

Otterbein University's
Vernon L. Pack
2018 Distinguished
Lecturer

Piper Kerman

Author of the bestselling memoir, Orange is the New Black: My Year in a Women's Prison, which chronicles what she calls her "crucible experience"—the 13 months she spent in the Federal Correctional Institution in Danbury, Connecticut.

Join us for a free
public lecture:

Piper Kerman:
The Real-Life Story of
"Orange is the New Black"

Tuesday, Feb. 20, 2018 • 7 p.m.
Cowan Hall, 27 S. Grove St.
Ticket information at:
[www.otterbein.edu/
packlectureseries](http://www.otterbein.edu/packlectureseries)

OTTERBEIN
UNIVERSITY

Otterbein University's
Vernon L. Pack
2018 Distinguished
Lecturer

Piper Kerman

Author of the bestselling memoir, Orange is the New Black: My Year in a Women's Prison, which chronicles what she calls her "crucible experience"—the 13 months she spent in the Federal Correctional Institution in Danbury, Connecticut.

Join us for a free
public lecture:

Piper Kerman:
The Real-Life Story of
"Orange is the New Black"

Tuesday, Feb. 20, 2018 • 7 p.m.
Cowan Hall, 27 S. Grove St.
Ticket information at:
[www.otterbein.edu/
packlectureseries](http://www.otterbein.edu/packlectureseries)

OTTERBEIN
UNIVERSITY

Otterbein University's
Vernon L. Pack
2018 Distinguished
Lecturer

Piper Kerman

Author of the bestselling memoir, Orange is the New Black: My Year in a Women's Prison, which chronicles what she calls her "crucible experience"—the 13 months she spent in the Federal Correctional Institution in Danbury, Connecticut.

Join us for a free
public lecture:

Piper Kerman:
The Real-Life Story of
"Orange is the New Black"

Tuesday, Feb. 20, 2018 • 7 p.m.
Cowan Hall, 27 S. Grove St.
Ticket information at:
[www.otterbein.edu/
packlectureseries](http://www.otterbein.edu/packlectureseries)

OTTERBEIN
UNIVERSITY

Piper Kerman

Piper Kerman is the author of the memoir Orange is the New Black: My Year in a Women's Prison from Spiegel & Grau. The book has been adapted by Jenji Kohan into an Emmy Award-winning original series for Netflix.

Kerman works with nonprofits, philanthropies, and other organizations working in the public interest and serves on the board of directors of the Women's Prison Association and the advisory boards of InsideOUT Writers and JustLeadershipUSA. She has been called as a witness by the U.S. Senate Judiciary Subcommittee on the Constitution, Civil Rights and Human Rights to testify on solitary confinement and women prisoners, and by the U.S. Senate Governmental Affairs and Homeland Security Committee to testify about the federal Bureau of Prisons. She has spoken at the White House on re-entry and employment to help honor Champions of Change in the field, as well as the importance of arts in prisons and the unique conditions for women in the criminal justice system. In 2014 she was awarded the Justice Trailblazer Award from John Jay College's Center on Media, Crime & Justice and the Constitutional Commentary Award from The Constitution Project. The Equal Justice Initiative recognized her as a Champion of Justice in 2015.

Kerman is a frequent invited speaker to students of law, criminology, gender and women's studies, sociology, and creative writing, and also to groups that include the International Association of Women Judges, the American Correctional Association's Disproportionate Minority Confinement Task Force, the National Conference of State Legislatures, the National Criminal Justice Association, federal probation officers, public defenders, justice reform advocates and volunteers, and formerly and currently incarcerated people.

Kerman is a graduate of Smith College. She lives in Columbus, Ohio, with her family.

Piper Kerman

Piper Kerman is the author of the memoir Orange is the New Black: My Year in a Women's Prison from Spiegel & Grau. The book has been adapted by Jenji Kohan into an Emmy Award-winning original series for Netflix.

Kerman works with nonprofits, philanthropies, and other organizations working in the public interest and serves on the board of directors of the Women's Prison Association and the advisory boards of InsideOUT Writers and JustLeadershipUSA. She has been called as a witness by the U.S. Senate Judiciary Subcommittee on the Constitution, Civil Rights and Human Rights to testify on solitary confinement and women prisoners, and by the U.S. Senate Governmental Affairs and Homeland Security Committee to testify about the federal Bureau of Prisons. She has spoken at the White House on re-entry and employment to help honor Champions of Change in the field, as well as the importance of arts in prisons and the unique conditions for women in the criminal justice system. In 2014 she was awarded the Justice Trailblazer Award from John Jay College's Center on Media, Crime & Justice and the Constitutional Commentary Award from The Constitution Project. The Equal Justice Initiative recognized her as a Champion of Justice in 2015.

Kerman is a frequent invited speaker to students of law, criminology, gender and women's studies, sociology, and creative writing, and also to groups that include the International Association of Women Judges, the American Correctional Association's Disproportionate Minority Confinement Task Force, the National Conference of State Legislatures, the National Criminal Justice Association, federal probation officers, public defenders, justice reform advocates and volunteers, and formerly and currently incarcerated people.

Kerman is a graduate of Smith College. She lives in Columbus, Ohio, with her family.

Piper Kerman

Piper Kerman is the author of the memoir Orange is the New Black: My Year in a Women's Prison from Spiegel & Grau. The book has been adapted by Jenji Kohan into an Emmy Award-winning original series for Netflix.

Kerman works with nonprofits, philanthropies, and other organizations working in the public interest and serves on the board of directors of the Women's Prison Association and the advisory boards of InsideOUT Writers and JustLeadershipUSA. She has been called as a witness by the U.S. Senate Judiciary Subcommittee on the Constitution, Civil Rights and Human Rights to testify on solitary confinement and women prisoners, and by the U.S. Senate Governmental Affairs and Homeland Security Committee to testify about the federal Bureau of Prisons. She has spoken at the White House on re-entry and employment to help honor Champions of Change in the field, as well as the importance of arts in prisons and the unique conditions for women in the criminal justice system. In 2014 she was awarded the Justice Trailblazer Award from John Jay College's Center on Media, Crime & Justice and the Constitutional Commentary Award from The Constitution Project. The Equal Justice Initiative recognized her as a Champion of Justice in 2015.

Kerman is a frequent invited speaker to students of law, criminology, gender and women's studies, sociology, and creative writing, and also to groups that include the International Association of Women Judges, the American Correctional Association's Disproportionate Minority Confinement Task Force, the National Conference of State Legislatures, the National Criminal Justice Association, federal probation officers, public defenders, justice reform advocates and volunteers, and formerly and currently incarcerated people.

Kerman is a graduate of Smith College. She lives in Columbus, Ohio, with her family.