

RELEASE:

30 sec. "I told him, and told him, and told him--then I finally bit him" is only one of the many comic lines in the next Otterbein college Theatre production, "King of Hearts", to be presented on Friday and Saturday, Feb. 26-27, at 8:15 P.M. The plot revolves around an egocentric cartoonist, his trusting secretary, a tongue-in-cheek "ghost" cartoonist, and orphaned boy, and a big shaggy dog. Add them all together and you have the "King of Hearts". That's Friday and Saturday, Feb. 26-27 at the Otterbein College Theatre in Westerville.

25 sec. "King of Hearts", a sophisticated comedy about a romantic triangle in a nationally famous comic-strip artist's studio, will be presented at the Otterbein College Theatre, in Westerville, Friday and Saturday, Feb. 26-27, at 8:15 P.M. Individual admissions are $1.25. Theatre-goers will not want to miss this great Broadway hit of 1954. For ticket reservations, call TU 2-3611, from 1 to 5 P.M. weekdays.

30 sec. The next major production at the Otterbein College Theatre will be on Friday and Saturday, Feb. 26-27, when the Cap and Dagger Dramatics Club will present Jean Kerr and Eleanor Brooke's hilarious comedy, "King of Hearts". The play was a smashing success on Broadway in 1954. "For a fate worse than the fate worse than death", come to the Otterbein College Theatre and see the "King of Hearts" get his just comic desserts. That's Friday and Saturday Feb. 26-27, at 8:15 P.M. Tickets are $1.25.
