WESTERVILLE, OHIO, OCTOBER 9, 1911.

COLLEGE CHORUS

Large Number Enroll in Popular Music Course.

The College Chorus held its initial meeting Monday evening with a large number of singers present. Prof. Resler found no difficulty in arousing interest in the work outlined for this semester, for he still possesses his large fund of enthusiasm, and this with the exceptionally fine chorus numbers presented makes a very good combination. Longfellow's "Village Blacksmith," with music by Chas. F. Noyes, and Eaton Fanning's "Song of the Vikings," will be taken up at once. Other short numbers will be studied throughout the semester until four or more have been completed.

Plans are now started to have the chorus assisted this year by a much larger orchestra than has yet been used with this work. Seventy-seven singers have already enrolled for this valuable training and more are to follow, so that it looks as if Mr. Resler would realize his hope of seeing one hundred in the chorus.

FACULTY CLUB

Professors Will Consider Educational Problems.

The faculty of Otterbein University has organized a club, the purpose of which is the study and discussion of educational problems. The officers will remain the same as the regular faculty officers with the addition of a program committee which consists of Prof. Snively, Prof. Guitner and Prof. Grabill. Meetings will probably be held once a month, the first one coming the last week of October or the first

WALKING AROUND WORLD

R. H. Bowers, O. U. Student, Will Circle Globe.

The following clipping from a recent issue of the Massillon Independent concerning R. H. Bowers of that city will doubtless prove of interest as Mr. Bowers was a member of last year's Freshman class.

"Leaving here Monday morning, Raymond Bowers, 20, high school graduate, Otterbein University student, and son of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Bowers, of 103 Locust St., set out to walk around the world. He will try to sup-

MISSIONARY PROBLEM

Dr. Stuntz Makes Helpful Remarks in Chapel.

Gift to Library.

A recent and valuable gift has been received by the Library through Miss Rosalie Diehl, a friend of Pres. Clippinger. Miss Diehl is a resident of Mechanicsburg, Pa., and has secured the gift for us from the Pennsylvania State Library. This recent addition consists for the most part of the fifth and sixth series of the Pennsylvania Archives which cover the periods of the Revolutionary War and the war of 1812.

Besides these there were quite a number of pamphlets containing government reports, etc., which will also be of value to the Library.

PRIZE CONTESTS

Dr. H. H. Russell Speaks in Interest of Oratory.

Dr. Russell was present at the chapel service Friday morning and very forcibly presented the matter of declamation and oratory. He placed before the student body the fact that, as heretofore, there are two prizes to be given this year, one to the winner of the Junior-Senior, oratorical contest, and the other to the winner of the Freshman-Sophomore declamation contest. These prizes amounting to $25.00 for each event are given by Dr. Russell. He closed his talk by a beautiful rendition of Tennyson's "Lady Claire."

Otterbein Receives $1000.

One thousand dollars recently came into the possession of the college in the form of the payment of a death note, given in 1876, from the estate of Rebecca De Vore, Zanesville, Ohio. The money will be applied to the contingent fund.

Some time ago the payment of another such note was received on which the interest was greater than the principal. The note was for $1000 and the interest $1300.

Fund for Students' Aid.

The college has received recently a portion of the Eberly Fund, the income of which is to be loaned without interest to needy students. One thousand dollars is now at hand and within a few weeks the remaining five or six thousand will be available. The money, however, will yield no income until the last of this school year or the first of next.

This fund was made possible through the will of the late Rev. Daniel Eberly, D. D., '58, Hanover Pa.

FRED FANSHER HONORED

Elected Secretary of Dayton Chamber of Commerce.

Fred W. Fansher, an Otterbein graduate of the class of 1910, has won a signal honor in business circles of Dayton, Ohio. He has been serving as assistant secretary of the Dayton Chamber of Commerce since last February. His success in this position is indicated by the fact that last Tuesday at the annual meeting of the executive committee of that organization he was elected as its general secretary. The Dayton Chamber of Commerce is one of the best commercial organizations in the country and Mr. Fansher's election to its secretaryship reflects credit upon himself and his Alma Mater.

The Dayton Herald gives the following account of Mr. Fansher's success.

"Mr. Fansher was graduated from Otterbein University in June, 1910, with the degree of Bachelor of Arts. While at Otterbein he was instrumental in establishing a college weekly

Good Time at Springfield.

Otterbein's delegates report that the Missionary Conference at Wittenberg was notable for the excellent speakers. One of the delegates was heard to remark, "One can get more of the missionary spirit by hearing Dr. Sloane speak once than by hours of reading and study of the subject." The delegates also had the privilege of hearing "Billy" Sunday who is holding meetings in Springfield.

Otterbein was represented at this conference by the following delegates: Wilda Dick, Edith Coblentz, Mildred Cook, Kathe-Otterbein scored 12 points in first quarter, 5 points in third quarter and 5 points in fourth quarter. Touchdown—Plott 3, Sanders 1. Goals—Sanders 2. Referee—Wright of Delaware.

Exendine's gridiron warriors didn't even have to open up to win the game Saturday with St. Mary's Institute, 22 to 0. Otterbein completely outclassed the Catholic eleven throughout the entire game. The defensive and offensive work of the United Brethren was brilliant, again showing the excellent results achieved under Coach Exendine.

The Otterbein eleven didn't have to use the new plays given out by Exendine, preparatory for the St. Mary's game, as the Catholics proved far too easy for trick plays. Capt. Lambert's eleven won the game mostly by straight football and by the use of the plays used in the State game. Exendine ran in his substitute back field during the last quarter and they too, as well as the regulars, played rings around the Catholics.

Plott Stars.

Right Half Plott, the Fostoria high school product, again plays a great game. The sturdy Half Back again proves to be Exendine's find of the season, as he made three of the four touchdowns, besides playing a fine defensive game. He tore off 10 or 15 yards at will, and had the Catholics at his mercy throughout the game. Sanders also played a good game making big gains off tackle and around end, also handling punts well. Ends, Gilbert and Hartman, were used very effectively Saturday in advancing the ball. For St. Mary's, Sacksteder did exceptionally fine work and was easily the feature man for the Catholics.

A large crowd of St. Mary's rooters liberally sprinkled with old Otterbein supporters witnessed the game.

The best football team in the history of "Old Otterbein" needs your support at the game next Saturday. Come out and show the boys that you have the "Loyal Otterbein Spirit." This is your team, therefore boost it.

Manager Moses.

Among Our Rivals.

Ohio Wesleyan rooters are feeling good because of the news recently received that Brinkerhoff, last year's powerful center, will return to Delaware to enter College. He will be ready for the Wittenberg game next Saturday. This means additional strength to Wesleyan's already winning team.

Judging from the results of the State-Miami game Saturday, we fear that Ohio State will not experience her usual clear sailing this season. Michigan defeated Case by the score of 24 to 0. What the Ohio State eleven will do in her game with that powerful rival remains to be seen.

MUSKINGUM NEXT

Good Game is Expected Saturday On Local Field.

The whole student body ought to rejoice that it has the opportunity of seeing Muskingum play Otterbein in football on the local gridiron, next Saturday, Oct. 14. Our team under Exendine has proved its effectiveness and is well deserving of every student's support.

Not much has been heard from the Muskingum camp; but the U. P.s always have considered Otterbein as a dangerous foe and they will come here bending every effort to win. The game Saturday is one of the two games that will be played on the local gridiron this season. Every student should be on the side line next Saturday for a two-fold reason: first, in order to see the Otterbein team in action; and second, in order to help Capt. Lambert's team on to victory.

SECONDS VS. H. S.

Westerville High Loses by Daub's Kick.

The O. U. second team and the Westerville High School squad met on the local gridiron last Saturday and waged a hot contest resulting in a victory of 3-0 in favor of the Seconds. It was "Shin" McLeod's toe that won the game. In the last few seconds of the first half McLeod sent one over the bar from the 28 yard line, which proved to be the only scoring of the game and victory for the Seconds.

Both teams were a little unfamiliar with the signals which made the game on the whole a little slow and full of fumbles. At one time the high school lads advanced the ball to the O. U.'s four yard line before being repulsed by the Seconds. Daub's work at quarter for Otterbein showed up well, while Watt at left end proved a brilliant actor for the High School.

MISSION STUDY RALLY

Prof. Soper, O. W. U., Speaks at Y. M. C. A.

Prof. Soper of Ohio Wesleyan led the mission study rally at the Young Men's meeting last Thursday evening.

In his first point he emphasized the cultural value of mission study. In this day of advanced civilization one must have a broad culture to mingle in the best society. There is no study that affords greater benefits in the way of culture than Christian missions. It is so wrapped up with the historical, political, social and moral life of a people that its many-sided life must be studied before one can readily grasp to the fullest extent the idea and purpose of Christian Missions.

Again, systematic mission study broadens one's horizon and makes him a citizen of the world. He gets the broad and correct views of life—that of service and self-sacrifice. If mission study can give us an impetus towards the life of service it will have served its purpose. Lives are useful only as they lead to service.

In speaking of the mission study book for this semester, "Negro Life in the South" Prof. Soper said that the race problem is the greatest world problem today. The fusion of two races having distinctly different mental and physical traits has never been successfully accomplished. It remains to be seen whether America will fail in her great mission—the amalgamation of white and black.

Y. W. C. A.

The meeting last Tuesday night was to have been a Finance Rally, but owing to the sickness of Miss Bolenbaugh, who was to have conducted the Rally, it was postponed until Oct. 10.

Miss Bessie Maxwell lead the meeting. The subject was, "Where Would My Life Count Most?" The leader gave some very helpful remarks on the subject. After a beautiful solo by Hortense Potts a number of the girls brought out good thoughts on the subject. The question was a personal one, and the answers varied, but the main thought expressed was that of service to God, and our fellow-men.

Be Fair.

Be fair with yourself. If something is presented to you which will do you good, do not refuse it for a reason which you know isn't worth the effort spent in expressing it. During the past two weeks three propositions of religious import have been presented to Otterbein students, namely; Bible Study, Mission Study and Associate Church Membership. It is an acknowledged fact that these activities are helpful to every student. The extra time necessitated in engaging in them will not total over fifteen minutes per day at the most, aside from attending the classes on Sunday.

Be fair to yourself by signing up for these propositions at once.

Nobility of Expression.

Several days ago the students of Otterbein were privileged to listen to a few splendid words from the lips of a truly great man, one of the greatest figures in the reform campaign today. This man presented to his hearers the importance of proper expression, urging every one to endeavor to improve his ability along this line. His argument was convincing; but he unconsciously proved his point by demonstrating the strength and grandeur of oratory and declamation, through the medium of a beautiful recitation. Otterbein is, indeed, fortunate in having a friend who makes possible our prize declamation and oratorical contests. Many ought to prepare for these contests, first, for the reasons set forth by the speaker Friday morning, and second, because of the noble example presented at that time.

We Ought Not.

Otterbein is a church institution, a Christian college. Every student in Otterbein has affiliated himself or herself with that sort of a college. Otterbein stands for certain things and stands against certain other things. Her students ought to strive to live up to her ideals. There are certain practices or pleasures of a social nature which Otterbein does not believe are conducive to the best development of her students. These practices may do injury to those who indulge in them or may not; but at any rate a loyal Otterbein student ought not to participate in those things which are opposed to the spirit of Otterbein.

Giving to Otterbein.

In another column is to be found the mention of a death note which has been paid to Otterbein recently. This suggests a splendid way in which patrons may aid Otterbein. A note may be given to the college to be paid after the death of the party giving it. This is often more convenient for the contributor than the payment of cash during life time, and is very acceptable to the institution. Another very good method for many would be the giving of money upon which the college should pay interest equivalent to what could be secured elsewhere, during the life time of the patron, at the end of which time the money would become the property of the college. Regardless, however, of the method employed by the contributor, Otterbein appreciates the gifts of her loyal supporters.

College Debating.

"College Debating" is the subject of an article in the October "Century," by Prof. Lyman of the University of Wisconsin. With enthusiasm he upholds the value of this intellectual form of college sport in promoting constructive thinking and the power of effective expression.

The by-products of debating,—intercollegiate good fellowship, training for leadership, and the opportunity for quick retort and witty repartee, are forcibly illustrated by incidents from eastern and western colleges.

"The clash with opponents in debate is for blood," says the writer. "Is is a fair field and no favor asked, and may the best man win. It makes generous winners and game losers." No wonder twenty-five thousand men compete every year for places on their college teams.

Regularity in Class AttendanceProf. N. E. Cornet

Few things count for more toward success than promptness and presence. These two "p's" result in a third, power. This force is not manifested in bombast or with great show but in the steady, sure pull of the evenly trained life.

It is personality that counts. As secretary of the State Association of School Board Members and a member of our local board, the question of teacher qualifications is often studied. To me the all-comprehensive essential is the personal equation. Recently a strange lady applied for a position in our schools. There were other candidates. This lady was chosen. Not a testimonial was submitted or called for. Her personality was her credentials.

During the four years in college your presence and promptness in class count most in making you what you should be. Unconsciously you are acquiring an asset that will bring in most appreciated dividends. There are numerous reasons for this. I will suggest the logical and ethical.

When you become a member of a class you contract to be present. In meeting this agreement growth obtains in mind and character. The rights of other pupils and the professor are respected. This consideration deepens the ethical consciousness. Other things being equal, the man who is faithful in class work will be promoted. His professor will seek for him places of opportunity and remuneration. I know one student who studied Greek three successive years. In this time that student was neither absent or late. This was a prior engagement and nothing took its place. This pupil sought a position over which I had some control. This person was elected though other applicants were numerous. Why? The answer is, This student had demonstrated determination to undertake a task and he was faithful to it. This gave a peculiar equipment for other work.

I should like to mention more of personal experience and observation on this subject but forego this desire. No young man or woman dares treat of light importance the prime purpose of being in college. By means of the habitual being where one has agreed to be and meeting these his obligations, he gains a self-mastery that becomes a very practical capital.

EXCHANGESGreen Caps at Amherst.

At Amherst the Freshman and Sophomores indulge in what they call a Chapel Rush. The event took place a few days ago, in which it was the business of the Sophomores to compel the Freshmen to march into chapel carrying their pea-green caps in their mouths.

O. S. U. Goat For Sale.

Ohio State University has a goat for sale. "Billy" was secured a little over a year ago but is not needed any longer. They say that the reason they desire to sell "Billy" is that during the football season no other college will be able to get Ohio State's 'goat.'

No Cigarettes at Notre Dame.

Henceforth the students of Notre Dame University will not be permitted to smoke cigarettes. This is the decree recently made by the faculty of that famous school.

Anyone found with cigarette material upon the campus, the streets or in the residence hall will be promptly suspended. There seems to be very little opposition to the new rule as nearly all, especially the athletic coaches, have greeted it with joy.

It is said that pipe dealers are now doing a big business.

Subsequently he went to Indianapolis and became identified with the large publishing house, Bobbs-Merrill company, as head of the educational department. He also assisted in advertising work. February 1 last, he became assistant secretary of the Dayton Chamber of Commerce, succeeding W. L. Winning.

His promotion to the general secretaryship is a fine tribute to his energy, ability and fidelity, and friends regard it as a stepping stone to bigger things. Mr. Fansher is a Mason and an active member of the Dayton Advertising club. He has been giving Engagements of President.

President Clippinger has a number of important speaking engagements for the next two weeks. Sunday evening he spoke at the Barracks in Columbus. Tuesday evening he will address the North Side Chamber of Commerce of Columbus, on the subject, "Health, Beauty and Wealth in Civic Life."

The Miami Conference Sunday School and Christian Endeavor Convention to be held at Hamilton, Ohio, will be favored by an address Friday morning on the theme, "The Sunday School and the Home" and in the evening on the subject, "Consecration to the Worth-while Life."

The President will preach Sunday morning at Mercersburg, Pa. before the students of the Mercersburg Academy and in the evening he will address the students on a vital college problem. Mercersburg Academy is one of the best preparatory schools of the country.

Then on Tuesday evening, Oct. 17, he will extend fraternal greetings from the United Brethren church to the General Conference of the Evangelical Association of America which will be in session at Cleveland, Ohio. President Clippinger has been appointed by the Bishops of the United Brethren church to deliver this address. There is a very friendly feeling between these denominations which bodes well for closer association with each other.

in November. Different members of the Faculty or invited guests will conduct the discussions.

This new organization is just another evidence of the wide-awake character of Otterbein's splendid Faculty. We are safe in saying that no other college in the state has a more up-to-date and progressive Faculty than Otterbein.

MISSIONARY PROBLEM.

Chapel, Tuesday morning.

Dr. Stuntz says that all the great missionary work has been and will be accomplished by the three nations—Germany, England and America. He placed much emphasis upon the duty of the United States in this movement, because of her advantageous position directly between Europe and Africa on one side and Asia on the other. He also showed the importance of the American in relation to the world's salvation, claiming that the increase in number of missionaries must be supplied by America.

In addition the speaker talked briefly on the financial phase of the problem. By comparing the sum of $26,000,000 which is now being advanced yearly for the cause of missions with the amount spent per year on wasteful habits, he made some very surprising statements which show that the missionary movement is not receiving its just share of the world's finances.

The talk was a most helpful and inspiring one.

port himself enroute by making lightning sketches of persons he meets along the way.

Bowers will go first to New York. There he expects to secure employment which will enable him to work his passage to Liverpool. He says he is ready to peel potatoes, wait on table, stoke boilers or serve as a seaman. For the past two months he has been working in his father's lumber camp and is ready for the roughest kind of labor.

Bowers will first tour the British Isles for the purpose of study. He expects to become a lawyer and believes that a little knowledge of everything and some experience everywhere is required for a successful career in that profession.

After leaving the British Isles, Bowers expects to go to Paris, spend a month there and then proceed through the continent visiting Italy, France and Germany. Unless his plans miscarry he will wander on into Greece, Russia, Siberia, India and thence to China, Japan, Australia and home.

Bowers' equipment will consist of a blue flannel shirt, tweed trousers, heavy leather leggings. He will carry his luggage in a knapsack slung over his shoulder by a strap. He will take copious notes and make many pictures in countries he visits. He expects to furnish copy for newspapers while on his trip.

Last year Bowers and a companion, Guy Wells, of this city, walked to Washington D. C., and return.

Bowers expects the coming trip to occupy several years, unless his plans miscarry."

Bowers will be remembered as local editor of the Review last year and also a very clever cartoonist. The Review wishes him a pleasant and profitable trip.
