

"The Rainmaker" Will Be Included

May 1958

"The Rainmaker," presented at Otterbein College May 9 and 10 will feature Nancy Myers and Jack Hinton, both from Canton, in the leading roles. The play will be part of the Annual May Day festivities.

The Cap and Dagger of Otterbein College is sponsoring "The Rainmaker" in conjunction with the Annual May Day Festivities. The production, playing May 9 and 10, stars Nancy Myers and Jack Hinton, who are both from Canton.

Cowan Hall Auditorium will be the scene of the play scheduled to begin at 8:15. James Rapoport is the director of the production.

Miss Myers portrays the part of Lizzy Curry who is quite a plain girl. Since the play centers around the Curry family from the West, the manner in which they face the drought, it would be incomplete without Bill Starbuck. Jack Hinton is featured in this role.

Lizzy's brothers and her father are attempting to get her married off. Starbuck, the Rainmaker, figured predominantly in the plot.

Other members of the cast are Neal Lund, Olmsted; Paul Butts, Oberlin; Ralph Bender, New Philadelphia; John Payton, Westerville; and Dave McCracken, Latrobe, Pa.
