OTTERBEIN COLLEGE • WESTERVILLE, OHIO

"We must give high priority to educating leaders, thinkers, innovators..."

says DR. JAMES R. KILLIAN, Jr.

Special assistant to President Eisenhower for science and technology; former president, Massachusetts Institute of Technology

Yet paradoxically, in these critical times when so much will be demanded of so many, our colleges and universities are being weakened by two factors: a faculty salary that is driving many gifted teachers into other fields, and crowded conditions that threaten to become steadily worse. College applications from qualified young people will double in less than ten years.

As a nation we cannot allow such conditions to continue. Won't you do your part to help? Support the college of your choice before it is too late.

"The obligations and challenges of our time place a mounting premium on excellence, on high performance, on better taste in all of our work and living in the United States. Hence, we must give high priority to motivating and educating an adequate supply of leaders, thinkers and innovators. These are the obligations and opportunities before us as we seek to solve the problems of quantity and quality in our education."

If you want to know more about what the college crisis means—both to you and to your children—and what you can do about it, write for a free booklet to: Higher Education, Box 36, Times Square Station, New York 36, N.Y.

Starting its tenth year, the Ohio Foundation of Independent Colleges of which Otterbein College is a member, will invite increased financial aid in 1960-61 from firms doing business in Ohio.

Beginning in 1951 with 19 colleges sharing 86 gifts totaling $190,865, the Ohio Foundation distributed 1250 contributions totaling $986,556 to its present 31 members.

We salute the Ohio Foundation of Independent Colleges in its tenth year and I am sure all alumni join the college in appreciation of the $204,752 received by Otterbein over the past nine years it has worked with other Ohio non-tax-supported colleges in the Foundation.

Larry Cline, senior from Danville, Ohio, is in his fourth year as first-string quarterback for the Otterbein Cardinals. Last season Cline set a new individual offense record at Otterbein and ranked third in offense in the Ohio Conference with 1231 yards.

An outstanding passer, Cline in 1959 led the Conference in touchdown passes thrown with 13.

PLANS FOR A Greater Otterbein

by

DR. LYNN W. TURNER

Otterbein College President

Dr. Lynn W. Turner

At the beginning of my junior year at Otterbein, I feel neither so naive as I did when I was a freshman college president, nor so omniscient as I did in my sophomore year. I realize that I still have much to learn, but I am becoming a little more optimistic about my educability (if Dr. Price will recognize such a word). I am grateful to students, faculty, trustees, and alumni who have helped me through these necessary stages of development.

Challenging Prospect

At this moment we are looking not so much at the past, immediate or long distant, as to the future. We spent much of our time last year in a careful and critical analysis of the college in order to determine exactly where we stood—physically, financially, and quality-wise. On the basis of the facts gleaned from this study, we evolved our Ten Year Plan for Otterbein College. We have already begun to put the Plan into operation and we expect during this year to incorporate more and more of its features into the life of the college. This is a challenging and thrilling prospect.

Otterbein In 1970

It is exciting to picture Otterbein as she will be in 1970 if our dreams are fulfilled. She will not be essentially different—she will still be a liberal college, connected with the church, open to students of all races and creeds, and dedicated to the cultivation of all the arts and sciences. However, she will have 1200 students and their quality will be improved; she will have a larger faculty and it will be better trained; her social, intellectual, and spiritual qualities will be more intensively fostered and her physical plant will be enlarged. Beginning with the two new men's dormitories which we built in 1959, we hope to erect fourteen new buildings over the next ten years to house, feed, educate, and provide recreation for our increased student body and faculty. We have worked out pretty carefully general plans for obtaining the necessary funds.

Many Planners

I have used the word "we" throughout the preceding paragraph very loosely. It is not intended as an editorial device to announce to you my own personal plans, for although I participated in this planning I certainly did not dominate it. The Long Range Planning Committee of the Board of Trustees, consisting of Elmer N. Funkhouser, Jr., chairman, Dr. Vance E. Cribbs, and myself, worked hard over the final plans but certainly did not create them. The Plan actually represents the pooled and selected ideas of ten committees, consisting of more than a hundred representative trustees, alumni, officers, teachers, and students whose reports were submitted to the final committee. The Plan, after completion, was debated by the Board of Trustees and finally adopted by unanimous vote. Consequently, whatever merits or faults it may have are not those of a single mind, but of a group which represents the very essence of those components which go to make up a college.

A Reality

In bringing the Plan to accomplished reality, the "we" must be far more inclusive. It must embrace every one of "you," for I fervently hope that every person who reads this article, and a great many who never see it, as well, will enlist in the cause of a greater Otterbein College. As we proceed with the implementation of our Plan, become one of us—through your interest, your gifts, your suggestions, your prayers. "For we are more than conquerors through Him who loved us."

Members of the Otterbein College faculty do a variety of things during the summer. Study, travel and attendance at conferences contribute to their usefulness as college teachers. Here is a rundown of some of the 1960 summer activities of Otterbein faculty members:

Study

Mr. John Becker, librarian, took graduate work in history at Ohio State University.

Professor William A. Meyer, assistant professor of mathematics, studied advanced mathematics at Geneva College in Beaver Falls, Pennsylvania.

Miss Patricia Axline, instructor in French and Spanish, spent eight weeks studying and traveling in Mexico. She took work at Inter-american University in Saltillo, Coahuila.

Captain Phillip F. Rice, assistant professor of air science, attended the Academic Instructor School at Maxwell Air Force Base in Oklahoma.

Education instructor, Mr. George M. Saribalas, engaged in graduate study at Ohio State University. He was also a graduate research assistant at the Ohio State University Center for Educational Administration.

Mr. Richard T. Pflieger, admissions counselor, received the Master of Education degree from the University of Arizona in Tucson.

tion professor, studied at Ohio State University. He was also elected to Phi Delta Kappa, men's national education honorary society.

Mr. Elmer Yoest, instructor in physical education, did graduate work at Ohio State University, and completed the class hour requirement for the Master's Degree.

Research

Dr. Robert Price, English professor, and Mrs. Price did combined researching and writing at home. They surveyed thirty performances of summer theater in Ohio. Of the college, commercial, amateur and operatic types included in the study, they found the "Shakespeare under the Stars" performance at Akron to be of special interest.

Workshops

Sociology professor, Dr. Albert E. Lovejoy, attended a meeting of the American Sociological Association in New York City in August.

Mrs. Emily Ingram, home economics instructor, attended a home economics workshop at Ohio State University. She also took several courses at Ohio State University in preparing for the M.A. degree.

Mrs. Mabel C. Joyce participated in a home economics workshop at Ohio State University and attended a meeting of the American Home Economics Association in Denver, Colorado.

Music professor, Mr. Lawrence S. Frank attended the Church Music Institute at Ohio State University in June and the national convention of the American Guild of Organists at Detroit, Michigan.

Miss Marjorie Lambert, French instructor, assisted in a foreign language workshop in Solon, Ohio.

Mr. Donald W. Molyneux, mathematics instructor, attended the ten-week National Science Foundation Summer Institute at Miami University, Oxford, Ohio.

Dr. Paul H. Ackert, religion and philosophy professor, was one of three Ohioans to attend the Danforth Seminar on Campus Christian Work at the University of Wisconsin.

Religion professor, Dr. Philip O. Deevers, assisted in the Ohio Christian Youth Movement workshop at Wittenberg University in June and in several EUB summer camps.

Dr. Lee Shackson, music professor, attended the workshop of the National Association of Teachers of Singing at New Orleans, Louisiana, in August.

Mr. Philip E. Barnhart, instructor in physics and astronomy, taught three weeks in the National Science Foundation's High School Science Student workshop at Ohio University, Athens, Ohio, and began an observation program of stellar photometry.

Miscellaneous

Miss Frieda Myers, music professor, was on the counseling staff at the National Music Camp at Interlochen, Michigan.

Mr. Michael Kish, physical education professor, was recreation director for the city of Grandview Heights, Ohio, for the third consecutive summer.

Speech professor, Mr. Charles W. Dodrill, was assistant manager of Playhouse-on-the-Green, professional summer theater in Worthington, Ohio.

Travel

Dr. Elizabeth O'Bear, professor of German, visited Germany under a travel grant awarded by the German government. She was one of twenty-five teachers of German to visit the country under this program.

Speech professor, Dr. James Grissinger, and family traveled in the Middle Atlantic states. In New York City they saw four Broadway plays.

New Dormitory Houses Eighty Freshmen

North Hall, the new men's dormitory located on the athletic field north of East and West Halls, houses eighty freshmen. This building will be dedicated on Saturday, October 22.

During the summer months a $200,000 building and renovation program was undertaken on the Otterbein College campus.

The major project was the erection of a new men's dormitory, North Hall, located on the athletic field north of East and West Halls. The unit which houses 80 freshman men was completed in time for the opening of classes in September.

The dormitory is an H-shaped unit and houses as many men as East and West Halls combined. The metal skin-wall construction, which has been used in all three units, provides practical and economical housing. College architect Eugene Benham reports that various officials from other universities have investigated the possibilities of following similar construction programs.

Cochran Hall has also undergone change. New entrance-ways have been constructed at the north and south ends of the women's dormitory on Home and Cochran streets. Steel stairways now replace the old four flights of stairs at the north and south ends. The center stair-well, from the second to fourth floor, has been removed and new rooms have been built in its place.

The new entrance-ways are of a colonial design and harmonize with the exterior of Clements Hall, the adjacent dormitory. The outside fire escapes on Cochran Hall have also been removed.

New steps have also been constructed to the entrance of the Association Building. This improvement was made possible through a gift of Mrs. F. O. Clements, '01.

New steps lead into the front entrance of the Association Building. The steps are built in a semi-circular pattern.

Art Exhibit

Works from the art collection of Otterbein College will be on display Fall Homecoming, October 22, in the lounge of the Association Building. The exhibition will be continued through November 13.

The art exhibit which will be on display Homecoming is comprised of several segments. One portion of the display includes an early art collection of historical importance. Portraits of Otterbein presidents and teachers and a Ben Hanby portrait are in this segment.

Recent acquisitions of esthetic rather than historic interest make up another part of the exhibit. In this segment are purchases from one-man exhibitions of Columbus area artists, from work of students and from traveling shows from eastern galleries.

Also on display will be a collection of manuscripts and specimens of early printing from the thirteenth to the sixteenth century. This particular collection was a gift of Mrs. F. O. Clements, '01, to the Otterbein Library in 1959.

Included in the homecoming exhibition is an original print by the French artist, Georges Rouault. Many works of area artists will be on display. One major piece is an oil painting by John Freeman, Ohio State University art professor.

Works of Robert King, Robert and Marion Gatrell, Robert Vickers, Jarvis Stewart, Vara Canzani and Gilbert Hall will also be on display.

Many recent acquisitions of the Otterbein art collection have been made possible by the allotment from the student activities fees of the last few years.

Another service offered is the Lending Gallery which is managed by Mrs. Paul Frank and Mr. Earl Hassenpflug of the Otterbein Visual Arts department. Since the gallery's founding in 1945 by Mrs. Frank, it has made works available to students' rooms, living centers and classrooms.

A Recent Acquisition

This Robert King art piece is a recent addition to the art collection of Otterbein College.

An Area Artist's Work

A painting by Robert Vickers entitled, "Storm Structure Study" was acquired in 1957.

Congress Aids Greek Girl

Mary Apostolopoulos, who entered Otterbein College on September 14, is one of the few girls who can claim that she is attending college because of special Congressional legislation.

A special bill of the United States Congress permitted Mary Apostolopoulos of Salonika, Greece, to enter the United States when normal immigration channels failed.

Mary is the adopted daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Socrates "Sam" Apostolopoulos, 161½ S. State St., Westerville. The real niece of Mrs. Apostolopoulos, she was adopted by the couple eight years ago when they were visiting in Greece, their native country. Immigration laws, however, prevented them from bringing Mary back to the United States.

When Mary was graduated two years ago from Anatolia College in Salonika, an American sponsored school, she tried to obtain a visa to permit her to continue her education in the United States, but her request was denied.

It was at this time that William Drenton, '51, now a professor of journalism at Ohio State University, and a friend of the Apostolopoulos', heard about Mary's plight. Drenton informed Rep. Samuel Devine, Ohio's 12th district congressman of the case.

Rep. Devine and various Westerville citizens and service clubs telephoned and wrote to immigration officials in Greece, but all contacts met with no success. When these efforts failed, Rep. Devine decided that the only procedure left was to introduce special legislation in the United States Congress.

During the last congressional session a bill was drafted which permitted Mary's entry. It was subsequently passed by both houses, and signed by the President. By mid-August Mary finally was able to realize her goal of coming to America.

Mary's choice of Otterbein was a natural one. Her parents, who operate a restaurant in Westerville, have been long-time friends of many Otterbein students. Mary herself became an Otterbein student September 14 when she enrolled as a sophomore.

Enlarged Alumni – Public Relations – Admissions Staff

In order to undergird the Ten-Year Plan of Otterbein and improve the public image of the college, an enlarged staff is working in the area of Alumni and Public Relations, Admissions and Church Relations.

Arthur L. Schultz, '49, Director of Public Relations since 1956, is coordinating efforts in the four areas and is serving this year as Director of Admissions as well as assuming the new role of Director of Church Relations.

New personnel in publicity, alumni records and admissions have been added to the staff. The purpose of this "team-effort" is to effect coordination among alumni, churches, schools, and parents, both in the work of recruiting students and of providing support for the college.

Two Admissions Counselors have been employed to carry on the field work in churches, schools, homes, summer camps and assemblies.

One of the two new Admissions Counselors is Elsley K. Witt, an Otterbein graduate of 1949. He received the Master of Education degree from the University of Pittsburgh in 1954 and has been a teacher of history and a guidance counselor since 1949 at Connellsville, Pennsylvania, Junior High School.

Richard T. Pflieger is the other new Admissions Counselor. He received his B.A. degree from Otterbein in 1948 and the master of Education degree from the University of Arizona last August. He taught and coached at Englewood, Ohio High School and Gahanna Lincoln High School, Gahanna, Ohio, and for the past two years has been head football and soccer coach at Kenyon College.

Bruce C. Flack, '60, is the new Assistant Director of Public Relations. A past editor of Tan and Cardinal, student publication of Otterbein, he was a member of Torch and Key, elected to "Who's Who in American Colleges" for 1959-60; served as president of Zeta Phi Fraternity; the Interfraternity Council; and was a member of the Student Council, Quiz and Quill, Phi Alpha Theta, Phi Sigma Iota and Varsity "O." He will be in charge of the news bureau and sports publicity as well as assist in editing Otterbein TOWERS and college publications.

Mrs. Ethel Shelly Steinmetz, '31, will continue as assistant to the Director of Public Relations, a post she has held since 1958. A former school teacher and instructor in English at Otterbein, she has completed graduate work at Ohio State University.

Mrs. Charlotte Combs, wife of Otterbein's psychology professor, Dr. William Combs, is the new assistant alumni secretary working part-time. She is a graduate of West Virginia University and served as an editorial assistant for the United States Air Force in Oklahoma from 1956-59.

Mrs. Agnes Myers, wife of Robert T. Myers, '31, is secretary to the Director of Admissions, and Mrs. Judy Stewart Pilkington, x'62, is a secretary in the Admissions office.

Alumnus Is Candidate For State Office

With all hats thrown into the 1960 political arena, an Otterbein College alumnus claims one as his. Earl R. Hoover, '26, is a candidate for judge of the Ohio Supreme Court.

Judge Hoover is not new to Ohio politics. He has served with distinction for ten years as Common Pleas Judge for Cuyahoga County, the largest populated county in the state.

During his period of service on the Common Pleas bench, Judge Hoover has won nation-wide acclaim for his legal opinions. One case which attracted particular attention was the Arthur Murray Dance Studio Case. His opinion in the case which involved a negative covenant in an employment contract, is cited 43 times by the leading treatise on contracts, authored by Professor Williston of Harvard, and 35 times by the nation's largest encyclopedia of law, Corpus Juris Secundum. This opinion, now a legal landmark, is taught in law schools.

His opinions in the Domby Case, the Long Trust Case and the McCoy Unfair Competition Case have also won wide-spread legal acclaim.

Prior to becoming Common Pleas Judge, he conducted private practice as an attorney in Cleveland for three years. He served three years as Ohio Assistant Attorney General, under Attorney General Gilbert Bettman of Cincinnati. An exceptional student at Otterbein, he was graduated with the L.L.B. degree from Harvard Law School in 1929, following his graduation from Otterbein in 1926. Judge Hoover is also well known as an outstanding speaker. His speech "So You Want To Be a Politician" received national recognition when it was published in the November 1, 1959 issue of the national magazine "Vital Speeches of the Day."

One of the topics which Judge Hoover covers in his speaking circuits is that of the history of Ben Hanby. His speech entitled "Ben Hanby—The Stephen Foster of Ohio" reflects credit not only upon Hanby but also upon the college where he penned his immortal "Darling Nelly Gray."

Judge Hoover is a member of the Otterbein College Board of Trustees. He has served on the Boards of Cleveland Boy Scouts, Cleveland Law Library, City Club, Cleveland Roundtable of National Conference of Christians and Jews, Cleveland Church Federation, Cleveland Kiwanis Club, Neighborhood Settlement Association, Citizens Bureau and Nationalities Services Center.

He is a member of the Congregational Plymouth Church of Shaker Heights and is married to the former Alice Propst, an Otterbein graduate of 1928. They have one son, Richard, a college senior.

This billboard in Franklin County reminds voters of Earl R. Hoover's candidacy for judge of the Ohio Supreme Court.

Owls Celebrate 50

Sigma Alpha Tau (Owls), the oldest Otterbein College sorority, celebrates its fiftieth anniversary at Fall Homecoming, October 22. Owl alumnae, under the direction of president June Neilson Barr, '44, have made plans for a day full of events to commemorate a half century of friendships.

Sigma Alpha Tau had its beginning fifty years ago. The girls who founded the sorority in 1910 were three groups of roommates who lived on the second floor of Cochran Hall. Ethel Kephart Curts, '12, was a junior, Esta Moser Bowers '13, a sophomore, Grace Brane Stonebraker '14, Lucile Coppock Pansing x'14, and Bonita Jamison '14, were freshmen and Lucretia Fryfinger VanFleet was enrolled in the school of music. These girls were special friends, who began getting together to share boxes of food from home. Their meetings were social and informal, and the idea of organizing themselves developed gradually after they had enjoyed a number of these small parties which were known as "pushes". When they decided to form a sorority they chose the Greek letters Sigma Alpha Tau.

When the six girls founded the organization they were initiating a kind of group to which the college trustees were opposed. The fact that it was a sorority made it undesirable to the trustees in spite of its simple purpose of cementing friendships in a permanent organization. So for eleven years after its beginnings, Sigma Alpha Tau existed sub rosa, as did any other fraternity or sorority groups formed during this period on campus.

In 1916 the group responded to a specific faculty ban on sororities and fraternities by abandoning the student organization and forming an alumnae organization. The girls in school had the status of pledges until they graduated or left school permanently. This proved to be not far enough underground, however, and in 1921, by faculty order, Sigma Alpha Tau along with all other such groups disbanded.

Sorority Officers Plan Anniversary

Owl alumnae and active chapter officers make plans in the sorority club room for the sorority's fiftieth anniversary which will be observed Fall Homecoming, October 22. Left to right are: Harriet L. Hays, '22, president of the sorority when it first received official recognition; Mary B. Thomas, '28, historian; Jane Newell, '61, active president and Jean Wyker Troop, '49, alumnae representative to the actives.

Two months later the faculty gave permission for students to "associate themselves," provided that each group secure the permission of the faculty for its organization and a member of the faculty be chosen as sponsor. Greek letters were not permitted, however, and so when the group reorganized legitimately, the name Owl Club was adopted. The alumnae group, not recognized by the college as having any standing, remained Sigma Alpha Tau. In 1932 Greek letters were permitted on campus, but the earlier members remain Owls to this day.

One of the projects of Sigma Alpha Tau through the years has been the creation of a scholarship fund. Originally begun to adopt a French war orphan after World War I, the fund became available for loans, to members in 1921. In 1925 it was named the Helen McDermott Memorial Fund. It now totals over $1750, and through the years has provided loans to twenty-one active members of the Owl club.

Owl Schedule

In the Sigma Alpha Tau celebration of its fiftieth anniversary at the Otterbein College Fall Homecoming, October 22, various events have been scheduled. The sorority activities of the day are as follows:

- 10:00 a.m.—Open House in Owls' club room.
- 10:30-11:30 a.m.—Coffee hour at the Home Economics house.
- 2:00 p.m.—Football game—reserved section for Owls and husbands.
- 5:30 p.m.—Homecoming dinner at Yarnell's Party House with program following.

Three hospitality centers will be available during the day. Mary B. Thomas, '28, 80 W. College Ave., will open her home to graduates of 1910-1930. Alumnae from years 1930-1945 will meet at the Home Economics house. Jean Wyker Troop, '49, 82 University St., will be hostess for alumnae from 1945-1960.

1960 HOMECOMING

Several features will accent the full schedule of events planned for the 1960 Otterbein College Fall Homecoming program. The coffee hour in the Association Building Lounge from 9:00 to 11:00 Saturday morning, October 22, will afford an opportunity to greet old classmates and enjoy fellowship with Alumni Association officers.

The theme of the Homecoming program is "A Visit to the Orient." The full touch of the Orient can be seen with the beginning of the parade which starts at 12:30 in the afternoon.

Following the parade, the Otterbein Cardinals, one of the top offensive teams in Ohio, will meet the Hiram Terriers in a football game at Memorial Stadium.

Sigma Alpha Tau (Owls), the oldest sorority on campus, is celebrating its fiftieth anniversary. A full day's activity has been planned by sorority officials.

The "O" Club, which is undergoing an expansion program, will hold its dinner meeting in the faculty dining room at 5:30 in the afternoon.

That evening "The Teahouse of the August Moon" will be presented by the Otterbein College Theater, under the direction of Professor Charles Dodrill, at 8:15.

Again the old invitation, "Come on down to Otterbein," is extended. Plan now to come and to take part in the Fall Homecoming festivities.

Prospects for an outstanding Otterbein College football season in 1960 are extremely bright. A veteran core of last year's squad which turned in a noteworthy 7-2 record, staffs this fall's grid squad.

In the season opener the Otterbein Cardinals romped over Findlay College, 45-7. The Westerville grid-ders amassed 461 yards total offense.

The Otterbein offense, which was the strong point of the 1959 team, surpassed in the Findlay game the 368.1 yards per game average which made Otterbein the top offensive team in the Ohio Conference last year.

Larry Cline, senior from Danville, who was chosen on the all-conference second team last year, is again leading the Cardinals from the quarterback post.

Gary Allen, fullback, Bill Messmer, halfback and Gene Kidwell, halfback, round out the backfield.

Robert "Moe" Agler, '48, is in his sixth year as head football coach. He is assisted by Kenneth Zarbaugh, '50, backfield coach; Mike Kish, backfield coach; and Elmer "Bud" Yoest, '53, line coach.

News From The "O" Club

Clare Nutt, '31, sold this Otterbein-Capital football which represented Otterbein's 60-23 victory to the highest bidding "O" Club enthusiast.

"O" CLUB

Election of new officers of the "O" Club of Otterbein College will be held at the annual Homecoming dinner meeting of the club on October 22. The "O" Club is currently conducting an expansion program, with area clubs being formed in Ohio and other states. Progress reports of the expansion program will be given at this meeting.

"O" Club president Everett Whipkey, '32, reports that active area clubs are Westerville, Dayton, Akron-Canton, Toledo-Detroit, Western Pennsylvania and Eastern United States.

It is the plan of the "O" Club to have at least one meeting a year in each area. Membership in the club is open to all Otterbein alumni and interested friends.

A recent "O" Club activity was the sponsorship of the banquet for the Otterbein College football team at Yarnell's Party House, August 31. Fifty-six candidates for the 1960 grid squad, several Otterbein administrative officials and about 20 "O" Club boosters attended.

President Lynn W. Turner and head football coach Robert "Moe" Agler spoke to the group.

"O" Club official, Dwight Ballenger, '39, presents Mrs. F. O. Clements, '01, a plaque making her an honorary life member of the "O" Club.

Campus News

Television Classes

Otterbein College is offering two Continental Classroom courses for credit this year. The new course, "Modern Algebra," is being telecast by WLW-C TV, Columbus, each morning and is repeated by WOSU-TV, Columbus.

To obtain credit, enrollees attend seminar sessions at Otterbein one evening each week. These seminar sessions are conducted by the staff of the mathematics department.

The Modern Chemistry courses offered last year are again being televised by WOSU-TV. Meetings of this class are held on campus one evening a week.

Summer Orientation

One hundred eleven new freshmen students attended an orientation and testing program on the campus in July.

The students and their parents were present at one of two sessions which were held on July 6 and 7 and July 7 and 8. The prospective freshmen took the A. C. E. Psychological test, and also took part in the general orientation program.

The students attending the voluntary sessions comprised approximately one-third of the incoming freshman class.

Miss Frank Is Dean

Miss Hannah M. Frank has been appointed Dean of Women for Otterbein College. For the past year she was counseling director at the Methodist Hospital School of Nursing in Mitchell, South Dakota. From 1957-59 she was Dean of Women at North Central College, Naperville, Illinois.

Miss Frank was Dean of Students at Cottey College, Nevada, Missouri, prior to holding her position at North Central. For six years she was director of the counseling program at the Methodist Hospital School for Nursing.

Financial Report

January 1 to August 31, 1960

The first eight months of 1960 have produced the following results from alumni and non-alumni:

From alumni	1,253 gifts — $45,077
From non-alumni	59 gifts — 3,418

With only four months to go in 1960, it would appear that we should reach our goal of 2,000 gifts; however, the goal of $80,000 will be reached only by the greatest of effort.

Records in the Development Office indicate that 973 persons who gave last year have not repeated in 1960. If each of these 1959 donors who have not yet contributed in 1960 will give as much as last year, we will reach a total of $67,997 by December 31. This would leave us short by $12,003. Perhaps those who have not yet contributed will add 10% to 20% to their gifts and an effort will be made to secure the balance in new gifts.

A Cooperative Effort

Otterbein has again joined with twenty other private Ohio colleges in a cooperative effort to solicit personally all alumni of the participating schools.

At a meeting on September 8 at Denison University, the following area solicitation schedule was adopted:

Cincinnati—November 14-21
Columbus—January 19-30
Akron—February 6-13
Toledo—February 20-27
Dayton—March 9-20
Cleveland—April 6-17

Alumni in Akron and Toledo have been solicited for two successive years, those in Cincinnati and Dayton for one year, and this will be the first time for Columbus and Cleveland.

Leaders of the Community Chest, the Red Cross and other organizations are convinced that there is no substitute for the personal appeal for support. Our previous experience bears out this fact. Last year's record at Otterbein shows a 26% response by mail, whereas 70.5% responded where personal solicitation efforts were made. To carry on this program effectively, many helpers are needed. It is hoped that all alumni who are asked to help will give enough time to Otterbein to call on five prospects.

It's a Matter of Prestige

When President Turner assumed the presidency of Otterbein, he made the following significant statement: "The friends of Otterbein can, if they wish, make her the best college in Ohio within the next ten years."

Last June the Board of Trustees adopted a ten-year program designed to do what the president indicated could be done.

In the introductory statement setting forth the ten-year objectives may be found these words: "We may not be the most outstanding, the richest, or the best-known small, liberal arts, coeducational college in America by 1970, but none will give its students a better education than Otterbein."

In short, the purpose of the ten-year program is to provide the facilities and the staff to make Otterbein the outstanding college all alumni want her to be. To achieve the ten-year goal, every alumnus will be given an opportunity to participate. In turn, each time that Otterbein achieves greater distinction, the education you received becomes more valuable to you and the degree you earned carries more prestige. Thus, you cannot help Otterbein without helping yourself.

Furthermore, your help brings other support. It is a known fact that your help in the past has been very important in attracting financial support from industries and foundations because they will assist only those schools whose alumni provide generous support.

You can participate in the ten-year program this year by sending a gift to the development fund. With a larger student body, there are more students to subsidize. For each student enrolled the subsidy is $258. Send your gift to keep a student in Otterbein for a year, a semester, a month or a week.

Kilbourne Scholarship - Loan Fund

The last issue of TOWERS carried an announcement of the death of Dr. P. H. Kilbourne, '02, a member of the Board of Trustees since 1931.

Dr. Kilbourne was intensely interested in every phase of the college program and his counsel was sought constantly on the major problems confronting the Administration.

He was also a generous donor and only last January he contributed 20 shares of General Motors stock valued at $1,010 to establish the Ethel C. and P. H. Kilbourne Scholarship-Loan Fund. He indicated at the time that he hoped to make further contributions to the fund.

Since his death several persons have sent gifts to the college in his memory, all of which has been added to the scholarship fund. Any alumnus or friend of the good doctor who would like to contribute to the fund may send his gift to the college designated for the Kilbourne Scholarship Fund.

Dear Fellow-Alumni:

One of the privileges of the President of the Otterbein Alumni Association is to occasionally express opinions and bring information about the College and our Alumni Association through the pages of TOWERS. This I shall endeavor to do in what I feel is the most acceptable manner to you.

There are four words which introduce brief thoughts that I should like to share with you in this issue.

The first word is WELCOME. This welcome applies to Fall Homecoming at Otterbein the weekend of October 22-23. Information about the Homecoming Program is contained elsewhere in the pages of TOWERS. It probably will take special effort on your part to attend Homecoming, but allow me to urge you to return with your host of friends to a "weekend to remember" at Westerville.

The second word is ENCOURAGEMENT. With complete sincerity I can encourage you to expect great things from your alma mater. The Administration and Board of the college have developed long-range plans for improvement in plant, curriculum, and total effectiveness of Otterbein. This program is getting underway now, not at some point in the future.

You can also be encouraged, with full justification, to realize that your individual efforts (be they great or small) to gain wide acceptance for Otterbein are truly effective. You help in promoting wider recognition and acceptance of our college by your efforts to secure prospective students, by your positive endorsement of Otterbein among your local friends and by your efforts to "activate" other alumni in support of Otterbein projects. It should be encouraging to you to know that Otterbein has not only an outstanding past but a bright future. There is a planned program for increasing the student body and for strengthening the position of the college within the ranks of outstanding private colleges in the United States.

J. Robert Knight, '28

This year Otterbein was able to be more highly selective in acceptance of new students. This acceptability is based on sincerity of purpose of the student and evidence of the student's ability to do acceptable work at the college level. This is highly encouraging.

The third word is CLARIFICATION. The role of the Alumni Association is not to "run the college", but is that of actively promoting the best interests of the College in accordance with plans of the College Board and Administration.

A fourth word is NEED. We need the active interest and support of each of you as an individual and of each local chapter club of our Alumni Association. We need more local chapters of Otterbein alumni. Even a few people can meet once or twice each year to share latest information about the College and to strengthen bonds of friendship.

We need more complete participation by all individual alumni in securing new students, in purchasing copies of the forthcoming alumni Roster, in letting your friends know that you are personally proud of Otterbein College and in contributions (be they small or large) from every alumnus to the annual Development Fund and to other important projects needing financial support.

An excellent Alumni Officers' Workshop was held on the campus July 22-23. A majority of our local clubs were represented in this event which was declared by local club officers to be helpful and highly enjoyable. We hope that this event can be repeated next year.

Under the able leadership of President Dick Allaman, last year the Alumni Council launched several sound, new projects, some of major proportions and others quite modest in scope, but each an important forward step. We should endeavor to further these projects, and take additional steps as needed to strengthen alumni interest and support of Otterbein.

You can do wonderful things for Otterbein by (1) now affirming to yourself that you are interested in Otterbein; (2) speaking a good word for our College when expected or unexpected opportunities present themselves; (3) informing yourself through the pages of TOWERS and by other means concerning the current program and plans of the College and (4) participating in projects and events of the College as frequently as possible, including your attendance at Fall Homecoming.

Sincerely yours,
J. Robert Knight, President

At Naples he will be principal of the secondary school at the Fort Sherman base. A new school building, which has facilities for 1500 children of U. S. servicemen, has been erected at the base.

Mr. Raver is planning to innovate a "block-of-time" teaching program in the school. "This method," says Mr. Raver, "eliminates excessive moving about by the students, and provides for a smaller number of class periods, with more intensive training being the result."

Attendance Increases

Attendance at the four productions of the Otterbein College Theater this last year totaled 4,201 admissions. Of this total, 2,014 were student admissions.

This means that an average of 504 students attended each performance, an increase of eight per cent from the previous year. These figures do not show the number of students in acting roles or in the backstage crews. If these students are added to the attendance totals, the per cent of attendance of the student body is boosted to 72 per cent.

These statistics point up the increasing success of the Otterbein College Theater. The Theater is directed by Professor Charles W. Dodrill.

Assisting in the Speech Department this year is an additional member. Professor Fred Thayer has been selected as an assistant professor of Speech. He will serve as technical director of the Theater in addition to his teaching duties.
