BRILLIANT SEASON

IS IN STORE FOR OTTERBEIN'S BASKET BALL AGGREGATION.

Practice Now Started Brings to Light Promising Material in Both New and Old.

The closing of the present football season finds athletic lovers speculating as to the prospects of a successful basket ball season.

The situation may be summed up briefly.

But two men of last year's team are absent this year, Cornetet, center and Warner, guard. These men were strong at their positions and will undoubtedly be missed. However, with new recruits already on the floor these vacancies bid fair to be ably filled.

Sanders and Young, the forwards of 1910 are in line for the coming season and with these two men working together no fear need be entertained for this department of the team.

Cook and Bailey at guards are old timers and with their excellent work in past seasons are to be reckoned as formidable goal protectors to any opposing team.

Art Lambert who ably filled the position of center, part of the last season is out again and will put up a good strong fight for a berth on the five. At this position Rex John is also a likely candidate, having played several games on the 1909 team.

Among the men who have no varsity experience but who are considered promising material are Crosby and Foltz at center, Stringer of last year's second team and Dempsey, a new recruit. At guard Fouts, Hall and Russell are working hard. These men should develop into good material.

With the interest already manifest in the practices which started last week and with the work of the clever Captain, Young, nothing

THANKSGIVING RECOLLECTIONS

*When the winds of bleak November
Down the chimney moan and sigh,
Stirring into life each ember
Till the flames roar fierce and high
Then my thoughts revert to boyhood,
When Thanksgiving Day drew nigh.*

*In the flames I see the farmhouse,
And the woodland brown and sere
Where the sportsman's rifle echoed
As that day of days drew near.
Scenes which ever shall be cherished
In the burning logs appear.*

*I can see the deep old cellar
Where the apple bins, piled high,
Overshadowed heaps of pumpkins
Golden as the sunset sky,
And the casks of new fall cider Stood along the wall close by.*

*As the old-time scenes are fading
While the fire slowly dies,
Visions of a groaning table
Are presented to my eyes,
And I almost scent the fragrance
Of the mince and pumpkin pies.*

DEEP GRATITUDE

SHOULD FILL HEARTS OF STUDENTS, FACULTY AND FRIENDS.

Countless Blessings Attending Otterbein University Give Real Cause for Thanksgiving.

There has possibly never been a year in the history of Otterbein University when its students, professors, and friends could give thanks to Almighty God with such enthusiasm as at the present time. We are passing through a most delightful and successful year.

Apart from the more general blessings which we share alike in our country such as the national blessings of peace and prosperity, there are certain specific and local interests which call forth profound gratitude.

1 We should be thankful for the things we have.

Otterbein has a material equipment which, while by no means adequate to its present needs, is so superior to what it had years ago as to inspire gratitude. There is a happy, healthy, normal, social and religious spirit at Otterbein which is an occasion for thanksgiving. The

ABLE ADDRESS

Delivered in College Chapel By Dr Patterson.

One of the strongest and most logical appeals in behalf of temperance which the students have been privileged to hear in the college chapel, was delivered by Dr. J. A. Patterson, superintendent of the New York Anti-Saloon League, last Thursday morning. Two years ago Dr. Patterson was pastor of the Central Presbyterian church in Columbus.

In his introductory remarks he said in part:

"It is not getting an education but what we do with it that counts for something in this world. The great things have not all been done. History is not recognized in the making. The men at Valley Forge never realized they were making history."

Leading from his well chosen introductory remarks he plunged into the subject of intemperance and presented undeniable facts. He said, "We are confronted with the greed of the liquor seller and the desire of the liquor buyer.

Our nation could not exist half slave and half free. Neither can this same nation flourish half drunk and half sober.

Mankind has been forging from savagery to civilization for many ages, but drink can take him back from this civilization to savagery in two hours."

Dr. Patterson was one of the prominent speakers at the Anti-Saloon convention of the eastern and central states in session in Westerville last week.

STOFER-EVARTS WEDDING

Occurs at Bride's Home in Bellville Last Thursday.

The wedding of Miss Katherine Stofer of the class '10, to Mr. Evarts of New York occurred last Thursday at noon at the home of the bride in Bellville, President W. G. Clippinger officiating.

It was a beautiful wedding. The large spacious home was decorated with southern evergreens, smilax and other evergreens. The parlor was dimly lighted with candles during the ceremony.

Immediately at the appointed hour the little twin sisters of the bride, Martha and Mary proceeded from the foot of the stair-way with white ribbons, between which the wedding procession followed, the officiating minister clad in academic cap and gown leading the procession, followed by the bridesmaid, Miss Barbara Stofer, after whom came the bride leaning upon the arm of her aged uncle, Mr. Jerome King. They were met at the altar by the groom elect and his best man, Mr. Fred Carroll of New York. The rich and elegant Episcopal ring service was used.

The ceremony was followed by a beautifully arranged wedding dinner. Quite a number of guests were in attendance at the wedding from Westerville, Mansfield, Mt. Vernon, Portsmouth and other points.

After the ceremony the bride and groom left immediately for their newly furnished apartments at 112 East 18th street, New York City. Mr. Evarts is the advertising manager of the Marine Review of that city. Miss Stofer was a member of the class of 1910. Friends of Otterbein extend heartiest congratulations to these young people in their wedded life.

ing but tip-top success is assured.

Manager Hogg has arranged an excellent schedule with some of the strongest teams in the state among which is Ohio State which game will open the season, Jan. 7. The schedule is not yet ready for publication but will appear in a week or two.

AT COLLEGE.

A Freshman went to Hades
To see what he could learn
They sent him back to earth again
He was too green to burn.

A Sophomore went to Paradise
In his wisy, wisy way
St. Peter sent him back to earth
He was too wise to stay.

A Junior went to College
To try for his degree
But Prexy sent him home again
Too many flunks—you see.

A Senior left his Alma Mater
To show the world a few
But the world has never yet discovered

Y. W. C. A.

"The Great Need of the Non-Christian World for Christ," was the theme of the address given by Mr. Swartz, the International Traveling Secretary of the Student Volunteer Movement, at Y. W. C. A. last Tuesday evening. The leader, Edith Bennett read the Scripture lesson from Ps: 91. Then Mr. Swartz spoke to the girls. He gave the challenge—"Reinforcements or retreat, which?" All men need Christ. First, because hundreds and thousands are dying without hope. No other name among men will save. Secondly, that they might throw off the bonds of ignorance, superstition and cruelty. They can do this if they have Christ. As Christians we must free them of this cruelty. Christ can overthrow all bonds and bring them back.

The non-christian world needs Christ to shape the destiny of new nations. There must be some strong moral tone which can only come from a christian name.

They need Christ in order to secure the blessings that come from Christianity.

They need Christ now. Great changes have recently taken place. Great opportunities are open. God has prepared the way. The work must be done. Who will do it? The church needs a stimulus. If we can do the work in the foreign field we can cope with the work at home.

We need to shoulder this responsibility for our country's sake. We must do it because of Christ's command.

What must we do? We must be aroused to our responsibility. We must procure the means of support and men and women to make these reinforcements. Put your lives and talents into the hand of God and let Him use you as He sees best.

Music Session.

The regular meeting of the Y. M. C. A. was given over entirely to music last Thursday evening. Solo, quartet and octet numbers, with the orchestra constituted the special music for the evening. A vocal solo by Mr. Hatton, violin by Prof. Gilbert and cornet by Mr. Reider with the ensemble numbers by the Y. M. C. A. quartet, male octet and orchestra were greatly appreciated by the fellows.

Still They Come.

The third prize offer made to the art department during the past three weeks comes from Mrs. Joseph Knox of Columbus, a former student and friend of this department. Mrs. Knox who is especially interested in oil paintings will give a prize of $10 for the best painting of this kind. She is a staunch friend of the University and is watching the growth of the art department with particular pleasure. She gladly makes this prize offer, knowing that it will stimulate a still greater interest in oil painting.

Mrs. Knox is the mother of Jay Knox, a former student, and of Mrs. Nola Knox Hornbeck of the class '02, and is the wife of J. J. Knox a trustee of the University.

Few there are who do not herald with particular delight the coming of the day set apart for Thanksgiving. It is one day of all others when hearts should be made glad, minds free and cares set aside. But it has a deeper significance. It is a time of reflection upon the innumerable blessings that have attended us.
A review of these blessings are ably presented by President Clippinger. We are indeed blessed with a remarkable and prosperous year.

A reflection of this kind should give us real cause for a genuine and whole hearted Thanksgiving.

To Wittenberg.

Thanksgiving will find a large delegation of students witnessing the final football game of the season at Springfield. Wittenberg although handicapped somewhat

at the opening of the season by the inefficiency of their coach has put up some strong football in the last few games.

The management has secured a special car which will carry the students and citizens of Westerville for $1.30 return. Those wishing to secure these rates should see C. L. Bailey.

DISTINGUISHED MEN.

In Attendance at Anti-Saloon Convention at Westerville.

The Anti-Saloon League of the Central and Eastern districts of America held an interesting three days' session last week in the Methodist Episcopal church at Westerville. The town was honored by the presence of a large number of distinguished men, who were entertained in the homes of the citizens. The visitors also gave voice to the temperance work now in hand
here having called and addressed
several mass meetings.

The meeting began Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock with devotional exercises by Rev. N. A.
Palmer, of Louisville, Ky. Addresses of welcome were made by Mayor Bale, Dr. Meyer, president of the board of trade, and by Dr.
H. Garst, professor emeritus of Otterbein University. Rev. A. P.
Hutton of Wheeling, W. Va., made the response.

The program consisted of forenoon, afternoon and evening sessions. Subjects of general interest were presented by able speakers after which the topic
was open for brief general discussion.

The convention closed Thursday evening with an eloquent address by John G. Wooley, who had been candidate for the presidency on the prohibition ticket in 1900 and who is now superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League
of the Hawaiian Islands.

Gym Schedule Complete.

Prof. Kiehl who has the supervision of the gymnasium has completed the schedule for the coming season and has placed this schedule in full in the Association hall. No one but players will be permitted on the floor and these only on schedule hours. The gallery will be open to visitors Monday afternoons and Thursday evenings.

$600 IN CASH

Secured by Senior Class Starts Equipment of Athletic Field.

Cash subscriptions amounting to $150.00 given by the members of the Senior class last Wednesday evening at a called meeting completed the $600.00 cash obligation which has conditioned the initiatory work on the new Athletic field. The college Trustees who have been awaiting the completion of this cash sollicitation will at once lay plans for the equipment of the field.

The Senior Class has now on hands including the $600.00 in cash, subscriptions amounting to over $1000.00, an accomplishment which assures the realization of the coveted goal.

The Executive Board of the University will meet sometime during the present week at which time plans will be discussed and formulated in connection with this project. Although the grading probably will not be undertaken before spring other steps such as laying out the field, removing stumps etc will be started at once.

COLLEGE ORCHESTRA.

Is Object of Many Favorable Comments from Auditors.

Of Otterbein's numerous musical organizations the college orchestra deserves special mention.
Under the leadership of Prof. Gilbert who has proven himself an efficient director this organization already surpasses any similar organizations of former years.

As the services of a college orchestra at public lectures, entertainments, etc are almost indispensable the rapid progress in this department is attracting particular attention on the part of the student body. The regular rehearsals are held each evening at 7:30 p. m.

The members of the orchestra
are: Zabrosky, 'cello; Sanders, bass violin; Bandeen and Prof.
Gilbert, director, violins; Lash
and Lambert, clarionets; Reider
and Williams, cornets; Alexander, trombone; Prof. Fries, piano;
Funk and Weinland, drums.

Rev. C. E. Byrer, '97, of Springfield will deliver a lecture Tuesday
before the Lobeau Club of Columbus on "Daniel, the Great Man."

Thanksgiving Stories.

Home vs. Game.

Ella Strong sat at the window of her room looking out across the campus. The troubled look on her face was due to a letter in her hand which she had just finished reading. It was the day before Thanksgiving and Ella had made up her mind not to go home for the vacation this year. The Thanksgiving football game was to be played on the home field and Dick was so anxious for her to stay for the game. Dick was Captain of the team and Ella had been very proud of his work. She had written her mother that he wouldn't be home and it was her mother's answer which had set the girl to thinking. There had been no word of reproach in the letter but Ella could detect a strain of deep disappointment that the youngest of the family would not be present for the family reunion. As Ella sat thinking it all over a sense of shame stole over her. She saw the family gathered around the table—brothers and sisters, some of them whom she had not seen for many months, all there. Only one vacant place and that place hers! Suddenly jumping up she rushed to her chum's room, finding it full of girls.

"Girls," she exclaimed, "Come help me quick. I'm going to spend Thanksgiving at home and my train leaves in twenty-five minutes."

"Maria."

A Rat's Thanksgiving.

Bill Bryan had gone down in the cellar to get some molasses out of a big jar to make some candy on Thanksgiving evening. Hearing something rustle behind a big box he tiptoed back in a corner to await developments. Soon a big rat came out, crawled up on the jar and hung himself down inside the jar by his front feet. Then another came out, crawled down his back and hung to his hind legs. Then a third and fourth performed the same "stunt." Finally the fifth crawled down the rat bridge. The last one succeeded in getting his tail and the sides of his body thoroughly "molassified." He ascended the rat ladder, each rat in turn following him out. All of them "set down" to a genuine Thanksgiving jollification and Willy concluded that he would defer his candy making to a later date.

The Two Wishes.

Edith Murle was the guest of honor at a Thanksgiving dinner at the Parker home. When the meal was over Edith insisted on helping do the dishes and Mina reluctantly accepted the offer.

"Look here Edith, here's a piece of chicken left over. Let us eat it and make a wish, Do you believe in wishes?" "Yes, sometimes but there's not a particle of difference which part of the wish-bone one gets. At least that is my experience" replied Edith, "Pull," said Mina and crack went the wish bone.

"I've got the wish," laughed Mina. "I hope so" responded Edith, "Mine has already been realized. How do you like my new ring?" touching her hand to her chin. "I had the choice of a diamond but chose the plain band ring instead. But don't give me away, it's a secret." "Oh how lovely!" exclaimed Mina. "What is the engraving?" "I believe I'll choose a diamond—but then one can't depend on wish bones."

Three months later Edith received a note from Mina saying she had a secret to tell her sometime.

In a postscript she wrote, "I guess I might as well tell you now as ever. Of course you will not give it away. Isn't it strange, Edith, how we girls change our minds? In spite of my fancy for diamonds I told J. B. C., I preferred a plain band ring."

Well Received.

Alton Packard, cartoonist-lecturer, gave the second entertainment of the Citizens' lecture course Tuesday evening in the college chapel. He was greeted by a large audience whose attention he held throughout the evening with his crayon sketches illustrative of "Types of Uncle Sam's Folks." His drawings presented many phases of American life and enabled each to see himself as others see him. This is Mr. Packard's second appearance before a Westerville audience and as before he gave the best of satisfaction. The single admission sale was the largest ever known here.

Mr. Hodge of Oberlin is visiting Prof. Fries.

physical health and comfort during the year have been good. With a few exceptions but little sickness has afflicted us. We have not been attended with any epidemics. The material prosperity of the institution is splendid. During the past year more money was raised for current expenses than in any year in its history. The canvass for $500,000.00 of endowment proceeds hopefully. A good part of this amount has been pledged. Twenty-three acres of new ground have been purchased, which becomes an additional asset to the property of the University. Between five and ten thousand dollars have been pledged for the payment of this ground and its development. Part of this aggressive movement is to be credited to the present Senior class, part of it to friends of the institution, and part to the administration itself.

During the year Otterbein has been brought into the favorable recognition of the outside world in various ways. By the strengthening of its courses; the representation of the members of the faculty; and the publicity through athletics, Otterbein has become better known than in former years.

2 We should be thankful for the things we miss.
 "An easy thing, O Power divine,
 To thank Thee for these gifts of thine,
 For summer's sunshine, winter's snow,
 For hearts that kindle, thoughts that glow;
 But when shall I attain to this—
 To thank Thee for the things I miss?

Sometimes there comes an hour of calm;
 Grief turns to blessing, pain to balm;
 A power that works above my will Still leads me onward, upward still;
 An then my heart attains to this—
 To thank Thee for the things we miss."

While it is a comparatively easy thing for us to give thanks for the things we enjoy, it requires a closer introspection to discover the things we miss.

To even those in distress and sorrow there is something of comfort in the thought that things might have been worse. Death has come into the homes of some of our students and members of the faculty and taken away loved ones, but it has not entered our own ranks. That heart is noble and that soul is grand which can mount above sorrow and distress and yet become grateful for the absence of greater calamity; and so whether our lot has been sorrowful or glad there is still room for thanksgiving.

That the nation should not have suffered great pestilence, that our college should have suffered no great humiliation and unfavorable public comment and that peace and harmony exist between the students and the faculty, that a spirit of optimism and hopefulness possess us all—these are reasons for profound gratitude.
 3 We should be thankful for the things we hope for.

One of the things for which we should be profoundly grateful is the spirit of optimism and hopefulness which burns in the bosom of every true lover of Otterbein. "The Greater Otterbein" is not a mere dream or fancy, but is bound to come to pass, if not as quickly as some anticipate, certainly it will be realized as the consummation of the fond ambitions of our loyal supporters. It is a matter of great gratitude that we can cherish a fond and living hope for the larger and better development of our beautiful Otterbein. That the future should hold in store for us newer and better buildings, an increased student attendance, a larger and adequate endowment, higher ideals of manhood and womanhood, better standards of academics and scholastic training, a more consistent moral and religious life, is an occasion for thankfulness.

Our souls, therefore, go upward and outward in thankfulness for what the future will reveal to us and for the actualization of the things which now are but expectations.

"Faith is the substance of things hoped for, the evidence of things not seen." So God be thanked for faith and for hope, for visions, and for ideals of better things to come. Yet in all our thankfulness for the things we have, for the things we miss, and for the things we hope for, there comes to us a gentle but stern warning that we be not flushed with success or too exultant over the things which are blessings to us, and this warning comes to us, lest we forget the source whence cometh all this good.

Both as a nation and as a school we can all pray with Kipling to the God of nations, the God of all peoples:

"God of our fathers, known of old,

Lord of our far flung battle line,
 Beneath whose awful hand we hold

Dominion over palm and pine—
 Lord, God of Hosts, be with us yet,
 Lest we forget—lest we forget!

"The tumult and the shouting dies;

The captains and the kings depart:

Still stands thine ancient sacrifice,
 An humble and a contrite heart.
 Lord God of Hosts, be with us yet,

Lest we forget—lest we forget!"
 Pres. W. G. Clippinger.

THANKSGIVING.

The green leaves now are turning
Bright yellow, red and brown,
The evening fires are burning
On every hearth in town,
The aged wear a frown;
For Autumn's chilling days are here,
The winter season now is near.

But in the autumn dreary
There comes a happy time,
When hearts are bright and cheery
In age and youthful prime,
A time of joy sublime,
Bright day of happiness and
cheer,
Thanksgiving day, to all so dear.

'Tis then the harvest treasures
Fill full the Nation's bin,
And glad Thanksgiving pleasures
Come sweetly stealing in,
Deep gratitude to win,
From all hearts both high and lowly
To the Giver great and holy.

Oh, may this grateful spirit
That renders thanks to God,
Roll o'er each soul and cheer it
By which life's path is trod,
Though wearily it plod,
That from all lips in voices strong
May burst Thanksgiving's happy
song.

L. M. Moore, '11.

DEATH SUMMONS.

Comes to Barrett Lyon Kumler of the Class, '98.

After an illness of two weeks
of scarlet fever Barrett Lyon Kumler of the class '98 died at his home in Dayton last Thursday morning at three o'clock.

Mr. Kumler contracted the disease while at the bedside of his wife who with her two children lies ill at the home of her parents in Somerset, Pa.

The death of this member of class of '98 is deeply mourned by his many friends, all of whom feel keenly the loss of this loyal Otterbein friend.

Mr. Kumler better known to Otterbein friends as "Barry" was well known in business circles having been connected with the Rike Dry Goods Co.

The funeral was held Friday morning at ten o'clock, a short service having been held at the cemetery in Dayton.

Must Present Credits.

President Clippinger announced last Friday evening to the students that all the credits of work done in schools previously attended must be presented to the classification committee within the first semester after entrance.
This action which was taken by the faculty last year grew out of the persistency of a few students to retain these credits in order to pursue their studies as Academy students. This ruling of the faculty in prohibiting the practice will be rigidly enforced in the future.

MARSHMALLOW ROAST.

Given by Freshman Class Last Monday was Peaceable Affair.

A neat little social event was pulled off by the already renowned Freshman Class Monday evening between the hours eight and ten. A large representation from this class without any interference made their way to the Karg residence where they were entertained quite royally by the hostess, Miss Bertha Karg.

Following a lively social chat
the class repaired to a large grove adjoining the Karg property and there built a large bonfire?

The remaining evening was spent roasting marshmallows—
and the Sophomore class.

Marlin<sup>Big</sup> Game REPEATING RIFLES

The Special Smokeless Steel barrel, rifled deep on the Ballard system, creates perfect combustion, develops highest velocity and hurls the bullet with utmost accuracy and mightiest killing impact.

The mechanism is direct-acting, strong, simple and perfectly adjusted.
It never clogs. The protecting wall of solid steel between your head and cartridge keeps rain, sleet, snow and all foreign matter from getting into the action. The side ejection throws shells away from line of sight and allows instant repeat shots always.

Built in perfect proportion throughout, in many high power calibres, it is a quick handling, powerful, accurate gun for all big game.

Every hunter should know all the Marlin characteristics. The Marlin Firearms Co.

OTTERBEINESQUES.

There's a happy day a comin',
That's just as sure as Ned,
When the turkey gobbler'll lose his feathers

And the rooster'll lose his head.
Yes Thanksgiving day's a comin',
A better day than any other
When we will be goin' home
To take dinner with our mother.

But some poor things alack a day!
Who can't go home will have to stay;

No matter if 'tis sun or storm They'll dine with Matron at the dorm,

And some poor chaps must eat
their grub

In town with steward of the club.

"Pancandies at Day's Bakery."

Reider to Mrs. Clements in midst of disorder—"Mother, as long as one spark of manhood remains in this heaving bosom, I'll maintain order."

"Doughnuts at Day's Bakery."

Muthersbaugh, gesticulating violently—"I think we ought to do away with caps and gowns.
It's too great a burden to wear them in hot weather."

Miss Gifford, raging—"I think the fellow who can't stand to wear a cap and gown isn't much of a man."

Prof. Gilbert—"While riding in a Franklin machine last summer
with a lady friend I ran the machine into a fence as a result of attempting to hold the wheel with one hand."

ALUMNALS.
