

TRIPLE PLAYS — Things backfire on Michael Echols, center, when he falls into the clutches of three zany females. From left, they are Ann Doering as Fiona, Tamyana Sager as Beebee and Linda Finnell as Millie. All Over Town runs Tuesday through Saturday at Otterbein College.

Ending For Season, 4 Students 'All Over' At Otterbein

Otterbein Summer Theater will be all over after All Over Town.

Four students' performing careers at Otterbein College will be all over after All Over Town.

The comedy is the last of the summer season and the last Otterbein performance for four students. It opens Tuesday and continues at 8:30 p.m. through Saturday in the Campus Center Arena Theater.

All Over Town depicts sex as a revolutionary weapon, setting off as madhouse of hilarity. The play by Murray Schisgal is about a psychiatrist going crazy. Within his chaotic household, he tries to restore sanity to himself and his world by curing a man whose pastime is creating illegitimate children.

Final bows will be taken by Michael Echols, who plays Lewis; Linda Finnell as Millie; John Ebner as Dr. Lionel Morris; and Tamyana Sager as Beebee Morris. Echols and Ms. Finnell are recent Otterbein graduates. Ebner and Ms. Sager will graduate after an off-campus internship in the fall.

All Over Town is being directed by Carter Lewis, a 1973 graduate who is in his second year as managing director of Otterbein Summer Theater.

Ticket information is available at the Campus Center box office from 12:30 to 9 p.m. weekdays.

Little Rock Conflict Traced In CBS Film

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Joanne Woodward and Charles Durning star as educators who become embroiled in the federal-state controversy over school integration in Little Rock, Ark., in September 1957.

The CBS movie Crisis at Central High was written by Richard Levinson and William Link from the journals of Elizabeth Huckaby, the school's vice principal.

P.O.
JULY 24, 1980

Michael Echols, from left, as Lewis, Tamyana Sager as Beebee Morris, Linda Finnell as Millie, and John Ebner as Dr. Lionel Morris in the final summer show, "All Over Town."

'All Over Town' closes season

The Otterbein Summer Theatre will present "All Over Town" as the closing play of the season Tuesday through Saturday at 8:30 p.m. in the air-conditioned Otterbein Campus Center Arena Theatre.

This zany modern comedy will feature the final performances of four Otterbein students, Michael Echols as Lewis, Linda Finnell as Millie, John Ebner as Dr. Lionel Morris, and Tamyana Sager as Beebee Morris.

Echols and Finnell are recent Otterbein graduates.

Ebner and Sager will be graduated after completion of an off-campus fall term internship.

The play is written by Murray Schisgal.

Carter Lewis, a 1973 Otterbein graduate, is directing the production. Lewis, a playwright and director, is serving as a director and as managing director of the Otterbein Summer Theatre for his second consecutive summer.

Lewis, who directed "Otherwise Engaged" earlier in the summer season, was the director for two of last summer's successful Otterbein Theatre productions, "The Runner Stumbles" and "Harvey." He has also directed "Vaniities" and "How the Other Half Loves" at Otterbein, as well as numerous productions in other area theatres, including "The Boys in the Band" and "Relatively Speaking" at Players Theatre and "Arsenic and Old Lace" at Country Dinner Playhouse.

Other cast members are Susan Diol as Sybil Morris, Rich Tatgenhorst as Charles Kogan, Jeffrey Garber as Colonel Martin Hopkins, Roger Tackette as Louie, Carlyle Owens as Michael Boyssan, Janine Papin as Jackie Boyssan, Richard Buckley as Laurent, Fontaine Follansbee as Philomena Hopkins, Larry Sherwood as Mr. Harold P. Hainsworth, Donna Williamson as Francine, Ann Doering as Fiona, and Gwen Torrey as Fedora.

Tickets are available for "All Over Town" at the campus center box office 12:30 to 9 p.m. weekdays.

Public Opinion