OTTERBEIN COLLEGE • WESTERVILLE, OHIO

He shares his loss with your children

This is the story of a man whose talent to inspire young minds will not be used again.

For he is leaving now, leaving his job as a college teacher. The reason? An incredibly low salary for the amount of preparation and the quality of intelligence he possesses.

The loss of this man to higher education is two-fold; for him, the years spent nourishing his teaching skills are now largely wasted years. But the greater loss by far is suffered by students whose abilities would have flowered under his inspiration, and by the nation—even, perhaps, all mankind—which might have benefited by some discovery generated through his teaching.

Unfortunately for America, this same scene is being repeated all over the country with increasing frequency. As a nation whose destiny depends on the development of brainpower, how can we afford to let this situation continue?

Support the college or university of your choice. Help it plan for a stronger, better paid faculty. The returns will be greater than you think.

If you want to know more about what the college crisis means to you, and what you can do to help, write for a free booklet to: HIGHER EDUCATION, Box 36, Times Square Station, New York 36, New York.

While the President and the Board of Trustees are in the midst of plans and goals for the next ten years at Otterbein, your Alumni Association Officers through the creative leadership of Dick Allaman are taking inventory.

Typical questions being raised are:

What is the Alumni Association supposed to do?

How can we make present students loyal alumni?

How can we promote better communication and personal involvement with the college by alumni in not only financial support but long range plans, homecomings, alumni days, publications, etc?

What organizational structure is needed to carry out projects?

Do you have any answers to supply for these questions? Let your alumni office know.

Of truth, and hope, and love,
"Her stately tower
Speaks naught but power
For our dear Otterbein!"*

MORE ABOUT MONEY

by

DR. LYNN W. TURNER

Otterbein College President

Dr. Lynn W. Turner

Readers of TOWERS who troubled themselves to look at my article in the October issue probably said to themselves, "Aha! The new president has been in office less than a year and he is already obsessed with money matters." It might be more accurate to say that the obsession is with the lack of money, but like most epigrams, that would not be altogether true. The fact is, as I pointed out in my last article, Otterbein College has become a million dollar business.

The circle graph shows how every one hundred dollars of our $1,082,798.19 income was spent last year.

Comparison of the proportions in this chart with those shown in the graph published in October TOWERS indicates the following simple facts:

a. that income from tuition and fees is spent almost entirely for instruction (faculty salaries, laboratories, etc.) and administrative costs (staff salaries and offices). This is an entirely proper balance.

b. that the auxiliary accounts (expenses of dormitories and dining hall) are discharged almost precisely by the service charges made to students. In other words, students are housed and fed at cost, as they should be.

c. that endowment income just about covers the cost of scholarships and allows for some retirement of debt. There should be far more money available for the former and far less necessity for the latter.

d. that this leaves operational costs and development expense to be covered by annual gifts to the current operating funds—gifts from the church, from alumni and friends, and from business corporations and foundations.

This fortuitous concurrence of pie-cuts from the two circles of income and expenditure suggests an interesting thought. Suppose that Otterbein College should happen some year to receive nothing in gifts for current expenses, even though all other sources of income—tuition, fees, dormitory and dining hall bills, and endowment income—are intact. Students and faculty are present and ready to begin work. To get under way involves some difficulties, but classes might be held for a week or two, but they inevitably grind to a halt.

There is no chalk to write on the blackboards, no janitors to sweep out the classrooms, no light in the library, no heat on the first chilly day, no insurance in case of fire, and, of course, no fire alarm system, no work on the campus for students who want employment, no repairs that can be made of a broken window or a leaky faucet, no telephone service, no electric current for experiments in the physics laboratory—in short, no motion.

The operation and maintenance of the physical plant is essential to the work of the college. It is a far cry today from the time when education could be defined as Mark Hopkins on one end of a log and a student on the other.

Ten-Year Long Range Plans For Otterbein Under Study

A ten-year program for Otterbein is in the planning stage. Elmer N. Funkhouser, Jr., '38, Vice President of Cryovac Company, Cambridge, Mass., and a member of Otterbein's Board of Trustees, is General Chairman of a Long-Range Planning Committee which will report its findings to the Board of Trustees next June.

The committee hopes to construct a ten-year plan for the development and advancement of Otterbein College. At present the question is being asked, "What do we want Otterbein College to be in 1970?" In answering the question, Funkhouser and his committee are gathering valuable data on Otterbein, including such statistics as the number of students per instructor, relation of classroom facilities to needs, and study of the adequacy of the library, the dining hall, and the dormitories.

Projection of these figures and studies over the next ten years in the light of increased enrollment trends and national statistics will determine Otterbein's future position and future capacity.

The program is being undertaken because Otterbein's trustees believe the college must provide opportunities for its fair share of the increasing number of worthy and qualified young people who will be seeking higher education in the years ahead.

The United States has about 3,700,000 young people in college this year. By 1970 the figure is expected to jump by nearly 73 per cent to a total of more than 6,000,000.

The purpose of the ten-year plan is to try to fit Otterbein's future into this national picture and to determine whether the college wants to grow and expand in order to accommodate the increased number of students who will be knocking on college doors.

Five sub-committees have been appointed by the Executive Committee of the Board of Trustees to gather data for the ten-year program.

Objectives

A Committee on Objectives is studying the present characteristics of Otterbein and seeking to determine the best method of carrying out the college's purposes as stated in the school catalogue. The committee will suggest new objectives which the college can aim at during the next ten years. Members of the Objectives Committee are Dr. Eldred B. Heisel, Miss Mary Thomas, Wade S. Miller, Arthur L. Schultz, Robert Price, and Quentin Kintigh.

Curriculum

A Committee on Curriculum is studying the instructional program of Otterbein. Members of this committee are the college dean and divisional chairmen of the faculty. Their function is to study the curriculum and program of instruction and to make any necessary changes. The committee consists of Dr. F. J. Vance, Dr. Harold Hancock, Dr. Lyle J. Michael, Dr. Gilbert Mills, Dr. L. L. Shackson and Dr. Fred C. Slager.

Research and Enrichment

A Committee on Research and Enrichment will study the extent of the college's research department, the activities of the students and faculty, the extra-curricular activities, both social and cultural, and suggest any necessary changes. This committee consists of Mrs. Evelyn Anderson, Dr. Philip O. Deever, Mrs. Lillian Frank, Dr. James Grissinger, Rev. James Recob, and Dr. Roy Turley.

Organization

A Committee on Organization will study the administrative organization of the college to determine any necessary changes to be made. This committee consists of Richard Allaman, Dr. Harold L. Boda, Dr. Vance E. Cribbs, Dr. Gilbert Mills, Dr. Emerson Shuck and Dr. F. J. Vance.

Facilities

The fifth committee will do research on college facilities. They will survey the present use of all college buildings to determine whether they are being used to the best advantage and consider what new buildings or changes in older buildings are necessary. Members of this committee are Irvin L. Clymer, Sanders A. Frye, Marion Chase and L. William Steck. On the sub-committee for faculty survey are Charles Dodrill, Robert Hohn, John Laubach, Virgil L. Raver, and Richard Ullrich.

Receives Doctorate

Professor L. Lee Shackson, chairman of the Music Department at Otterbein, received the Doctor of Philosophy degree from Ohio State University at its winter commencement, Friday, December 18.

A professor of music since 1936, Shackson was graduated from Ohio State University in 1933 and received his Master's degree in 1938. A former member of the Columbus Philharmonic Orchestra, he has studied voice with Herbert Harroun, Louis Diercks and Dale Gilliland.

New Psychology Professor

Dr. William F. Combs, Norman, Oklahoma, has been appointed assistant professor of psychology at Otterbein effective February 1.

Formerly assistant professor of psychology at the University of Tulsa, Dr. Combs received the B.A. and M.A. degrees from West Virginia University and the Doctor of Philosophy degree from the University of Oklahoma. He is a member of Phi Beta Kappa.

Dedicates Book

Dr. Alfred B. Sears, assistant professor of physical education at Otterbein from 1927-29, is author of a book entitled Thomas Worthington—Father of Ohio Statehood, published by the Ohio State University Press, for the Ohio Historical Society.

He gave a copy of the book to the Otterbein library "in memory of the Otterbein Athletes of 1927-29, whom I had the honor to coach and especially in appreciation of Royal F. Martin, Director of Athletics, without whose support even the measure of success enjoyed would not have been possible."

Dr. Sears is currently professor of history at the University of Oklahoma.

Completes Sixty Years

Dr. A. P. Rosselot, '05, completed his 60th year on the Otterbein campus in January. It was on January 9, 1900 when he arrived in Westerville to enroll at Otterbein. Following graduation from Otterbein in 1905, Dr. Rosselot was elected to the faculty. More details about his active life spanning six decades at Otterbein will be featured in the April issue of TOWERS.

Associate Dean of Women Resigns

Mrs. Rhoda R. Hamilton, associate dean of women, resigned effective February 1, in order to devote full-time to graduate studies at Ohio State University.

Professor Completes Research

A new approach to the study of fossil plants developed by an Otterbein College professor is set forth in a new Illinois Biological Monograph (No. 27) published by the University of Illinois Press.

"The Morphology and Anatomy of American Species of the Genus Psaronius" by Dr. Jeanne Willis, professor of biology at Otterbein, is based on research at the University of Illinois.

Dr. Willis developed the technique of comparing development variability to species variability. She found on the one hand that variations occur between the base and apex of a single plant and also at some levels of the plant with increasing age while in other species variations remain constant.

Prof. W. W. Stewart, head of the University of Illinois department of botany, with whom Dr. Willis studied, calls the scholarly monograph the "most comprehensive work ever done on the psaronius species."

Dr. Willis, through her research, found that many names had been given to fragments of the same plant. Other completely different specimens had gone unnamed.

Among names Dr. Willis assigned to specimens were Stewartiopenis in honor of Prof. Stewart.

THOMAS LECTURER

The annual Thomas Lectures at Otterbein will be held this year on Friday, March 11, in Cowan Hall at 8:00 P. M. with Dr. Colston E. Warne, president of Consumers Union, Mount Vernon, New York, and Professor of Economics at Amherst College, as the lecturer. His subject will be "Advertising and Consumer Behavior."

Dr. Warne is a graduate of Cornell University and received the Doctor of Philosophy degree from the University of Chicago in 1925. He taught at the University of Denver and the University of Pittsburgh before assuming his present position at Amherst in 1930.

He has been president of Consumers Union since 1936. Consumers Union is a non-profit organization which investigates and rates numerous products. He is the author of four books and numerous articles. From 1947-51, he served as a member of the consumer advertising committee to the Council of Economic Advisers to the President of the United States.

Alumni and the general public are cordially invited to attend the 1960 Thomas Lecture at Otterbein.

Reads Paper

Dr. Paul Frank, professor of music at Otterbein read a paper at the Midwestern Chapter of the American Musicalological Society's annual meeting held November 13-15 at Valpariso, Indiana.

DADS' DAY — 1959

The third annual Dads' Day sponsored by the Interfraternity Council at Otterbein was held on Saturday, November 7. The father of every student was invited and a total of 236 were registered.

Purpose of the special day was to give the fathers an opportunity to visit the campus as guests of the college and to become better acquainted with the school in which their sons and daughters are enrolled.

Registration took place at the Association Building, and an opportunity was provided to meet the faculty and to observe displays by honorary fraternities in the library.

A meeting of all Dads was held in Cowan Hall prior to coffee hours in the various fraternity houses and sorority rooms. Dinner was served in Barlow Dining Hall.

The Dads were guests at the night football game when the Otters defeated Ashland 39-12. Prior to the start of the game, selection of the "Dad of the Day" took place, when Miss Nancy Lansdowne, sophomore co-ed and Fall Homecoming Queen drew the name of Dr. Horace Davidson, 251 Torrence Avenue, Columbus, Ohio, from a box containing the names of all Dads in attendance.

Bruce Flack, President of the Interfraternity Council, was in charge of the program and was assisted by members of the council.

The third "Dad of the Day," Dr. Horace Davidson is a medical doctor in Columbus, Ohio. His son, John, is a freshman at Otterbein majoring in biology.

Following his selection, Dr. Davidson said, "This is my first visit to Otterbein but it will not be the last." He received an engraved plaque as well as a season ticket for all 1960 home football games. The ticket is presented to the "Dad of the Day" each year, donated by P. A. "Tim" Newell, x'29, the first "Dad of the Day."

The Dads of Otterbein students in attendance at the annual Dads' Day, Saturday, November 7, 1959, are pictured in front of Cowan Hall.

1959-60 BASKETBALL SEASON

Once again, an inexperienced, freshmen-dominated team is the basketball picture at Otterbein. Coach Mike Kish is building his hopes for a successful 1959-60 basketball season around freshmen: Alf Washington, 6'5" forward, Kelley Boyer, 6'6" center, and Mike Duckworth, 6' guard. Sophomore Gordon Guin, 6'5" forward, junior forward John Leohner, 6'2", and junior guard Ray Spears, 6'1", are among the other starters.

Leading scorer on the team through the first nine games is Gordon Guin with a 17.3 points per game average, ranking tenth in the Ohio Conference.

WRESTLING TEAM ADDED

Otterbein added a new sport to the list of intercollegiate competition this year with the formation of a wrestling team. The team was organized last spring by Nicholas Vigilante, assistant professor of education, but did not compete in Ohio Conference competition.

The grapplers met Ohio Northern on January 8 in the season's first match and emerged with a 23-13 victory. The Cardinal wrestlers won easily as the first four men competing pinned their opponents. A fifth Otterbein man won his match by a decision.

Those wrestling for Otterbein and their weight classes are: Alan Siebert, 123; Charles Ogle, 130; James Florian, 137; Fred Andoli, 147; Myron Haag, 157; Tom Hock, 167; Glenn Aidt, 177; and Roger Black, heavyweight.

Otterbein's schedule for the remainder of the year is as follows:

SECOND BEST FOOTBALL RECORD IN HISTORY

The '59 edition of Otterbein's football team completed the second best season record in the history of the gridiron sport dating back to 1890. The Otters placed fourth in the Ohio Conference by posting seven wins and two losses. Only the 1946 team, with a record of 7-1, eclipsed the 1959 squad.

Two Ohio Conference individual records were broken during the football season by Otterbein players. Sophomore halfback Gary Fields kicked four field goals to set a new record in that department. The old record of three field goals was held by several players.

End Ron Jones, a junior, caught a record eight touchdown passes. The 1952 record of seven touchdown passes was held by four different players from Capital, Denison, Oberlin, and Ohio Wesleyan.

The Otters were first in total offense in the Ohio Conference and ranked sixth among small-college teams across the nation. In nine games Otterbein picked up 3313 yards in 560 plays for an average of 368.1 yards per game.

In other statistics, senior halfback Jack Spicer was the individual ground gainer on the team, with 602 yards in 88 plays for an average of 6.8 yards. He ranked eighth in the Ohio Conference followed by the Otter's hard playing fullback, Gary Allen with 505 yards in 115 carries for an average of 4.4 yards.

Quarterback Larry Cline completed 58 passes out of 115 attempted for 1120 yards and 13 touchdowns. He ranked third in the Ohio Conference in total offense with 1231 yards and established the individual offense record at Otterbein. Cline and Jones each scored a total of 48 points closely followed by Gary Fields with 43 points. Cline also punted twenty times for an average of 35.7 yards.

Highlight of the season was the final game victory over arch-rival

Capital University, 60-28. The total points scored represented a new record for the series and the most points scored by the winner.

On the first series of plays, Otterbein marched 78 yards for a score, with Jack Spicer going over from the seven. Capital then proceeded to match the feat but was held on the one-yard line four straight plays.

The Otters then travelled 99 yards for their second touchdown scoring on a 24-yard pass from Larry Cline to end Ron Jones. A few minutes later Gary Nebinger scored for Otterbein on a 29-yard pass play. Capital scored their only touchdown of the first half when halfback Tom Green returned the third kick-off 88 yards.

Larry Cline added scores of two yards and thirteen yards before the half ended with a 34-6 score.

At one point in the fourth quarter Capital scored once and Otterbein twice within three minutes' time.

Freshman halfback Bill Messmer carried six yards for Otterbein's ninth touchdown and the thirteenth of the game.

Gary Fields made good on five extra points and then ran the ball out-of-bounds on the game's final conversion attempt in order to keep the score at 60 for the senior members of the team.

Larry Cline and Jack Spicer were selected on the all-Ohio Conference second team on offense and Glenn Aidt, a guard, and Ralph Wilson, a back, were selected on the second team on defense.

SOLO CONTEST

The third annual Otterbein Invitational Solo Contest will be held Saturday, February 20, at Otterbein, beginning at 9:00 A. M.

It is open to high school juniors and seniors who are recommended by music teachers. No entry fee is required.

Competition will be in six categories: Brass, Woodwind, Strings, Piano, Organ and Voice. Auditions will be private, heard by members of the music faculty. Two entrants in each category will be chosen to perform in a public recital at the close of the contest if, in the opinion of the judges, the performances merit it. At this time recitalists will also be presented with individual medals.

The purpose of the Solo Contest is to provide an opportunity for outstanding students to have expert criticism of their performances, with adequate time for comments by a faculty member, plus the added experience of performing in a recital situation with other outstanding musicians. There will be the additional value for all who enter to hear other fine musicians perform in a recital, without the pressure of a judging situation. The award of a medal will be significant of outstanding achievement in music.

It is hoped that teachers will encourage their best students to take part in these auditions. Each entrant must submit an application signed by a music teacher. Application blanks will be sent on request. Address: Dr. L. Lee Shackson, Chairman, Music Department, Otterbein College.

Last summer the United States Air Force contracted with Otterbein College to instruct five officers in a speaking knowledge of the French language. The officers spent six months on the Otterbein campus studying French under the tutelage of the French Department faculty.

In a special "graduation" convocation on Monday, December 14, the officers received a certificate of course completion from Otterbein College President, Dr. Lynn W. Turner.

The officers left the Otterbein campus in January for new assignments in Paris, France. Typical of their enthusiastic reactions to the excellent training received at Otterbein is the following letter received by President Turner from Major Walter Maddux:

January 13, 1960

Dear Dr. Turner,

This day of our departure from the Westerville area to Paris seems appropriate for expression of our gratitude and satisfaction with our association with Otterbein College. In addition to being accorded every possible advantage in our French language training we felt the warmth on every hand for welcome, even privileged, guests.

To your entire faculty and staff including that of the dining hall may we extend our thanks. Mr. Frye and his associates in the business office were always on hand with willing help in a number of administrative and clerical tasks. They were most valuable and cooperative in arranging for housing and other matters which required time and attention for our stay.

Air Force Officers Complete Study

Our language course itself was a thoroughly worthwhile and productive experience, though intense and demanding as was proper. We found the young teachers, Miss Patricia Axline and Miss Marjorie Lambert, to be highly competent, always pleasant and patient. It was a pleasure to attend their classes.

Our experiences under Dr. A. P. Rosselot were unusually valuable. His vast knowledge of history and European culture and constant keen interest provided an additional benefit which I'm sure is not equaled in any other language training situation. He provided many extra productive hours of conversation drill and French lore.

Maj. Fawley and the ROTC staff invariably provided able assistance in military administrative matters.

The greater portion of our study was under the direction and instruction of Dr. LaVelle Rosselot whose knowledge, sensitivity and drive was truly an inspiration to us all. In spite of her many tasks and long fatiguing hours she remained tolerant, patient, ever ready day or night to assist in school problems or to reschedule to meet our military demands as they arose. Always she remained a master teacher, always in command of her subject and her classes.

The film-text teaching method, for which I understand she is mainly responsible, is a real advance, and from our vantage point as students, is most effective. In its carefully developed text in life situations, through a building block system of grammatical principles to rather complex conversation and reading, the Otterbein Language System is a constantly interesting and challenging experience. Otterbein students are indeed fortunate to be able to study under professors of the calibre of this remarkable woman.

For those of us concerned with this first Air Force French training, Otterbein will always hold a special fondness. Please permit us to wish you, Dr. Turner, and Mrs. Turner and your associates this new year and the years to come all of the best that life can bring and which you and the college truly deserve.

Very sincerely,

(Signed) WALTER K. MADDUX

Dr. Glenn Grant Grabill was Professor of Music at Otterbein from 1905-1948. He is now Professor Emeritus. He is a graduate of Otterbein, Class of 1900, and received the honorary degree of Doctor of Music from Otterbein in 1951. He is a member of the American Guild of Organists.

In 1918, Dr. Grabill composed the music to words written by his wife and now known as the "Otterbein Love Song." It is the official alma mater song of Otterbein.

Dr. Grabill describes in his own words how the "Otterbein Love Song" originated.

ALMA MATER SONG

In January, 1898, sixty-two years ago, when I first enrolled as a student in Otterbein University, as it was called in those days, I recall that there was a dearth of college songs. In fact, there was only one that had any connotation as a song to be sung by all the students, and that dealt only with football. It started something like this: "We're the jolly football boys," and was sung to the tune of "Marching through Georgia," a Civil War song.

During my less than two years as a student, before graduation in music in 1900, I often thought that this situation should be remedied. But it wasn't until after I had held a position as head of the music department of Geneseo (Illinois) Collegiate Institute, for five years, and came back to Otterbein to teach music half-time and study German, preparatory to music study in Leipzig, Germany, that I gave it further study. At the request of the Junior Class I wrote the words and music to a song entitled "Crown our Loved Otterbein," the chorus of which started "O, we're proud of our Alma Mater." It was in the style of a march song and was not modeled at all like an Alma Mater song.

The Glee Club and students used this song in the days to follow. Later, I used the lyrics of a famous editor, graduate of Otterbein, Nolan R. Best, and wrote the music to a song entitled, "Old Otterbein."

The chorus of this song follows:
Old Otterbein's my Alma Mater,
I'm sent here by my darling
pater,
And I'll be heard from somewhat later.

Razzle! Dazzle! Zazzle! Zoo!

This song was scored for Glee Club (male) and was used by clubs under Arthur Spessard, but it hadn't the dignity of an Alma Mater song.

My wife is a graduate of Wooster College and in one of their year books I discovered a song which was at that time, and is now, being used as Alma Mater. It is called the "Wooster Love Song" and is

THE OTTERBEIN LOVE SONG

Words by Celia Ihrig Grabill

Music by Glenn Grant Grabill, '00

1. In a quite peaceful village,
There's one we love so true;
She ever gives a welcome
To her friends both old and new.
She stands serene
'Mid tree tops green;
She's our dear Otterbein

Chorus

Old Otterbein, our college.
We sing of thee today;
Our mem'ries round thee linger
In a sweet and mystic way.
O Otterbein! we love thee!
Our hearts are only thine,
We pledge anew,
We will be true,
Dear Otterbein.

2. Her halls have their own message
Of truth, and hope, and love;
She guides her youths and maidens
To the life that looks above.
Her stately tower
Speaks naught but power
For our dear Otterbein!

very beautiful. This gave me an idea, and I worried over the lyrics long after I had the music written. My wife was heartily in sympathy with my idea, and one night while ministering to several croupy children (our children were always croupy), she found the inspiration for the "Otterbein Love Song." She had heard the tune and rhythm of my music so often that the words of her poem fit the music perfectly. This song was copyrighted in 1918 and has served as "Alma Mater" to the present time.

I edited a booklet of Otterbein songs which contained these songs of mine as well as others, including the Literary Society songs of Philomatheia, Philophronea, Philalethea, and Cleiorhetea, and last but not least, "Darling Nelly Gray" by the immortal Ben Hanby. This edition has long "run out," and that is a matter for thought.

Somewhat later I wrote another song which has seemed to catch on as the "Fight Song" and has been used by Otterbein students at athletic events.

Refresher Classes Planned

Many colleges and universities have programs which give their alumni an opportunity to draw upon the schools' intellectual resources. Last year, the Alumni Council sponsored the first alumni refresher day at Otterbein as a part of Winter Homecoming. This continuing education program was enthusiastically received by those in attendance. A second Alumni Institute is planned for Winter Homecoming, Saturday, February 6. The schedule of classes and activities for the day is listed below. It is hoped that many alumni, especially those in Central Ohio, will support the institute. Registration will take place in the lounge of the Association Building. A special luncheon will be held in Barlow Hall with Dr. A. P. Rosselot as guest speaker.

Development News

To the nearly 2,000 individuals who sent gifts to Otterbein during the past twelve months, the Trustees, the Development Board, and the College Administration take this means to express publicly their sincere thanks and appreciation.

These gifts ranged in size from $1.00 to several thousand dollars, but regardless of size, each carried a message of interest and appreciation for alma mater and expressed a desire to see her remain strong and to serve future generations of young people.

Since this copy is being written during the holidays, and since many people wait until the end of the year to send their gifts, it is not possible to give any totals. It is the belief of the Development Office that some new records may be established during this twelfth year since the fund was started. The Honor Roll, to be published soon, will carry a complete report.

A Safe Prediction

It is also safe to predict that our percentage of participation will be far below that of many of our sister institutions, particularly those in the East. This we do not fully understand. Are we less appreciative of our college education? Are we less able to give? Do we feel that the need for support is less urgent? Do we care less about the future of higher education and particularly the future of Otterbein? Are we less loyal to our alma mater? Just how do we explain a 25% participation? The Development Office will welcome your answers as well as your suggestions on how we can obtain a broader base of financial support.

WHAT YOUR GIFTS ARE DOING

Without the support which has come from alumni over the past twelve years, it hardly seems possible that Otterbein could have survived. Because of it she stands today as one of our country's good Christian liberal arts colleges. With more adequate support she could be one of the country's best colleges.

Increased Faculty Salaries

Your gifts last year enabled the trustees to make substantial increases in faculty salaries, and for this you have the genuine gratitude of each member of the faculty. The ability to attract and hold able teachers determines whether a college shall be mediocre or great. A right start has been made by your gifts but we still have a long way to go.

Scholarships

Every student at Otterbein receives a scholarship of over $250 per year. This is the difference between what he pays for his education and what it costs to educate him.

In addition, approximately 182 students last year received supplemental scholarship grants totaling over $20,000.

It is safe to say that many of these students could not have attended Otterbein if it had not been for these scholarships. A large number of these grants were made possible by gifts from alumni to the Development Fund.

GENERAL OPERATION

To operate strong academic departments and to maintain twenty-five campus buildings require thousands of dollars. The total operational budget last year, including all salaries, was over a million dollars. Alumni gifts helped the college to operate last year without deficit. Your gifts helped make that possible.

But just to operate is not enough. Otterbein must continue to improve her services, to offer a superior faculty, to be a great college, not just a good one. More adequate alumni support can make the difference.

Hats Off To Cincinnati Alumni

In November, Otterbein was one of fifteen colleges to carry on a simultaneous personal solicitation campaign in Cincinnati and Hamilton. Twenty Otterbein alumni under the leadership of Perle H. Whitehead, '15, made personal calls on 125 alumni during the week-long effort.

At the end of the campaign gifts were received from 95 alumni, representing 76% participation. This was the second best record of the cooperating colleges and was exceeded only by St. Mary of the Springs College, with only 19 alumni to solicit.

In the preceding year, only 32 of the same alumni made gifts. This seems to indicate that alumni will give if someone will come after it. Of course, this is a known fact, but how can we marshal enough workers to make personal calls on over 6,000 alumni scattered all over the world?

Similar campaigns are to be conducted by 18 colleges in Akron, Toledo, and Dayton on the following dates:

Akron — February 1-8

Toledo — February 15-22

Dayton — February 29-March 7

This will be the second year for the effort in Akron and Toledo. The 1959 results were so fantastic that it was decided to repeat the performance in those cities.

Robert Roose, '18, and Donald Williams, '41, who served so successfully as chairmen last year in Akron and Toledo, respectively, will direct the efforts again this year.

THE KATHLEEN WHITE DIMKE ESSAY PRIZES

T. E. Dimke and friends have recently established a memorial at Otterbein for the late Mrs. Dimke, '24, in the form of essay prizes.

To date, a total of $1220 has been received and has been added to the regular endowment funds of the college. The interest earned by the amount invested will provide prizes for the best essays written by Otterbein students in an annual contest directed by the English Department. If the fund produces more than is required to pay the prizes, the balance may be spent at the discretion of the English Department.

Anyone who wishes to add to the fund may do so at any time by sending the gift either to Mr. Dimke or to the college.

Illuminated Manuscripts and Early Printing Presented to the Library

by DR. ROBERT PRICE*

Another unusual and especially enriching addition came to the Otterbein Library just before Christmas through the generosity of Mrs. Vida Clements, '01. The gift is a collection of rare original illuminated manuscripts and specimens of early printing from the thirteenth to the sixteenth century.

During November a large exhibit of these manuscripts and incunabula from the Roten Galleries of Baltimore, Maryland, had been displayed in the Association Building under the direction of Professors Lillian Frank and Earl Hassenpflug of the campus exhibitions committee. For Mrs. Clements' gift, members of the Fine Arts and English departments were asked to select from this exhibit a group of items that will provide the library with some actual specimens to illustrate the history of bookmaking and printing in the transition from the age of handlettering and illumination through the first fifty years of the printing press.

The manuscripts in the collection are especially beautiful. One of them is a vellum leaf from a "Psalter" done in Flanders, near Bruges, about 1300 or late in the 1200's. Its handlettering with illuminations in color and goldleaf are especially fine. Another is a vellum leaf from a "Book of Hours" hand lettered in Florence in 1490, exquisitely illustrated with miniature floral designs.

The printing specimens go back to the times of Johann Gutenberg. The epoch-making first movable-type press of Gutenberg was perfected at Mainz, Germany, about 1450 and the famous Gutenberg Bible was completed by 1456. Shortly thereafter, however, the press and equipment apparently fell into possession of Gutenberg's creditor, Johann Fust, who with his son-in-law, Peter Schoeffer, a former employee of Gutenberg, continued to develop the profitable new art. One item in the Otterbein collection is a page from a Psalter printed by Fust and Schoeffer illustrating the first known use of two-color printing in the Western World.

Other printed items represented are the famous Koberger Bible, Nuremberg, 1483, with original hand-colored woodcuts; the "Missale Briximense," printed by Ratdorf, Augsburg, 1493; The "Saxon Chronicle," printed by Peter Schoeffer, Mainz, 1492; "Aesop's Fables," 1473; one of the earliest examples of hand-illuminated metal engraving printed by Pigochet of Paris, 1502; and "Theuerdank," an epic poem written and printed for the Emperor Maximilian at Nuremberg, 1517, that illustrates the welding of decoration and typography in early German printing.

The new items will become part of the Library's Otterbein Room collection, in which Mrs. Clements has always had a strong interest. When the new library was built in 1953, Mrs. Clements provided the furnishings of the Otterbein Room for the purpose of preserving and displaying both the College's historical materials and the Library's old, rare and unusual books and other treasures. She has also with in recent months donated a special humidifying unit for the room in order to help safeguard the collection.

These new accessions of manuscripts and incunabula add very importantly to the Library's other holdings in old and rare literary materials. The Otterbein Room collection now also includes a leaf from an original King James Bible of 1611, presented by former President Howard, several fine groups of sixteenth and seventeenth century imprints given by the late C. P. Benbow of Westerville, Marshall B. Fanning of Boston, Mass., Colonel J. T. Holmes of Columbus and others. The collection also now possesses several fine old and unusual Bibles, and a particularly interesting group of autographed letters, manuscripts, etc., from authors, statesmen, and other distinguished personages.

*Dr. Price is Professor of English at Otterbein College and Chairman of the English Department. He is curator of the Otterbein Historical Room.

Alumni President Says

Richard Allaman, '33

What can the Alumni Association do to help the promotional plans the college has for 1960? What practical ideas are there for other ways to promote support of the college? How can more communication and personal involvement with the college by alumni be stimulated by the Association?

These questions were discussed in an all-day session by the executive committee of the Alumni Council and the alumni fund committee of the Development Board. Meeting with President Turner, Development Director Wade Miller, Public Relations Director Arthur Schultz, and Admissions Director Quentin Kintigh, the group attending were Sylvia Vance, J. Robert Knight, T. E. Newell, and Richard Allaman.

The discussions boiled down to questions of the organization structure and the functions of the Alumni Association. The group agreed that if the Association is to do more for the college, we will have to make some changes in the following directions:

1—a better developed organization with more year-to-year continuity

2—a clearer definition of the areas in which the Association should operate, and

3—a planned program of work to be done each year

To talk about all this, another all-day meeting was set up for January 30, with the hope that definite steps can be taken toward a more active and more effective Alumni Association.

Miami Valley

Otterbein's largest and perhaps oldest alumni club is the Miami Valley Otterbein Alumni Club in the Dayton, Ohio, area. Records show that the club existed as far back as 1888 and minutes of a New Year's Eve party in 1889 are still preserved. The minutes also state that "the purpose of the alumni club is to serve as a coordinating group with the college."

The annual fall banquet of the Miami Valley Otterbein Alumni Association was held at the Wish-ing Well Restaurant, Centerville (seven miles south of Dayton) on Wednesday, November 11.

Dr. Edward Waldo Emerson Schear, '07, Emeritus Professor at Otterbein, was the featured speaker of the evening using as his subject, "Otterbein As I Knew It." In his customary witty manner, Dr. Schear addressed the capacity group of over 150 about some of the more colorful customs, traditions and experiences of his teaching days at Otterbein.

Officers of the club are:

President—Kenneth O. Shively, '50

Vice President — J. P. Dale, '50

Secretary—Mrs. Jean Share Sherriff, '51

Alumni Doctors Active In Hospital Dedications

South of the border, Dr. John A. Smith, '33, is medical director of the Ryder Memorial Hospital, Humacao, Puerto Rico. A new diagnostic clinic with outpatient facilities was dedicated last June 21. The new facilities provide greatly extended health service for more than a quarter-million residents of eastern Puerto Rico.

The new $245,000 addition to hospital facilities at this 45-year-old medical mission agency 35 miles southeast of San Juan provides modern medical care for the thousands of underprivileged Puerto Ricans. The new building includes well-equipped medical laboratories, new X-Ray facilities, a blood bank, operating rooms and a pharmacy three times the size of the one that has served Ryder for many years.

The new addition, according to Dr. Smith, provides greatly needed facilities for the staff to extend its health care program which already reaches far out beyond the walk of the busy hospital at the edge of Humacao. It includes the first blood bank in the district and provides bacteriological work for the first time on the island outside San Juan or Ponce.

The beautiful addition to Ryder Hospital is a reinforced concrete building of slab construction adjoining the main hospital building. The new outpatient facilities take care of the medical needs of Humacao-district folks who come to the hospital in a steady stream, by foot, horseback, bicycle, car, or jeep. It includes complete examination areas, doctors' quarters, treatment rooms, library, and special emergency operating rooms to accommodate the increasing number of outpatients. In 1958, the hospital cared for 100 outpatients per day in addition to 4,000 hospital patients and 24,600 rural clinic patients in inaccessible areas.

The war against disease and poor health conditions in Puerto Rico will continue at an accelerated pace with improved facilities like those now available at Ryder. Disappearance of malaria on the island and control over tuberculosis are material benefits of improved medical facilities and health service. Typhoid, too, is under control, except for sporadic outbursts, but there still are major health problems to overcome. The two

One of the most beautiful and up-to-date hospital additions in the country, it has six operating rooms provided with the latest in surgical equipment as well recovery rooms where patients are taken while going through the first after-effects of an operation.

Other features include a family room, a meditation or prayer room, airy and comfortable private and semi-private rooms, stainless steel kitchen, and central oxygen supply for each room.
