SCORE AT WILL

ANTIOCH IN PLUCKY STRUGGLE DEFEATED BY U. B. ELEVEN

Overwhelming Score of 39-0 Final Score in Fast and Interesting
Game—John Runs 95 Yards.

Antioch College was an easy victim for Otterbein Saturday afternoon, meeting defeat to the tune of 39-0. Otterbein was able to gain at will and by a mixture of forward passes, line bucks, and end runs easily baffled their lighter opponents who made but one first down throughout the entire game. The victorious eleven worked in grand style and seemed to have the forward pass down to perfection, the first touchdown being made solely by means of the pass just 1 minute and 15 seconds after the whistle was blown, Sanders scoring the touchdown.

After the first touchdown had been made and Antioch had put forth several efforts to show their class, the ball was again placed behind the bars. Antioch was forced to punt. Hogg recovering the ball, gains of 5 yards by Wagner 15 by Mattis and 18 by Funk brought the ball up to the one yard line from where it was pushed over by Mattis. Hartman missed goal and the score stood 11-0.

In the next quarter Fullback John scored a touchdown and place kick registering the score 20-0. Good running by Sanders, Hartman and Mattis carried the ball near Antioch's goal where it was carried over by Rex, after he had been called off side on a splendid run. John's place kick from the 22 yard line ended the scoring for that quarter.

In the third quarter John pulled off the most spectacular play seen on the O. U. field for many years. He received the ball on the kick off and by some good St. Patricks, Tomorrow.

Otterbein seconds have been working hard for what they consider the hardest game of the season to be played tomorrow afternoon with the strong St. Patrick's college of Columbus.

During the Parliament held here last October a gridiron contest was pulled off between these two teams resulting in a score of 0-0.

The game will start at 3 o'clock. Come out in numbers strong and see this royal battle.

Distance Men Training.

Prof. Heltman who has offered his services in coaching the long distance track men led a number of these men in a cross country-run last Wednesday afternoon. Candidates for track in former years have begun training after the Christmas vacation but Cap't. Gifford upon the advice of Prof. Heltman decided to start this training for long distance runs earlier in the year. Monday, Wednesday and Friday of each week are the days on which attention will be given to this work.

Prof. Heltman who ran the mile and half-mile at Syracuse will have charge of the team this fall.

Professors John Smith, '10, of Reynoldsburg, F. H. Menke, '10, of Massillon, John Nau, '10, of Plain City and Mr. Leslie Strahl, '09, of Hopedale, Mrs. Leslie Strahl, '08, Miss Louella Smith, '10, and Mrs. Lillian Mauk Lawrence, '07, witnessed the game Saturday.

head work assisted by excellent interference ran the ball 95 yards for his second touchdown. This run was made just 15 seconds after the start of the third quarter.

After Antioch had kicked off again, Holingshead who replaced Funk at the beginning of the third quarter, showed up in great style, carrying the ball for 50 yards, Tink went for 30 yards and John after an eight yard run scored another touchdown. Rex missed goal. Score 30-0.

John again came in with his boot in the first of the fourth quarter and placed another kick between the bars from the eighteen yard line. After a series of good plays, Hartman ran over for a touchdown from the 25 yard line. Wineland who was put in at end replacing Hartman, was in the game all the time.

The exhibition of ball as put up by the varsity against Antioch to the supporters was an auspicious indication of an overwhelming victory at Cincinnati next Saturday.

SIX ARTIST CONCERTS

With Six Matinee Concerts is Course Offered by Women's Music Club of Columbus.

A big feature of the musical life of Columbus and vicinity is the course of high grade musical concerts offered by the Women's Music Club of our Capital city. In order to offer these very costly entertainments at such low prices, there must be a large number of subscribers to the course. Anyone who has attended one of these concerts can testify to the crowded condition of Memorial Hall which seats about 7000 persons proving the popularity of the entertainments.

This year will be no exception to the rule, as the management has announced a most attractive course of concerts. The first number is to be given Nov. 17th, and is said to be one of the most pretentious concerts ever offered by this organization. A quartet of famous singers from the Metropolitan Opera Company of New York will present operatic arias and duets and at least two grand opera quartets. In fact one can almost imagine himself to be at the Opera, the only difference being the stage setting. There is also to be a group of piano solos played by the great French pianist, Andrea Benoit, who is touring America for the first time.

Five other concerts equally as interesting as the first, follow during the year. These six artist concerts together with six matinee concerts by local artists, comprise the course offered by the Women's Club. All these can be heard by purchasing a ticket for $3.00, which includes reserved seats for every entertainment. Further information and tickets can be secured from Prof. Grabill at the conservatory.

Prof. Guitner to the class in German,—“What does weiner-wurst mean?”

Bradley—“It means dog.”

Prof. Wagoner—“Mr. Goughenour what is the gender of ‘manus’ (hand)?”

Mr. Goughenour—“I don't know.”

Prof. Wagoner—“If you had my experience you would know what gender it is.”

IRWIN'S SHOE STORE

Indivivuality in Mens Clothes

It's really refreshing to find an entire stock of Suits or Overcoats so far removed from the commonplace stereotyped styles of the average clothing store. Usually they are as much alike as peas in a pod. It's different here. Our clothes are mantailored by hand. They have shapely properly fitting collars; shoulders that are built up to just the right proportion; straight or fitted in lines to the coats; all points that make up the sum and substance in clothing of the better kind.

"Hidden Years at Nazareth" was the theme of the Y. W. C. A. meeting last Tuesday evening led by Hazel Codner.

The scripture lesson from Luke 2: 40-52 and Luke 3: 21-23 was read by the leader. Some of her thoughts were. This period of Christ's life is filled with important truths and lessons. Here we study the divine child life under human conditions and environment. By studying the hidden things in one's life we are better able to understand that person's character. The Christ child was subject to firm discipline and strict religious training according to the Jewish custom.

Christ's life during this period was uneventful but not unfruitful. As a result, "the child grew, and waxed strong, filled with wisdom and the grace of God was upon him."

Christ spent thirty years in preparation for three years of service. Are we going to make our years of preparation count for as much as he did. Christ's final reward was, "This is my beloved Son; in Him I am well pleased."

Y. M. C. A.

M. L. Hartman led the Y. M. C. A. last Thursday night, his subject being Athletic Christianity.

The strongest man is the one who combines with the control of the brain, the control of the body. There must be a many sided development if we want to attain to the highest type of manhood.

Many analogies can be made between football and the battlefield of life. The gridiron is like the battlefield of life. We start in the middle of the field and work towards the goal. He who gets the ball keeps his face set towards the goal. So in making the fight of life, we should keep our eyes on the goal.

Before going into a game a football man lays aside everything that would retard him in the game. At the end of the season we have a banquet to rejoice over the victories. The old men who have been trained in athletics come back and rejoice with us. When we get to the other world we may rejoice with those who have successfully fought the battle of life.

The frost is on the pumpkins and—well we are having quite breezy weather.

Criticism is a "mighty" good thing—if given in the proper spirit. It brings to light many faults unknown to ourselves but known and seen by our fellows. We all owe much to criticism.

As a college publication we have many faults. They are known to our readers, many of them to us. We are therefore open to criticism and suggestions. Be free to give them. Our aim is to publish a college weekly; not a newspaper representing a few but rather the entire college with its every department.

The paper is yours, not ours. Give your criticisms and suggestions to us and we will both appreciate and apply them to the best of our ability.

It is generally conceded that the association of students is productive of no mean part in their education. The dissemination and exchange of ideas, or coming in contact with fellow students of similar and dissimilar ideas has a tendency to broaden the views of those so situated. In college we consciously or unconsciously are deriving these benefits.

However there are a few—not many we are glad to note—who are neglecting this association. We find students who have been in college for two and three years and who have in that time made themselves known only in the class room. They have absented themselves from all social gatherings, have refused to take active part in the Literary societies, and have almost entirely isolated themselves from their fellow students. This neglect may be due in some instances to reasons unavoidable but such reasons are scarcely conceivable. To go out of school without having made lasting friendships and without getting into the real college spirit must be an irreparable loss.

READERS' COLUMN.

Would a Department of Domestic Science Introduced at Otterbein be in Keeping with the demands of a Modern College?

Would a department of Domestic Science introduced at Otterbein be in keeping with the demands of a modern college?

Surely we all realize that the need of this very department at Otterbein is vital and that for reason of its absence we are losing students each year.

It is only natural that this line of work should appeal more to girls than does any other course of study. Girls who wish to teach must resort to this department, for teaching of other courses of study is fast being given up to men. The girl who has had a course in Domestic Science need not worry about a position. Such girls are in a class by themselves and can demand the highest salaries.

This kind of training is not only an advantage to the girl who wishes to teach but it seems to me the most practical education for any girl. We all must admit that only the man who has had agricultural training can be a successful farmer. Why is it not as urgent that a woman who knows how to cook and how to do it scientifically is the best home maker?

For these reasons I maintain that a modern college must have a Domestic Science course in its curriculum and I am sure that such a useful course of study will find its place in the future of greater Otterbein.

Facts.

Otterbein has long enjoyed the very unique reputation of being the foremost match-making establishment in the land. No one has ever heard of an Otterbein student who was reduced to the dire necessity of applying to a matrimonial agency. The records kept by the college, if consulted, forcibly testify to that fact in the number of alumnae now happily married and prosperous. However if further evidence is needed, it may be secured by simply noting the achievements of Dan Cupid in our last year's Senior Class.

Now although our record is exceptionally good along this line it's like the cotton crops in the south in that with a little cultivation of the natural abilities the results will be greatly increased.

It is a universally accepted truth that, "The quickest and surest road to a man's heart is through his stomach." By the addition of a course in Domestic Science to the regular curriculum of the college, the path "enroute" to man's heart would be made wonderfully smooth for our college girls. Our fame and reputation would be scattered far and near, our endowment fund immediately reached, and such numbers of students would swarm into Westerville, that old Otterbein would have some trouble in accommodating them all.

This is a very simple solution to the problem of Greater Otterbein and it seems strange that some of our wise heads have not thought of this way out of the difficulty long ere this. Dr. Funk's method of advertising the college is a very good one but would have been many times more effective could he have published also a picture of our O. U. girls in aprons and in the act of preparing a wholesome and appetizing meal. We are of course expecting most excellent results from Dr. Funk's new experiment, but the full realization of the plans laid for the Greater Otterbein will never be reached until the faculty seize this grand opportunity and adopt the Domestic Science course in Otterbein.

Nonsense.

FOOTBALL RULES.

As Translated from a Humorist's Standpoint

The new football rules seem to be arousing a lot of needless bother and perplexity, and many critics declare that they are beyond all comprehension. Utter nonsense. Boiled down and tabulated, the new laws are simple, terse, and easy to understand. Reduced to simplest phraseology, they are about as follows:

The game shall be divided into eight periods and sixteen semicolons. During a period, it is permissible to kick your antagonist in the gizzard, but during a semicolon you can only bite him.

Before the start of each period the opposing captains shall kiss each other twice, after which the referees shall kiss the umpire, and the linesman shall kiss the college widow.

If a man is disabled by reason of a foot getting wedged in his face or a rahrah getting stuck in his thorax, time shall be taken out, and tea shall be served until the injured man recovers.

The ball must not be carried in the hands. It must be held firmly in the teeth, and any player shedding pivot teeth through the weight of the ball shall not be entitled to have time taken out.

If the referee shall loan a captain fifty cents before the game, the ball shall not be legally in play till he gets his half back.

When the ball is passed by the center, the quarterback shall pass it to any player who is nearest him on the opposing side. This will insure free circulation of the ball and prevent monopoly.

When tackling an opponent you must keep one foot on the floor, and the boy will bring you the bridge if needed, while masse shots are positively prohibited in this poolroom.

It is a foul to tackle an opponent below the head or above the feet.

Players appearing with greased jackets shall be inspected by the professor of chemistry. If greased with butter they may proceed, but if greased with oleomargarine they shall be arrested and held for the action of the Federal grand jury.

Anything difficult or hard of comprehension about these rules? They are as facile as A B C, and we don't want to hear any more complaints about their wording or intentions.

COLLEGE REPORTERS.

For Leading Newspapers Appointed by Press Club.

The principal item of business transacted at the press club meeting Tuesday evening was the appointment of various students as college reporters for the leading newspapers of Ohio and of nearby states. The regular meeting of the club will be held on Tuesday at seven o'clock, bi-weekly.

The program committee will arrange for speakers at these meetings who will deliver practical and instructive addresses. Students interested in journalism are urged to be present.

The reporters appointed are as follows:

MRS. LEWIS BOOKWALTER.

Mrs. Lewis Bookwalter whose death occurred Saturday evening Oct. 22, at her home at Hiawatha Kansas, was born at Greencastle, Pa., in 1847 and removed with her parents to Westerville in 1857 where she graduated from Otterbein university with the class of 1867. Following her graduation she taught for a time at Roanoke Academy, Roanoke, Ind., and later at Western College, Iowa, now Leander Clark college. She was united in marriage with Dr. Bookwalter in 1871, to which union six children were born.

The children are: Alfred G. Bookwalter, State secretary Y. M. C. A., Columbus; Mrs. O. W. Burtner, Ansonia, Con.; Mrs. A. H. Ward, Jaffua, Ceylon; Grace, Lulu and Ruth, who are at home. Miss Lulu was under appointment as a missionary to Jaffua but postponed her departure on account of her mother's illness. Miss Ruth has a position as teacher near Hiawatha.

Mrs. Bookwalter is also survived by three sisters, Mrs. Thomas E. Workman of Columbus; Miss Eugenia E. Guitner, professor of Greek at Wheaton College, Wheaton, Ill., and Miss Adelaide I. Guitner, Boston, Mass. She was an aunt of Prof. Alma Guitner, having been a sister of her father J. E. Guitner.

Mrs. Bookwalter was well known here among residents and students, having resided here from 1904 to 1909, during which time Dr. Bookwalter was president of Otterbein. Since their removal from Westerville they resided at Hiawatha, Kansas, where Dr. Bookwalter is pastor of the First Congregational church.

The funeral occurred Tuesday forenoon with interment at Hiawatha.

Question for Debate.

Accepted by Otterbein Oratorical Association. Committee to Draft New Constitution.

"Resolved that our legislature should be shaped toward the abandonment of the Protective Tariff" is the question submitted by the Athens-Marietta league and accepted by the local oratorical association for the triangle debate in which the foregoing named schools will contest.

This action with the ratification of the agreements submitted by the two triangles was taken last Tuesday evening at a meeting of the oratorical association. As Otterbein is privileged to submit the question to Heidelberg and Buchtel, it was agreed that this question would be sent to this second league.

The Heidelberg, Buchtel and Otterbein debate will occur March 10 and the Athens, Marietta and Otterbein contest two weeks later. A committee from the local association was appointed to draft a new constitution for this association. The next meeting will be held Tuesday evening at six o'clock.

Delights Large Audience.

The monthly recital given by the music students in the Lambert hall afforded an excellent treat to a large and appreciative audience last Friday evening. Every seat was occupied, and all were highly pleased with what may be termed the best recital yet given in the Lambert hall.

The work of Prof. Gilbert in his violin renditions was beyond all expectations and brought forth repeated encores.

Addressed the Jury.

A man who had never been in court before in his life was recently called as a witness in a court in southern Indiana. On being sworn he took a position with his back to the jury and began telling his story to the judge, who courteously said, "Address your remarks to the jury, sir."

The witness paused for a moment, but not comprehending what was said to him remained in the same position.

The judge was then more explicit and said, "Speak to the jury, sir—the men behind you on the benches."

The witness turned around, bowed awkwardly, and said, "Good-morning, gentlemen."—National Monthly.

The Judgment of Deeds.

The simplest decision between right and wrong sets in motion causes which act and react upon the character forever. If you do the thing you ought to do, that deed is an everlasting fact; it belongs to your character; the value of it can never be taken from you. If you fail to do the thing you ought to do, that deed undone is an everlasting failure; it subtracts so much from the sum of good that might have been yours, to all eternity you will be so much the poorer for that omission.

Exchange Notes.

. . . The consolation of those who flunked lies in this fact: that a poor showing in the examination does not always indicate poor work. Very frequent it does of course and it is well to heed the warning, but the Freshman who gives up because he disappointed himself on the first examination needs some good sound talk from his advisers. There will be other examinations in which to redeem himself and if he is doing good conscientious work at the beginning of the semester, and keeps it up, there is going to be very little danger for him.

Ohio State Lantern.

A cut of the Y. M. I. Hall, the home of the Young Men's Institute of Leander Clark appeared in the “Owl” last month. This hall is one of which the members of this institute may be well proud with their splendid record held for the past six years in oratory. Of the various activities of a college the literary work should have first place. We congratulate this institute for the reputation it enjoys at Leander Clark.

No man has ever become strong by doing the easy things. It is overcoming adversity and obstacles that makes the true man of this world. If your work is heavy don't worry about it. If you can't always do it all, do your best and you will not be criticized or feel that you have failed.—Leander Clark Era.

Mt. Vernon Return.

Otterbein seconds will probably line up against Mt. Vernon High in a return game to be played on the opponent's field on the Fifth of November. The management does not hold a contract for this game but Mt. Vernon has signified her willingness to match her strength once more against Otterbein's sturdy seconds. As each opposing team has learned wherein they can tighten up their plays this return contest promises to be quite spirited.
