made a distinct "hit." Both Professors should be thanked in the highest terms for their part in the program.

A Men's Commons.

One very important and vital problem of student life is the boarding proposition. It is essential that active young people have wholesome food and with many students of Otterbein it is an advantage to get board at the most reasonable price possible.

Under the present system of boarding clubs these two conditions are not met. If the stewards would operate the clubs on a co-operative basis and settle what their own services and the services of the woman in charge are worth and charge the members with the actual cost of meals the proposition would be fair enough.

The price of board would vary under this co-operative system each week. Six or eight years ago or even within less time there have been some real co-operative clubs here. As clubs are being run now the board is $5.00 each week. A student at Ohio State pays $4.50 at one of the best clubs and another at Northwestern gets good board for $3.75 and $4.00 a week and is well satisfied.

Also it does not always occur that the students in need of funds are in charge of the clubs. Yet since the present system is purely a business proposition carried on by individual students it is not our purpose to criticize these parties. The boarding proposition should be a matter which the trustees or faculty should regulate. At least some one should investigate conditions from time to time.

Many schools have met this situation very adequately by instituting a Men's Commons which is a large dining hall run by the students under faculty supervision. This Commons has many advantages over the boarding clubs.

First, it is only the object of the Commons to meet the actual expenses of operation, therefore board is possible at a minimum price.

Second, needy students are given first chance to earn all or part of their board.

Third, wholesome food is bought at reasonable prices because of the quantity consumed.

Fourth, it is possible to have a training table throughout the year for athletes.

Fifth, the Commons furnishes a center for the men.

Many more advantages of the Commons might be mentioned and there is scarcely one advantage of the club that the Commons does not have.

Oberlin started a Commons last fall and the Oberlin Review reports that, "the project has been very successful. It supplies a new feature in Oberlin life and has come to stay. The advantages offered by a club for men have made it clear that the Commons has a real place in Oberlin."

A few years ago several of the trustees considered the possibility of men boarding at Cochran Hall. The proposition was debated rather hotly by students and did not gain favor. At present this need not be considered because of the increased number of girls in the hall. The dining room is crowded now.

Present conditions warrant an investigation. Student sentiment is such that the majority would welcome a change. It seems to us that the men's Commons is the best solution. Its adoption would result in great good for Otterbein. It would be a valuable contribution to the student life. Let us have some of your opinions, students, to publish in the Club Talks column. Trustee and Faculty members are eligible to space in the T. & C. as well, so come across.

CAMPUS CHIT CHAT

We wonder what our college weekly will use for "filler" when the "Progress of the New Science Hall" can't be used anymore.

We know that all men are not perfect but little did we expect to see the time when "Prof" Grabill would run out of organ selections and crawl out of his predicament by blaming the students.

No doubt the world's great mathematicians such as Euclid and Glover would have smiled to hear Prof. Fritz announce as he drew an egg shaped figure on the blackboard, "This is a circle which is not exactly round."

Prof. Altman:—"How dare you swear before me?"

Bob West:—"How did I know you wanted to swear first?"

Our friend Mr. Baker, the photographer, surely has shown us conclusive proof that "there's always room for one more."

Inquiring into what it was that dropped in chapel the other morning we were informed that it was only Fred Shupe dropping two more studies.

Did you know that Brane raised and razed a moustache all in one short week?

POLITICAL COMMENT

As the time approaches for the meeting of the National Party Conventions, interest is increasing concerning the possible candidates. Whatever the outcome of the contest for nominations, it is clear that Ohio will have an important place in the contest in both Democratic and Republican circles.

The last election for President went Democratic due to the loss of the Ohio electoral votes; and while California was the surprise state, the real fight was fought on Buckeye soil, and will be thus fought in the coming race. In order to buy over the Ohio votes, the Conventions are bidding for an Ohio candidate, for with Ohio safe on one side or another, the election is almost as good as decided. Senator Harding is the Republican candidate from Ohio, while Governor Cox runs for the Democrats. It may be hardly probable that either of these will be nominated, but at any rate the contest will be unusually interesting, and particularly to Ohioans, because of the peculiar political status of the Buckeye State.

Public Speaking Council

Furnishes Set of Plays

Last year the Public Speaking Council had a surplus of $175.00 which they voted to use in purchasing new books for the College Library.

As a result of this generous action on the part of the Public Speaking Council a Library of Plays is now in the library. This consists of about thirty standard plays, many of them of only one act, suitable for literary societies to present. There are also, of course, other plays of greater length suitable for class plays.

A collection of about sixty new readings has also been added together with a number of books on general subjects. Students will find it worth their while to investigate these latest additions.

CLUB TALK

Twice already the "Tan and Cardinal" has published its opinions concerning the behavior of the students during the rendition of the organ preludes in chapel. The college authorities are to be congratulated on their decision to omit the music until the students learn to pay proper respect to the musician. Their inattention displays their lack of one of two things: appreciation of music, or knowledge of the fundamentals of etiquette. College ought to take at least some of the backwoods out of us, but according to the behavior of some students, they need to begin at the kindergarten again and get a new start.

MEDICAL MEN NEEDED

Manson E. Nichols Gives Interesting Discussion of the World's Need of Medical Missionaries

"The Great Need of Medical Missions" was the phase of the Des Moines, Iowa, Convention discussed by M. E. Nichols at the Y. M. C. A. Thursday night.

"Medical missions are just one hundred years old. Although marked progress has been made in the last century there is still much to do. There are even now only seven hundred and three real hospitals. These handle over eight million cases yearly. The medical mission is the one thing that has gained entrance into the non-Christian lands. The Gospel of healing is the one that makes its own way into the hearts of the people. And if we are to do these people any good, it must go hand in hand with the gospel of Jesus Christ. If one had started when Christ was born and visited each village of India once he would still have to live eighty years longer to reach them all. One-half the world is without medical aid. In New York alone there are seven doctors for every medical missionary in foreign fields. To be a good medical missionary one should have the Christian principles imbedded in his life, know his Bible, be acquainted with all classes of people, have a good education, be a good mixer with men, and be a business man. The world needs brotherhood today more than it needs anything else."

Tan and Cardinal readers are indebted to Miss Mildred Deitch and Mr. Paul K. Noel for the Christian Association weekly news items. These persons deserve some recognition and should be elected to the T. and C. staff as editors of Y. M. and Y. W. departments.

Boarding Clubs Battle

For Basketball Supremacy

The Priest Club opened up the Boarding Club B. B. League by trouncing the Scrubs 23 to 4. As the score indicates it was the Priests' game from start to finish.

The Falkenberg Club and Semi-Scrubs were forced to play extra time to decide their game but Wagoner's and Manbeck's shooting proved too much for the "Falks". "Tillie" Franklin worked hard admonishing his team mates to "keep awake" but most of them had evidently been out too late the night before.

The Bradfords easily outclassed the Mattoons. Shideler played hard but then one can not expect "Dad" to do it.

The Bishop and the Pace clubs put up an interesting game, the Bishops finally winning by the score of 22 to 14. Hollinger and Meyers starred.

These are interesting games and all should be out to see them. Four o'clock is the time on Monday and Tuesday.

Violinist Plays at Chapel.

Monday morning Professor Roy Young, violinist, formerly of Oklahoma University, occupied the usual chapel period in rendering several unique selections. One was an Indian melody and another composition of which the dominant note being a bird song.

Professor Young is a violinist, extraordinary in that he is traveling the country studying birds and insects with in view the imitations of their songs and call.

He is the possessor of a $50,000 violin made in Italy in 1510.

He claims to be able to speak 70 words on the violin, play over 300 words in 70 seconds and other things of unusual type.
