"Biggest Thief In Town" Cowan-Bound Feb. 26

By Joyce Shannon

Rehearsals have been well underway these last few weeks by the cast of the student production, "The Biggest Thief In Town" by Dalton Trumbo. The three-act comedy, under the direction of Miss Patricia Noble, will be given in Cowan Hall, February 26 at 8:15 p.m.

Council Drive...

Geis, and Miss Marilyn Day, respectively, will auction a cake, a pie, and cookies. One sorority group has volunteered to wash and iron men's shirts for donations.

A baton-twirling lesson can be had from Lieutenant Francis Wildman for as many as eight or ten interested students. Dr. Price has decided to create a "mobile" to be auctioned. Two delicious steak dinners will be served by Professor Harold Hancock.

"Saleable commodities" are much in demand. Saturday, February 26, has been suggested as a possible "duty day" for meeting obligations auctioned in Thursday's chapel. Voluntary individual services may be cleared through Miss Betty Gibson.

Mrs. Hunt expresses great enthusiasm for the project, as do many members of the Council, the faculty, and the student body. "It's a good tactic," she says. "Projects of this kind, which educate people, help to protect all of us from threat of Communism and other things."

In this, as in all fund-raising programs, the emphasis must be on the value of any donation, regardless of

Bert Hutchins (Walter Bonnett) is a poor undertaker who does his best to keep his business up while Jay Stewart (Allen Kepke) is a doctor friend of Bert's who helps him at strategic times.

Laurie Hutchins (Miss Barbara Tompkins), Bert's daughter whose ambition is to be a famous dancer, is in love with Buddy Gywnne (John Bullis) her dancing partner whom Bert doesn't like.

Horton Paige (Earl Cline) is a newspaper man just waiting for the right story to come along so he can become famous and Sam Walkins (David Warner) is a drunken pharmacist who spends his spare time (the time when he isn't drinking) "spreading the good word."

Troybalt (Richard Hayes) is the richest man of the town who has been "diddling with the books." He is under the able care of Dr. Rolfe Willow (Keith Leonard) and Miss Tipton (Miss Sarah Rose) because of his ill health.

Jared Rumley (Howard Longmire) is a friend of Troybalt's hoping to receive all of Troybalt's business upon the latter's death.

All of these different personalities joined together will make an enjoyable evening for all who attend the single performance of "The Biggest Thief In Town."
