LET'S VISIT OTTERBEIN

COME WITH ME on a trip to Otterbein. Let us stroll across her campus, visit her buildings, and see her students as they work and play, and love and dream. Let us try to catch something of her Spirit as symbolized by THE TOWERS—her stately towers—ever pointing skyward and beckoning all in their shadows to have the upward and forward look. That is the SPIRIT OF OTTERBEIN which for ninety-five years has been an inspiration and challenge to thousands of young people like yourself.

A CAMPUS BEAUTIFUL

*A*S WE ENTER THE CAMPUS note the stately elms, oaks, and maples which shade the walks and approaches to OLD MAIN. This is characteristic of the whole campus, making it one of natural beauty. OLD MAIN, the Administration Building of fine Gothic Architecture, houses offices, classrooms, and chapel.

BEING OUR BEST SELVES

*W*E GO TO CHAPEL daily at Otterbein. Here, too, we find beauty—beauty in worship. The twenty minutes which we spend here daily are among the most helpful and stimulating of our college experience. Many a new resolve is made as we come under the influence of great and good men. The annual Religion in Life Week brings to the campus an outstanding Christian leader to share with the students his richest experiences.

—The College Church

OTTERBEIN, as a church-related college, is dedicated to the principle that religion is a part of the equipment of the well-educated man. The college church plays its part in helping students to develop a Christian philosophy, with respect for personality, and love for truth. The minister of the church is also the college chaplain.

*"There is no past,
so long as books
shall live."*

—Bulwer-Lytton—"Soul of Books."

—Carnegie Library

HERE is the storehouse for Otterbein's 34,000 books and other thousands of bound magazines. One hundred sixty current periodicals, representing every interest of the students, come regularly to the library. You will spend many hours here in study, research, or just reading for plain enjoyment.

. . . Perhaps you like to write, or you are interested in Journalism! If so, you will find many outlets for expression. Several college courses provide a broad foundation for journalistic work. The Tan and Cardinal, our bi-weekly newspaper; the Sibyl, our yearbook; and the Quiz and Quill, our literary magazine, are student publications. The News Bureau affords opportunities for reporting for large dailies and periodicals.

THIS IS AN AGE OF SCIENCE

*M*CFADDEN HALL, pictured below, houses the science lecture rooms and laboratories. Excellent equipment is available for pre-professional courses in Engineering, Medicine, Dentistry, Pharmacy, and Nursing. Fifty-two courses are offered in the departments of Astronomy, Biology, Chemistry, Geology and Geography, Physics, Mathematics, and Radio. Otterbein graduates are accepted by the country's largest and best Graduate Schools.

Below you have a scene from the recent Cap and Dagger production "Yes and No." Plays of many types are staged each year. The class in play production studies the art of acting, make-up, and stagecraft.

THE COLLEGE OFFERS the B. Mus., and B. Mus. Ed. degrees. Graduates are qualified to teach both vocal and instrumental music in either grades or high school. Frequent student recitals develop poise and ease of stage performance.

A SPORT FOR EVERYONE

OF COURSE YOU LIKE TO PLAY! Here at Otterbein there are two gymnasiums—one for men and one for women—eleven tennis courts, and a large athletic field. All students are required to take physical education for two years, and they are urged to participate in some sport throughout their college careers. A complete program of intercollegiate and intramural sports is carried on under competent coaches. A major in physical education is offered for those who desire to teach.

OUR HOMES AWAY FROM HOME

NATURALLY, you would like to see our student homes. Girls live in one of the two dormitories pictured on this page or in the Co-op House, where they do their own cooking, and thus, reduce expenses. Boys live in Saum Hall, the Clements House, or in one of the five fraternity houses.

Enduring friendships result from evenings like this

FRATERNITIES SORORITIES

THERE are five fraternity houses adjacent to the campus. Each of the six sororities has a club room in Cochran Hall. These groups leave nothing to be desired in social life.

Many a weighty problem is solved around the fire on wintry evenings and BEFORE YOU GO . . .

meet OUR PRESIDENT
J. RUSKIN HOWE, B.D., Ph. D., D. D.

YOU HAVE JOURNEYED WITH US about the campus and through the buildings at Otterbein. Much of the visible tangible Otterbein has been represented to you in the pages you have turned. But it is our hope that you may also have caught some suggestion of that intangible but contagious "Otterbein spirit" which unites faculty and students in a glad comradeship of learning and of life.

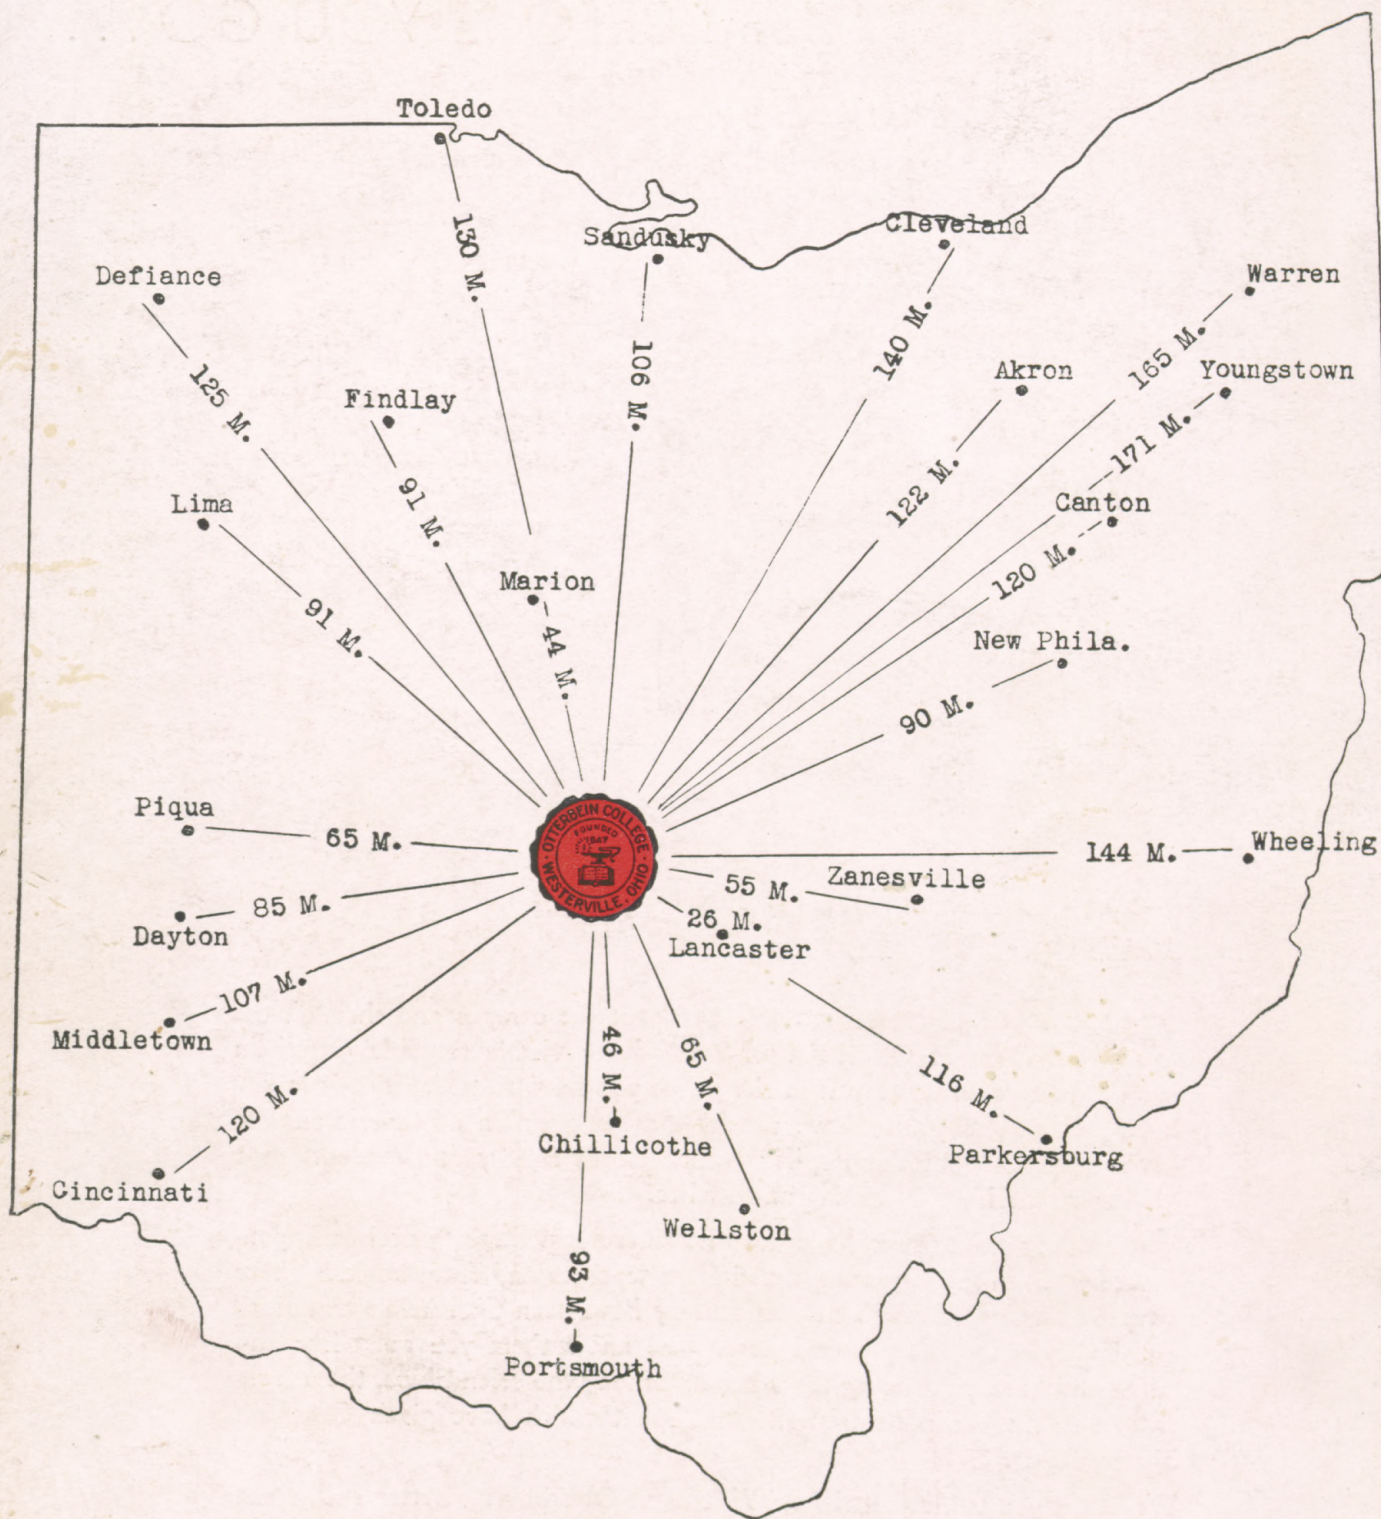

The abiding values of college days lie as truly in these "priceless imponderables" as in the wisdom gleaned from teachers and from books. These deeper things which for almost a century have been Otterbein's traditions and ideals cannot be pictured here. To know them you must live and move and have your being for a season among the friendships, the adventures and the discipline of mind and spirit which have given Otterbein her greatness.

We invite you to do just that. Visit us at Otterbein! Better still, come and spend among us the four happiest and finest years of all your life.

J. RUSKIN HOWE, President
