4.000

SPRING, 1950

From Your Towers Editor

This issue of TOWERS carries the commencement announcements. You will, therefore, keep it handy for reference. It is the hope of your alumni office that many of you will return for commencement this year. Many of you have never seen the new stadium, the new dining hall and other improvements. If you come this year, you will witness the laying of the corner stone for the new chapel-auditorium.

Be sure to turn to the last pages of this issue and observe the special feature on the home economics department. We like to call to your attention the fine work being done in all our departments and occasionally we feature a department in which the work may not be so well known to alumni. You would be proud if you could see what the girls in this department are doing, and what they have done in refinishing and furnishing the Clements Cottage, now being used as a home management house.

Your alumni office is here to serve you. Call upon us if we can help you in any way.

WHAT THE COLLEGE HAS A RIGHT TO EXPECT—

From the Alumnus

The college has a right to expect at least four things from the alumnus:

1 Those of you who have visited or lived in other parts of the world know how much more one appreciates America when he has been away from it for a while. I believe Otterbein College has the right to expect each alumnus to look back at his college life with a growing and deepening appreciation for what the college has done to make his life more meaningful, purposeful, and abundant. The college has the right to expect each alumnus to take the time to deliberately and intelligently evaluate the benefits he has experienced as a result of his college education. I interrupted the preparation of this statement long enough to try to write a list of such benefits. Try it yourself. You will be surprised at the length of the list.

2 Otterbein College has the right to expect each alumnus to maintain such a deep sense of loyalty and pride that he becomes an active salesman for Otterbein. The alumnus should be so "sold" that he takes every opportunity to let the world know that he is an Otterbein graduate. To do a good selling job the alumnus keeps himself informed as to the college program, purpose and new developments. The college has a right to expect the alumnus to seek opportunities to sell prospective students on the advantages of a church-related school like Otterbein.

3 Remember that the world sees Otterbein most clearly through its alumni. Otterbein College has the right to expect each alumnus to be the best possible example of its product. You do this when you maintain high standards of achievement in your profession, when you accept civic responsibilities and participate in the religious and cultural life of your community and when you are willing to assume leadership in the great causes which should challenge a graduate of a Christian college like Otterbein.

4 No college can live long without active and enthusiastic alumni working in an organized way. Otterbein College has the right to expect each alumnus to be a working member of the Alumni Association. Instead of joining a "gripe session" when he meets with Otterbein friends, the good alumnus gets the facts, offers constructive suggestions and goes to work with others to bring about improvements even though it means personal sacrifice in terms of time and energy. As a student, you didn't pay the total cost of your college education. The college has a right to expect you to contribute generously to the Development Fund without it being necessary to urge, plead, or beg you to give.

As an alumnus, you should ask yourself, "What share of my time, talents, and money belong to my college?" Otterbein College has a right to expect you to consider this question seriously and then do what you know you should do.

Harold L. Boda
President, Alumni Association

We present the "brain trust" among the Otterbein students. These six students had a 4.000 average at the end of the first semester, which represents the highest point average possible to attain. The students are as follows: top row, left to right: Frances Barnett, Wabash, Indiana; Paul Craig, Middletown, and Bernice Freymeyer, Rittman; bottom row: James Milliron, Mansfield; Heidi Schneider, Switzerland; and Harold Morris, Scottdale, Pennsylvania.

J. GORDON HOWARD, '22

Dear Friends of Otterbein:

As I write these words the guttural snorting of the steam shovel is making welcome music, its hungry jaws biting into the earth making the excavation which is to be the basement of the new chapel-auditorium.

The bids for the new building which came in from contractors for general construction, heating, plumbing, ventilating, electrical wiring, and seating ran over the $400,000 available. It took patient negotiations between Mr. Sanders A. Frye, Business Manager, and the contractors to finally bring the lowest bids below this amount.

The building will be of brick construction, seat 1250 people and have a commodious stage. It is to be finished by February, 1951. We hope the laying of the cornerstone can be a feature of the coming Commencement time.

Recently the writer visited alumni groups in Philadelphia, New York and Boston. In each case "a good time was had by all." Credit and thanks are due the persons in charge of these meetings, namely, Mr. and Mrs. Paul K. Noel, Philadelphia; Mr. and Mrs. John Hudock, New York; and Mr. and Mrs. John H. Lehman, Boston. A Washington meeting with Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kline in charge will be held later. The continued loyalty which Otterbein alumni show to their Alma Mater is one of the pleasant factors in college work.

A strong student body begins with a good prospect list. Our Admissions Office is working day and night to compile a good list of prospective students and then to contact as many of them as possible. Our alumni from coast-to-coast should consider themselves a nation-wide network to scout for likely prospects, and then to send our Admissions Office the names of young people who should be turned toward Otterbein. Will you not consider yourself as a unit in this widespread network and act accordingly? You will be doing a favor for a young person, for Otterbein, and for a better world order.

These days we are considering candidates for certain teaching positions which will be open next year. Some excellent people have been interviewed. The appointment of new teachers is one of the most important functions of college administration. Good teachers make a good school for in the last analysis a good education is the result of face-to-face contact between a good teacher and a good student.

We are concerned that new teachers be sympathetic with the Christian purpose of the college, be academically prepared, competent in a classroom, and cooperative in a closely knit organization. There are other factors to be considered, but these are primary.

We have been unusually busy recently entertaining visiting organizations and groups of various kinds. Campus visitors include the Franklin County and district Class B basketball tournaments; district contest for high school bands, orchestras and choruses; High School Day with 800 students, teachers and pastors; inter-collegiate debate tournament; meeting of district high school coaches; Miamisburg High School Chorus; Town and Country Commissions of Five EUB annual conferences; first quadrennial National EUB Student Conference; International Festival sponsored by International Relations Club; EUB pastors of Franklin County; "barbershop quartets" from Central Ohio; Westerville Branch of the AAUW; Student Volunteer delegation from Oberlin College; State Convention of International Relations Club; Business Administration Clinic, and a number of others, all of these in addition to the regular crowded schedule of campus activities. Every campus visitor is a potential friend of Otterbein and we try to make all visitors feel welcome.

We have been saddened by the deaths reported elsewhere in this issue of "Towers" which have caused gaps in our student body, faculty and trustees. We honor the memory of each one and extend sincere sympathy to the surviving members of their respective families.

The Commencement season will soon be here and Otterbein will close her 103rd year. You are urgently invited to put Commencement on your social calendar, (already crowded no doubt), and meet your college friends again. We'll be looking for you.

Most Cordially,

J. Gordon Howard

OTTERBEIN'S GREATEST BENEFACTOR DIES

Clyde E. Cowan, '04

The New Chapel-Auditorium

Below is the artist's conception of the new chapel-auditorium now under construction. By a strange coincidence, the construction contract was awarded the day the donor became afflicted with the cerebral thrombosis which caused his demise one week later. The corner stone for the new building will be laid on alumni day, Saturday, June 3—provided the spring rains do not hold up construction too long. Completion date is February, 1951.

Donor of Chapel Auditorium

A TRIBUTE BY WADE S. MILLER

Otterbein College has lost a great friend—a man who gave more than lip service to his alma mater. The friend and benefactor was Dr. Clyde E. Cowan, '04, of Greensburg, Pennsylvania.

Your TOWERS editor first made the acquaintance of Dr. Cowan in the fall of 1945. There was an immediate feeling of admiration and respect for him. In the few years intervening, it was my privilege and pleasure to call upon him many times, both at his home and at his office; it was my honor to perform the ceremony which united him in marriage with his secretary who had shared his industrial burdens for many years; I was present when he died, and sorrowfully conducted his funeral.

DR. COWAN WAS A BRILLIANT SCHOLAR.

His record at Otterbein testifies to his scholarship. His library of good books is another evidence. He was well informed on many and varied subjects.

HE WAS A MAN OF STRONG CONVICTIONS.

He spoke clearly and pointedly, leaving no doubt in one's mind as to his attitude on any specific issue. Whether you agreed or not, you always admired him.

HE HATED SHAM AND PRETENSE.

"Stuffed shirts" was a term he used in my presence many times. By that he meant people who pretended to be what they were not.

HE WAS GENEROUS AND UNASSUMING.

Our institution conferred upon him its highest honor—a Doctor of Laws degree. But he wanted no publicity. When he gave $400,000 for a new chapel-auditorium, he requested that no publicity be given during his life-time.

HE WAS APPRECIATIVE.

His gift of the chapel-auditorium was in appreciation of his Otterbein teachers, all of whom preceded him in death. He called them "scholarly men of great vision, with broad understanding, and a high degree of tolerance." It is the writer's humble opinion that a man cannot appreciate those qualities in others without possessing them himself.

Yes, Otterbein lost, and I, personally, lost a great and a good friend.

TRAGEDIES MAR YEAR

During the first three months of the year 1950 the Otterbein family has suffered irreparable losses by death. In addition to the death of Dr. Cowan, reported on the preceding page, the losses include a trustee, a former librarian, a former coach, a teacher and a student.

Jacob S. Gruver, '98

Jacob S. Gruver, retired business man, educator, churchman, and generous benefactor, was killed instantly on January 25 when struck by an automobile as he attempted to cross Connecticut Avenue near his home in Chevy Chase, Maryland. His sister, Mrs. Grace Irvin, who was walking with him, was critically injured.

Dr. Gruver graduated from Otterbein in 1898 and two years later founded Eastern College at Front Royal, Virginia. After serving as president for eight years, he entered the real estate business in Washington, D. C. where he remained active until his retirement a few years ago.

He never lost interest in education. At one time or another he was identified with Tome School for Boys, National Park College, Western Maryland, and at the time of his death was a trustee of the American University and of Otterbein College.

Dr. Gruver had been a trustee of Otterbein since 1922. Rarely did he miss a meeting and his counsel and advice were sought and respected.

Over the years he was a generous benefactor to Otterbein. His gifts of $30,000 to the Centennial made him the largest contributor in that campaign. Otterbein is to share in his estate to the extent of $20,000.

He is survived by a son, Fulton, and a daughter, Helen, the wife of Robert E. Kline, Jr., '18.

Merlin A. Ditmer, '10

Merlin A. Ditmer, '10, coach at Otterbein from 1920-27, died at Christ Hospital, Cincinnati, on March 3 after several years of poor health. He left Otterbein in 1927 to accept a coaching position at Miami University. From 1942-48 he was director of intercollegiate athletics, and from that date until his death he served as a "good will ambassador" for the university.

Fritz Howell, AP Sports Editor, had this to say: "Miami University called him its 'good will ambassador.' And, if ever a man filled his job to overflowing, Merlin Ditmer was that man. White haired, gentlemanly, and ever-smiling, 'Dit's' passing leaves an aching void in the Ohio and national sports scene. Probably no man in the state's colleges and high school sports field was better known. Certainly none was more universally loved and respected."

Mrs. Ditmer, the former Daisy May Clifton, '04, will continue to reside at 204 North Bishop Street, Oxford, Ohio.

Jacob S. Gruver, '98

Tirza Barnes, '85

Tirza Barnes, '85, died at the home of her sister, Mrs. W. B. Gantz, '98, in Pasadena, California, on March 21. Miss Barnes gave 44 years of her life to Otterbein—eight years as Principal of the Ladies' Department and manager of Saum Hall and 36 years as college librarian. Her term of service is exceeded only this year by Dr. A. P. Rosselot who is completing his 45th year.

Jean Fraser Clark

Mrs. Jean Fraser Clark, Associate Professor of Elementary Education, died on Thursday, March 8, after an illness of several months. Death was due to cancer. Mrs. Clark came to Otterbein in 1942 to head the new department of elementary education. She was considered one of Ohio's foremost educators in her field and the department at Otterbein became outstanding under her leadership. She was active in the National Association for Childhood Education and served as chairman of the Committee on Basis of Teacher Selection.

Robert N. Buck

Tragedy struck the Otterbein campus on Tuesday, February 14, when Robert N. Buck, popular sophomore from Alliance, Ohio, was drowned in Alum Creek. Robert with three fraternity brothers started for a canoe ride late on the night of the fourteenth. The waters were swollen due to recent rains and the canoe capsized throwing all into the stream. In the darkness the boys became separated and, since Robert could not swim, he quickly disappeared. After more than twenty-four hours of searching, his body was found. Funeral services were conducted in the college church and at his home church in Alliance.

DOINGS OF THE OTTERBEIN FACULTY

Members of the Otterbein faculty do more than teach a given number of hours per week. They write books, prepare articles for professional magazines, deliver addresses, judge contests, serve on church boards, take an active part in community and church life and many other things. In this and future issues of Towers the editor will list some of the more important things in which faculty members engage.

Miss Rosselot is Secretary of the Teacher Training Division of the Central States Modern Language Teachers' Association. At the Indianapolis meeting on April 29 she will participate in a panel discussion on "Problems in Foreign Language Teacher Training."

At a foreign language conference at the University of Kentucky on May 11, 12, and 13, she will read a paper on "Laboratory Techniques in First Year French." A short movie is being prepared on Laboratory Techniques used at Otterbein in foreign language which will be used in conjunction with her paper.

In the November issue of the Modern Language Journal Miss Rosselot had an article on "Audio-Aids Techniques in Foreign Language Teaching".

FRED A. HANAWALT, '13

Professor Hanawalt gave two addresses recently: "Economic Value of Birds" and "The Geology of Franklin County". The first was for the local Patrons of Husbandry and the second for the Westerville Historical Society.

E. W. E. SCHEAR, '07

Dr. E. W. E. Schear will participate in a forum on "Terminal Courses in Science" at the annual meeting of the Academy of Science on April 28 and 29 at Capital University.

For the second year Dr. Schear has served as advancement chairman of the North-west District of the Boy Scouts of America.

L. WILLIAM STECK, '37

On March 28 Professor Steck gave a lecture on "Principals of Interrogation" to the 374th Criminal Investigation Detachment, Fort Hayes, Columbus, Ohio.

L. LEE SHACKSON

Professor Shackson is responsible for organizing and conducting the Westerville Community Orchestra; he was guest conductor (instrumental) at the Hancock county music festival on April 14 and guest conductor (vocal) at the Logan County music festival on April 27; he served as adjudicator for contests of the Ohio Music Education Association at Oxford, Westerville, and Athens; he is chairman of the state final vocal solo and ensemble contests to be held on the Otterbein campus on May 13.

ROBERT PRICE

Dr. Robert Price shared in a panel discussion of the topic: "Folk Culture and Local History" at the annual meeting of the Ohio State Archaeological and Historical Society at Columbus, April 14, 1950.

PAUL B. ANDERSON

Dean Paul B. Anderson represented Otterbein College at the fifth National Conference on Higher Education at the Congress Hotel, Chicago, April 17-19, 1950. He worked with Dean Sydney J. French of Colgate University and the members of the three groups concerned with the teacher in general education, and the evaluation of current programs in general education.

ACTIVITIES OF OUR ALUMNI CLUBS

The editor would appreciate it if each alumni club would appoint a person who would keep him informed on the club activities. Detroit and Middletown have done this and they have their activities reported.

DETROIT

The most active Otterbein Club in existence is in Detroit where alumni meet every two months. Their activities are as follows:

SEPTEMBER: Alumni journeyed to Ann Arbor and met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Peters (Margaret Miller, '31). Mrs. Don Williams (Jessie Cruik, '32) was co-hostess.

NOVEMBER. The November meeting was at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Cheek, x'33 (Mary Sue Weekly, x'35) in Dearborn.

JANUARY. Mr. and Mrs. Harold Davison, '22 and x'30, entertained the group in their Ferndale home. Mrs. C. J. Smith (Lucille Moore, '34) was co-hostess.

MARCH. The March meeting was at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Walter (Betty Marsh, '26) in Birmingham. Mrs. Kenneth Watanabe was co-hostess. It was election night and the following were elected:

PRESIDENT... Mrs. A. Roy Swartz, '36
(Ruth Shatzer)

SECRETARY-TREASURER
.....Mrs. Fred Cheek, x'35
(Mary Sue Weekly)

The Detroit alumni in cooperation with the Calvary Evangelical United Brethren Church sponsored the appearance of the Otterbein A Cappella choir in Detroit on March 11.

MIDDLETOWN

Students and alumni of Middletown enjoyed a tea on Sunday afternoon during the Christmas holidays. Mrs. L. H. Bremer, '39 (Carrie Harris), presided over the meeting and Mrs. Donald Llewellyn, x'45 introduced the program.

The second annual business administration clinic was conducted on the campus on Monday, February 27. Outstanding leaders of business and finance conducted discussions, led seminars and held personal conferences throughout the day. The purpose is to acquaint the business student with the problems he will face as he enters the business field. Leaders for this year were: Paul Sprout, '22, from the Frigidaire Corporation, who was the sales promotion expert; Vance Cribbs, '20, from Armco Steel Corporation, resource leader on Administration and Personnel; Henry Ochs, from Winters National Bank, who discussed problems of finance; and Ray Mathers, from F. & A. Lazarus, authority on merchandising. In the picture, left to right are Sprout, Cribbs, and Ochs.

A group of two piano numbers was presented by Miss Marilyn Turner and Miss Carolyn Cribbs. Dr. E. R. Turner, '17, Dr. Mabel Gardner, '08, and Mr. Vance Cribbs, '20, all trustees of the college, were introduced and each spoke briefly concerning various phases of the college program.

Harold Riley showed movies of the last homecoming and the group joined in singing college songs. Mrs. C. W. Frederick (Marjorie Day, '45) was at the piano. Tea was served with Mrs. Bremer and Mrs. Elmo Lingrel (Mary Alta Nelson, '17) pouring.

WESTERVILLE

The Westerville Otterbein Women's Club, under the leadership of Mrs. Lyle Michael (Gladys Lake, '19), is having another busy year. Their recent meetings have been as follows:

JANUARY. Annual banquet and guest night with 170 present. Verda Evans, '28, was the guest speaker using for her topic "The Reading Public."

MARCH. A meeting in Cochran Hall with Earl Woodruff, well known interior decorator, as speaker. The home economics girls of the college were guests of the club.

The club has had a bake sale and a rummage sale to raise money to reach its goal of $500., for equipment for the home management house. Last year the club gave a set of silver for twelve, an ironer, and a dryer. This year it gave a washer. The club also gave $25 to each of six worthy but needy girls. An additional $50 was applied to the club's scholarship fund totaling $1,102.50.

PHILADELPHIA, NEW YORK, BOSTON

President Howard attended the annual spring meetings of these clubs. See the note in his letter about credit for the success of the meetings. Last year your editor visited these clubs and he can testify that these good and loyal alumni appreciate their college.

1910 REUNION

More specific details are available on the 1910 class reunion. J. Clarence Baker is in charge and the luncheon will be furnished by Clarence "Pete" Williams either at his own famous Grill (perhaps he will give the editor a dinner for this plug) or in the park—depending on the weather. All grads, ex-students and their families are not only invited but urged to be present.

"GENTLEMEN PREFER BLONDES"

Bob Burkhart, x'44, is in a new show by the above title. He says it is considered the biggest musical hit of the season, starring Carol Channing.

Bob has been appearing in television shows but says he has decided not to do any television this year because of the many hours of rehearsal. He is not quite finished at Julliard and wants to concentrate on his voice. He says, "I'm studying voice and acting and trying to keep my life simple enough so that I'll have time to practice and develop."

CHECK LIST OF OHIO BIRDS

If you are a bird enthusiast living in the Buckeye State, you will want to secure a copy of "A Check List of Birds of Ohio" written by Donald T. Borror, '28.

This is a new check list in which Dr. Borror catalogs 320 Ohio species represented by specimens. In addition, there are 28 species which have been reported for the state, but which are not represented by collected specimens, so far as is known.

The paper appeared in the January number of the Ohio Journal of Science. Reprints are available at the Bibliophile, 1883 North High Street, Columbus, Ohio, at $1.00 plus 3 cents Ohio sales tax.

CANDIDATES FOR OFFICE

Three distinguished Otterbein alumni have announced their candidacy for offices and hope to be nominated in the May primaries.

Alva H. Sholty, '17, E. U. B. minister in Huntington, Indiana, is a candidate for the U. S. House of Representatives from the Fifth Congressional District.

Earl R. Hoover, '26, Cleveland attorney, is a candidate for Common Pleas Judge.

Horace W. Troop, '23, attorney-at-law and faculty member at Otterbein, is a candidate for State Representative from Franklin County.

INVENTOR GIFFORD

The U. S. Patent Office in Washington, D. C., announced early this year that Carl E. Gifford, '15, a metallurgist at the Armco steel plant in Zanesville had been granted a patent on the "Production of Silicon Steel Sheet Stock Having High Surface Resistivity and Resistance to Adhesion."

Mr. Gifford is a veteran of 31 years of service with the company having spent the first 11 years at the Middletown plant and the remaining 20 years at the Zanesville plant.

After graduating at Otterbein, Mr. Gifford studied engineering at Ohio State University.

LITERARY LIFE BOOMS

Campus literary affairs have been especially stimulating this year. Robert K. Marshall, author of the successful first novel, Little Squire Jim, talked to the Quiz and Quill Club and their guests on December first in the home of Miss Mary B. Thomas, '29. Richard Llewellyn, famed British author of How Green Was My Valley and other novels, not only closed the Artists' Series on March 14, but visited the advanced writing classes and following his lecture was guest of Quiz and Quill at a reception in the home of Mrs. F. O. Clements.

When not entertaining celebrities, Quiz and Quill has been having one of the most active writing seasons in years under the leadership of Robert Litell, Lima, and Larma McGuire, Bethel, presidents during first and second semesters respectively; Ruth Mugridge, Somerset, Pa., program chairman; Miss Alice Sanders, '26, faculty adviser; and Dr. Robert Price, sponsor.

The campus literary contests drew an all-time record flock of 105 MSS. this year. The prize-winners will as usual grace the spring Quiz and Quill, whose 31st annual greets the Mid-Century on May first not only with the cream of serious student writing but with some delightful "Mid-Nonsense-ry" as well. Alumni writers include Louis W. Norris, '28, LaVelle Rosselot '33, James Montgomery '48, and Kenneth Zimmerman '49, whose interview-article recalls the momentous visit of poet Carl Sandburg to Westerville last year. Carl Vorpe, Troy, is editor-in-chief. Joan Platt, New York City, has done the Pegasus cover that will delight all the Quiz and Quill collectors.

PREPARE FOR Home Making
AT OTTERBEIN

There is no art that contributes so much toward the happiness of mankind as the art of Fine Home Making

An Open Letter to the Folks at Home...

Thursday

Dear Mom and Dad:

You will remember that I was very much undecided last fall when I came to Otterbein as to my life's work and the course I should take. Well, it is all settled now! And, I find that for what I want, I could not have made a better choice of a college.

I have decided that I am going to make a career out of home-making. Now don't get excited - Jim and I are not going to be married - not right away, that is. It will be several years before he is through "Mad" school and before we can be married; so in the meantime, I will get a job of teaching home economics or doing some type of home service work with a utility company. Then when we do get married, I will be prepared for the fine art of home-making. Thus, you see, my home economics course will do double-duty & it will provide me with a successful career for the interesting years until I marry and at the same time prepare me for what will probably be a life-long vocation - home-making.

I am all thrilled about this decision. You know, Mom, that I have some very definite convictions on marriage, on parent-child relationships, and you know how I hate divorce. Well, one of our teachers here has statistics showing conclusively the low divorce rate among home economists. I guess it is proof of what you always said, that the way to a man's heart is through his stomach.

Another of our folks here teaches that happy homes don't just happen & they are created. After taking his course on Marriage and the Family, I am sure he is right.

Gosh, Mom, I can hardly wait until I get home to tell you about my course and the opportunities here at Otterbein. The enclosed pictures will give you some idea and I am listing the curriculum I will follow. We have the very latest models of all household equipment in our home management house and our teachers make our work very interesting.

More next time.

Love to you both,

Jane

Child Care Is Fascinating

Students learn child care, development, and training, both from theory and from practice. Each student goes weekly to the home of a pre-school child for observation and to put into practice the theories learned in the classroom.

Study is made of children of various age levels from birth to school age. Instruction is given by the teacher, the child's mother, and the community nurse.

The Social Graces Are Important

Entertaining, as well as the successful operation of a home, is part of the training students receive. At right is pictured students entertaining faculty members at a guest meal. The meal is planned, prepared and served by the students in the home management house.

Prepared To Teach

The curriculum for teachers requires student teaching in the Westerville High School. Pictured at the left is a student teacher in the foods laboratory at the school. Students preparing to teach receive the Bachelor of Science Degree in Education instead of the Bachelor of Arts earned in the homemaking curriculum.

The Home Management House

The home management house, where each senior lives for six weeks, is furnished with the very latest models of all equipment—a model kitchen—complete laundry facilities—everything modern. The interior of the house is a product of the girls' handiwork. Its complete redecoration was a project of the interior decorating classes. Students have restored old furniture, made slip covers, draperies, and other decorative accessories.

Learning By Doing

Marketing and budgeting are major problems for the homemaker. In this area, as in child care, the student combines theory and practice. In the home management house they take their turn in doing the marketing, preparing and serving the meals—and they must live within a limited budget.

Making Clothes Saves Money

In the clothing and textile courses students learn about fabrics, how to make attractive clothes, how to select ready-made garments, and study their own personal wardrobe problems. Coats, suits, and dresses are designed and tailored under careful supervision. Best buys in clothing are determined through integration of consumer information and an evaluation of garments brought to class by the students.

The Curriculum

An outline of the courses of study will be found in the college catalog and in the special homemaking bulletin.

103rd Commencement!

A Cordial Welcome!

BULLETIN BOARD

REUNIONS

Be sure to read the announcements on page 5 concerning reunions. Members of the classes of 1940—1930—1925—1910 and 1900 will have reunions. Specific announcements will come from class presidents. The class of 1920 hopes to have a reunion in the fall at homecoming.

WANT ANOTHER TOWERS?

Perhaps alumni who have offices with reception rooms where reading materials are made available to clients would like to display the OTTERBEIN TOWERS. If you would like an office copy, make your wishes known to the editor.

WANTED — 1907 SIBYL

One of our readers would like to have a 1907 Sibyl. Anyone having a copy for sale should inform the TOWERS editor stating the price.

THE HONOR ROLL

Is your name on the honor roll published on pages 10 and 11? Another list will be printed in the June issue. Be sure you do not miss that issue. Otterbein needs your gift.

STUDENT PROSPECTS

Too few alumni have sent to Otterbein a list of student prospects. Alumni in Ohio and nearby states surely must know young people who should consider Otterbein. Send their names. Talk Otterbein.

AN INCOME FOR LIFE

Do you want a safe investment with a good rate of interest? Consider the Otterbein annuity plan. Write to the TOWERS editor for the bulletin discussing the plan in detail. You are under no obligation.

YOUR WILL

Let Otterbein share in the distribution of your estate. Rousseau once said "The dead take to their grave only that which they have given away." Use this form:

I give and bequeath to Otterbein College, a corporation, located in Westerville, Ohio the sum of _____ dollars to be used as the Board of Trustees of said college may direct. (Donor may specify how he wishes his gift to be used.)
