OTTERBEIN COLLEGE

WESTERVILLE, OHIO

WHAT CHANCE DOES THE WORLD HAVE?

The future of the world is in his hands. How well this youngster and his colleagues are educated may determine the course of history.

It is up to us to give the world the best possible chance by giving our future citizens the best possible college educations.

Even now some of our colleges are overcrowded. In less than ten years, the number of applicants will double.

To maintain the quality of our higher education, we shall have to recruit and train thousands of professors. We will also need many more classrooms with the most advanced educational aids, more comprehensive college libraries, new laboratories with the latest scientific equipment.

Some students are now excluded from college, or given inferior education, because we neglected to see the problem. We must act to provide our youngsters with more and better college facilities and the finest college training possible.

Help the college of your choice now. Help it to expand and improve its facilities and to pay its teachers the salaries their high calling deserves.

If you want to know more about what the college crisis means to you and what you can do to help, write for a free booklet to Higher Education, Box 36, Times Square Station, New York 36, N. Y.

This year will see the launching of a major fund-raising campaign for Otterbein College. The essential strength and worth of a college such as Otterbein is dependent upon the sacrifices and loyal support of its' constituents.

The college is proud of the thousands of alumni who are using the education they received at Otterbein to make a better world but is also concerned that many more young people must be served in a few short years.

How Otterbein College will meet the ever-increasing demands is dependent upon the cooperation of alumni to make this forthcoming campaign a success.

Hans Conried, outstanding stage, screen, radio and TV star, will guest star in the Otterbein College Theater production of "John Brown's Body" on March 1, 2 and 3.

This is the first time that a professional guest star has appeared in an Otterbein dramatic presentation.

*"Her halls have their own message
Of truth, and hope, and love,
"Her stately tower
Speaks naught but power
For our dear Otterbein!"*

March 11-Music: "An Evening With Stephen Foster and Ben Hanby," featuring a discussion by Fletcher Hodges, noted authority on Stephen Foster, and the Otterbein A Cappella Choir and Glee Clubs. 8:00 P.M. Cowan Hall.

Fletcher Hodges, Jr.

One of the programs in the Festival of Arts series will feature Fletcher Hodges, Jr., curator of the Foster Hall Collection at the University of Pittsburgh.

Mr. Hodges is a graduate of Harvard and became curator of the Foster Hall Collection in Indianapolis, Indiana, in 1931. This collection consisted of information and material about Stephen Collins Foster, the American composer of the mid-nineteenth century. It was founded by Josiah K. Lilly of Indianapolis.

In January, 1937, Mr. Lilly presented his Foster Hall Collection to the University of Pittsburgh which was then completing a Stephen Foster Memorial building on the university campus. This building was a tribute to the Pittsburgh composer who had been born in Pittsburgh and composed most of his famous songs in that city. Hodges became the first curator of the Stephen Foster Memorial Collection in Pittsburgh in 1937 and has remained as curator for the past twenty-five years.

He was technical advisor to Twentieth Century-Fox Film Corporation in the 1939 production of "Swanee River," based on the life and works of Stephen Foster.

He is the author of a number of magazine articles about Stephen Foster and has spoken in Foster programs in many parts of the United States. Hodges' discussion on Stephen Foster will conclude the Festival program on March 11th.

Grace Creswell—Folk-Singer

A folk singer, who learned ballads in rural Tennessee, will sing folk songs of the civil war period as a feature of the Festival of Arts at Otterbein.

Mrs. Grace Creswell, of Nashville, Tennessee, will sing authentic folk songs in Cowan Hall at 8:30 P.M., Wednesday, March 7.

Authentic folk songs are songs that, by their own strength, seem to refuse to die. They endure because beneath their simplicity and sincerity lies the very life of a people and in all of life's situations, these folk songs are an integral part of our cultural heritage.

Civil War Historian To Lecture

Featured lecturer for the second annual Festival of Arts at Otterbein will be Bruce Catton, Senior Editor of American Heritage. A noted Civil War Historian, Catton will speak twice in Cowan Hall at 9:30 A. M. and 8:30 P.M., Monday, March 5.

Bruce Catton — journalist, author, historian, top authority on the Civil War, and Pulitzer Prize-winner — is best known now as Senior Editor of American Heritage, The Magazine of History, which was launched in its present book form in December of 1954.

Mr. Catton was born October 9, 1899, in Petosky, Michigan, a resort town on the eastern shore of Lake Michigan. His father, George R. Catton, was principal of a tiny preparatory school known as Benzonia Academy. Catton enrolled at Oberlin College, took a couple of years out for service as a gunner's mate third class in the Navy during the First World War, and returned to college soon afterward. Although he found college life dull after service in the Navy and left before graduating, Mr. Catton now holds Honorary Doctor of Literature degrees from Oberlin, the University of Maryland, Wesleyan University, Dickinson College, Olivet College, Syracuse University, Northeastern University, Lincoln College, Gettysburg College, Harvard University, Wayne State University, Lehigh University, Northwestern University and Western Michigan University, plus a Doctor of Civil Laws degree from Union College and Doctor of Laws degrees from Illinois College and Knox College.

From 1920 to 1926, Catton was a newspaper reporter on the Cleveland News, the Boston American, and the Cleveland Plain Dealer. Then he went to the Cleveland office of what is now the Scripps

BRUCE CATTON

Howard chain of papers and for the next 15 years wrote book reviews, Sunday supplement articles, editorials, interviews, and news stories for their feature syndicate, the Newspaper Enterprise Association. In 1939 he moved to Washington, D.C., to write a daily column for the NEA.

In World War II Catton served as Director of Information for the War Production Board and, after the war, stayed with the Federal government for about a year and a half as Director of Information for the Department of Commerce. In 1947, he left to write his first book, "The War Lords of Washington," an account of WPB activities.

During the 1930s, however, Catton ran across some Civil War narratives in an old bookstore. These happened to be some of the best of the hundreds of regimental histories written between 1865 and 1910. During his years in Washington, the histories stirred ideas and led him into further research. The result was his first Civil War book, "Mr. Lincoln's Army," the record of the Army of the Potomac from Bull Run to Antietam. Catton's next volume, "Glory Road," covered the war from Fredericksburg to Gettysburg, and was followed by the final work in the trilogy, "A Stillness at Appomattox," which won both the Pulitzer Prize for history and the National Book Award in 1954.

"It looks now as if I started something I can never finish," says Catton, "because I am still writing on the Civil War and will be for some time to come." In the spring of 1954, his short life of General Grant was published — "U. S. Grant and the American Military Tradition." In 1955, Doubleday published his novel for teen-agers called "Banners at Shenandoah." This was followed in 1956 by "This Hallowed Ground," a general account of the Northern armies' war, and in 1958 by "America Goes to War." Many leading U.S. magazines and newspapers have carried his articles and commentaries.

Lloyd Lewis, a distinguished historian in Chicago, started some years ago to do a four-volume, definitive biography of General Grant, but died after he had completed the first volume, "Captain Sam Grant." By special arrangement, Catton took over his notes to do the succeeding three volumes, and in February, 1960, the first of these, "Grant Moves South," was published. "The American Heritage Picture History of the Civil War," for which Mr. Catton wrote the narrative, was published in the fall of 1960. He also has worked on a three-volume centennial history of the Civil War, the first volume was published by Doubleday in 1961.

While writing his definitive Civil War books, Catton has served as Assistant Director of Information for the Department of the Interior, and was Washington correspondent for The Nation in 1953-54. On August 1, 1954, he came to New York to join the company then being formed to initiate and publish American Heritage as a magazine of American history in book format.*

In 1926 Mr. Catton married Hazel H. Cherry. They have one son, William, who is an instructor of history at Princeton University. The Cattons live in Manhattan.

Religion-In-Life Week

Dr. Merrill B. McFall, senior minister First Methodist Church, Columbus, Indiana, will be guest speaker and leader during Religion-In-Life-Week at Otterbein, February 18-22.

Receive Gift

A $10,000 contribution to the proposed Science Building at Otterbein has been received from the Charles F. Kettering Fund, Dayton, Ohio.

Hanby Article

In the December, 1961 issue of the OHIO BELL magazine published by the Ohio Bell Telephone Company there appears a two-page article entitled "Up on the Housetops" — Ohioan Benjamin Hanby's Christmas song was born almost 100 years ago." Otterbein University is mentioned twice in the article.

Article Appears

Dr. Paul Frank has written an article published in the December-January issue of Triad magazine entitled "Improvisation as a Teaching Device." The magazine is published by the Ohio Music Education Association. The article is based on a conference in Vienna, Austria which Dr. Frank attended last June as a representative of OMEA.

Sanders A Frye

Sanders A. Frye, Otterbein College business manager, and his wife visited their daughter, Mrs. Ann Howe, in Germany over the Christmas holidays. The trip was made possible through a special travel grant established for staff and faculty members of Otterbein by an alumnus of the college.

The donor, who prefers to remain anonymous, conferred with Dr. Lynn W. Turner, president of the college in establishing the fund. It is to be administered as an award or bonus for especially meritorious services to the college, rather than as an aid to the individual's professional advancement, which is the case in a sabbatical grant.

The donor is convinced that he can best contribute to the progress of his alma mater as well as to the morale of the college staff by making available long-deserved recreational and educational opportunities. In establishing the fund, the alumnus noted that many employees of the college have taught or worked for years at low salaries and inadequate vacation periods. He and the president will be the sole judges of how the money is to be distributed.

Frye, who is the first recipient of the award, has been Business Manager of Otterbein since 1947. During these 14 years, he has never taken a vacation of more than a few days' duration. His duties include charge of buildings and grounds, maintenance and repairs, purchasing, administration of off-campus property, new construction and the management of auxiliary enterprises, insurance, loans and storage.

THOMAS LECTURES

Dr. Kirtley Mather, emeritus professor of geology at Harvard University will present the annual Thomas Lectures at Otterbein this year on Thursday and Friday, March 15 and 16.

An eminent geologist, Dr. Mather is a graduate of Denison University with a Bachelor of Science degree in 1909 and received the Doctor of Philosophy degree at the University of Chicago in 1915. He taught at Denison from 1918-24 before joining the geology department at Harvard in 1924. He retired in 1954.

Dr. Mather will present a public lecture in Cowan Hall at 8:00 P.M., Thursday, March 15 and address the student body in a special convocation at 9:30 A.M., Friday, March 16. Alumni and the general public are cordially invited to attend both lectures.

Student Poets

The National Poetry Association announced that two poems by Otterbein College students will be included in their Annual Anthology of College Poetry. The poems are "Comfort Me with Apples" by Judy Solmes, and "Failure" by Kay Plowman. Both coeds are freshmen at Otterbein.

United States Senator Stephen M. Young visited Otterbein on Monday, January 8th. He is pictured above chatting with Dr. John Laubach, of the History and Government Department and Miss Judy Pepper, a senior, and president of the Otterbein Young Democrats. The Senator spoke in chapel on the subject, "A Senator's Report—Uncensored."

PROFESSOR WRITES BOOK

Dr. Harold B. Hancock, chairman of the Social Studies Division at Otterbein, has published a book entitled Delaware during the Civil War. The publisher of the 200-page volume is the Historical Society of Delaware. It is based upon his doctoral dissertation at Ohio State University.

Dr. Harold B. Hancock

The chapters first appeared in the magazine Delaware History and were then held for reprinting with the addition of a preface and bibliography. In the preface the author pays tribute to the assistance of Mrs. Mary Crumine, former Otterbein librarian.

The volume deals primarily with the political influence of the war, but some space is devoted to religion, industry and the social effects. According to Dr. Hancock, the clash of political parties at that time is still noted down to the present time.

The first reviews have been very favorable. David Donald in his revision of Randal's Civil War and Reconstruction referred to the articles in Delaware History, which comprise the present book, as "objective and exhaustive." A Delaware bookseller called special attention of his customers to the book on a printed list, as filling a need and being extensively researched. A newspaper reporter acknowledged that Dr. Hancock's articles were the principal source of his information for a weekly series upon the Civil War in Delaware and welcomed their appearance in book form.

Dr. Hancock has been teaching at Otterbein College since 1944.

Tree Lighting Ceremony

A NEW TRADITION — Dr. Lynn W. Turner, Otterbein College President, is pictured above addressing the student body and townspeople gathered in front of Towers Hall for the lighting of a large Christmas tree on Sunday, December 3. Sponsored by the campus Y.W.C.A., the Christmas Tree Lighting Ceremony will annually open the Christmas season at Otterbein. The traditional white gift offering was received, carol singing enjoyed, and an old-fashioned Wassail was held in Barlow Hall following the outdoor ceremony. The Otterbein College Brass Choir and A Cappella Choir took part in the program.

He has written many articles on Delaware for historical magazines and encyclopedias. In 1948 he taught in two private schools in England, and in 1958 he was on sabbatical leave there while he did research in Delaware history in the eighteenth century. In December, 1960, he delivered a historical lecture before the Newcomen Society in London. (His plans include the writing of a book on eighteenth century Delaware.)

Copies may be secured from the University Bookstore in Westerville.

Sports Review

Football

Otterbein's 1961 football team tied with the 1960 football squad for the best record in the history of Otterbein football. The Cardinals won eight of nine games and tied for second place in the Ohio Conference.

Head Football Coach Robert Agler has seen his squads win 23 while losing only four during the past three seasons. During his seven years as head football coach, Otterbein has won 37, lost 21 and tied three.

were named co-captains at the end of the season. Sophomore Dick Scheu was named most improved player and Dick Reynolds of London, Ohio, as most valuable freshman on the squad.

What The Professionals Say And Recommend

Realizing that the vast majority of successful fund-raising ventures are directed by professionals in the business, the Otterbein Board of Trustees, on the recommendation of the Development Board, agreed to consider such help for the ten-year program.

After careful consideration, it was decided last summer to employ the firm of Marts & Lundy, Inc. to make a fund-raising survey and to recommend a program for fund raising.

The survey required three months' time and concerned itself with four principal areas:

1. The Otterbein constituency and leadership
2. The organizational structure of the college and its governing board
3. The record of financial support over the century and particularly during the past two decades
4. Personal interview with 77 alumni and non-alumni to determine:
 - a - Their attitude toward the college
 - b - Their approval of the ten-year plan
 - c - Their willingness to give when approached
 - d - Their willingness to work for the success of a financial campaign

Results of the Survey

On the completion of the study, representatives of the firm appeared before the Development Board and presented their conclusions as follows:

1. It is our opinion that Otterbein can raise from present and potential friends, by its 125th Anniversary in 1972, funds totaling about $3,130,000 which will provide for seven additions to the plant, the equipment of these buildings, and add $1,000,000 to Salary and Scholarship Endowments regarded as urgently needed.

2. It is our opinion that this campaign should direct its appeal to alumni, parents, local citizens, selected individual members of the Evangelical United Brethren Church, foundations, corporations, and selected prospective new friends not now among the college's supporters.

Concerning Otterbein's Alumni

Based on the attitudes and statements of the 77 persons contacted, the Marts & Lundy report was most complimentary of Otterbein's alumni. The report said:

"We found a solid loyalty on the part of the men and women whom we visited, and we came to the conclusion that the college's friends, most of whom are in modest circumstances, to be sure, are prepared to take their places, within their ability, in any sensible, practical program which the officers and trustees of the college may project."

The above information came as no great surprise to those who know and work with Otterbein alumni.

In any kind of endeavor for alma mater they are more than willing to do their share.

Recommendations

The firm made 15 recommendations; however, only the major ones will be mentioned in this report. They are as follows:

Ten Year Fund-Raising Program

1. We recommend that Otterbein College project a Long Term Fund-Raising Program aimed at providing the funds which will support the Ten Year Plan recommended by the Long Range Planning Committee. We recommend that the target completion date be the 125th Anniversary in 1971-72.

Various Fund-Raising Methods

2. We recommend that this Long Term Fund-Raising Program not be a long drawn out solicitation of the same people but that it be definitely planned to use various fund-raising methods at different times in the decade aimed at raising funds from all the present and potential friends of the College in different ways.

Under the Development Board

3. We recommend that this whole Fund-Raising Program be under the charge of the Development Board of Otterbein College and that during the decade special leaders and committees be designated by the Development Board to organize and project the various phases of the total program.

Intensive Campaign for $1,000,000 in 1962-63

4. We recommend that during 1962 and 1963 the College project a combined intensive campaign and a screening program. We suggest that the financial objective of this first step in the Long Range Program be approximately $1,000,000 to provide funds for those purposes which the Development Board will consider as the most urgently needed.

We recommend that this be a campaign of personal solicitation by volunteer workers of all present friends of the College including alumni, parents, local citizens, individual members of the Evangelical United Brethren Churches and other presently known contributors and friends, organized on the Regional basis.

Fund-Raising Counsel

5. We recommend that the College retain the services of a fund-raising firm to provide technical fund-raising counsel for the 1962-63 Screening Program and fund-raising Campaign. During this period, the firm would have a full-time technical director in the Development Office, and out in the field in the Regions; also the firm would provide a few weeks service at the start of the program in preparation of the Campaign brochure and other sales material.

RESEARCH GIFT

In November, Mrs. Ralph W. Smith (Helen F. Ensor, '18) widow of Ralph W. Smith, '12, donated to the college an unusual collection of notes and manuscripts dealing with the history of Otterbein College which her husband had collected over a period of many years prior to his death in June 1961.

It was Mr. Smith's conviction that although two excellent histories of Otterbein College have been published, neither of them could devote a sufficient amount of space simply to the careers and life stories of the great men who created and sustained the institution. Accordingly, he set out several years ago, while some of these men were still living, to collect a series of biographical sketches, which would tell the story of Otterbein in terms of her human leadership. He intended, ultimately, to publish this collection of biographies under the appropriate title of "The Spirit of Otterbein."

In a few cases, as in that of President T. J. Sanders, Mr. Smith persuaded the subject himself to write a fascinating autobiography. In others, a descendant, a near relative, a friend, or an interested student was enlisted in the cause of preserving important data. Mr. Smith carefully preserved all of this material, intending some day to edit and publish it, after all the sketches had been completed. Death intervened before his dream could be accomplished.

The various items in the collection are listed below:

T. J. Sanders, President 1891-1900, autobiography; Thomas McFadden, Professor of Science, 1858-1883, by T. G. McFadden; F. E. Miller, Professor of Mathematics, 1890-1918, by Nellie S. Miller; B. W. Valentine, Professor of Psychology, 1922-1936, by Louis Norris; John Haywood, Professor of Mathematics, 1851-1894, by Sylvia Phillips Vance; Gustav Meyer, Professor of Music, 1895-1909, by Lucy Shaw Meyer; Frank O. Clements, Chairman, Board of Trustees, 1925-1936, by Charles F. Kettering; Rudolph H. Wagoner, Professor of Latin and German, 1893-1920, by Ray W. Gifford.

The Guitner Family, by Emma and Eugene Worman; George Scott, President, 1901-1904; Professor of Latin, 1887-1931, by Leonie Scott and Samuel J. Kiehl; Tirza Lydia Barnes, Librarian, 1890-1934, by Maude Barnes Gantz.

In addition to these sketches, there are many notes and clippings pertaining to Presidents' Garst and Clippinger, a number of charts and graphs, and much correspondence dealing with the project. It is unfortunate that the work was never finished, yet the material which Mr. Smith persisted in obtaining, contains much that would otherwise have been lost forever. His Alma Mater owes him a great debt of gratitude for precious memories of heroic years.

Refresher Classes Planned

Have you passed up the previous Alumni Institutes because bad weather, routine plans or indifference deter you? Postpone all but the most urgent plans to attend this year's classes to be held on Winter Homecoming, Saturday, February 3. Come early and bring other alumni and friends of Otterbein.

In these years of rapid change we still have Saum Hall, Towers Hall, the Association Building and four active staff members with a quarter century or more of service to Otterbein College. Can you name them? These and the emeritus staff will be recognized at the noon luncheon. Before the afternoon session of the Institute, the new film "From the Towers" will be shown.

The schedule of classes and activities for the day is listed below. It is hoped that many alumni, especially those who live in Central Ohio will plan to attend. Registration will take place in the lounge of the Association Building. The special luncheon will be held in Barlow Hall.

*Man Of The Year
In Canton Athletics*

Clifford W. Schnake, '16, Canton, Ohio, city recreation director since 1927, was named 1961 "man of the year" by the Canton Basketball Old-Timers Association. He was also named to honorary membership in the Association's Hall of Fame.*

Virgil O. Hinton, '34, vice-president of the Canton City Recreation Board and also vice-president of the Canton Board of Education, made the presentation to Schnake. He was presented with a plaque in the shape of a basketball, decorated with dimes, because that was the price of admission to the games played at the old Canton Auditorium when the city league was in operation.

Schnake is a 1911 graduate of old Canton Central High School and then enrolled at Otterbein where he won letters in basketball, football, baseball, track and tennis. He was one of two individuals in the history of Otterbein who earned five letters in one year. The other five-letter award winner was Paul A. Schott, '34, who is now principal of Canton McKinley High School.

After graduation from Otterbein, Cliff Schnake was employed by the Stark County engineers. He served two years in the army during World War I and then became football and basketball coach at Mingo Junction. Later he was physical education instructor at Steubenville before returning to Canton as the city's first recreation director in 1927.

Continuing his education, Schnake studied law at McKinley Law School and passed the bar examination in 1940.

Presentation of plaque to Clifford W. Schnake, '16, by Virgil O. Hinton, '34, in tribute and recognition for his thirty-four years as Recreation Director for the City of Canton, Ohio and honorary membership in the Canton Old-Timers Basketball Association Hall of Fame.

As Canton city recreation director, Cliff Schnake started from scratch (there were no swimming pools and not even a tennis court in Canton) and he has seen the city's recreational facilities grow to one of the finest in the country.

Married in 1922 to the former Helen D. Marr, a native of Dayton, the Schnakes have three daughters.

* The Association's Hall of Fame is reserved exclusively for outstanding Canton basketball stars and the membership broke with tradition by honoring Schnake.

Letters

To The Editor

Your editor solicits comments and views from alumni and readers of Otterbein TOWERS. A new feature of TOWERS will be a "Letters to the Editor" section.

Baltimore, Maryland

To the Editor:

I have been very much interested in the insert THE COLLEGE STUDENT, which appeared in the April TOWERS, and I likewise found interesting and provocative the insert prepared by Editorial Projects for Education which appeared in TOWERS last year. These things help set one college in perspective among other colleges, and I think this is good.

However, there is a point which I feel the editors of this supplement overlooked, and I would like to call it to their attention. They present a panel of fourteen youngsters as representative of American college students, from all kinds of colleges. How, in the year 1960-61, can fourteen students represent the American college generation when there is not a Negro among them? Doubtless they chose students from schools affiliated with their organization, but many at least, if not all, of the institutions listed on their final page have Negro students. As their copy indicates, the most important social issue engaging student attention this year was probably the sit-ins, which were primarily a Negro-student-initiated action. It seems to me to be one more indication of our blindness on racial matters that the editors did not include at least one Negro on their panel.

I am concerned to speak out on the matter of racial equality wherever I can, and I suspect that this may well be one of the times when Negroes were not deliberately excluded but that people just didn't think of it. It's past time we all became more sensitive in this area.

I am sending a carbon copy of this letter to Editorial Projects For Education. I write it to you because I want you to know that I consider these supplements an addition to TOWERS.

Very sincerely yours,
s/ Eleanor B. Webb
Mrs. George N. Webb ('41)

The following reply was sent to Mrs. Webb from the Editor of Moonshooter '61:

Dear Mrs. Webb:

Thanks very much for sending us a copy of your letter to the editor of OTTERBEIN TOWERS.

In setting up our student panel for the 1961 report on the college student, we asked a group of representative colleges and universities to nominate young people from their campuses. We tried to get a cross-section of ages, geographic origins, major subjects in college.

We did not specify race or religion. All those who turned up at our meeting-place at Washington University were white.

And, as you point out, it is probably unrealistic to expect a complete and accurate portrayal of student views to emerge from a group that does not contain Negroes.

It is probable (and this is a by-product of what was probably an error on our part) that the discussions that did arise around the question of sit-ins were a good deal franker than if a Negro had been on the panel. You have probably noticed a sort of reverse idealism that occurs when there has been an obvious attempt to build a panel on which whites and Negroes have been carefully apportioned. The discussion often becomes painfully self-conscious and (I've sometimes suspected) not entirely honest.

The day is probably far off when we can, as a people, cease being self-conscious about the matter of race. For now, as you point out, we would probably be wisest to be self-conscious and sensitive to the implications of the current situation . . . even though this may be, in actuality, as artificial and as basically unhealthy as the exclusion of Negroes from white functions in some parts of the country.

Sincerely,
Corbin Gwaltney
Editor

To the Editor:

My mother, age 87 and in good health, wife of William N. Deller (deceased 30 years ago) both of Otterbein. Mother keeps papers for me and July 1961 issue Otterbein Towers has a picture of Frank O. VanSickle ('06) whom I well remember a friend of the folks. My age was 5-6-7 when I went through Otterbein my first trip through college, with my parents occasionally attending classes.

Joe Caulker is mentioned page 7. A fine looking Negro who used to hold me on his lap and I loved dearly. A man of good looks and ability and manners. To this day I will remember "Bill Deller" someone yelled to Dad as we were eating breakfast one chilly morning. Dad, dashed away down the street with other students in pursuit of Joe Caulker who had dashed oil from a kerosene can onto a bed of seemingly dead coals in his stove. A sudden back fire of flames and Joe was a blazing furnace. Fleet of foot and crazed by the fire and explosion, someone finally caught up with him—but too late. I remember Dad telling of Joe Caulker in many sermons over the years.

During WWI, one day in a French town visiting a Y.M.C.A. hut I opened a Bible and found the name of a certain lady and Otterbein College. I inquired about her, found her and had a nice visit.

Quiz & Quill stuff still comes on me occasionally! Here's my reaction to Stork Report.

To the Editor:

Permit me a brief word of congratulation and sincerest appreciation for the service you have rendered in the publication of the Alumni Register.

I received my copy yesterday, and leafing through its pages is like opening a treasure chest long sealed! Too many of us have lost track of our Classmates and college contemporaries. How delightful, and helpful to learn something of their whereabouts.

Your statement that its compilation "has been an arduous task" is incomparably modest. It appears to have been "herculean"! You and the committee have our profoundest gratitude for a job well done.

With best wishes, I am,

Very sincerely,
