Their Future and Yours Depend on Our Colleges

As Americans, all of us are proud of our national growth. But it is a sobering thought that the number of young men and women who want and deserve a college education will double by 1967.

Right now our colleges and universities are making a valiant effort to take care of the hosts of eager-eyed young people who are already clamoring for admittance. They have an enormous job to do, for the necessary expansion is far more than a matter of adding classrooms, laboratories and dormitory space. There must be a corresponding increase in faculty and in faculty caliber. The profession of college teaching must attract more first-rate men and women or it will be in danger of turning out second-rate graduates.

This problem of the capacity of our colleges to meet the challenge that is now upon us is vital not only to students and their parents but also to business—to industry—and to you.

It is easy to point to current shortages of engineers and scientists. Less obvious but just as pressing is the need for civic leaders—for teachers—for business administrators—for home-makers. Above all there is a need for people who have learned to think soundly and choose wisely. They are and will continue to be the backbone of our strength as a nation.

Freedom needs educated people. In this country, those who lead are those who know. Help the colleges or universities of your choice—now!

If you want to know more about what the college crisis means to you, send for the free booklet "The Closing College Door" to: Box 36, Times Square Station, New York 36, New York.

the EDITOR'S corner

We welcome a new alumni club to the growing list of organized regional alumni groups. On Saturday, March 7th, the Greater Erie, Pennsylvania, Alumni Club was born.

The continued interest of an alumnus in his alma mater is very essential in this day and age when colleges and universities face one crisis after another.

Especially does Otterbein College need the loyalty and support of the alumni if the college is to maintain high standards and a quality educational program. When alumni realize the contributions alma mater has made to them personally—loyalty is automatic.

the COVER page

Eight children of Otterbein Faculty members and administrative officers, including three brother-sister combinations, posed for our camera on Easter Sunday at the entrance to Otterbein. They are representative of the thousands of young people who will be knocking at college doors over the next fifteen years and give emphasis to the article appearing on page ten—it is never too early to think about college.

Bruce Turner, seventh grader, son of President and Mrs. Lynn W. Turner, and Tom Moore, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Moore, '31, (Helen Ewry) flank the two columns. Mrs. Moore is Director of the Admissions Office and her son, a star athlete at Westerville High School, will be a freshman this fall at Otterbein.

Inaugural Speaker

Dr. Herman B. Wells

The President of Indiana University, Dr. Herman B. Wells, will be the featured speaker at the inaugural convocation to be held in Cowan Hall at 10:00 A.M., Saturday, April 25.

Dr. Wells is the eleventh president of Indiana University, heading the Hoosier state university since 1937, and has been the guiding hand in its development from a Middle Western state school to one of the leading institutions of higher education in America.

A native of Indiana, Dr. Wells was born in Jamestown, Boone County, the son of Hoosier school teacher parents.

The Indiana University president has the bachelor of science degree in commerce and the master of arts degree from the University he now heads. He also has honorary doctor of laws degrees from seven colleges and universities.

Following a key role in study and reorganization of Indiana banking institutions during the early 1930's, Dr. Wells served on the Indiana University faculty and was dean of the School of Business before becoming president. When chosen president at the age of 35, he was the country's youngest head of a major educational institution.

Dr. Wells has held many national offices in the educational field including chairmanship of the National Educational Policies Commission. He also has been called to serve the United States government in the field of foreign relations and in 1957 was appointed by President Eisenhower as an American delegate to the 12th General Assembly of the United Nations.

Twice he has gone abroad as a representative of the United States government — first as a member with ministerial rank of the Allied Mission for Observation of the Greek Elections, and later as the first advisor on cultural affairs to the military governor of the U.S. occupied zone of Germany. In the summer of 1958 he visited Soviet Russia as a member of a delegation of ten university presidents to survey Russian higher education.

At the present time, Dr. Wells is abroad on an educational assignment serving as an American consultant to the Pakistan National Commission on Education. He is expected back only a few days before his scheduled appearance at Otterbein.

Banking and business, his earliest interest as the son of an Indiana banker and as graduate, faculty member, and dean of the University's School of Business, continue to claim a portion of his attention. He holds a number of offices and board memberships in the business field, including advisory member of the American Bankers Association Research Council, chairman of the Federal Home Loan Bank of Indianapolis, director of the Indiana Bell Telephone Company, and chairman of the National Thrift Committee.

Major educational posts and honors that have come to the Indiana president include member and chairman of the board of trustees of the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching, member of the education committee of the U.S. Foreign Operation, first president of the National Education Association's department of higher education, president and member of various committees of the National Association of State Universities, and chairman of the Educational Policies Commission of the National Education Association. Currently Dr. Wells is vice chairman of the International Association of Universities.

Floyd J. Vance, '16

When Dr. Lynn W. Turner is installed as the seventeenth president of Otterbein College on Saturday, April 25, he will deliver an inaugural address and confer honorary degrees on four Otterbein alumni.

Floyd J. Vance, Dean and Registrar of Otterbein College will receive the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws. He was acting president of Otterbein for one year prior to the election of Dr. Lynn W. Turner.

Following his graduation from Otterbein in 1916, Mr. Vance served as assistant cashier of the Reynoldsburg, Ohio, Bank. In 1921, he returned to Otterbein, teaching French and serving as principal of the Martin Boehm Academy. He received his master's degree from Ohio State University in 1925.

Mr. Vance is a former president of the Ohio College Registrar's Association and in 1949-50 served as president of the Westerville Lions' Club. He is a member of the First E.U.B. Church of Westerville.

Board Chairman To Receive Honorary Degree

Mr. Vance E. Cribbs, Franklin, Ohio, and chairman of the Otterbein College Board of Trustees since 1950, will receive the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws. He is a 1920 graduate of Otterbein and a member of the Board of Trustees since 1937.

Prior to his retirement, Mr. Cribbs was Assistant Director of Personnel Relations for the Armco Steel Corporation. During his industrial life, he was a member of the Society of American Management, Ohio Chamber of Commerce, and Personnel Consultants Association.

Today, Mr. Cribbs serves as president of the Middletown, Ohio, Rotary Club. He is a member of the First E.U.B. Church of Middletown, where he has served as teacher of the Men's Bible Class for the past thirty-five years. He is also a member of the Y.M.C.A., the Masons and the American Legion. He serves as a member of the boards of two financial institutions in Middletown.

He is married to the former Josephine Foor, '20, and they have a daughter Carolyn who graduated from Otterbein in 1957 and a grandson, Stephen Paul.

Walter N. Roberts, '21

The President of United Theological Seminary, Dayton, Ohio will also receive a Doctor of Laws degree. Dr. Roberts graduated from Otterbein in 1921 and United Theological Seminary in 1924. He received his Ph.D. degree from Hartford Theological Seminary.

Dr. Roberts has served as President of the American Association of Theological Schools. He was a missionary and pastor prior to assuming the Seminary presidency.

Francis P. Bundy, '31

Dr. Francis P. Bundy, Schenectady, New York, and one of four General Electric scientists who succeeded in manufacturing diamonds in 1956, will be awarded the honorary degree of Doctor of Science. He is a 1931 graduate of Otterbein College and received his Ph.D. degree from Ohio State University in 1937.

The Alumni Association honored Dr. Bundy in 1956 with its highest award—The Distinguished Alumnus Award. As a research scientist, he made a valuable contribution to the processes which led to the manufacture of diamonds.

General Conference Highlights

When the thirty-ninth session of the General Conference of the Evangelical United Brethren Church met last October 9-17 in Harrisburg, Pennsylvania, Dr. Janet Gilbert, '18, and Bishop Ira D. Warner, '11, were honored. They both retired on January 1 after many years of service to the denomination.

Miss Janet Gilbert served as Executive Secretary, Women's Society of World Service and Bishop Ira D. Warner was Bishop of the Pacific Area of the E.U.B. Church with headquarters in Puente, California.

The following appeared in The World Evangel, January, 1959:

"The name of Janet Gilbert is almost synonymous with the name, Women's Society of World Service. Since its beginning in 1946, she has served as Executive Secretary. Long before that November day when she was elected to that office, she was associated with the Women's Missionary Association of the United Brethren Church. She had been on the staff since 1922, serving as Secretary of Otterbein Guild, then as editor of The Evangel, and finally as General Secretary.

"For these positions she was well qualified. Her interest in the work and her dedication to the service of the King, dates to girlhood days. Through the years her interest in Kingdom building has increased, and her dedication to the task has deepened.

"Women young and old have been attracted by her winsome personality, and inspired by her vision of the Kingdom that is and is to be. Countless numbers have been challenged by her messages, not only in our Church but in other denominations as well."

Bishop Ira D. Warner, '11

Bishop Ira David Warner, '11, has been a powerful and effective minister over the past forty-eight years. He served pastorates from 1911-1929 in the Evangelical United Brethren Church at Chattanooga, Tennessee; Oak Street, Dayton, Ohio; First Church, Canton, Ohio; and First Church, Akron, Ohio.

In 1929, he was elected a Bishop and assigned to the Pacific Episcopal Area of the former United Brethren Church, a position he held at the time of his retirement.

Bishop Warner received the honorary degree of Doctor of Divinity from Otterbein College in 1921 and York College bestowed the honorary Doctor of Laws degree upon him in 1942.

Elections

Bishop J. Gordon Howard, '22, former President of Otterbein College was re-elected a Bishop and re-assigned to the East Central Area of the Evangelical United Brethren Church with headquarters in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania.

REUNION CONCERT

Invitations have been received by 450 former members of the Otterbein College Men's Glee Club to participate in a fiftieth anniversary reunion concert on Sunday, May 31. Over a hundred replies have come in already, with sixty promising to come back for the concert.

Professor Lee Shackson, present director of the Men's Glee Club, requests those who have received letters but neglected to send in answers to check their cards and mail them back. Also, if you are a former member but did not receive an invitation, please write Professor Shackson at once.

A search through old Sibyls turned up some interesting items about the glee club. As early as 1911, the second year of the club's existence, there was reference to a concert tour including Dayton, Canton, Akron, Barberton, and "other places." John Finley Williamson was listed as one of the new members. In 1915, the student manager was Homer B. Kline.

In 1925, the glee club made phonograph records, and presented twenty-four concerts before more than 12,000 persons. The first mention of regular radio programs was in the 1927 Sibyl, when the club sang over station WAIU in Columbus.

The fiftieth anniversary reunion concert will be given on Sunday evening, May 31, at eight o'clock in Cowan Hall. A feature of the program will be Randall Thompson's "Testament of Freedom" with the College-Community Orchestra. Other numbers on the program will include Tchaikovsky's "Pilgrim Song," Bullard's "Winter Song" (because it was sung at the first concert of the club), and, of course, "Come on Down to Otterbein."

MAY DAY—1959

May Day activities scheduled for Saturday, May 9 are listed on page 15. Events will get under way at 10:30 A.M., when the queen will be crowned with appropriate ceremonies. The program will revolve around a group of strolling minstrels in an Old English setting.

Other activities of the day include a baseball game with Oberlin in the afternoon and a play, "Ah! Wilderness," in the evening.

PICTORIAL VIEW OF NEW LANGUAGE LABORATORY

The new Otterbein College language laboratory is revolutionizing such facilities throughout the nation. Hardly a week passes that a delegation from some college or university is not inspecting the newly built facilities at Otterbein.

The Language Laboratory is located on the second floor of Towers Hall in Dr. Snavelly's old history classroom. Excellent facilities are available for the phonetics and diction classes in the foreign language department. For each laboratory table, a transparent, corrugated plastic front has been built. Also, collapsible, sound-proof partitions to make a more or less standard booth.

A master console controls the individual student position and tape channels. Through this console the student may be monitored, recorded, and corrected or may take his pattern material from the particular channel assigned to him. There are eleven channels from which the student may choose.

The Laboratory has resulted in increased interest, motivation, and effort on the part of the students. Tests have shown that in oral comprehension the first year film-text student ranks above the norm of national second year students and fifty per-cent are reaching the third year norms. In reading and writing also, class norms are almost a year ahead of the average.

A $10,200 grant from Lilly Endowment, Inc., Indianapolis, has enabled the college to complete the two-year audio-visual film-text course of instruction in French.

In making the grant, Dr. Manning M. Pattillo, Associate Director of Lilly Endowment, Inc. said, "We believe that the ideas and materials you are developing can be of value to many secondary schools and colleges in the improvement of their teaching of foreign languages."

The Otterbein Film-Text was for the most part filmed in France. It is now being used for the third year in beginning French classes at Otterbein and in five experimental second year sections.

Another view of laboratory with microphone and headphones. Each student has a transistor amplifier which permits him to hear himself as he really sounds, not as he thinks he sounds. The student thus hears through the earphones instead of the earbones.

Each pedestal serves two students and has space for recorder and two panels. Chairs are adjustable in height, so that the student will always be at the right height for his microphone.

Phonetics and diction class in advanced French.

How To Prepare For College

by ARTHUR L. SCHULTZ
Director of Public Relations
Otterbein College

Before the freshman year in high school is the ideal time to start preparing for college.

In these days of overcrowded colleges and universities, young people who wait until the sophomore or junior year of high school to do their planning are on the outside, looking in.

Here's why:

More and more young people are seeking college educations. Eleven times as many young people are now enrolled in U.S. colleges as were enrolled in 1900, even though the national population has only doubled.

Statistics show that thirty percent of all U.S. college-age youth are now in college, compared with only five percent in 1900. If the present trend continues, by 1970 there will be six million young people in U.S. colleges and universities, as compared with the three million enrolled today.

In other words, college enrollment is expected to double within the next ten to twelve years. Already it is becoming difficult for the average student to get into and remain in the college of his choice. It will get harder in the future.

By the time you are ready for college in four or five years, it seems certain that colleges will be more selective than they are today.

Students with good high school grades will be favored over those with average or below-average marks. Students with a desire to stay four years will be selected over those likely to drop out after a year or two.

Students with leadership qualities and abilities for good campus citizenship will have an advantage over those with negative qualities. Because of increasing college expenses, students with no financial resources will of necessity have to give way to those who have some resources. A college education costs money and will cost more in the future.

How, then, can you help increase your chances of getting into (and staying in) the college you choose?

Here are three important suggestions:

FIRST, START EARLY in high school to prepare academically.

The most important requirement for admission into an accredited college is good high school grades.

Most colleges favor the student who ranks in the upper half of his high school graduating class. Such rank usually indicates a B average and the ability to do college-level work.

Next in importance is the matter of subjects studied in high school. Most colleges require fifteen units of high school work for admission. A unit is the value assigned to a full year of study in a major subject in classes which meet daily.

The requirements of the better colleges include three units in English (preferably four), two in mathematics, two in social science, two in science, and two in foreign language, leaving a total of four elective units.

What if you have all of the above units except foreign language? If a student has not taken two years of a foreign language in high school, he will be required to take a minimum of two years of study in some one language in college instead of the one year required for graduation. For this work he will receive full college credit, which will be counted toward his graduation requirements.

One further item in preparing academically. Do you like to read? Or do you have to be driven? Adequate reading skills are important for a college education. Assignments of 200 to 300 pages in a single subject are not uncommon. The ability to handle the English language is vital.

Make sure you understand what you read and retain reasonably well what you have read. Also, master the art of spelling.

SECOND, PREPARE yourself financially for college.

Most colleges seek to provide for their students a complete campus experience without permitting the cost to become excessive. Unfortunately, a college education is expensive, and in these days of inflation the cost of tuition, room, board, and books is steadily rising.

However, in all fairness it must be pointed out that every student who attends a college of any type does not pay the total cost of his education. On the whole, a student in a private college pays only from 50% to 75% of the cost of his education.

The balance of the expense of a student's education is borne by the college through the income from endowment, plus contributions from the churches of the denomination and from other sources.

You must plan in advance how to pay for a college education. Many families find it difficult to use the annual living budget to educate a child. If two or more children from one family are enrolled at the same time, the burden becomes proportionately greater.

The best solution is to spread over a period of years a savings plan to meet future college expenses. Insurance policies are designed to provide educational funds, and banks promote savings plans for such purposes. Earnings from part-time employment and summer jobs can provide substantial sums.

THIRD, PREPARE yourself socially and spiritually for college life.

You are on your own in college. Your success is dependent not only on your academic achievement and ability to meet financial obligations but also on your sense of responsibility and your ability to make decisions.

The transition from high school to college is not easy. It requires the skills of self-discipline, honesty, industry, seriousness of purpose, and a dozen other traits.

A lack of these skills is one of the main causes of failure in college. It is very important to learn now how to think for yourself, not to follow the crowd. It is equally important to develop self-control, to be a good sport, to have the courage to accept failure, to take criticism, and to do what you are told.

Now is the time to accept and apply Christian moral and spiritual values, as well as to sense what is most important in life. Seeking to do the will of God and growing as a Christian are the best preparation for overcoming the temptations which hinder a potential college citizen.

If you have adequate preparation academically, financially, socially, and spiritually, you belong in college.

A portrait of Philip William Otterbein, founder and first bishop of the United Brethren Church, has recently been presented to the college by Dr. W. J. M. Scott, a surgeon of Rochester, New York. The portrait, one of the two known originals in existence, is in the form of a small wax profile bust in four colors.

It was made in Baltimore, Maryland, in 1821, at the request of Otterbein's close friend, Reverend John M. Hildt, who wanted it to carry on his rounds of the pioneer United Brethren Churches in the Middle West. Later, the portrait passed into the possession of Dr. N. Stone Scott of Cleveland, father of the donor.

The wax portrait, a left-side profile only four inches high, mounted in a glass case, is remarkably life-like, showing Otterbein's graying hair, full ruddy countenance, white cravat, and severe black coat. The vigorous personality and kindly dignity are easily recognizable.

Only one feature is, unfortunately, not well preserved. The bishop had a large full nose that played a rather conspicuous part in giving an impression of his power. At one time the wax bust was accidentally dropped. The good bishop's nose suffered considerable damage. No attempt was made to repair the delicate wax artistry, and today the profile is somewhat "pug-nosed."

SPOTLIGHT ON SPORTS

A Memorial Scholarship is being established at Otterbein College jointly by the Westerville High School Booster Club and the "O" Club in memory of two Westerville coaches, David W. Parks and James W. Scarfpin.

Purpose of the scholarship is to give a deserving Westerville High School athlete a full tuition scholarship at Otterbein College. Only a Westerville student-athlete is eligible for this scholarship, which will be awarded on the basis of grades and athletic ability.

Parks, a resident of Westerville from 1921 until his sudden death in 1956, had his first coaching assignment in Westerville from 1921 until 1925, when he accepted the football and baseball coaching position at Columbus Central High School.

Scarfpin came to Westerville as football, basketball, and baseball coach in 1944. During ten years as football coach, he compiled a respectable 54-20-3 record. He was athletic director at the time of his death in 1958.

An annual sports banquet to raise funds is planned to keep the scholarship on a continuing basis. A kick-off banquet will be held on April 20 at 6:30 P.M. in the Blendon Grange Hall, Westerville. Tickets are $5.00 each, with the profit being used to start the fund.

Persons desiring tickets or wishing to make a contribution to the fund may do so by writing to the Parks-Scarfpin Memorial Scholarship Fund, Box 87, Westerville, Ohio.

All-Ohio Conference

John Leohner

John Leohner, 6-3 sophomore forward from Lancaster, Ohio, on the 1958-59 Otterbein basketball squad, was selected by the Ohio Conference basketball coaches on the All-Ohio Conference Team. He was the leading scorer in the Ohio Conference, with 435 points in 19 games for an average of 22.9 points per game.

Leohner connected on 138 field goals out of 275 attempts for .502 percent and made 159 free throws out of 198 attempts for .803 percent. According to National Collegiate Athletic Bureau statistics, Leohner ranked thirtieth in the nation among small college individual scoring leaders. His Otterbein teammates voted him the outstanding player on the squad for the 1958-59 basketball season.

The Otters completed the season with two victories (both against Kenyon) and seventeen losses. The Otters scored a total of 1359 points while their opponents were making 1610.

"O" CLUB MINSTREL

The second annual "O" Club Minstrel will be held in Cowan Hall, Friday and Saturday, April 17 and 18, at 8:00 P.M. Admission is $1.00.

This is a money-making project of the "O" Club to aid worthy athletes at Otterbein. A capacity audience is expected both evenings.

Alumni Giving in the U. S. A.

1957-1958

Alumni giving to American higher education climbed 29% last year, according to the American Alumni Council's twenty-first annual survey of alumni giving.

A record $129,442,920 in gifts from graduates and former students was reported by 478 universities and colleges in the United States.

Of the total contributed by alumni, $38,799,845 was channeled through the annual alumni funds (Development Fund at Otterbein) as "living endowment." Bequests, capital gifts, and other support given directly to the institutions accounted for the larger share of the total.

The average gift dropped from $35.60 in 1956-57 to $32.03 in 1957-58, whereas the percentage of alumni responding to the appeals for gifts increased from 20.5% to 22.5%.

The annual report released recently by the Development Office revealed that 23.8% of Otterbein alumni and ex-students made contributions to their alma mater in 1958. This was 1.3% above the national average.

In comparing the size of the annual gifts it is heartening to note that the average gift from Otterbein alumni ($42.33) was $10.30 above the national average ($32.03).

Comparisons with Other Colleges

The 1957-1958 survey of annual giving and alumni support reveals the records of eleven private coeducational colleges in Ohio. They are as follows:

College	Percentage of Alumni Contributing	Average Gift	Total Gifts to Annual Fund
Antioch	22.1	$19.44	$ 35,803
Baldwin Wallace	19.4	26.71	52,415
Heidelberg	30.7	23.38	38,192
Hiram	16.1	45.60	35,340
Marietta	18.6	16.94	18,570
Mount Union	15.4	16.55	20,343
Oberlin	22.9	18.47	105,650
Ohio Wesleyan	29.3	20.97	119,363
OTTERBEIN	23.8	43.36	58,108
Wittenberg	28.8	27.26	101,039
Wooster	41.8	20.47	105,966

Good, But Not Good Enough

Of the eleven colleges, Otterbein ranks fifth in percentage of alumni contributing, second in average gift, and fifth in total of alumni gifts to the annual fund. The four colleges ahead of Otterbein in the total amount given have more than twice our number of alumni.

In comparison with other Ohio colleges, Otterbein's record is good. It should be noted, however, that 76.8% of Princeton University graduates contribute to their alma mater. Is there any good reason why three times as many Princeton alumni as Otterbein alumni contribute to their alma mater?

Akron, Toledo Alumni Set Pace

The Otterbein alumni of the Akron and Toledo areas have set a good example for all alumni in 1959. A whopping 90% of the alumni in Akron and 76% of the alumni in Toledo have already contributed this year. Alumni in those areas gave because a fellow alumnus called and asked for their gifts. You likely would give if someone called on you personally. May we count on you to send your gift this year without a personal call? The best Ohio college record last year was established by the College of Wooster. Let's put Otterbein at the head of the list in 1959!

SUPPORT THE COLLEGE OF YOUR CHOICE

"Support the college of your choice" is an appeal which has been heard many times during the past year over radio and television in every nook and corner of the United States. You have also seen newspaper and magazine advertisements and cards on buses and street cars — all telling the same story and urging support of higher education.

This advertising has not been purchased. The National Advertising Council has contributed its services in preparing the copy and the various communications media have given free of charge the time on the air and the space on the printed pages.

Several millions of dollars of advertising have been donated because the needs of our institutions are so urgent. The appeals for help have not been directed solely to the alumni of our colleges, but to the public in general. It goes without saying, however, that alumni should be the first to respond to the appeal. Obviously "the college of your choice" is Otterbein, for she has a considerable investment in you, and you, in turn, have benefited directly from this investment. It is to your advantage to help keep her strong.

CONFERENCE ON ESTATE PLANNING

The conference on Estate Planning and Philanthropic Giving, described on page seven, promises to be of great value to those professional people who are called upon to help clients with their estate plans and who need to keep abreast of tax laws.

The alumni office does not keep a record of graduates by professions; consequently, some alumni who are lawyers, accountants, and trust officers and other bank officials may not have received personal invitations. All such persons who plan to attend the conference should inform the Development Office, so that proper reservations may be made.

ALUMNI CLUBS

these lectures he summarized his own research findings and those of his graduate students over the past several years on the mineralogy, lithology, structure, texture, and other properties of material deposited by continental ice sheets.

The data were derived from laboratory studies of over one thousand samples collected over an area of about 15,000 square miles in north-eastern Ohio and northwestern Pennsylvania. This research has been supported by the U.S. Geological Survey, the National Science Foundation, and other agencies.

While in Great Britain, Professor White attended the meeting of the Geological Society of London, of which he is a fellow. It is the oldest geological society in the world.

Under Professor White's direction, five graduate students working in the field of geomorphology and glacial geology completed work for their Ph.D. degrees last year. Six students are now working toward the completion of the degree.

Tuition Increase

The Executive Committee of the Otterbein College Board of Trustees voted to increase tuition $80 a year and room rents $20 a year effective September 1. This will raise tuition to $750 a year and room rentals to $200 a year.

Increased costs and the need to raise faculty salaries in order to retain qualified and experienced faculty members were given as reasons for the increases.
Also, the trustees were concerned that the high standards of a quality education at Otterbein be maintained. There will be no increase in board costs.

Otterbein College expenses are considerably less than the average for private schools in the East and compare favorably with other colleges of similar size.
