"GRADS" THROUG TO HOME-COMING

Former Students and Other Friends of College Return in Unprecedented Number.

PROGRAM WELL EXECUTED

Occasion Is Acclaimed as Greatest Event of its Kind in College's History.

Saturday night terminated Otterbein's greatest Home-coming. Though similar occasions have been observed from year to year, every one voiced the opinion that never before had such enthusiasm, such large numbers of visiting alumni and friends of the college been witnessed.

Beginning Thursday night with the special sessions of the women's literary societies, alumni arrived in ever increasing numbers.

Student committees had carefully prepared a program for the entertainment of visitors and beginning Friday, there was scarcely an idle moment.

The student committees, together with the Student Council, deserve high commendation for the capable manner in which all Home-coming plans were carried out. This year a greater effort than ever before was made to invite alumni, invitations being sent by the school, by literary societies and by the Varsity "O". Also more careful provision was made to accommodate alumni after they arrived.

All in all, Otterbein's 1921 Home-coming was eminently satisfactory to students, alumni and friends of the college.

Chairmen in charge of the various committees were:

ATHLETIC CLUB CONVENES

Athletic Interests of Otterbein Discussed at Important Meeting of Alumni.

Saturday noon a nucleus of the old Otterbein Athletic Club, with several prominent alumni and local business men, met at the Blendon Hotel for lunch and a business meeting.

Secretary Ralph W. Smith took charge of the business and offered several amendments to the constitution. The amendments were passed.

The methods of obtaining membership and dues were explained by Mr. Smith.

On recommendation of a committee the following men were elected as directors of the club; C. O. Altman, '05; H. W. Elliott, '15; F. E. Sanders, '15; Ralph W. Smith, '12; and L. W. Warson, '05. All of these men are living in Westerville and will have an opportunity to get together at intervals to dispose of the business of the club as it comes up.

It was decided that the annual meeting of the Club would be held at Home-coming instead of at Commencement time.

During the discussion that followed in which Frank Clements, Homer B. Kline, F. O. Van Sickle, W. H. Anderson, C. O. Altman, A. P. Rosselot and Homer Lambert made speeches concerning the different aspects of the Club, vouchsafing their support of the club's interests. Practically every man present pledged his support to the athletic interests of the school and promised to be responsible for lining up old "grads" in his community for membership in the club, and also assumed responsibility for organizing groups in his home community to take a friendly interest in young athletes. ## Bishop W. M. Bell Speaks

In Chapel To Students.

Friday morning, Bishop W. M. Bell, Senior Bishop of the United Brethren Church, spoke at chapel. Bishop Bell chose as his central theme the great word "Continuity".

Bishop Bell, one of America's foremost public speakers, is a polished orator and his message was received with great pleasure.

Glee Club Elects Officers.

In the election of officers held last week by the Men's Glee Club, Ray M. Johnson was elected president, and J. M. Owen, secretary-treasurer. Under the direction of Professor Spessard the Club is putting in some very hard work on this season's new program.

GET-TO-GETHER ENJOYED

Annual Home-coming Supper Is Scene of Great Enthusiasm and Spirit.

Last Saturday evening, three hundred and fifty enthusiastic alumni, students, ex-students and friends of the college enjoyed the annual Home-coming Supper, held in the United Brethren Church.

Due to the outcome of the football game, enthusiasm reigned supreme and many acquaintances were renewed and new ones formed in the half hour preceding the supper. Practically all of the visiting alumni were present.

The results of the various games played throughout the country were announced and were received with much interest by everyone.

Following an excellent dinner, Professor A. P. Rosselot introduced the toastmaster of the evening, Homer B. Kline, '15, of Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, who expressed his appreciation of this Home-coming and then called upon H. P. Lambert, '12, of Anderson, Indiana. "Cupe" spoke enthusiastically of this year's Home-coming, saying that it was the best he had attended since his graduation. He complimented the team for its fine game and closed with the statement that Otterbein will be one of the greatest colleges in the country if everyone (Continued on page six.)

Dr. and Mrs. W. M. Gantz

Entertain Football Squad.

Dr. and Mrs. W. M. Gantz were hosts to the varsity football squad last Tuesday evening at their home on Walnut Street.

The house was appropriately decorated in keeping with the Halloween season. The guests entered through an arch of corn fodder and were welcomed by fairies into a world of fodder, beautiful autumn leaves, inhabited by countless witches, ghosts, and black cats.

The hostess had arranged many delightful games which occupied most of the evening. Among the most interesting was a nerve test designed to secure the men with sufficient nerve for the game on Saturday.

The fairies served a splendid lunch of such a nature and at a time suited to football men.

Aside from the members of the varsity squad, Coach and Mrs. Dittmer, Athletic Director and Mrs. Martin were present.

All join in hearty praise for the ability of Dr. and Mrs. Gantz as hosts.

VARSITY HOLDS KENYON TO TIE

Old Time Rivals Wage Bitter Fight In Home-coming Gridiron Battle.

RECORD CROWD ATTENDS

Game Filled With Many Hair-Raising Moments, As Teams Strive for Supremacy.

In a game replete with thrills and some of the keenest football that has ever been witnessed on the local gridiron, Otterbein had to be satisfied with a 7-7 score in her annual Home-coming game here Saturday with Kenyon.

The visitors presented the best team that has been seen in the purple and white togs since 1916. The same old Kenyon style of playing and use of unsportsmanlike tactics was very much in evidence.

The much tooted booter, Stock, is either a victim of the perjured press or he had an off day, as his punting looked rather tame as compared with Peden's, whose best effort was good for sixty-five yards. Summerville was the only individual star on the Kenyon team.

Kenyon won the toss and chose to receive. After a couple downs they fumbled and "Skinney" Lehman recovered. On the first play Anderson took the ball on an end run and following the prettiest interference that any back could hope for, made a dash down the field for 45 yards. The next two plays were through the line, and netted about five yards. Peden then threw a pass to Johnny George, but Summerville interfered with Johnny in a way that caused him to drop the oval. The referee penalized Kenyon the distance of the pass which was good for twenty yards. This placed the ball on the six yard line and on the next play George carried the ball over with practically no resistance. The famous old "hike shift" was used (Continued on page two.)

Saturday, Dec. 3, Is Day Set

For Taking of Sibyl Pictures.

Business Manager of the Sibyl, John Schutz, has announced that Saturday, December 3, the student body will go to the Baker Art Gallery to secure the group pictures for this year's Sibyl. This arrangement is necessary in order to secure the best pictures possible and it is hoped that everyone will reserve this date and arrange to co-operate with the Sibyl management.

and it completely baffled the Kenyon bunch. Anderson kicked goal.

The only bright spot in the remaining quarter was George's returning of punts and the stone wall resistance of Otterbein's line. The quarter ended with the ball on Otterbein's 29 yard line.

Peden opened the second quarter by punting 65 yards, the ball going for a touchback. In this quarter Anderson was injured and was replaced by Albright. "Andy" had thrown his whole soul in the game and was given a mighty cheer as he came to the side lines.

Nothing of great importance happened in the remainder of this period. Being unable to gain, Kenyon resorted to the punting game and several time punted on the first down.

Kenyon's "horse shoe" came in the early part of the third period when Johnny George, in his anxiety to get away with a punt, fumbled, and as Peden came racing past to recover, the ball bounced directly in front of his toe and was sent down to Kenyon's 6 yard line where Summerville succeeded in beating Peden on the recovery. On the next play Olsen carried the ball over. Hohlfelder kicked goal. Neither goal was in danger during the rest of the quarter. This period ended with the ball in Kenyon's possession on their 55 yard line.

On the kick-off, "Sprouty" grabbed the pill and carried it back for 25 yards. Several penalties were made in this quarter, with O. C. on the short end of the donations. In the last few minutes of play Kenyon's premier punter attempted a place kick from the 35 yard line. He was hurried so much by Schreck and Stoltz that the attempt proved a fizzle, the ball scooting into the line where O. C. recovered. In the final few minutes of play Otterbein opened up in an attempt to score. Peden gained 12 yards on an end run and completed a pass to Johnny George for 6; Albright went through the line for six and George around end for five, when the final blast of the timer's whistle stopped what might have been a characteristic Otterbein finish and a touch-down that would have made the score quite different. But the curtain had dropped on a scene that brought many favorable comments from the spectators.

Edna Johnson Leads Y. W. C. A.

Last Tuesday night Y. W. C. A. had an especially interesting and enjoyable meeting due to the leadership of Edna Johnson. Many helpful talks on the subject "Two Minute Kindnesses" were given by some of the girls.

Part of the time was given to the singing of some songs that the girls had learned at Eaglesmere. The little every day kindnesses which we so often neglect were very clearly and forcibly brought to mind.

PHILALETHEAN PROGRAM

Interesting and Varied Special Session Given In Honor of Home-coming.

Philaethea's home-coming session measured up to her usual high standard. All who attended enjoyed a varied and entertaining program.

Ruth Snyder's Satire, "What Ain't," was very well written, the subject being new dormitories for the men of Otterbein.

In her absence Virginia Blagg's story was read by Marjora Whistler. The story was a very clever portrayal of the struggle of a young girl who had been raised in a convent, to find her place in the chaotic world of the war.

"Trippers and Stoppers" was the subject of Mary Vance's Invective. She arraigned the modern tendency to live at a break-neck speed, using as an illustration the habit of many travellers of rushing from one place to another, seeing little and caring less. She then applied the same principle to college life.

Bonnibel Yanney gave a clever conversation which was made more interesting by the unexpected ending.

The music was excellent. Josephine Cridland and Virginia Snaveley played a violin duet. Geneva Braley sang Henry Giehl's "For You Alone", Lucile Gerber gave a musical reading, "Life's a very Funny Proposition After All." The musical program ended with a selection by the Glee Club.

During extemporaneous speaking, Mrs. Ha Bale Hayes, Mrs. Pilkington and Dr. Sherrick spoke to Society.

Joint-Society Reception.

Cochran Hall on Saturday morning was the scene of gay activities when old "grads" not only met old "grads" but became better acquainted with students.

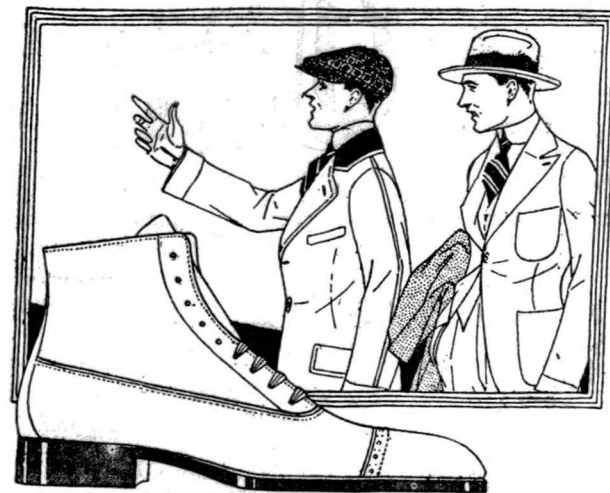

The affair was unprecedented in that the four literary societies joined their efforts in making it a happy time for alumni and ex-students.

A splendid orchestra provided music for the occasion. The chief event of the morning's program was a short play, "All Things Come to Him Who Waits," of which P. J. Harris was both the author and the leading actor. He was supported by an able cast which included Virginia Taylor, Kay Sellman, Mary Elizabeth Brewbaker, Grace Hill, Ruth Snyder and Harriet Whistler. The moral of the play, which was very evident, put hosts and guests in a mood for the refreshments which followed.

As a part of the Home-coming program a rally was staged in the chapel Saturday morning.

MAKING OUR MARK

Earl Stockslager,, '23.
Philomatheia.

Every college student evidently must have an ambition to make some kind of a mark in life or at least exert some influence else he would never have entered college. If that is true, first of all that ambition ought to be analyzed or defined. Does it seek for its goal selfish ends and aims or does it desire to realize noble purposes? Supposing the latter condition to prevail as it should, we still ought to be concerned about their lasting and far-reaching effect. And then the problem arises; how can we expect to achieve those very desirable goals? One thing of which we are certain is, that we must begin now on that upward climb. Situated as we are, under the influence of this environment, it is not only our privilege but a duty to make our mark in life. Every organization connected with this college provides for us some needed training and development as a preparation for making that mark not only here but elsewhere in the world.

However, the time allotted will not permit a particular reference to any of those factors which enlarge the students' life save one: that is the literary society. Those of us who have entered these halls again from a previous year can testify to that influence though perhaps it be inexpressible in words. For often the measure of great privilege, benefits, and means of advancement cannot be ascertained by rule or line nor can their value be calculated in dollars and cents. But yet, the possessions which to us are the most precious and from which we would most regrettably separate ourselves are hidden and unseen treasures of the heart that abide not as material things but as time and eternity. A christian college such as the one we have entered has in store such precious gifts for distribution among those who desire them, and the literary society we have found to be in no sense the least in significance and worth. To the student who has inculcated an appreciation for the most beneficial and lasting assets of life, Philomatheia and the other societies offer helpful assistance in realizing them. Granted that some of you have caught the desire for the attainment of the highest ideals; yet there are doubtless some of us who still need to contract similar contagious aspirations.

Within these halls, we come in contact with the rich heritage and fruitful achievements of the past. The faithful and devoted students of former days have taught us many lessons and besides we do well to profit by any of their mistakes and use them as a means of our own advancement.

Their accomplishments and high standards have been handed down to us as rich and uncompensated traditions. Doubtless, we never shall realize what a debt has been incurred upon us because of the services rendered by those who have made this society what it is to-day. If there is any way for us to cancel and discharge that obligation it is through our untiring effort to make our best contribution in her behalf and for the sake of those students yet to enter Otterbein. Moreover we can extend our gratitude perhaps best to those in the past by doing our duty and performing our obligation now to those in the future.

Most certainly former students have set a noble record for us to measure up to. Nevertheless growing out of that very fact, it becomes our duty and privilege to elevate those existing standards to a still higher altitude however impossible that may seem. Any difficult task carries with it a challenge, but the person who accepts that challenge and surmounts the barrier is always well repaid for the time spent and the effort put forth. If we who are enjoying these benefits so lavishly provided do not accomplish something worthy of note and commendation, our devotion and resolve to do greater things and live more exalted lives might be seriously questioned.

For you and me, therefore, a resolution is apparently in order to spend a little more effort in preserving the dignity of this society and likewise the college, by the uprightness and nobility of our own characters, individually; to be a little more enthusiastic in attempting to give our best to the larger good; and perhaps above all else, to be a little more loyal in fulfilling our responsibilities as a keen sense of duty may demand.

Now to those who are contemplating their preference of a society, as well as to those of us who are already members here, I trust that the challenge facing each and all will neither be too great for its realization nor yet on the other hand, too small and insignificant to stimulate our best efforts. Although the selection of any new student here should be our brother society, the hope still remains that you enter her halls with a keen sense of your similar obligations to her for the benefits you will derive as an active member and besides, for the influence your character will undoubtedly wield. The fulfilling of any obligation is always found worth while, and also a great factor in the preparation for a successful life. And the extent of that success will be measured not so much by what we receive but by what we contribute to others.

EDITORIAL

Idle curiosity keeps too many people busy.

Are You Educated?

Thousands of students, the world over, enter colleges and universities every year. They spend four years at their respective institutions, pour out money that is often obtained at great sacrifice, all for the purpose of securing an education. Yet if any one of us was asked just what was the result of "Education" we would be at a loss, more or less, to give an intelligent answer.

Some suppose an education should make a walking encyclopedia of one, others are under the impression that the sole aim of education is to learn to array oneself like a fashion plate.
And so notions of education differ widely.

Not long ago, however, Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler while speaking at Columbia University gave six tests of an educated man, believing that they will be of real benefit to every college student, we give them herewith.

"Correctness and precision in the use of the mother tongue, gained only by association with good English; refined and gentle manners, which are the expression of fixed habits of thought and conduct;
sound standards of feeling and appreciation; the power of reflection;
the power of growth, and lastly, the ability to do efficiently without nervous agitation.

Count Your Blessings.

Within the past fortnight, Denison University has been having considerable trouble regarding the matter of Sunday "walking dates".

It has been the rule at that institution that no "walking dates" be allowed on the Sabbath, but last spring
the Faculty suspended the regulation and this coveted privilege was allowed.

Recently, however, the Faculty decided to enforce the rule again and immediately a storm of protest rose from the student body. The Student Council resigned as a body and there has been an open break between Faculty and students.

We, at Otterbein, can be thankful for our privileges in the matter of "dates". The administration here is much more lenient than at many institutions regarding "calling hours",
"dates", and so forth, and we believe that the school is far better off this way, than if students were hedged about with countless restrictions.

Make a number of laws, especially laws of needless severity and you immediately invite violation.

So all Otterbein students, while sympathizing with their fellow students at Denison should at the same time count the blessings they enjoy here, and cautiously avoid any violation of present regulations that would make stricter rules necessary.

AN APOLOGY

Last week in the Tan and Cardinal several references were made to E. V.
Wilcox, '90, who visited Otterbein.

Due to an error on our part, we confused E. V. Wilcox with his brother, Edwin Mead Wilcox, and it was the latter who visited the school.

Dr. E. M. Wilcox is a botanist of great repute and has spent his life in botanical research, as professor in universities and as contributor to various botanical magazines.

He is at present Director of the San Domingo.

Thanks Due Art Department.

Great thanks are due the members of the Art Department, who furnished the various posters used in connection with Home-coming. The posters, in that they furnished miscellaneous information, were a great convenience.
Miss Edna Dellinger and Miss Margaret Wetherill composed the poster committee.

"Bleacher Fund" Increases.

Our grandstand is to share its lonesome sovereignty. No longer will our hapless gallants be forced either to stand alone on the sidelines with
"fair lady" perched high in the stands, or to selfishly make said "fair-lady"
share their misery.

Thanks to the planning of La Vaughn Leatherman and the efficiency of six freshman girls, salesladies parexcellence, a fund has been secured which warrants the ordering of a new set of bleachers of the portable type from an Illinois firm.

The money was raised by the sale of football programs, and by the proceeds from a lunch stand on the athletic field. The six girls who rate a salute for their result-getting efforts are Florence Vance, Lucille Judy, Beth Mason, Norma Richardson, Pauline Wentz and Helen Gibson.

can and ought to be noted touching our activities in later life. We are learning to do now what we will do in the future.

Then in view of these facts, is it not imperative my fellow students that we give ourselves whole-heartedly to all the opportunities and duties here afforded us and thus make the most of them, thereby making a worthy mark here and thus preparing to make a greater elsewhere, by adding our fullest share not only to our society but as well to Otterbein herself? Things accomplished with little effort are little appreciated and are perhaps less worth while. So may we now pledge anew to dedicate our lives to the realizing of more worthy achievements and the development of more enviable characters, knowing that their influence will go on forever. Let us no longer wait on the doorstep of opportunity, but let us enter and by so doing leave our "footprints on the sands of time."

CONFERENCE DIGEST

Oberlin and Miami Are Still Strong Contenders for Ohio Championship.

Three of last Saturday's football games were of special importance to Otterbein fans. The first, of course, was our struggle with Kenyon. Next came the Miami-Denison game in as much as the Otterbein men meet the former at Oxford next Saturday. The 21-6 score which was registered against the Baptists seems to indicate that the Miami men are stronger than even Oberlin. That point is emphasized when one considers that Miami ran a score nearly three times as large as Oberlin did against Wesleyan. The third game, which attracted state-wide attention, was the Oberlin-Wesleyan tilt in which the up state men returned victors by virtue of a 21-0 score. Both teams bid fair to go through the season undefeated. Much hinges on the Oberlin-Wooster meeting this week.

Other Games Interesting.

While the games already mentioned were the headliners, other Ohio contests were interesting. Wittenberg ruined Cincinnati's hopes of starting their conference schedule auspiciously when, in the last quarter with the score standing 2-0 against his team Heberling caught a punt and raced 85 yards through the Queen City men for a touchdown. Ohio Northern humbled Hiram 35-0. Poor Heidelberg seems to have little hope of winning a football game this season. Case School fattened her own percentage with a 35-0 win over the Tiffinites. Akron kept Mt. Union in the zero column with a 28-14 win, while Reserve held Wooster to a single touchdown. Ohio University found Baldwin-Wallace easy for 35 points.

Games This Week.

Otterbein will occupy a prominent position when she meets Miami. The Oxford men undoubtedly expect a frolic. Kenyon will try to keep a clean slate against Wittenberg. Godfrey's men have improved wonderfully since their first game, and if Otterbein folk imagine that the Westerville aggregation will have a cinch on November 12 they had better come again. Wooster must overcome great odds if she is to return from Oberlin as the victor. Interesting scores should result from the following contests: Case vs. Mt. Union, Cincinnati vs. Ohio University, Denison vs. Wesleyan, Northern vs. Reserve. Three teams, Akron, Heidelberg, and Hiram go outside of the conference for games. They will meet Muskingum, Wilmington and Geneva, Pa., in the order mentioned.

SPORTORIAL

Captain Peden is a man who talks little and says much. At the Homecoming Banquet Peden spoke to the alumni; he made a speech that no alumnus is too busy to heed. He dwelt upon the fact that if the proper impetus be given to further the dispatch of Otterbein athletics the alumni must be the moving factor in sending athletes to Otterbein.

Alumni are scattered far wide. The knowledge that they are interested in their Alma Mater as never before is well established. Every alumnus, whether he was an actual participant in athletics during his student days or not, can send athletes to Otterbein. He can make the road easy in one or more of a number of ways.

Many an alumnus has worked hard to this end. They have battled against terrific odds in selling Otterbein. They have been forced to face such odds because somebody failed to replace the stars of a winning team five years ago. Some of the fruits of their labors were noticed in the performance of certain men in Saturday's game. Others are seen in the fine set of men who compose the backbone of the freshman squad.

Now is the time to strike. Seven of the twelve men who played in the Homecoming game have made their last appearance on an Otterbein gridiron. Every one of these men is a product of Otterbein coaches, notably Ditmer. Not one of them was a player of extraordinary repute in high school, while five played their first football game on the Tan and Cardinal squad and two are strictly Ditmer products, having made their first appearance on the gridiron only last fall.

How much better teams a coach could turn out if he could start with men, who knew ~~random~~ football and were able to play it, instead of men who are even ignorant of the rules of the game, is a matter of speculation.

Otterbein is not an inferior school. Her literary, social, and ethical standards are still of the highest type. She has resumed her former standing as an athletic factor, for which members of the alumni are directly responsible. Will the mass of Otterbein Alumni respond to the challenge which is theirs, or will they leave the faithful few to struggle alone?

On to Miami!

The other day
I was walking around the

A friend
And my friend and I saw Bill
Standing on the bridge
Spitting in the water
To see which way it
Was running.
We were talking and Bill noticed a
Scar on my nose
And
I told him it was

And Bill said,

OFF SIDES

If there was any doubt in any of the minds of visiting grads about Ditmer's ability to coach a football team, we hope it was banished forever during those first few minutes of play in Saturday's game.

Roy Peden, P. V. Sprout, "Levi" Howe, "Gord" Howard, John George,

"Skinney" Lehman and "Ex" Albright were the seniors on the team who were playing their last game on the Otterbein Grid. As an illustration of how anxious they were to show the folks that they are real he-men, "Skinney" Lehman was afraid to call "time-out" because he was afraid he would be taken out of the game.

Johnny George carried the ball approximately 120 yards on returning punts. Johnny was almost heart-broken over the fumbled punt that resulted in the score for Kenyon.

Sprouty's cool-headed generalship and his choice of plays is a very important factor in the outcome of the game. This lad is our idea of a hundred percent plugger.

The fact that we made but one substitution in the entire game when playing against a team that was so much heavier is an accomplishment not to be overlooked.

Kenyon's quarter back sneaks and center drives were nipped in the bud. Any backfield should be proud to play behind the kind of work that "Tillie", "Gord" and "Perk" were putting up in the center of the line.

The more we see of some of the other school's idea of good spirit the prouder we are of Otterbein.

George Little, the man who is evidently responsible for Miami's football pre-eminence, is a close friend of Coach Ditmer. The men, Ditmer for O. C. and Little for Wesleyan, were gridiron rivals. Both men personify that old time spirit of self-sacrificing solidarity.

Berrys forfeited to Mattoons, Cook-Holdren to Priest-Reed. The forfeitures were due to freshman football player's inability to participate.

continues to boost with the same spirit shown throughout the Home-coming. Toastmaster Kline spoke in glowing terms of the service of Roy Peden, '22, to Otterbein and called upon him, as the captain of the team, to represent that body. Captain Peden responded by thanking everyone for their support of the team and then made a strong plea for increased support of athletics from the alumni.

Coach Ditmer, '10, spoke in his characteristically optimistic, peppy manner and stated that in his opinion the team had found itself and would continue to win throughout the season.

Miss Boneta Jamison, '14, made a short speech and expressed her appreciation of the team and of the Home-coming.

The last speech of the evening was given by President Clippinger. In his judgement Otterbein won the game instead of tying it. He expressed his personal appreciation of Otterbein's sportsmanship, both at home and at other colleges and then spoke of the Diamond Jubilee period. He told of the present interest of the alumni in the financial matters relative to the Jubilee, and said that the Jubilee was now officially under way. With an outline of the new endowment plan, he concluded his speech with a powerful plea for the success of the coming campaign. Following a hearty, "Yea Otterbein!" and the singing of the "Otterbein Marching Song," the meeting was considered dismissed, everyone agreeing that the supper had been a fitting conclusion of this year's Home-coming.

and use influence to persuade them to give Otterbein a fair chance to make a bid for their services on her future athletic teams.

A strong note of optimism prevailed, and all the speeches were given in a positive tone which encouraged those who have been bearing the burden of the situation to have new hope that in the future Otterbein will receive her share of the young men who start at some college each fall.

Following this meeting the Board of Directors met for the election of officers. Homer P. Lambert was re-elected president and Ralph W. Smith, secretary-treasurer. W. H. Anderson, Dr. W. M. Gantz and Bishop A. T. Howard were elected vice-presidents.

It has been a long time since the girls of Cochran Hall have had such an all around good time as they had this week-end. There were pushes, slumber parties, eats and slumberless parties galore, until almost everyone had a headache and was feeling good all over.

Friday night one room furnished sleeping quarters for twenty-four happy students and dignified alumnae. This typical example sounds like the stories of crowded tenements or the poor housing conditions of the European students but it wasn't like that at all. Isn't it queer how things can be so much alike and yet so very different.

The presence of "Sis" Bingham and "Jo" Foor made things seem like, "ye good old days" while "Loie" Clark's smile and Esther Ann's gay "Hello" were appreciated everywhere. Betty McCabe came too, and "Glad" Howard and Marvel Sebert and "darling Evelyn" and the George girls, and more kept coming until it was an "A No. 1" Home-coming.

The "grads" of four and five years ago did not forget us either and as a result the guest room walls heard many a good story of "when we were in school."

Last Thursday night, in honor of Home-coming, Y. M. C. A. had a meeting of special interest to alumni. Dr. A. T. Howard, '94, President of Bonebrake Theological Seminary, was the speaker of the evening.

Dr. Howard, in his remarks, emphasized the things that were of greatest help to him during his college days at Otterbein. In brief, the high points in Dr. Howard's talk were "Believe something!" "Hide the word of God in your heart", Keep your eyes on the utmost parts of the earth".
