OHIO WINS IN BASEBALL HERE

Tan and Cardinal Take Small End of 7 to 3 Score in Loosely Played Contest Saturday.

ERRORS CAUSE DEFEAT

Local Nine Show Some Good Ball But Errors in Pinches Are Fatal.

Failing to take advantage of opportune moments Otterbein's nine were defeated on the local diamond by Ohio University by the score of seven to three.

In the second inning with three men on and one out Ulry tapped to third. It resulted in a double play with Fox and Albright the victims. Both men failed even to attempt to advance. In the seventh Young got himself in a hole and was relieved by Barstow who struck out the next two men, retiring from the side and leaving two men on bases.

Ulry was touched rather freely at times and was put in several bad holes by wobbly support.

Otterbein Racquetters Win Another Match.

Martin and Bancroft again proved their superiority in the match at New Concord last Saturday. Martin took the singles from Gordon 7 to 5 and 6 to 3. Bancroft took the first from Moore by 6 to 1 but Moore beat the next set 6 to 3. The last set was won by "Ban" 6 to 3. The doubles resulted in Martin and Bancroft beating their opponents by the scores of 10 to 6 and 8 to 3.

Death Claims Father of Senior.

J. W. Fausey was called home suddenly on Sunday evening by the critical illness of his father. Word has just come of his father's death, which occurred about noon on Monday. The funeral will be held Wednesday afternoon. The sympathy of Mr. Fausey's many friends goes out to him in his bereavement.

CHEMICALS AND BUGS SOON TO BE REPLACED BY FAIR DAMSELS

SAUM HALL

Who ever would have thought that we should live to see the day when old Saum Hall once again becomes a Ladies' Dormitory? Who ever would have dreamed that the windows would once more be hung from as the imprisoned maidens listen eagerly to the love-lorn serenaders on the moonlit campus below?

Many, many years ago, in our grandmothers' day, old Saum Hall was the scene of many a girlish escapade—we have heard lively tales of such. Now has come the time for all those fragrant odors, such as sublimated phosphorence or excorrigated chlorine to cease floating out from the chemistry room, and instead we will hear peals of laughter and the stamp of merry feet.

But the question which is burning in the heart of every Cochran Hall girl is, "Will they go over there and serenade and forget all about us?" Then we hope to hear a mighty chorus swelling the answer, gathering volume and momentum every minute as it answers in a mighty roar, "No!"

SENIOR MUSIC RECITAL

Misses Dixon and Clow and Norris Grabill Render Delightful Graduating Pianoforte Program.

The music lovers of the college and town were unusually well pleased with the program rendered by three of the Seniors in the School of Music, last Wednesday evening. This program consisted entirely of pianoforte numbers, but the variety in the character of the compositions maintained a well balanced evening's entertainment of the finest sort. The productions were mainly taken from the works of the most famous composers, rendering the program a classical one to a large degree. The listeners pronounced it a great success, and they are all looking forward to the other recitals to be given in a few weeks.

Those playing were Florentine Dixon, Lorna Clow and Norris Grabill.

Record Attendance Foreseen.

Dean McFadden reports that indications are for the largest attendance of girls in the history of the college next year. Allowing for the usual number of present students returning she has already received application from a sufficient number of new girls to fill both Cochran Hall and Saum Hall which will be remodeled for the purpose.

SCIENCE HALL DEDICATION

Impressive Ceremony to Feature Program of Commencement Week—Speakers Will Be Chosen.

One of the interesting and inspiring features of Commencement week will be the dedicatory exercise for the new Science Hall. This event will take place on Wednesday, June 15th, the program opening at 10 a. m. There will be representative speakers from the faculty, alumni and student body who will have a part in the observance of the dedication. Appropriate music will be provided and the entire occasion should be one of inspiration. The dedication was authorized by the Executive Committee in its meeting of last Thursday night, in which various phases of the commencement preparations were discussed and a great interest manifested in the coming events.

Campus Views Wanted.

Students having pictures of campus scenes that would make good half-tones for use in publicity material are requested to get in touch with the college office. New publicity circulars and folders are in process of edition and a few snappy photos are desired for use in the work.

ORCHESTRA IS WELL RECEIVED

College Orchestra and Columbus Violin Choir Give Concert Before an Appreciative Audience.

MRS. J. T. DANIELS ASSISTS

Professor Hopkins Deserves High Commendation for His Work as Director of Orchestra.

Under the competent direction of Professor Earl Hopkins, the Columbus Violin Choir and the College Orchestra gave a splendid concert in the chapel last Saturday night before an unusually responsive audience. These organizations were assisted by Mrs. James Taft Daniels, soprano, and Mrs. Hazel Swann Germaine, accompanist.

The Violin Choir was composed of about thirty pupils of Professor Hopkins, and they played with remarkable skill and harmony, selections from Weber, Lachmund and Schubert. The College Orchestra showed the results of their careful and tireless practice during the year when they presented several selections. "The Bohemian Girl" from Balfe was especially well received.

Mrs. Daniels with her charming soprano voice of lyric quality was a delight in her song, "Air of Salome from Herodiade" by Massenet, and several others of a lighter nature. Mrs. Germaine proved a skillful and sympathetic accompanist throughout the program.

Professor Hopkins deserves a great deal of commendation for presenting such a delightful evening of music to the people of Westerville.

Art Instructor Entertains

Miss Brown, Director of Art, gave a breakfast Saturday morning for her students. Her apartment in "the flats" was cleverly decorated with flowers, and a most delightful breakfast was served. The guests report a very pleasant time.

Track Men Go to Dayton.

The last track meet of the season will be held at Dayton next Saturday with St. Marys. It was with this school that the basketball team broke their string of defeats last winter and we have the best kind of reasons to prophecy a repetition in track.

Again We Explain.

We are late this week in getting the Tan and Cardinal to our readers, due to conditions over which we have no control. Owing to the critical illness of the brother of our linotypist he was compelled to be away on Monday so the paper appears a day late this week.

Quizz and Quill Due Soon.

The Quizz and Quill magazine is in the hands of the printers and will make its second annual appearance some time within the next couple weeks. The magazine will contain the best literary productions of the year produced by the students.

Beautiful corsages and bouquets for commencement. R. M. Johnson, agent.—Adv.

Next Issue on Tuesday.

Next week's issue of the Tan and Cardinal will appear on Tuesday on account of Monday being a legal holiday following Decoration Day on Sunday. The printers, of course, observe holidays, so we are put in the agreeable position of being compelled to do the same.

Sophs Win in Tennis.

The Sophomores won in tennis from the Freshmen in the first match of the inter-class series. Howard defeated Crabbs 6 to 1, 6 to 1 while Blue took Leffel across 3 to 6, 6 to 1, 8 to 6. Only one set of doubles was played, going to the Sophs 6 to 3.

Honor Memory of Emery Farver.

The faculty and students of the University recently paid high honor to Emery Farver, who died in the service of his country in France in January, 1919. On April 23rd a tree was planted on the university campus in memory of Mr. Farver. Classes were dismissed and appropriate ceremonies accompanied the setting out of the tree. Mr. Farver graduated from Otterbein with class of '14 and was a graduate student and instructor in the University of Illinois after he finished his course here.

The Olympic Games at Antwerp.

For all Americans interested in amateur sport and recreation, 1920 is an important year, for the Seventh Olympiad will be held in Antwerp this summer. Throughout the United States, the elimination trials which will decide the personnel of the American Olympic team have revived the fervor of contest that flames up with the approach of every international competition.

Owing to the events of the past few years unusual interest will attend America's part in these contests and the best of our athletes, inside and outside the colleges, should be found on the American Olympic team. We are going to have a really representative team only in the event that every man boosts for fair play, for equality of opportunity, for sportsmanship and for the amateur spirit.

LOCALS

J. W. Fausey entertained his friend, Ruby L'Veer of Ohio University over the week-end.

Harold Anderson, who participated in the High School meet for Akron Central at Columbus on Saturday, visited friends at Otterbein Saturday, and Sunday. Mr. Anderson is an all-round athlete and will be a student here next year.

Mary and Bill Vance were visited by their parents of Greenville, Ohio, on Sunday. They were accompanied by Miss Helen Kester.

Wade Fausey was called home suddenly on Monday morning by the critical illness of his father.

Edna and Ilo Dellinger entertained their mother, Mrs. M. S. Dellinger of Attica, Ohio, on Sunday.

Fred Wright of Dayton visited E. C. Loomis on Saturday.

Overheard at the dorm—"I just hate the taste of olives and I'm so glad I don't like 'em 'cause if I liked 'em I'd have to eat 'em and I just hate 'em."

Bacillus Tuberculosis (in Prof. Shear's lab.)—"I hear you had a party last night. Many there?"

Bacillus Prodigiosus—"Naw, not many. Only about 3,000,000,000."

James V. Sawyer of Ohio Northern stopped off to visit Martha Skinner over Saturday and Sunday on the way to his home at Circleville, Ohio.

Cecil Conley is the third student to have an injured ankle this spring. He dislocated his left ankle Monday afternoon at the jumping pit while pole vaulting.

Willet—"You smell like a lilac bush."

Morrison—"Wish I could li-lac that."

George Snow Dresbach of Circleville, Ohio, visited friends around Otterbein over the week-end. Mr. Dresbach was formerly a member of the class of '19.

Rhea (in the lab.)—"Is there such a thing as cadmium sulphate?"

Ed. N.—"Look in your appendix."

Howard Morrison spent Saturday and Sunday at his home in Dayton. His father, who was injured last week in a rail-road wreck in Iowa, is improving rapidly.

Accommodations for the "Grads"

Commencement week draws near. Announcements of preparations and features are coming thick and fast. All who possibly can are planning to stay for the Big Week. Alumni and friends write that they will be with us strong.

We are glad for all this. Every one of us wants to see a great host of the "ole grads" in our midst for the gala occasion. But what about the reception they will receive when they come? Will there be any organized effort to make them feel that they really mean something to us and to the school? Will they be able to look confidently forward to Commencement joys without worrying about sleeping accommodations for the week? That depends on us. Many of the alumni, both men and women, hesitate to plan for the occasion because they have no relatives or friends living here on whom they wish to impose for the week's entertainment. Past years have proven that even the hearty hospitality of our townspeople will not be sufficient to meet rooming demands, unless an organized plan of action is carried out.

We have the assurance from the administration that a faculty-student committee will be appointed very soon to handle this situation. It now becomes the duty and privilege of every booster to show his stuff by co-operating. Report extra rooms that your landlady may have, to this committee. Double up on rooms if possible and help out. Go out of your way to find rooms you may know of and make them available for use. What do you say, students? Here's an opportunity for practical boosting, for real service to the school. It's fine to sing, "We're Proud of Our Alma Mater," but what we need now is a little practical demonstration. And all of us fellows who are sure that Otterbein needs a big new "gym" far worse than a men's dormitory,—let's show the trustees that our town has accommodations a-plenty, by scaring up more rooms than our Commencement guests can fill. Rather up to us, isn't it? What will we do?

Make College Worth While.

How often do we see articles and discussions on the question, "Is College Worth While?" This is a question that cannot be answered alike for all college graduates and students for the worth-while qualities of college training do not come for mere asking; they are not showered on us like rain to be absorbed at pleasure. No, worth-while qualities only come by diligent effort and hard work and we realize that we can answer "Is College Worth While?" in the affirmative only if we "Make College Worth While."

The end of the college year is coming on apace. The days scarcely seem to pause on their mad flight into the past and as we realize that each setting of the sun brings us closer to the end of the year we may well stop for sober reflection.

In spite of all the agencies we have here at Otterbein to promote unalloyed pleasure and in spite of all the "plain fun" we should and do have from day to day, the fact remains that these are not the prime reasons for our presence here.

We are here however, to acquire certain attributes of character and it is only by the acquisition of these that our college education is justified. With these attributes we are all acquainted and any attempt to renumerate them would be superfluous.

And so as Seniors gaze back upon the four years so soon to be a book forever closed, and the rest of us review the varying number of years spent here, it is sad if we cannot feel that our time spent has been eminently worthwhile. It is lamentable if we cannot feel we have attempted our best, exerted out maximum effort in attaining concentration, initiative, friendships or any other one of a thousand priceless gains from a college education.

So we who are underclassmen should take heed: if we have behind us any regrets, forget them and turning our faces the other way, resolve to strive so to conduct ourselves that on our day of graduation we can say that we have put forth our best to "Make College Worth While."

—J. G. H.

The Honor System.

A subject that has been discussed pro and con for some time in the columns of our various college publications is the Honor System in examinations.

With semester exams only a few weeks hence this question again comes to the front and we wonder if Otterbein shouldn't take a definite stand on the question. If ever a question had two sides, this one has. It is not our purpose however, in this presentation of the matter to urge any direct action one way or another, but merely to present facts and allow readers to judge accordingly.

The Honor System has many adherents. These claim that to force students to take exams under the vigilant eyes of professors is to class students as criminals under guard; that not to put the student upon his own responsibility but to keep him constantly under watch is to put cheating at a premium and as something to be boasted of in "pulling something over" the professor, whereas to place the student on his honor is to call forth the best in a man, strengthens self-control and if seen cheating by a classmate, causes him to be classed as a reprobate and social outcast around school. It would seem, too, that if we expect to go through life without being apprehended by the law we should in college train ourselves to live up to proper standards.

But then on the other side, some say that cheaters do exist and must be reckoned with in order to deal justly with the other students, so the only way to minimize the efforts of the malpractors is to watch over them.

So what shall we do? Club Talks on these subjects are always welcome.

WE'VE BEEN THINKIN'

That Herrick's poem, "Gather ye rosebuds while you may" might apply to violets, which come walking into Westerville in great bunches daily.

That it was "tres amusant" to see the girls scamper and cover up their heads upon hearing that a bat was in the dorm.

That an occasional college sing strengthens our young voices and binds us closer together.

That the literary world is losing much in not having opportunity to read the Freshman English publications.

That our shrubbery is beginning to work a transformation in the "ole" campus.

That Taylor's Woods, Big Walnut, Metzger House and Alum Creek are doing a rushing business of late.

'05. The Reverend William E. Ward, pastor of the Coburn Street United Brethren church of Toledo, Ohio, has just been elected president of the Toledo Ministerial Union. Mr. Ward is having a very successful pastorate in Toledo. His church was one of the first in Lucas county to reach the quota in the recent Inter-Church World campaign for funds.

'08. At the recent meeting of the Central Ohio School Masters' Club Professor Raymond D. Bennett of Westerville, Ohio, was elected president for the ensuing year. Professor Bennett is a member of the faculty of the college of education of Ohio State University.

'03. At a special service held yesterday at the Mills Memorial church in Lancaster, Ohio, where the Reverend Wallin E. Riebel is pastor, the mortgage on the church was burned. This is Mr. Riebel's first year in Lancaster and he is meeting with excellent success there as this service testifies.

'19. George L. Glauner, who has been office secretary of the Young Men's Christian Association at Cleveland, O. since last September, will leave that work, June first to enter upon the study of law in Washington D. C.

'12. Mrs. Carl O. Smith (Myrtle Saul) of Germantown, Ohio, was in Westerville last Friday renewing old acquaintances. She is expecting to attend the summer session of the University of Virginia next summer.

'06. Dr. William A. Weber of Dayton, Ohio, will deliver the annual address before the Christian Associations at York College, York, Nebraska, next Sunday, as a part of the exercises of Commencement week.

'77. Dr. Edwin L. Shuey of Dayton Ohio, was in Westerville last Thursday for an important meeting of the executive committee of the college. Dr. Shuey is president of the board of trustees of Otterbein.

'12. Miss Helen Converse of Cincinnati, Ohio, was a guest at the home of her grandmother, Mrs. C. P. Landon, on South State street, last week.

'17. The little daughter born last Tuesday to Mr. and Mrs. Charlie A. Merrill of Massillon, Ohio, has been named Esther Marie.

'10. Samuel J. Kiehl, instructor for a time at Otterbein and later at Ohio State, and now at Columbia taking his Ph. D., has accepted a professorship there for next year.

'17. Elmo Lingrel, former Otterbein football star and athlete made good also as coach during the past season by coaching his Walla Walla, Washington high school basket ball team to the North West championship.

Zoology Class Picnic.

After many postponements Professor Shear's Zoology class was finally privileged to make a trip to the Olenangy River in the interest of bird study. The class is very fortunate in having a member who has the privilege of using a very splendid cabin, located in one of the finest spots for camping, picnicking and nature study that the surrounding country affords.

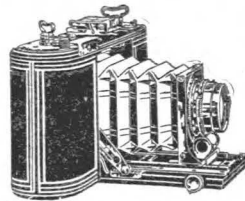

The rain did not dampen the spirits of the zealous students and they all felt well repaid by the rare specimens of birds that they were able to study under the direction of Professor Shear. After the two hours' tramp and bird study was over, all returned to the cabin where a fire had been built in the big fire place and proceeded to get their supper in the self serve style. The menu consisted of roast weiners, buns, pickles, marshmallows and good, cold spring water.

The class is indebted to Miss Kittle for the use of the grounds and cabin, to Professor Shear for promoting the trip and to the members of the class who furnished the transportation and made arrangements for the eats. Most all expressed a desire to go again.

Y. M. C. A. Enjoys Excellent Meeting.

We had another splendid meeting at Y. M. C. A. Thursday night. F. L. Roberts gave a very fine discussion on the subject, "I Believe in God."

In the first place we believe in the existence of a God, but a great many of us fail to connect this up with anything that we have in our minds. And then we believe in the personal power of God. This is a duty of all Christians. In the third place we should believe in God's plan for redemption. Believing all these things it is then our duty to do everything we can to advance his kingdom. One of the greatest conceptions man can get is that God is a Father and that he will treat us as such.

Music Seniors Entertained.

Thursday evening, May 20th, Cochran Hall dining room was the scene of a very pretty dinner party when Lorna Clow, Ethel Eubanks and May Sellman entertained in honor of this year's senior class in music. Covers were laid for Prof. and Mrs. G. G. Grabill, Prof. and Mrs. Arthur R. Spessard, Misses Florence Dixon, May Sellman, Lorna Clow, Ethel Eubanks and Mr. Norris Grabill.

COCHRAN HALL

Mrs. J. M. Dellinger visited Edna last Saturday and Sunday.

Mary Vance was delightfully surprised on Sunday when her mother and father, three brothers, and one sister came and spent the day with her.

Velma Swinger entertained her mother over the week-end.

Fred Wright of Dayton visited May Loomis last week-end.

Misses Evelyn and Clarline Hughes and Messrs. Henderly and Gardner of Lancaster visited Mildred Pickering Sunday afternoon.

Miss Rose Albright of Germantown was the guest of Evelyn Judy last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Miller and family of Columbus were guests of Lillie and Lera Waters on Sunday.

Misses Glea La Vaughn Campbell and Fay Hildebrant visited Rhea McConaughy last week-end.

Miss Edna Clark and Virgil Carpenter of Millersburg were guests of Lorna Clow Saturday and Sunday.

Sam Bingham visited his sister, Edith over the week-end.

Eighteen girls were delightfully entertained by Ruth Hopp and Marion Shoad at a picnic supper Sunday evening.

Marvel Sebert gave a birthday breakfast Saturday morning in honor of Edythe Eby.

Pushes last week were given by Edna Dellinger for her mother; Evelyn July for her guest, Rose Albright; Velma Swinger for her mother; Ohla Cave for her guest, Miss Todhunter; Evelyn and Margaret Pifer for Miss Sadie Rennison of Cleveland; Rhea McConaughy for her guests and Mae Loomis.

Third floor push this week was given by Ida Marie Snelling and Evelyn Darling.

"Jo" Foor Leads Y. W.

Josephine Foor was the leader of last week's very interesting and helpful Y. W. Meeting. Her subject, "After College—What?" was indeed timely. Miss Foor concluded her remarks by quoting from Shakespeare's "Polonius' Advice to Laertes." Virginia Snavly favored Y. W. with a violin solo.

Next week's meeting is to be led by Lucille Ewry, her topic being, "A Summer Well Spent." There are only a few Y. W. Sessions remaining this year so let's be there regularly.

President Clippinger

Delivers Addresses

President Clippinger is spending a busy spring, with the demands made on his time by his big share in the United Enlistment Movement, being increased by calls for addresses at High School Commencements and similar occasions. Last week he delivered the graduating address at Edison, Ohio; he was also the speaker at several township commencements in neighboring counties. Next Friday evening he addresses the graduates of the Huntington, Indiana High School and the following Tuesday those at Crooksville, Ohio. President Clippinger has just returned from the great Sunday School Centennial at Corydon.

High School Baccalaureate.

One of the most impressive services of the year was that of the Westerville High School Baccalaureate, held in the United Brethren Church last Sunday evening. The processional of the graduates was a very attractive feature of the program; special music was rendered by Miss Mills and the choir, and the Reverend E. J. Moore, D. D., delivered a very able sermon. The large auditorium was crowded almost to its capacity, and not one person, it seemed, went away without an expression of deep satisfaction with the service in all its details.

Monday, May 17, the preps were eliminated from the interclass baseball championship series when they were defeated by the strong sophomore aggregation by the score of twenty to one.

The score is sufficient to tell the story of the battle. Needless to say the preps were no match for the fast traveling second year men who are mostly varsity material. By the elimination of Martin Boehm followers the Seniors and Sophs are left in the contest for the class title.

In the interclass basketball series the Seniors proved to be the stumbling block for the Sophs who had already considered that game as entirely won. This game also should be an interesting one as the Seniors also have several varsity men.

No date has been set for the game but it will likely be announced for some time this week.

Professor Wagoner Improving.

The latest reports from the hospital indicate that Professor Wagoner is much improved, that he is gaining strength, and will possibly be brought to Westerville next week. From this we assume that the worst is over, and that his recovery is assured. Of course Otterbein wishes him well, and looks forward to his return to the classroom.
