Girls Will Give Pageant.

The girls of the Y. W. C. A. are making elaborate and enthusiastic plans for the presentation of the Foreign Association Pageant, in the college chapel, Friday evening, December 13th, at 8:30. Scenes representing the four countries—South America, India, China, and Japan will be portrayed by groups of girls. The object of the pageant is to give a graphic representation of the association activity and the needs of the work in these countries. We believe it is an effort which will receive the sympathetic support of our school.

Men to Attend Y. W. C. A.

The men of Otterbein have been invited to attend the session of the Young Women's Christian Association Tuesday evening.

Every man should attend the meeting, as it is seldom he has such a privilege during his college days. Special music will be rendered at the time.

There will be no meeting of the men this week, owing to the Thanksgiving recess.

Spafford Goes to Denison.

Glenn D. Spafford, '13, was sent as delegate of the Young Men's Christian Association to the conference held at Denison University, Friday to Sunday. Mr. Spafford gave a talk upon the gospel team work conducted by Otterbein students during the last Christmas holidays.

Ties Presented to Team.

Mr. E. J. Norris, who now operates the business formerly conducted by Mr. J. L. McFarland, presented each of the football men with a handsome tie, in tan and cardinal colors.

Mr. Norris is one of the town's wide-awake and progressive business men.

The recipients of the gifts wish to express their appreciation to Mr. Norris through these columns.

Recital tomorrow night! Be sure and examine the program on page 5.

Thanksgiving recess begins Wednesday at 4:00 p. m.

CONFERENCE FAVORS CHURCH UNION

Referendum Vote Necessary Before Amalgamation Can be Effected.

The commissioners representing the United Brethren and Methodist Protestant denominations met in joint session Thursday, at the Southern Hotel, Columbus, O., after the separate commissions had spent the entire day Wednesday discussing the merger of the churches.

The work of the commissioners was only tentative, and they were not authorized to make any definite plans for coalition. All the details will be worked out by four committees appointed at the conference.

The choosing of a name for the united church seems to be giving great difficulty to the officials of both churches. It is very probable, however, that the union will bear the name of the "United Protestant Church."

The action taken by the commissioners is only the first step toward union. The general conferences of both churches must consider the actions of these representatives. After the general conference of the United Brethren Church passes upon it, it must be referred to its membership for final action.

The committees on doctrine and polity, vested rights and publishing interests, educational institutions and benevolent boards, will report to the adjourned session of the commission, which is to meet March 19, 1913.

Bishops G. M. Mathews, W. M. Weekley, W. M. Bell, and T. C. Carter; Dr. W. R. Funk, Rev. A. P. Funkhouser, Dr. F. E. Brooke, Rev. R. H. Bennett, Judge S. W. Lott, G. A. Lambert, and Dr. W. O. Fries were the members composing the United Brethren commission.

The Glee Club has secured an engagement at Dayton, O., for December 20.

The concert will probably be given at the Y. M. C. A. auditorium of that city.

ATHLETICS

OTTERBEIN LOSES HARD FOUGHT GAME

Sommers, the Speedy Halfback
Plays His Best Game.

O. U.-6. Marietta-21.

Out-playing Marietta in the second period of the game, Otterbein scored her only touchdown on a forward pass from Marietta's twenty-five yard line Saturday. Both teams fought every second of the game, and although Otterbein showed a little more weight, Marietta took the day by fast team work with splendid interference. Marietta scored in the second quarter after a series of line plays, and in the third, a forward pass gave the opponents their second touchdown. The last score was gained by some fine, straight football, that sent White over the line in the fourth period. The first quarter was scoreless, ending with the favors for the Westerville squad.

Sommers Takes Pigskin Over.

Marietta's first score was somewhat on luck, but Otterbein came back, and, within two minutes, Sommers received a pass for a pretty race for the only O. U. touchdown, and as he crossed the goal four tacklers jumped on to the sprinter to ride the rest of the way. The speedy right-half was easily the star of the day, for time after time he made consistent gains by dodging on his end runs. The only possible chance was thrown away in the last quarter, when O. U. had the ball on Marietta's four yard line, having gained seventy yards in three plays. Here, on the fourth down, the line buck was called only to be held without the required gain. Marietta took the ball and started down toward O. U.'s goal when the game ended.

Hert Shows Good Work.

Just a week ago this tall linesman played his first football, and appears to be the find of the season at Westerville. In the first quarter he was sent in at left guard for Garver, and proved a worthy substitute in that position. Marietta made consistent gains on line bucks and end plays. Their interference was perfect, allowing them to make large gains. Few passes were tried, Otterbein proving most successful in their use. Two out of three attempts covered thirty-five yards. Not many chances were taken on open work, although when open plays were called, good gains were made, especially by Sommers.

SECONDS BEATEN BY WEST HIGH

Scrubs Have Trained Consistently All Season.

The O. U. Seconds closed their season Friday, when beaten by West High of Columbus, by 26-0 score. Poor teamwork was responsible for the loss to the fast opponents. One cause for defeat, however, is because several men were taken to Marietta as first team subs.

Scrubs Practice Faithfully.

Much praise can be given to our scrubs this year even if their victories were not to be found. From the beginning of the season, a second squad has been at hand to give the varsity some hard opposition. A few were fast enough to be first team men, and readily filled the vacancies left by first team injuries. Russel Weimer, Garver, Hert, LaRue, Roth Weimer, Converse, and Mathers have all played varsity ball since the first of the season. Many hopefuls donned suits each night, some of whom were not permitted to make a trip. The training received from the coach and the students' recognition, however, is a reward for their loyalty, and they should be inspired by the first appearances to try next season, when they may likewise show some ability for varsity foot ball.

SEASON CLOSSES AT WITTENBERG

Hard Luck Season Ends at Springfield Thursday.

With but one game left on the season's card, Coach Gardner still is giving his team a hard workout in hope that the season might be closed with a victory. Since the Antioch game, the team has taken a decided brace and should be able to bring home the scalp of the last enemy. One victory out of nine games played is Otterbein's record for the season to date. Our squad can make it one more victory if they will hang together. Signals are for the use of every man, but the pilot should be able to run his team, and each player should respond to his good judgment. Team work nearly always wins the game, and the team that lacks it generally suffers. Let us all hope for a victory on Turkey Day, when Wittenberg defends camp.

BASKETBALL

Championship Will Rest Between Freshmen and Sophomores.

The schedule below gives the menu for the first course of the basketball season. The various classes are hard at work and a hot contest is assured when the final game is played. Several varsity men are in the sophomore class, and excellent material entered with this year's freshmen class, and it is very probable that they will fight the championship battle.

Banquet In Jude's Honor.

A banquet for the purpose of honoring the assemblyman-elect George W. Jude, '91, was held in the Hotel Samuels, Jamestown, N. Y., on last Thursday evening. It proved to be a delightful and profitable gathering. The banquet took place at eight o'clock and was succeeded by speaking and reports of progressive committees.

The principal address was made by Mr. Jude, in whose honor the banquet was held. He spoke of the recent victories of the Progressive party. Mr. Jude said in part: "Victory is secondary to principle, and faith of the new party followers.

Success will perch upon our banners provided our aim remains steadfast in the right direction. This aim must ever be to secure efficient and honest administration of the government."

To Give Medical Lectures.

The president and faculty have arranged for a series of lectures on medicine, health, and hygiene, to be given in the college chapel in the near future. The dates and hours will be announced later.

Dr. W. J. Means, of Columbus, whose services were furnished by the State Medical Association, and Dr. J. W. Funk, of Westerville, will each give addresses.

'59. Mr. Jacob Burgner, Fremont, O., will present Philomatheia with some relics, among which will be valuable photographs. Mr. Burgner expresses his desire to visit Otterbein, but his health will not permit it.

THE TYPHOID FLY

Helen Eldridge, '16.

Only a few years ago English text books, in use in the schools, conveyed the information that "the fly keeps the warm air pure and wholesome by its swift and zigzag flight." Although this idea is now ridiculed, we sometimes hear the fly defended as a scavenger. The rather inelegant but most expressive phrase, "Swat the Fly" has become so familiar to all of us, that we are apt to forget how recent is the discovery, that the fly plays an important part in the transmission of disease. But as recently as 1898 hundreds of our soldiers in the Cuban war were killed by the fly, and it has been said that the house-fly, rather than Spanish bullets, was the chief cause of the mortality in Cuba.

The name "typhoid fly" is highly appropriate. It must be understood, however, that the fly carries the disease germs involuntarily. It transfers any germs that happen to adhere to it. It has been shown by microscopic examination that millions of germs can be found on the body of a single fly. Moreover, they are not all typhoid germs. Tuberculosis, diphtheria, and cholera germs are likewise to be found on the fly.

But if the fly is so dangerous, how then are we to prevent its doing harm? Obviously, the best way would be to destroy it. An examination of statistics, however, will show that this would be a gigantic task. "Fly swatting," though a good thing in itself, is totally inadequate. But how then shall we deal with this problem? A recent editorial suggests that we adopt this slogan "No filth, no flies, and no disease." Let us see that all refuse, all decaying material, all vegetable and all table waste, is removed and burned, or covered with lime and kerosene. Let us remove all filth, and make every place sanitary. Let every citizen constitute himself a committee of one to help carry out this reform.

But the assistance of every individual is absolutely needed. One careless family can undo the work of a whole community. Let everyone of us do his share, and I promise you that thousands of human lives that are now needlessly sacrificed will be preserved.

To Our "Profs."

Students do not fail to notice the presence of the institution's professors at their activities. Usually a member of the faculty attends the Thursday evening religious service of the men, and another is seen watching the men practice on the gridiron.

Your presence is appreciated. More of you could come out. Busy? You are no busier, surely, than some of the students who attend.

Fraternities.

President R. M. Hughes, acting president of Miami University, says that fraternities have a right to exist because they are natural social organizations, and have not been fostered by any external force. Such was his opinion given at a session of the National Association of State Universities, held at Washington last week.

In spite of this argument, we think Otterbein, at least, is better off without than with them.

A Retreat.

A week ago an editorial appeared in this paper commenting upon the good spirit manifested in college publications. The Ohio State Lantern was given as a specific example.

It is necessary, however, to retract some of those words, for she is getting back into the old rut of "slamming" her contemporaries.

The Lantern and Weekly are saying things about each other similar to what each one of two prominent presidential candidates recently said about the other.

Scholarship Required.

Hereafter every student at Ohio State University who participates in any outside activity of the university, must maintain the same scholarship standard as now demanded by students entering athletics.

It is claimed that students often entered so many activities that they failed completely, or were conditioned in their courses, consequently such action was necessary. The matter was first decided upon by the student council, after which the faculty passed upon it.

CLUB TALK

Society Sessions Disturbed.

Dear Editor of the Review:

In harmony with the ideals of every student of Otterbein who values the work of the literary societies, it may not be out of place that there appear in the columns of this paper a brief statement to the effect that the members of any society entirely discountenance the actions of either the young men or the young women who are thoughtless enough to be guilty of disturbing the sessions of any society. This is annoying in the extreme and should not be tolerated. We are willing to grant that such distraction as has been noticed has been perhaps in every case due to unthinking conduct, but we trust that the mere mention of the matter will prevent its being repeated by any loyal student of Otterbein.

Debate.

Editor of Otterbein Review:

Otterbein will again have a debate team this year and has already scheduled one debate and will probably arrange a triangle. In order to have a good team, we must have a lot of men try out in the preliminaries. The men who try out will probably be those who are already overloaded with work.

Thanksgiving Favors For Parties and Dinners Supplies for Class Plays and Amateur Theatres KAMPMANN'S NEW STORE

237 South High Street, Columbus, Ohio.

This condition should not exist. There are many men about Otterbein, who are only carrying regular work, and who have time to spare; these are the men who should try out, and give Otterbein another successful year in debate. There is a lot of work on a debate team it is true, but the good received from it far exceeds the work.

A professor of this school was heard to say that the debate work was worth more to a man than any four-hour study offered by the school. If you do not make the team you will have derived benefit from the attempt, so fellows, get back into the spirit of Otterbein and give her a good debate team.—B. E.

Literary Demands.

Editor of Otterbein Review:

A certain few men, who have the most time to stand on the corners and in front of the post office, complain that the literary societies of Otterbein demand too much work and that a person is better out of them.

It is true our literary societies demand work; that is what they are here for. We pride ourselves in the fact, that Otterbein has the best societies in the state. This could not be if they did not demand hard work and lots of it.

Another complaint is that our societies are too dignified; that we require too much care in dressing; that a sweater would do just as well as not. If this were allowed, we would soon become as neglectful of our literary productions as we were of our clothing. The societies do not demand expensive clothing, but ask that you be neat, and this is not out of the reach of anyone.

Another complaint is that there are too many fines, and it costs an active member more than the value of the training he gets out of it. When you join as an active member, you agree to obey the rules of the society, and as long as you do, you will not be fined.

If these fines were not high, it would be easier to pay the fines than stand by the rules of the society. They must be high in order to hold the society together, as there are always some who are lax in their work.

We find many students joining the literary societies of Otterbein, who have no intention of ever becoming an active member. This should not be, as it is no honor for a person to graduate from the college and never to have been an active member of his literary society. M. G. B.

HOW DID YOU TAKE IT?

Edmund Vance Cooke.

Did you tackle the trouble that came your way,
With a resolute heart and cheerful?
Or hide your face with the light of day
With a craven soul and fearful?
O, a trouble's a ton, or a trouble's an ounce,
Or a trouble is what you make it.
And it isn't the fact that you're hurt that counts,
But only how did you take it?
You are beaten to earth? Well, well, what's that?
Come up with a smiling face.
It's nothing against you to fall down flat,
But to lie there—that's disgrace.
The harder you're thrown, why the higher you bounce;
Be proud of your blackened eye!
It isn't the fact that you're licked that counts;
It's how did you fight—and why?
And though you be done to the death, what then?
If you battled the best you could,
If you played your part in the world of men,
Why, the Critic will call it good.
Death comes with a crawl, or comes with a pounce,
And whether he's slow or spry,
It isn't the fact that you're dead that counts,
But only how did you die?

"MAKING GOOD."Business Man Gives Practical Talk to Largest Audience of the Year.

A large crowd of fellows came out last Thursday evening to hear H. W. Hutchins' talk on "Making Good." Mr. Hutchins, a graduate of Carrol College, of Wisconsin, is a business man of Cincinnati, and a member of the board of directors of the Cincinnati Young Men's Christian Association. His talk was very well received, some saying that it was the best heard by the association for some time.

One of the chief thoughts which he drove home was that the world is looking for good, clean, college men, but that it will not seek them. Men must be alert and find the opportunity for themselves. The questions for the young man to answer are: What have you done? What will you do? How shall you make your success? What will you do for humanity?

This age is an age of young men. The world is looking for young men who are clean in body, and clean in mind. At no time in the history of the world has there been such a demand for young men who have training such as the college gives. In times past the Christians went on crusades to rescue the Holy Land from the infidel. We now go on crusades, but they are of a different character. They are for the purpose of saving human souls from the infidel.

You can make good while in college, as well as out in the world. This does not consist of being an athlete and nothing else, or being a student and nothing else. "Making Good" in college consists of being fair in your studies, taking some part in some kind of athletics, being a good mixer, and helping the new fellow, instead of trying to get him into trouble. Every man cannot be a shining light, but every one can do something for the good of his community.

R. E. A.Objects of Organization Brought to Attention of Members.

President Clippinger addressed the Religious Education Association at its special meeting Wednesday evening. His remarks were adapted to the recent decision reached by the organization, limiting its membership to those directly interested in religious leadership. He emphasized two features which it is necessary that the association undertake to do, namely; that of providing good programs and of organizing for definite work.

The ministerial students were urged to show their colors; never to be off-guard; to show a brotherly and sympathetic feeling to all their fellows, and to get fellows to commit themselves as to their choice of the ministry as a life's work.

One of the objects of the organization should be to inspire the love of hard things which the gospel ministry affords.

Another is that of urging attendance upon religious services at Otterbein. Members were urged to develop personal purity, and the habits of Bible study and prayer.

As to the other feature of the work—that of the program—President Clippinger suggested that short biographies of prominent ministers be given, besides taking up homiletics and practical theology.

At the next meeting of the association, to be held Wednesday, December 4, the Rev. J. Emory Walter, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal Church, will address the association.

HOME MISSIONSSharing Christ With Others is Meaning of Subject.

Miss Vida VanSickle was in charge of the Young Women's Christian Association meeting last week. After a solo by Miss Agnes Drury, the leader introduced Miss Vera B. Blinn, who addressed the girls upon "Home Missions."

Miss Blinn spoke of what home missions might mean to college women. Missions is nothing more than a desire to share Christ with some one who has no Saviour. If we fulfill the will of God, we are missionaries. The girl who stays at home and does the will of God is a missionary just as much as the one who goes abroad. One criticism of our girls that is often made is, "Don't they ever think?"

There are three visions that we should get: (1.) the vision of those hungering for the bread of life, (2.) the vision of the Christian girls in our colleges, and (3.) the vision of the cross of Christ.

Let us avail ourselves of the opportunity of the ministry of intercession. We must reveal ourselves to God, before he can reveal himself to us. Perhaps our home mission may be to share our Christ with our room mate. Home missions means a complete surrender of ourselves to Jesus Christ, and to let him make our life decisions.

Lectures on Peace.

Dr. W. G. Hubbard, one of the vice presidents of the American Peace Society, of Washington, D. C., gave a talk before the students last Friday morning. He appealed to the college students of America to do all in their power to stop war. History is written in the blood of the nations. The history of the past has been mostly of wars. War does not determine whether a thing is right or not.

In the the last ten years there have been ten wars, but during the same time one hundred disputes have been settled by arbitration. The histories of fifty years ago used 60% of their pages in describing wars, which shows that man's chief business was to destroy his fellow men. Now, only about 20% of the space in our histories is used in describing wars.

Dr. Hubbard is a member of the lecture bureau of the American Peace Society, and at present has headquarters in Columbus. Senator Theodore Burton, of Ohio, is president of the organization.

Ohio State—G. Hammel, trustee and alumnus of Penn-State, paid the expense of all the boys of the Columbus School for Boys to the Penn-State game. It was through his and Dr. W. O. Thompson's influence that this school was founded.

Basketball practice has been started under the direction of Coach St. John. Arrangements are being made for games with the Big Nine.

Miss Bookwalter at Ceylon.

The Uduvil Girls' Boarding School of Ceylon is a growing institution of learning, fostered by the American Board of Missions. As an addition to the faculty, Miss Lulu Bookwalter, '08, a daughter of former President Bookwalter, of Otterbein University, came to the school last year, receiving a hearty welcome. Miss Bookwalter has taken up the work in many departments, but especially in forming a training class for teachers.

Owing to the government requirements for teachers, it has been difficult for the institution to secure efficient workers without incurring large expense. But with young men and women trained in the schools, who will undoubtedly pass the government examinations, this difficulty will be overcome.

Last year the school contained three hundred and twenty-two girls. One hundred and seventy-two were from Christian homes, and one hundred and sixty from Hindu surroundings. These girls are taught to cook and to sew, as well as trained to think. Another growing department has to do with moral training. To take up this work, girls must complete the full course in the regular Tamil department, and undergo a government examination.

In the school there is a close personal touch between the ten lady teachers and the students, which promises to be helpful to the daily life about the institution. Not only are the teachers busy with their departments of instruction, but they have many duties besides the teaching of lessons. Every day and almost every hour has its responsibilities.

Successful as Superintendent.

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Porter, '07 and '06, of West Jefferson, O., were visiting Otterbein the last of the week.

Mr. Porter is the successful superintendent of the high school at the above place. Under his leadership the school has developed into one of the best in the state. It has a strong faculty, and is reasonably successful in its athletics. Its distinguishing feature is, that under Mr. Porter's personal direction and help, a strong literary society has sprung into being. The numbers and manner of delivery are the same as found in the societies of Otterbein, after which it was modeled.

'82. L. D. Bonebrake, president of Indiana Central University, Indianapolis, Ind., visited in Westerville last week.

COCHRAN HALL ITEMS.

Lenore Eisele and Wilda Dick were comparatively good this week. The only prank they played all week was to eat all the nuts out of Clara Hendrix's fudge, while said lady journeyed to Columbus.

It is a good thing to change tables, for new thoughts are constantly launched into theories worth learning. Bonita Jamison gave a helpful illustration of a "responsible thrill" at Thursday dinner.

Mrs. Guy Matron, of Vandalia, O., visited Clara Hendrix this week.

Mabel J. Weike entertained "her friend" Sunday.

Bert's sister, Miss "Bib" Richards, arrived Saturday afternoon. Her arrival was celebrated by a delightful party in the library that evening. Roscoe Brane got a turkey. Horace Stephens got "Snookums," and Lloyd Curtis did not get the piece of pink cake.

Mary Williamson got up three times Sunday morning.

President Brooke Speaks.

Last Friday morning, at the regular chapel period, President F. E. Brooke of Leander Clark College, Toledo, Iowa, spoke to the student body. He stated that the best of relations existed between the two colleges. Three members of the faculty are alumni of Otterbein.

President Brooke dwelt on the advantages of a small college over a large school. He said that the atmosphere was much better about a small school; that there was more real college life, and that there was a better class of young people in a small church college.

"Young people who are poor should not be sympathized with, provided they have good health and good character. They can get a college education in spite of all obstacles."

Dr. Brooke was a member of the church union commission, which met in Columbus last week.
