"We've only just begun . . ."

While most Otterbein students were home for the summer, those who would arrive on September 7 to compose the class of 77 were busy preparing for their first year of college. Most of them attended a two day orientation session during the summer where they talked with their advisor and planned their schedule for their freshman year. And then September 10 was here before we all knew it . . . time to come back . . . to meet old friends . . . to make new friends . . . to get ID pictures taken . . . and to go to class. The 1973-74 school year had only just begun!

Tradition . . .

. . . up in flames!

Freshmen ushered in their college careers with the annual BONFIRE. According to some upper classmen it was the smallest in the history of the grand old tradition; yet nothing diminished the spirit of the frosh who chanted and cheered their way around the flames while upperclassmen jeered their pitiful efforts. Winding their way through "the quiet" and not so "peaceful village," the frosh drowned their sorrows in suds . . . beanies anyone?

Bud

Otterbein's new tradition?

Loud music and flowing brew attracted bus and car loads of sheltered, but thirsty Otterbein students who welcomed the break from classes. Though the cups ran out, the liquid refreshment and music flowed on into the early hours of morning. Monday arrived on schedule and so did another week of classes.

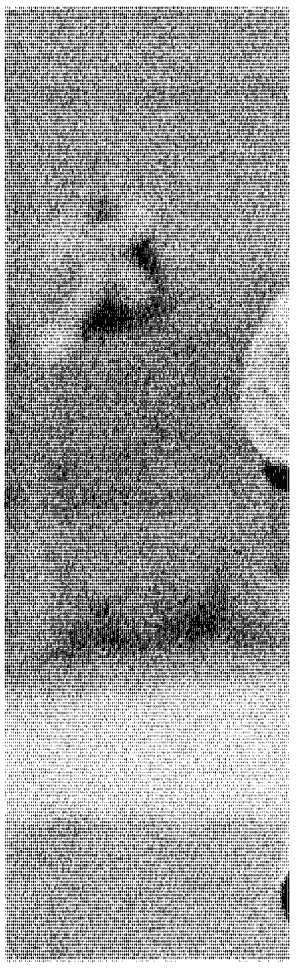
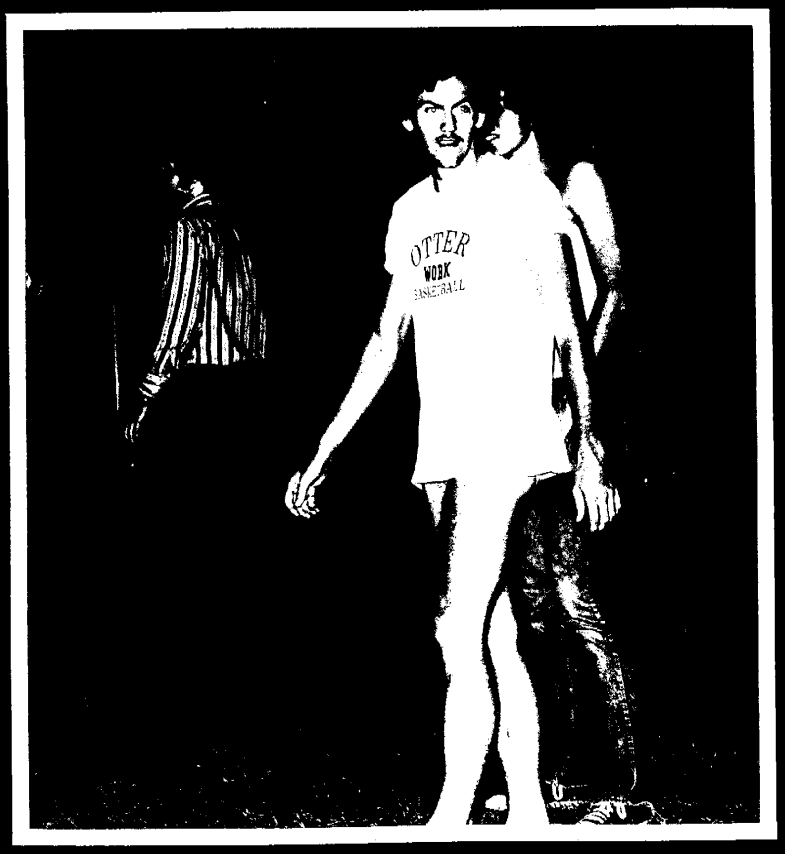
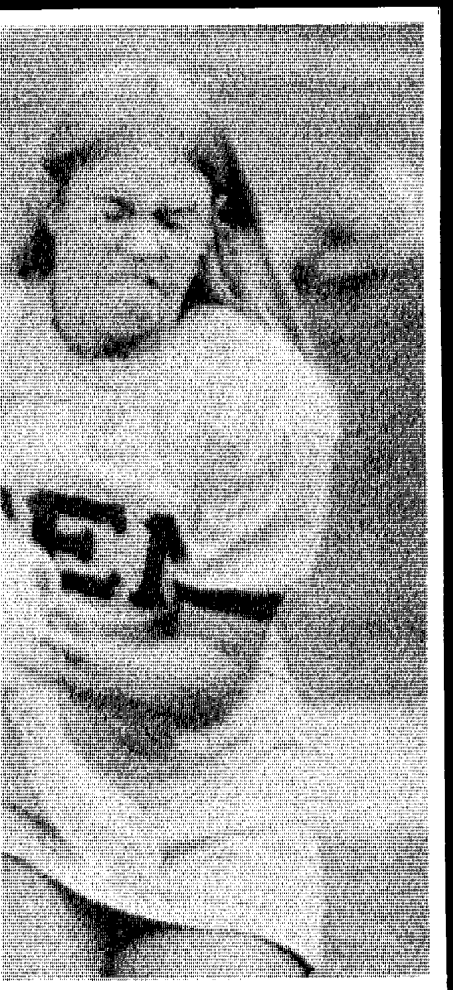
Panty raids



a tradition revived!

Scrap Day and the traditional panty raids have not been forgotten. Early in the year they sprung themselves on campus. The student talents exhibited on Scrap Day became even more pronounced and developed as shown by the creative attire worn by some during the panty raids.





Fun But Educational

Art is more than drawing shapes.

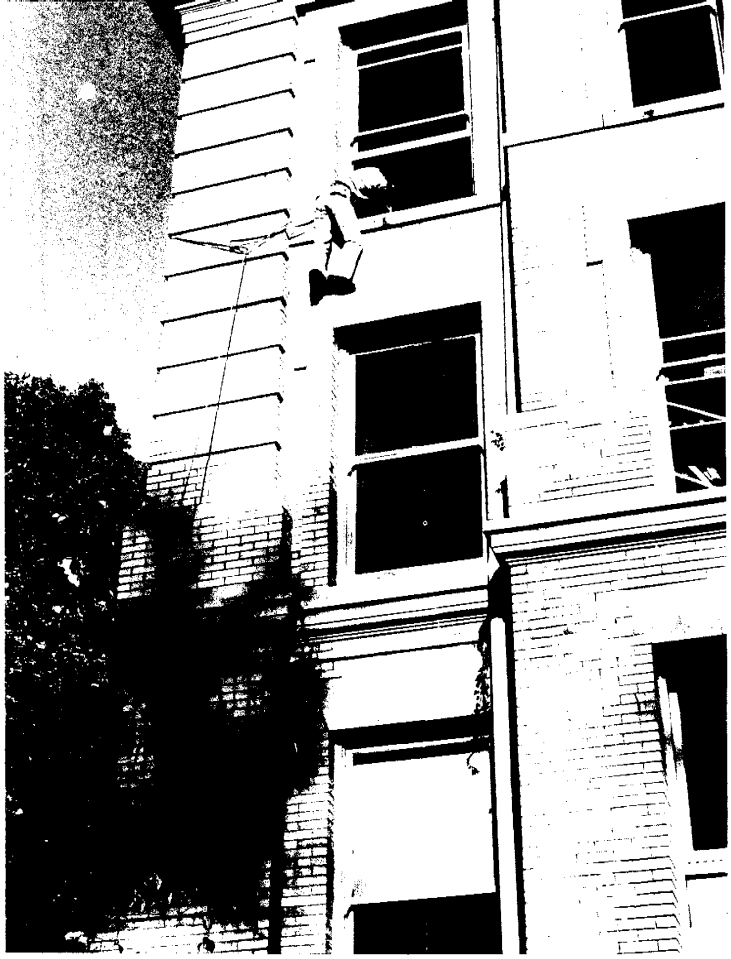
Students taking art courses from Al Germanson were a bit surprised when they left third floor Lambert and played follow the leader to the park. Nobody understood how climbing over tree limbs and scaling walls had anything to do with art, but it sure beat drawing in the dark.

Climbing the three flights of steps to the third floor of Lambert figured to be the extent of the physical exercise encountered every day that they attended class. It was nothing compared to the physical capability and group co-operation required to get the entire group on top of a 12 foot wall of smooth brick. But then again, the great sense of satisfaction felt there, was never sensed after climbing those steps in Lambert!

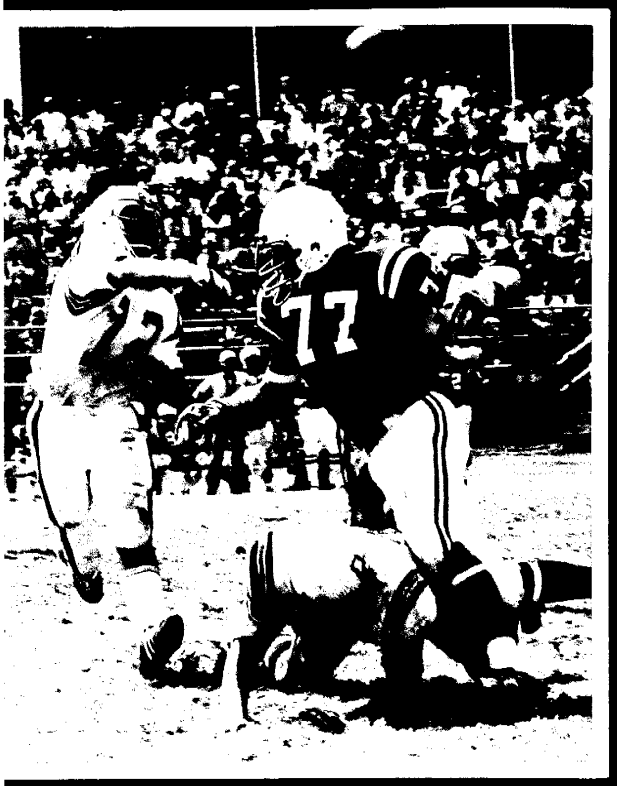
Trees and walls were just a start

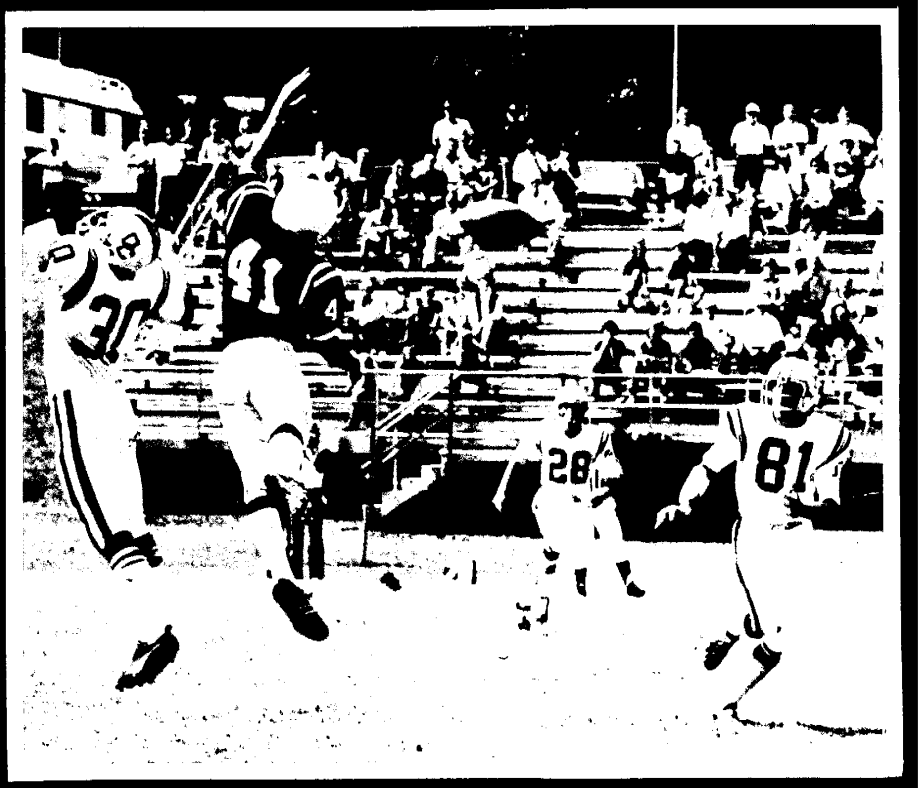
There were bigger and better things to be done by the art classes. Trees were no longer a challenge so they looked for larger walls to conquer and to understand. The rock ledges weren't Mount Everest nor was the sheer side of Lambert Hall, but they were a start.

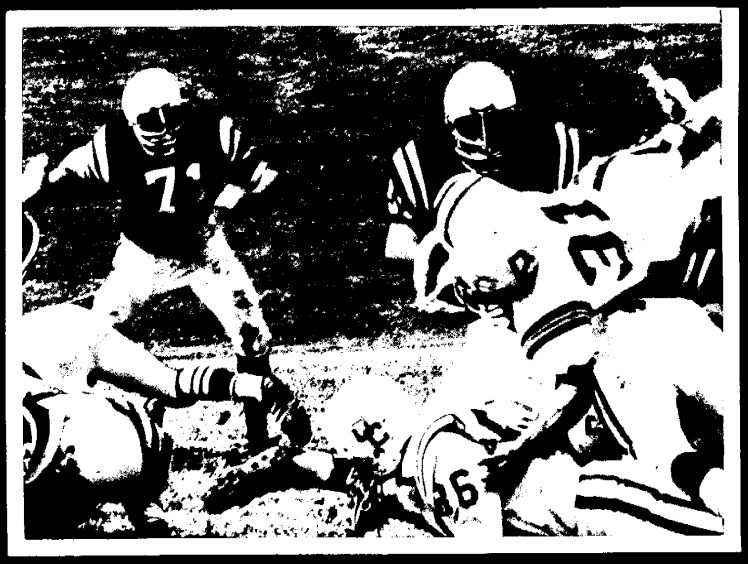
Accomplishment

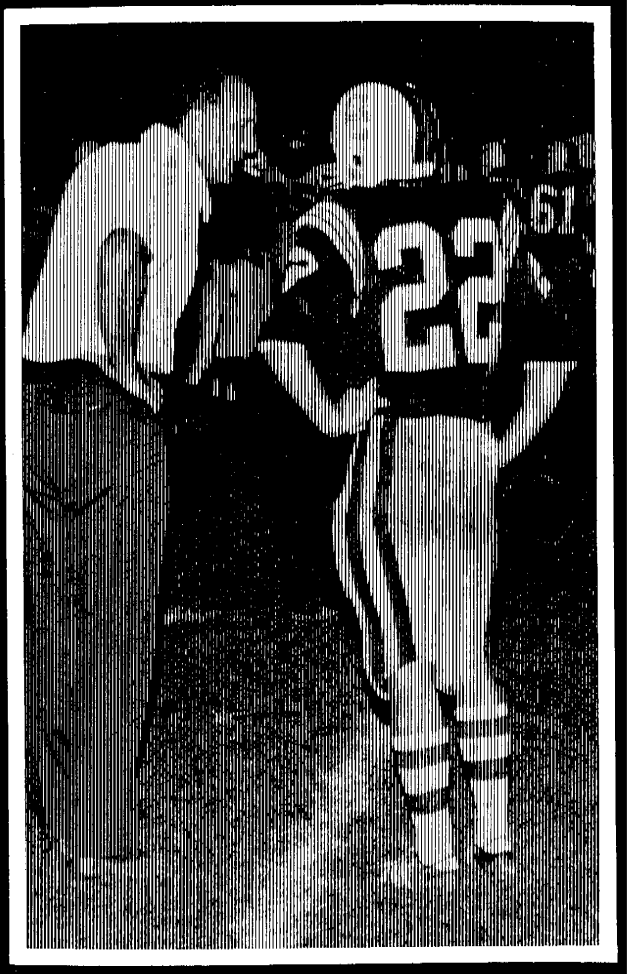


Not everyone made it or desired to, but that's okay. Those who did, made it because they wanted to; and now they are more aware of the artistic forms their bodies can create. They learned to trust their bodies, to think out their movements, and to know inside that they could do it!



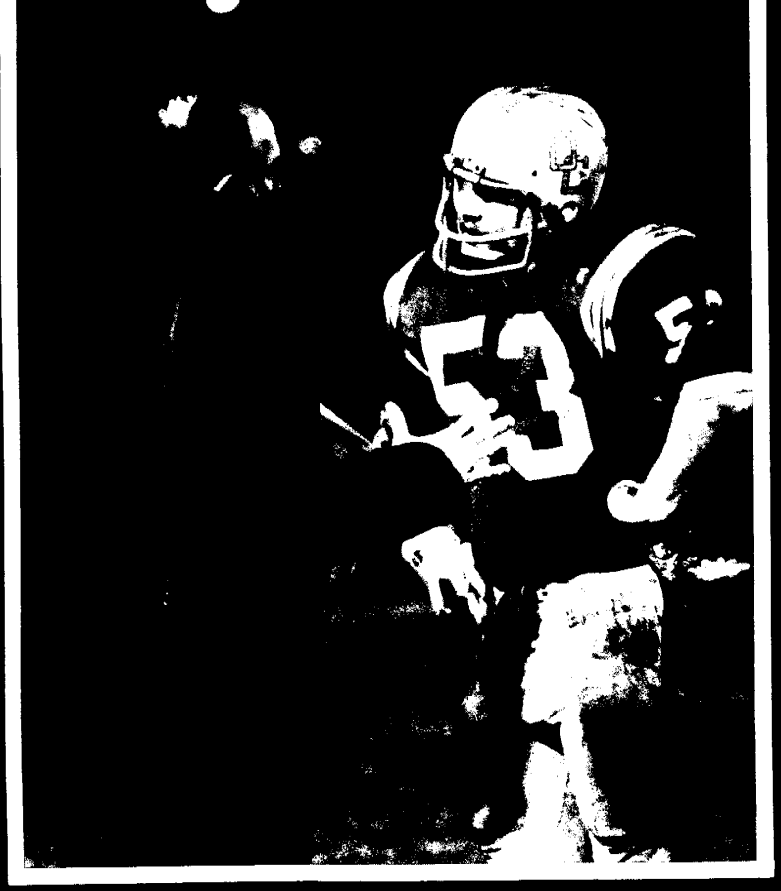


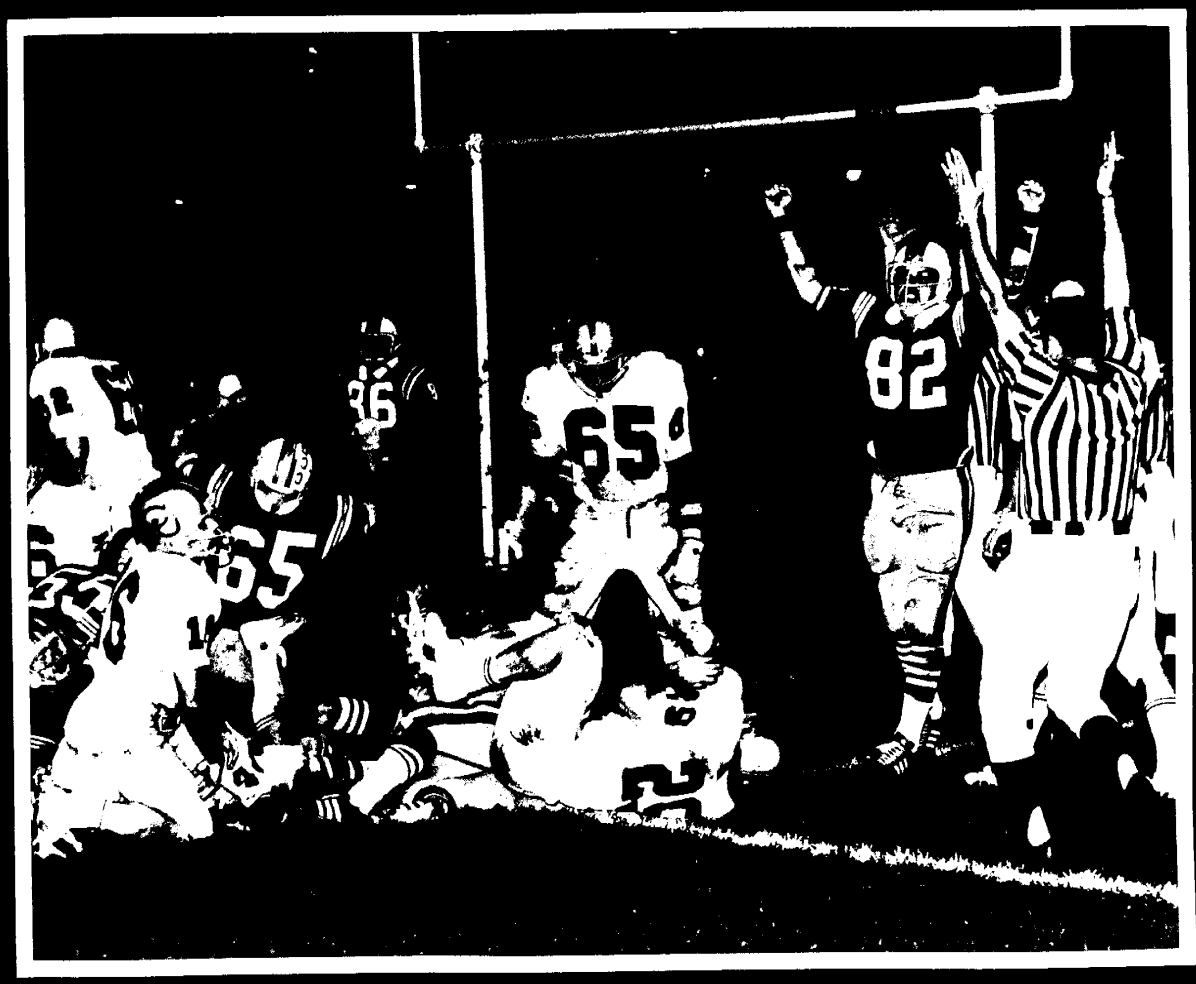




Four, Four and One

It was a better year!



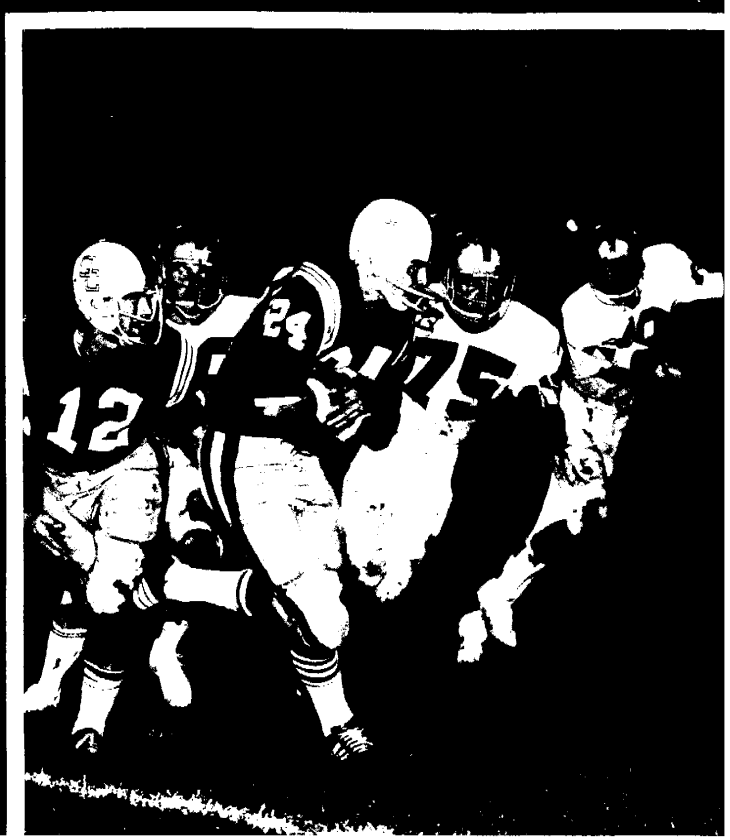


Always an attraction

. . . Gary R. Tirey and the "Marching Cardinals", a winner with both home and visiting crowds, were on hand during pre-game and halftime. From "Top of the Heap" featuring the drums, to stirring tunes like "Brian's Song," the Cardinal's band always came on with a big bang!

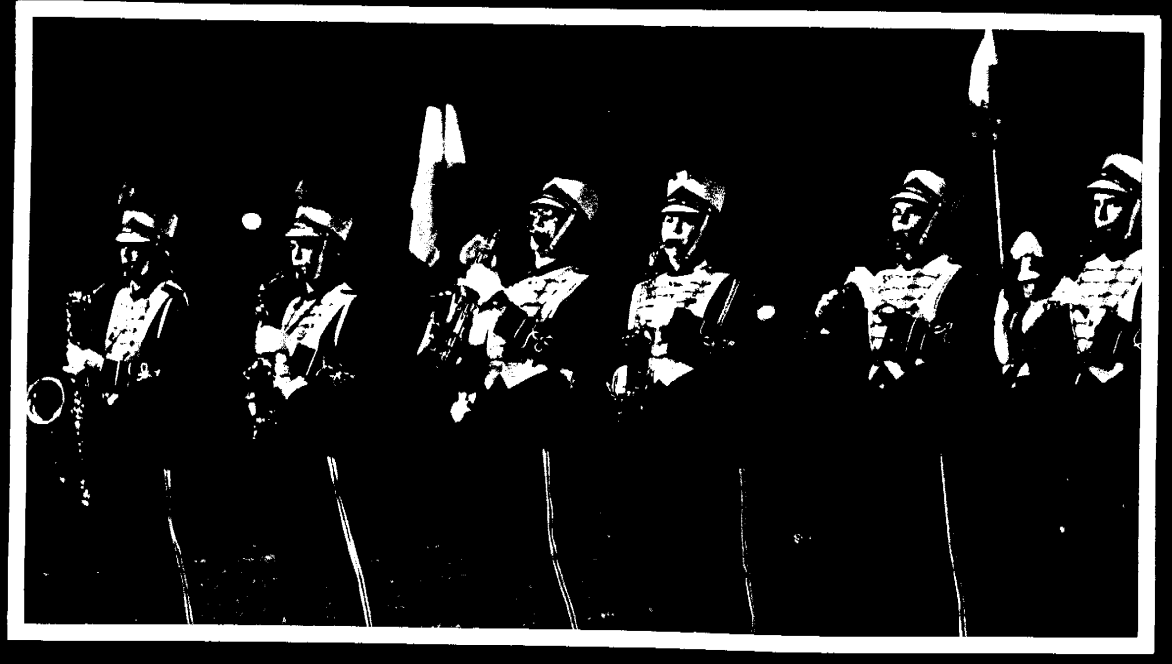
Come hell or high water–

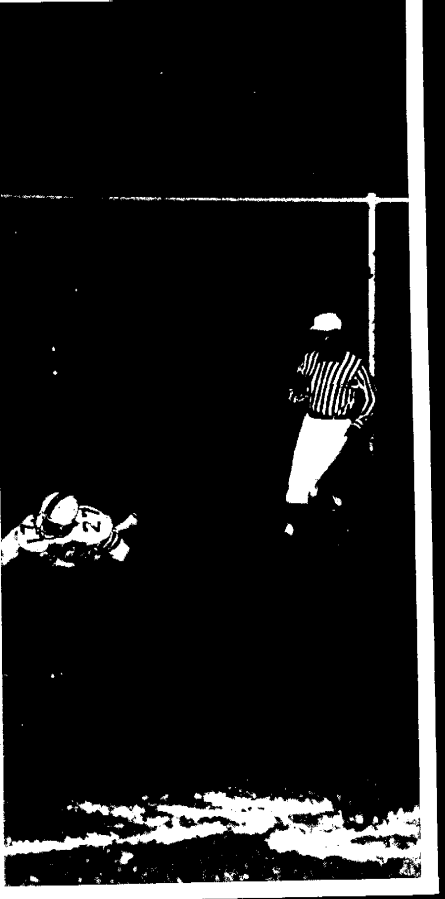
On the field and in the air

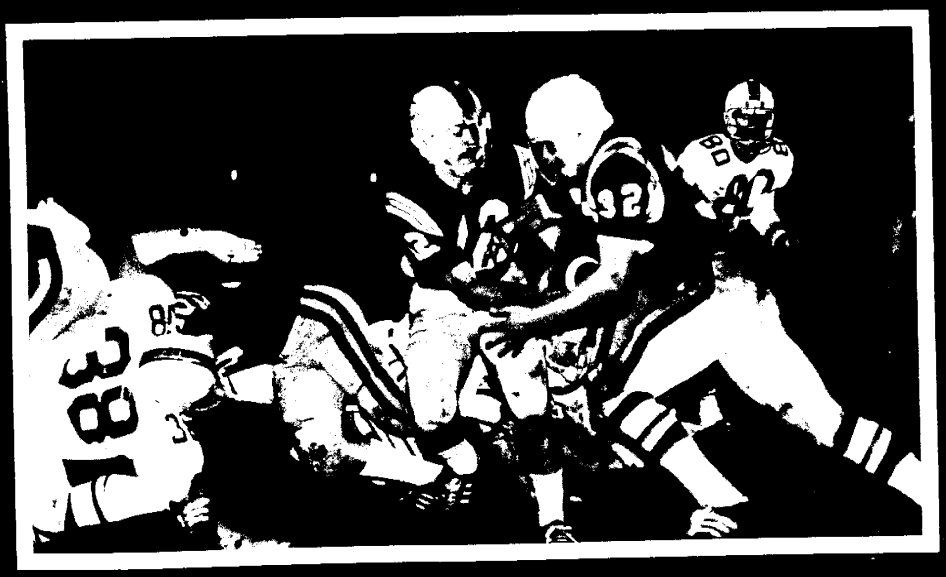


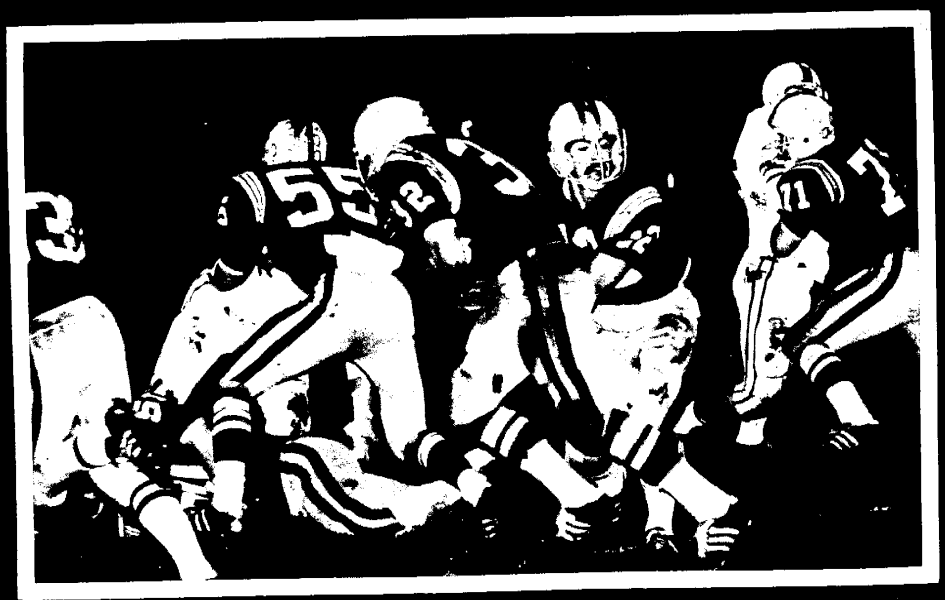
Determination and support kept the Otters going.

Come hell or high water–





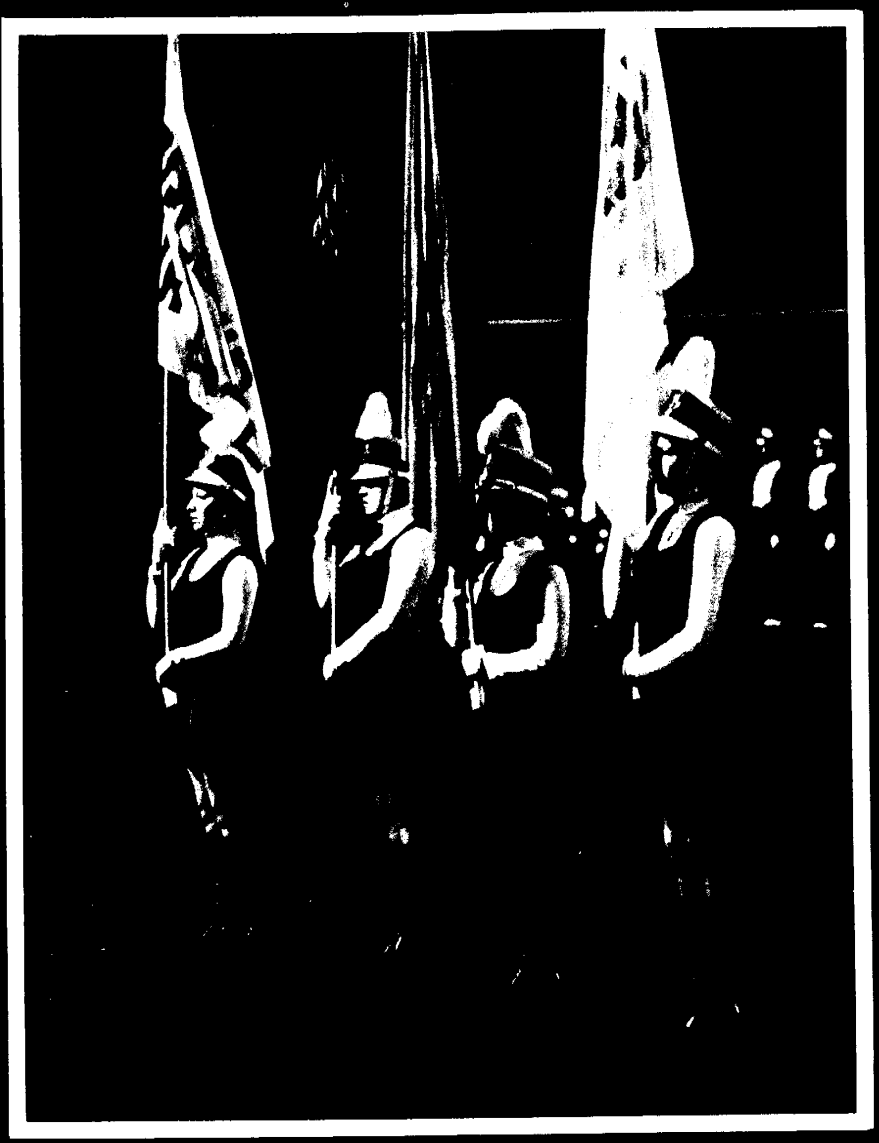




Fourth and one . . . fumble . . . clipping . . . incomplete . . . he's down on the field . . . hit 'em again, hit'em again . . . first and ten do it again . . . cheerleaders, fans, coaches, and players all felt the pressure of the close wins . . . and losses.

Hopeful Expressions

Something Extra



The O Squad, Flag Corp, and Featured Twirlers . . .

performing with the Marching Cardinals put the icing on the cake during pre-game and half-time shows with flashing pom poms, precision drills and lots of legs.

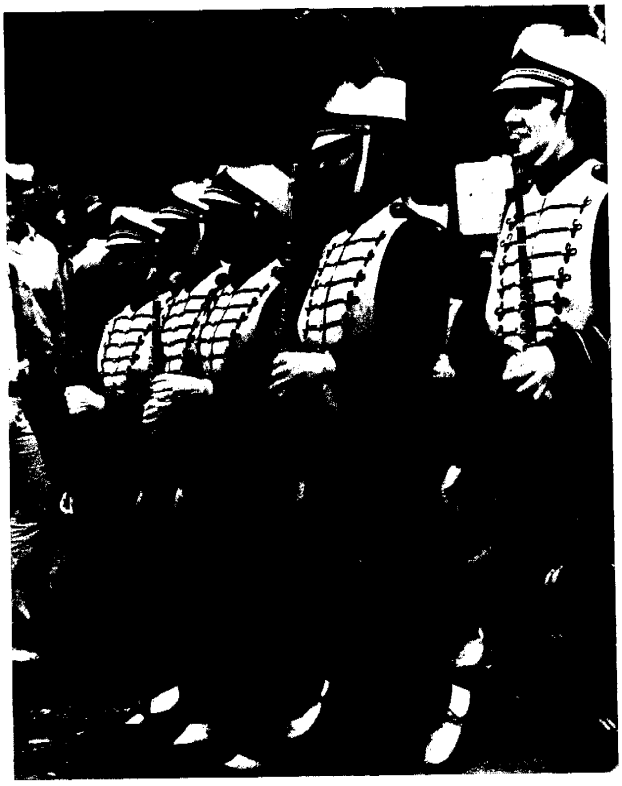
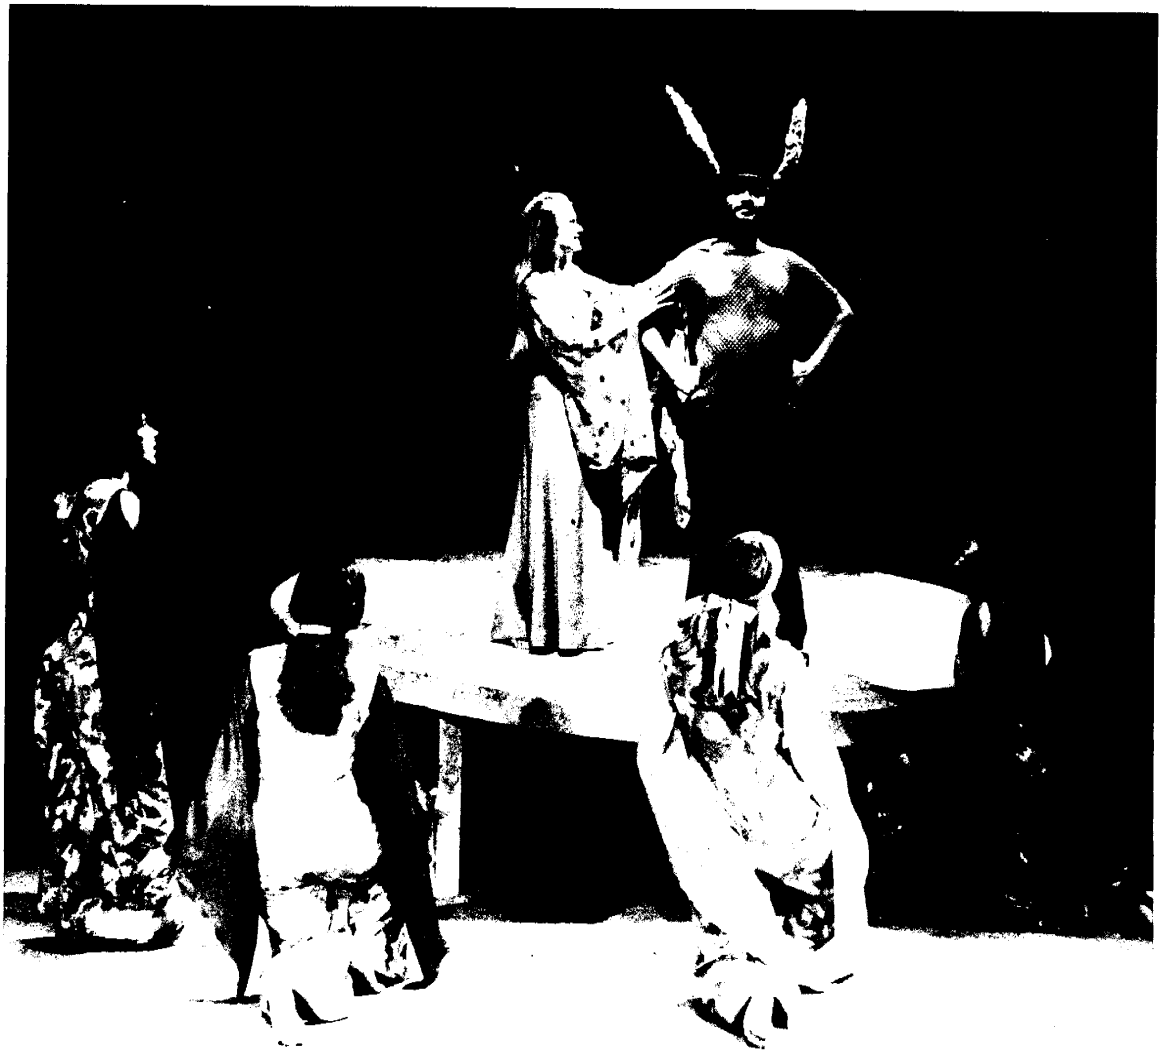
Welcome Home

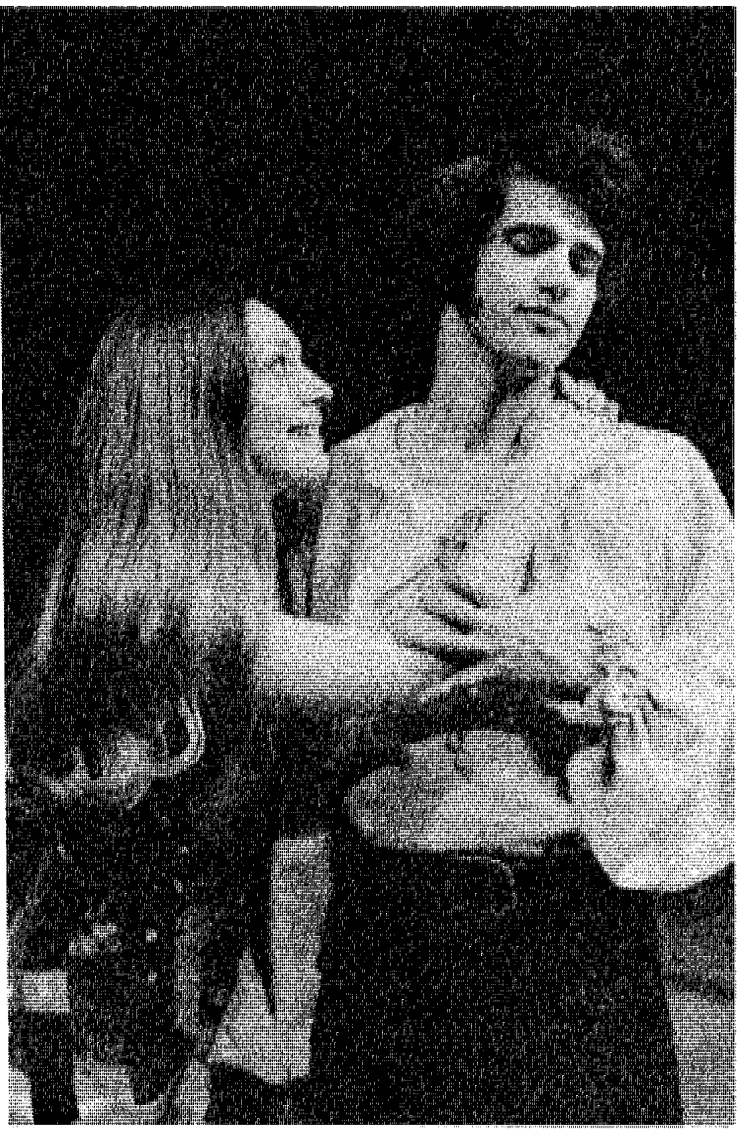


Parades are for . . .

everybody

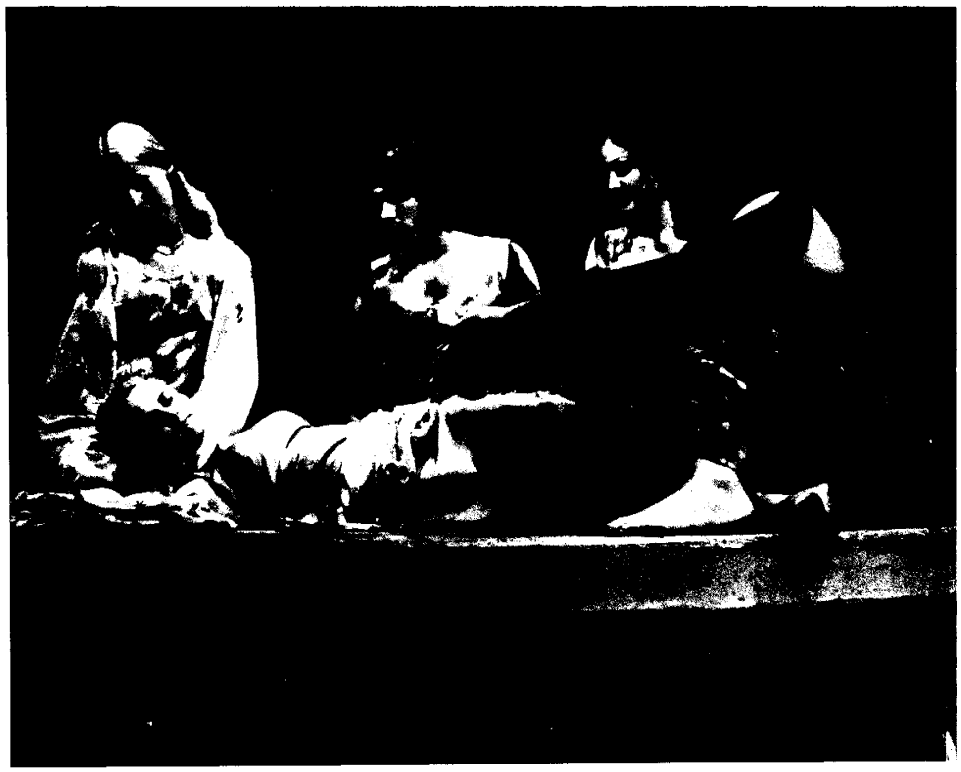
The sun shined that morning. Everyone had hoped that it wouldn't rain. They had put too much work into planning, constructing and parading their floats and displays for it to rain. Only if the rest of the day could have been as nice, but then this is Westerville.





Summer in October

Theatre opens with dream



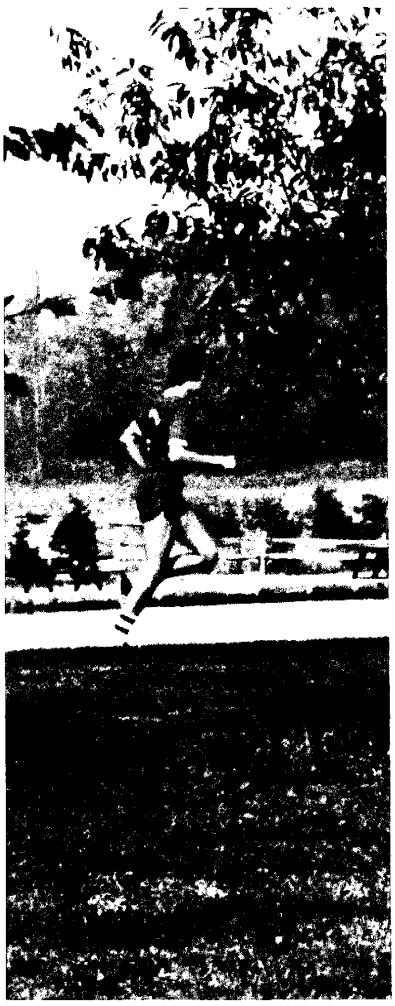
Presented in mod dress version, Shakespeare's comedy "A Midsummer Night's Dream," opened the 73-74 theatre season. The triple plot comedy, presented on the unique set, was typical of Otterbein's professional quality.

Experiences

Linda Bailey

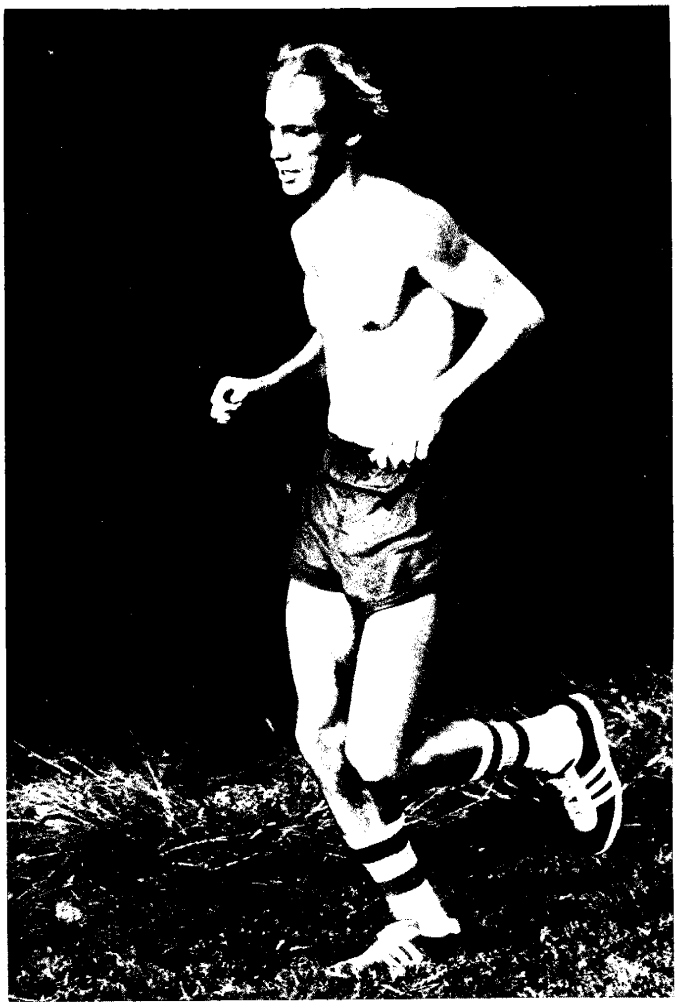
"Different people look at life from different points of view"

Cardinal thinclads overwhelmed opponents with consistent performances



Winning year

Jack Lenz



Otter veterans, with strong support from the freshmen class, turned out an impressive 5-1 record, losing only to Marietta. The team had three runners participate in NCAA Division 3 with Jack Lintz finishing in the top quarter with 25:54.

An athletic compliment

Otterbein women excel too

The coolness of fall brought out the field hockey sticks, volleyballs and visits to the bowling alley by coeds wishing to match their skills against each other and other schools. The field hockey and volleyball teams played other Ohio Athletic Conference squads during the term while sororities met every Friday to see who could come closest to that 300 pin game.

As in the past, the Otterbein Theatre entertained local youngsters with the Children's Theatre, this year featuring the Story Book Theatre of Hans Christian Anderson. Two of his classic fairy tales, "The Princess and the Pea" and "The Emperor's New Clothes" were portrayed in original improvised versions by student actors.

We all have a lot to give

"Learning how to do things, sharing new things"

Constantly Improving

"Please excuse our dust."

As students arrived in the fall they noticed a smoother face on Towers. The old, leaky, slate roof was replaced by bright new shingles. The weathered towers were gone and in their place were smooth aluminum replicas. The bell had also taken on the new look of fresh paint, but would not respond to the fruitless tugging on its rope. Not only had Towers seen the efforts of workers, but the new Rike Physical Education Facility saw its beginning. Heating tunnels under construction snaked through the parking lot from the library, around the football field, and out to the new construction site.

Scavengers find familiar faces

Looking for objects has always delighted people and it is even more exciting when someone else is looking for the same thing. Otter scavengers were suprised to find some pretty familiar people behind strange faces in their search for the crucial items. The list included witches, headless horsemen and a good time.

World Campus Afloat—Fall 1973

ON SHIP . . . body surfing in a 15-foot pool . . . continuous volleyball games . . . countless dances with the "Dean's Machine" . . . shipboard sunsets . . . starry nights . . . sleeping on the upper deck . . . memories of the sights and sounds in the cafeteria during a typhoon . . . Captain's Dinners . . . Monte Carlo Night . . . Neptune Day . . . pre-port tips . . . waiting to be cleared by customs . . . hoping for mail from home . . . exchanging money . . . plans and promises for the coming port . . . the special meaning that John Denver's song "Friends" holds now as one reflects upon the closeness of our little shipboard community . . . isolated from the world's events yet sailing on its waters!

IN PORT . . . new faces . . . new places . . . finding new friends in new cultures . . . city orientations . . . practicas . . . pay trips . . . the welcome sight of McDonalds in a foreign port . . . the "bargaining" of "for you, special deal" . . . shopping sprees in Hong Kong . . . homestays in Japan and the Phillippines . . . Bali's infamous "magic mushrooms" . . . temples, shrines . . . more temples and shrines . . . the tokens and trinkets we bought . . . ratan furniture . . . cameras . . . stereos . . . receivers . . . the unforgettable warm hearts and open arms of so many strangers locked in our memories forever!

Another ten weeks

Break is over and cold darkness greets those who have 8:00 classes. Campus activities migrate to the warmth of the indoors leaving only the stark naked trees to peer over occasional students who pass along icy sidewalks to class and back.

*OAC Tournament

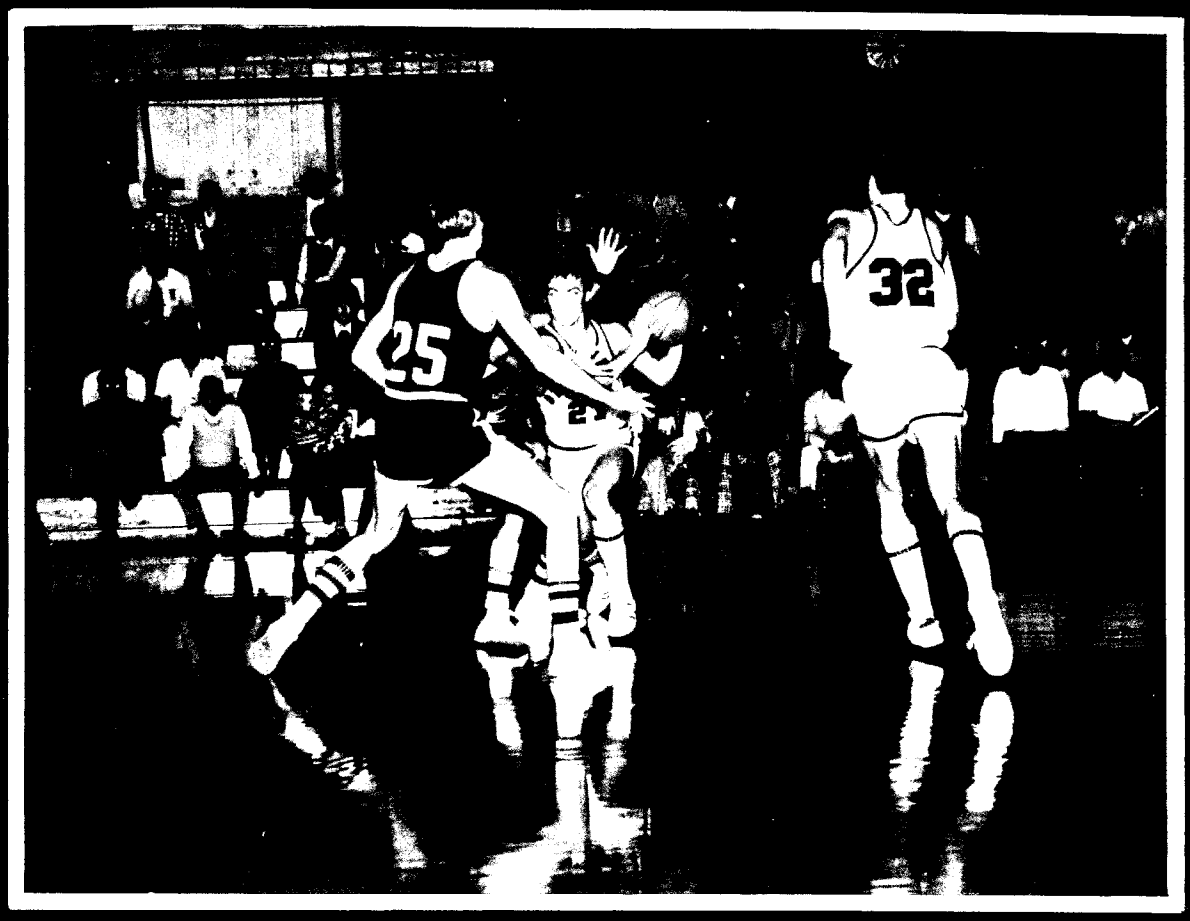
PIONEERS
53



The Otter cagers finished just under .500 with 11 wins and 12 losses. Impressive shows were given in some games but others were total disappointments after last year's OAC Championship. This was probably the last full season to be played in the Alumni Gymnasium since the games will be moving to the new Otterdome.

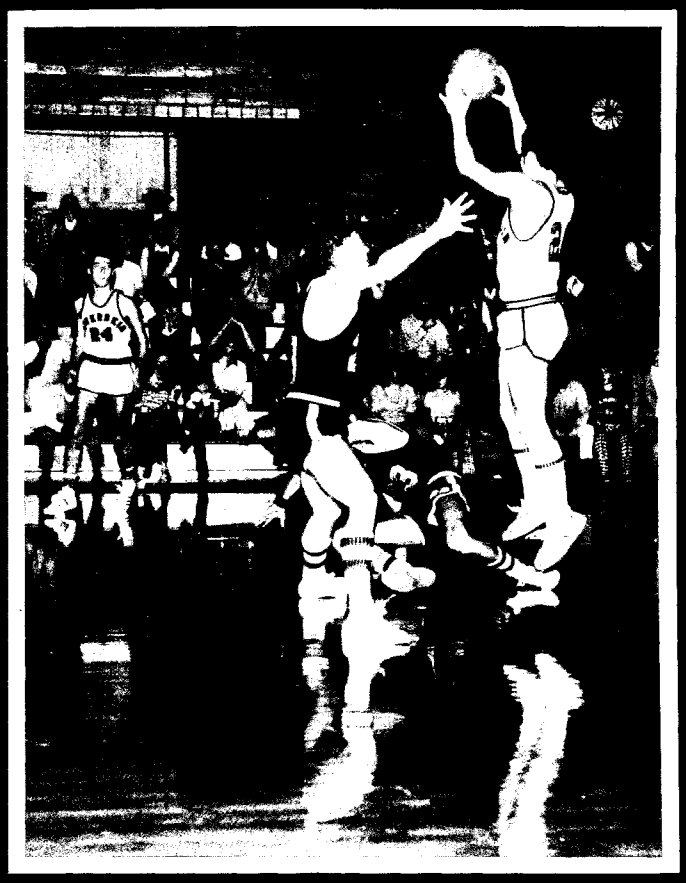
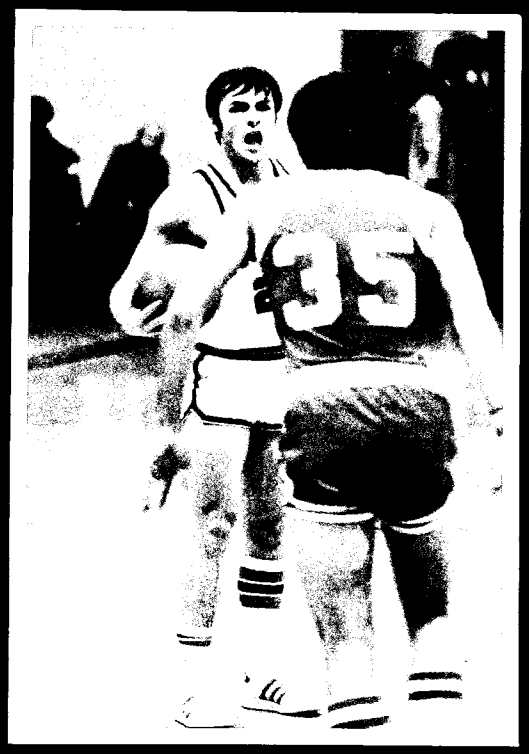
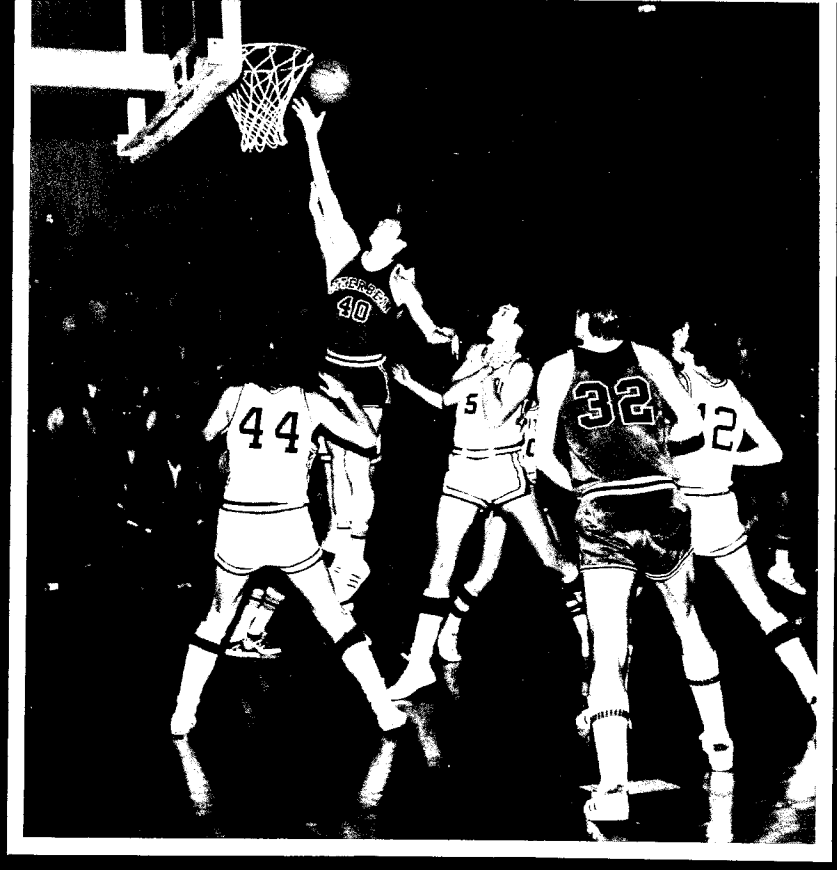
Deckard and Hays named to conference team for second year

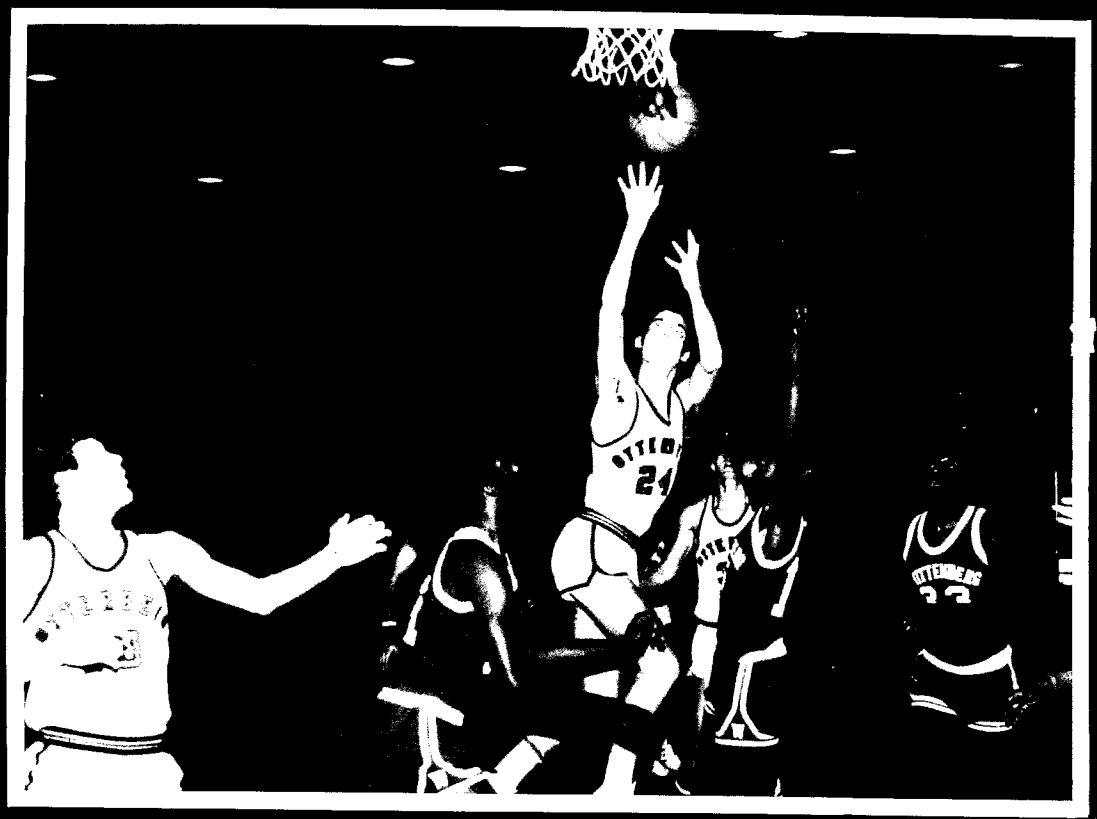
Bob was named to the OAC second team again this year and Mike received honorable mention, also for the second year. The Cardinals are a team and couldn't have gotten along without the likes of Horner, Bromley, Buchan, Morrison, Reed, and Coach Dick Reynolds.

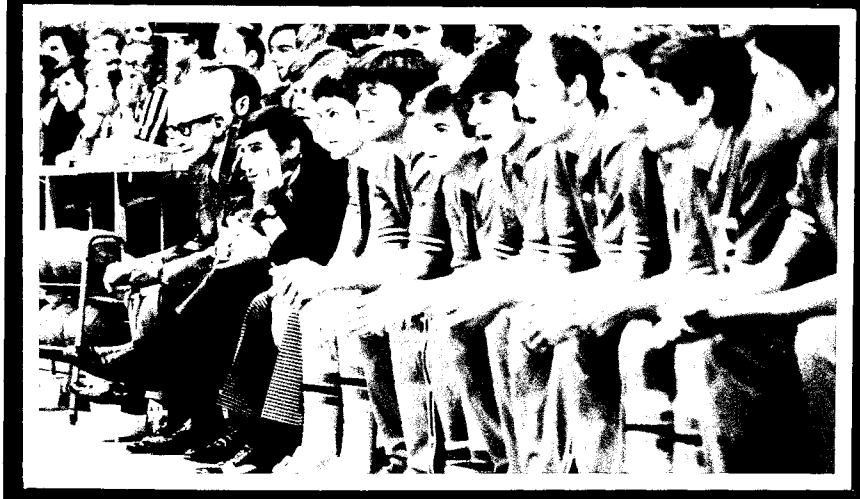


OAC Honors

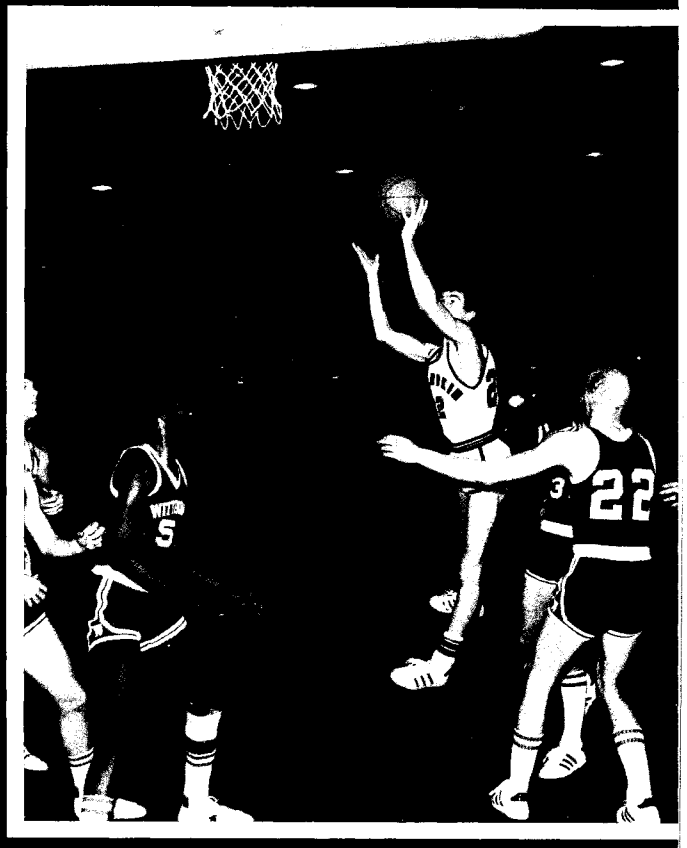


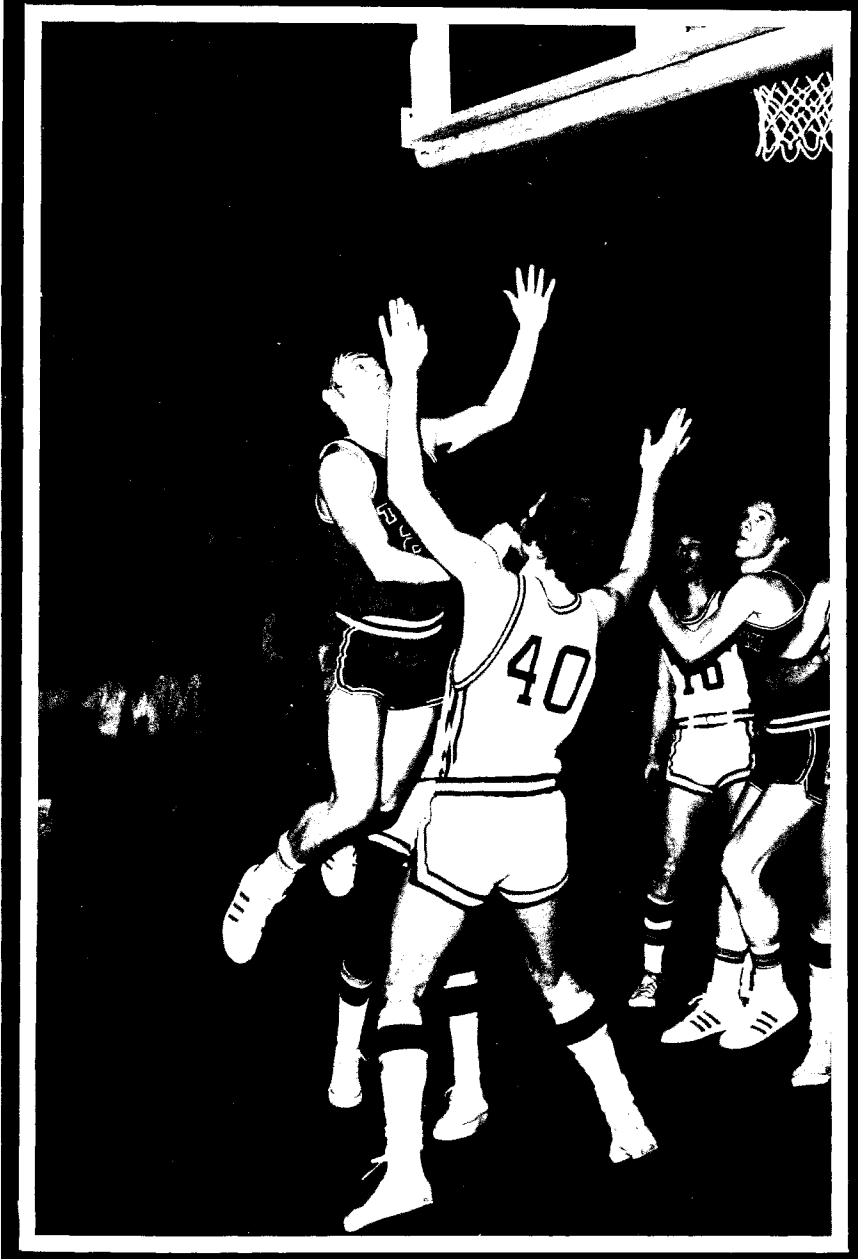






So Close





The Cardinals reached a peak during the OAC Tournament games at Denison University. They sent Chick to the locker room for the last time this season with a 57-56 win over Capital and earned the right to face Wittenberg the following night. The cagers matched the Tigers' every move until the last basket yielded Wittenberg a 66-65 win.

Winter Homecoming weekend had a full schedule for those who attended festivities. Dads were honored guests for the occasion, but activities were planned for everyone. From skating at the Ice Chalet and "Six Characters" on Cowan's stage to a super victory over the Wooster Scots, the weekend was a great success, not to mention the five sophomore coeds who reigned over the homecoming festivities.

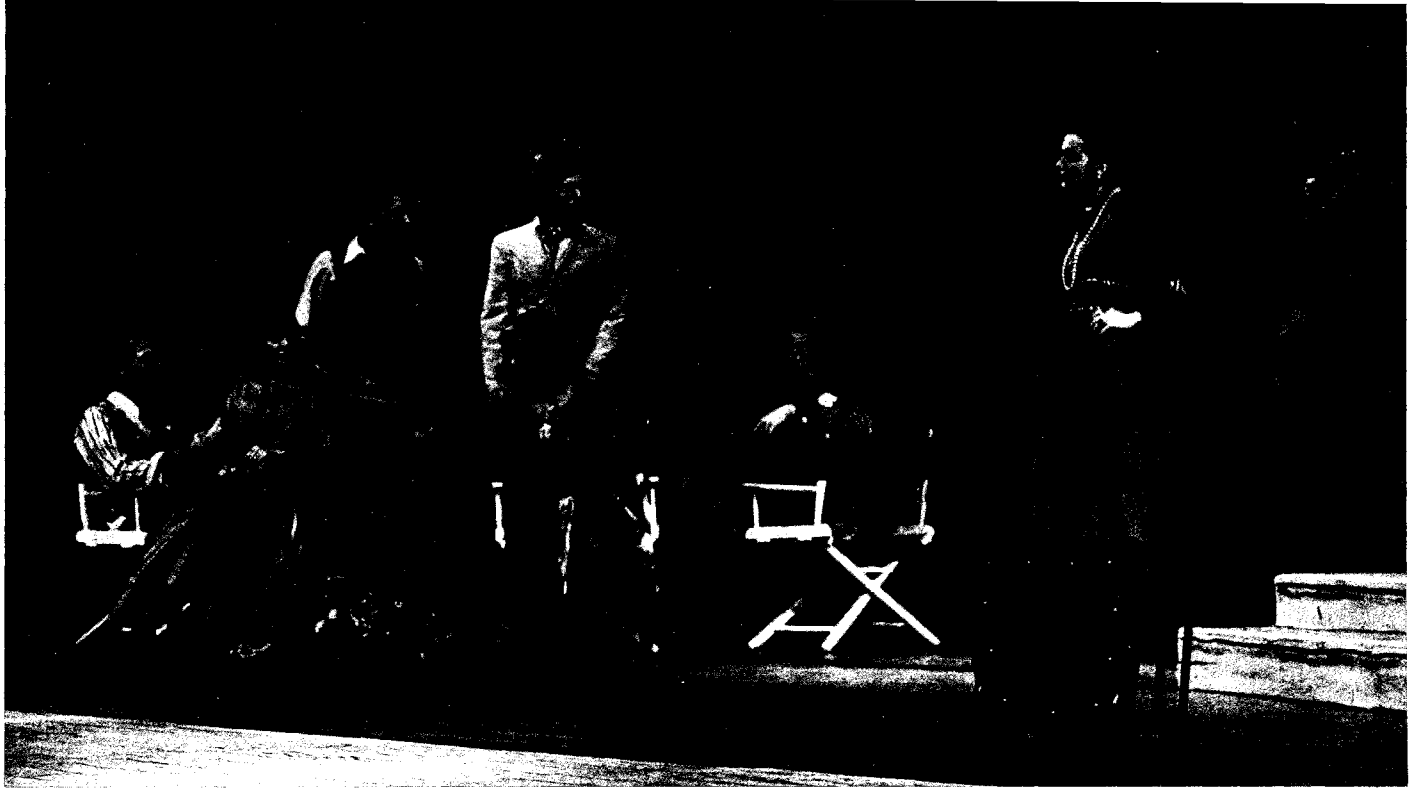
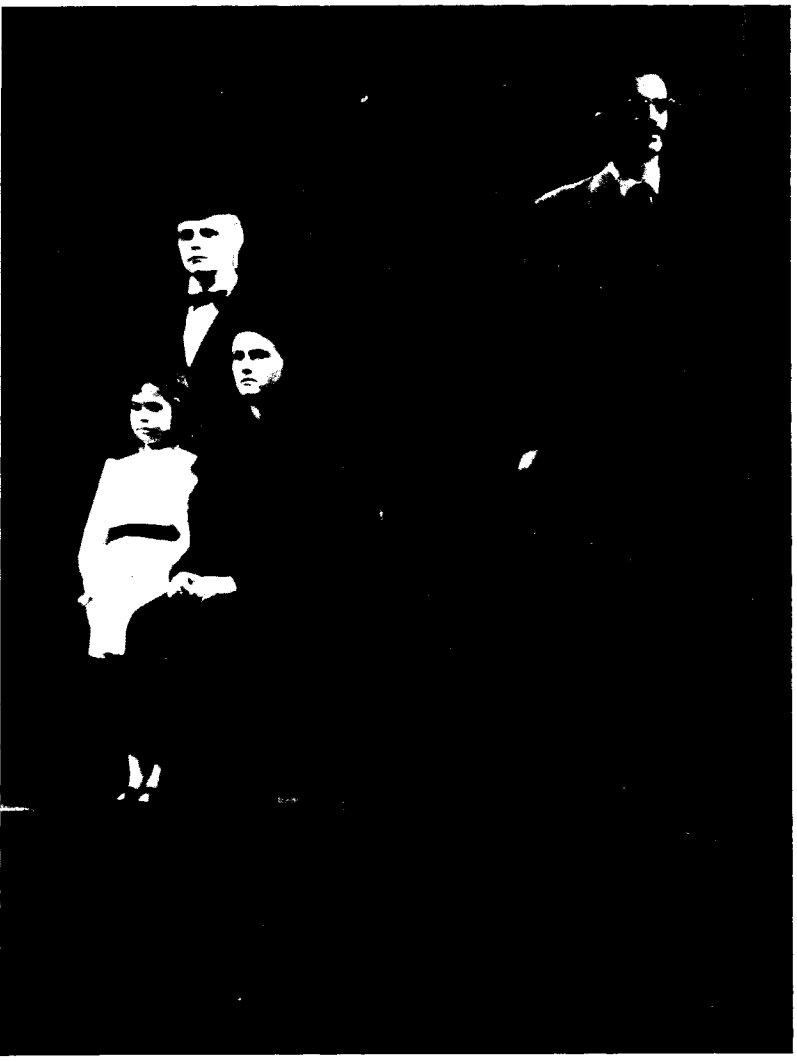
"Six" on the sixth

Epolito directs characters





Luigi Pirandello's "Six Characters in Search of an Author" was an unusual play. Otterbein's actors explored the difference between reality and illusion as they opened on Cowan's stage February 6.

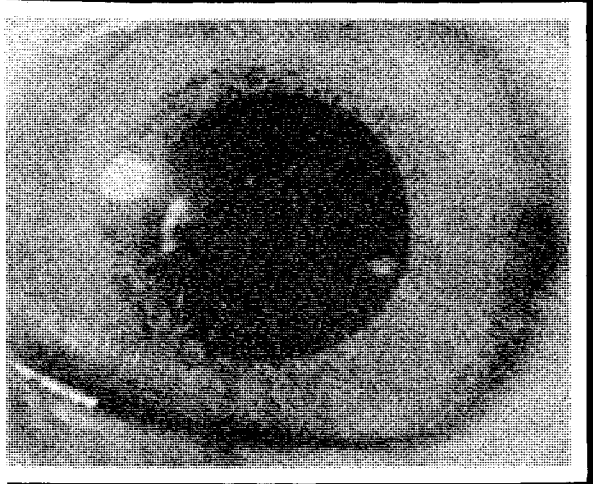
Menotti's opera adds to Winter performing repetoire

Otterbein's performance of Menotti's Consul was indicative of the performing talents of the student body. As the music department occupied Cowan's stage for the opera production, students became more exposed to another aspect of the performing arts, while others took total responsibility for lighting and set design. The opera theatre also gave area patrons a taste of an art that has been nearly forgotten in this area in the past.

Seeing things
the way they are



Questions on visitation were on the minds of many who care about Otterbein. A new system will be tried next year that could provide the solution for social interaction among students.

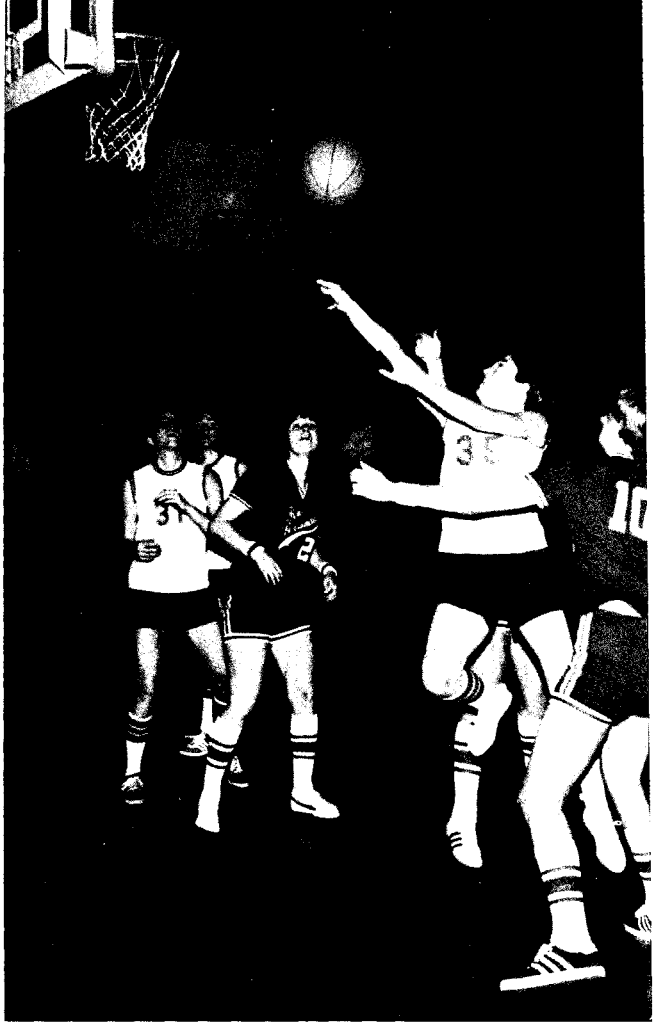
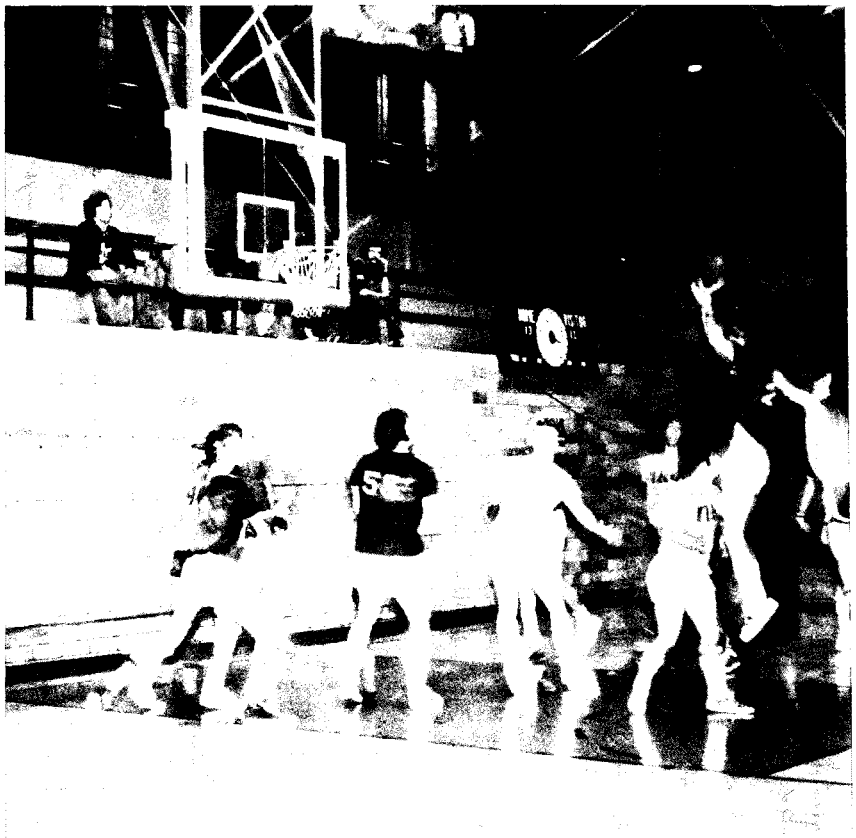
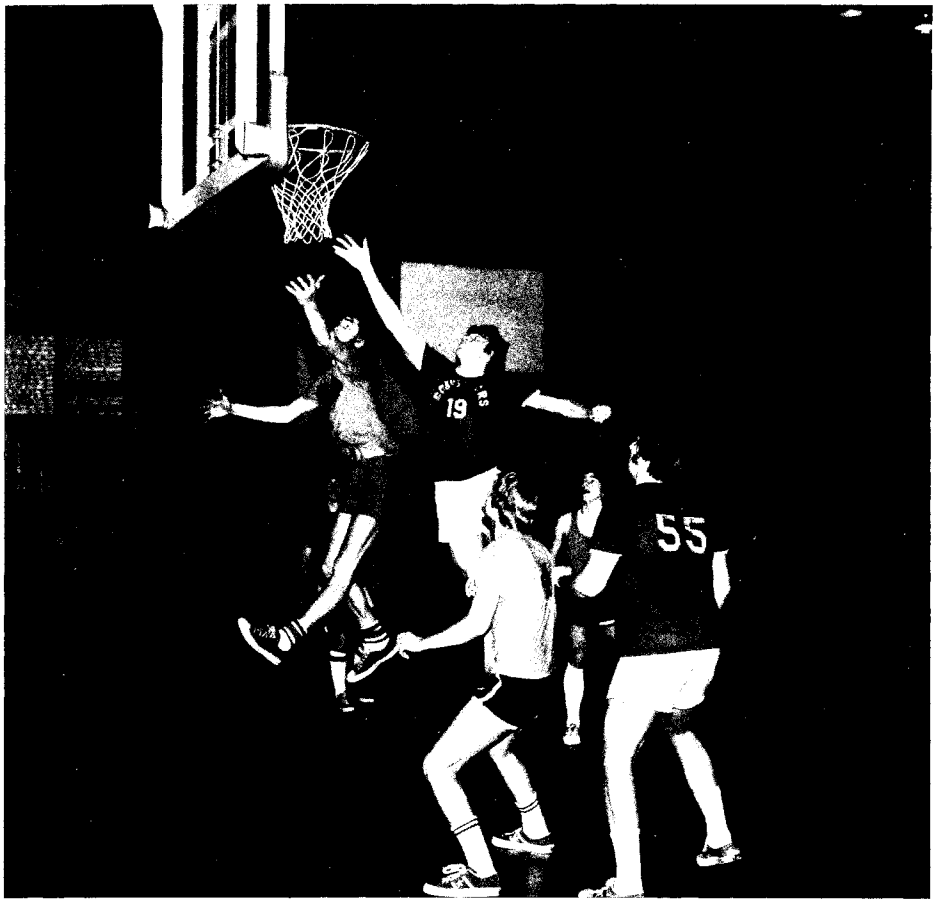
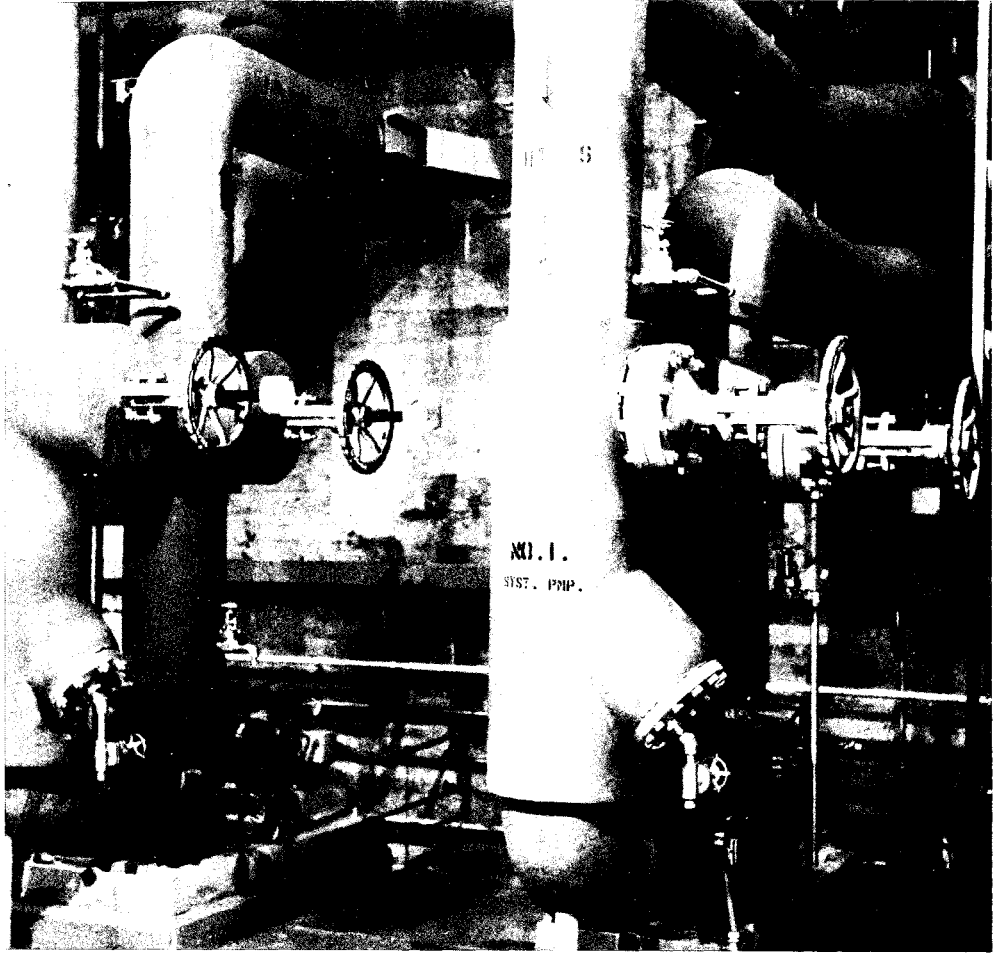
Thriving competition

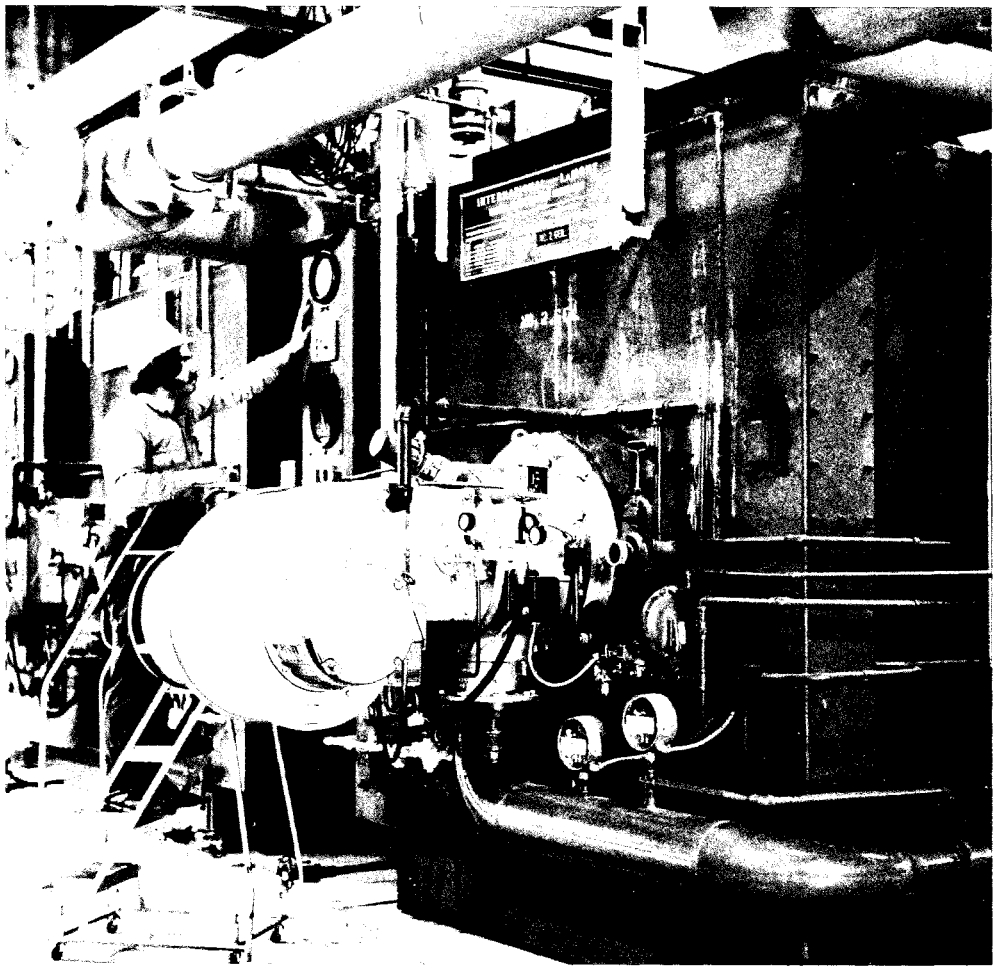






The hockey club, in which several of the men took part, drew a good following from the college community. Men's intramural basketball and women's intercollegiate basketball helped keep the courts hot with activity during the winter months, giving everyone a chance for competition.





All heating tunnels lead to the service building where these complex environmental control units are housed. They provide heat in the winter and air conditioning to some buildings when the temperatures start climbing in the Spring. Full-time personnel and some students operate and monitor these systems so that Otterbein can remain quiet and peaceful in comfort.

Ms. Courtman, jointly sponsored by Otterbein College and Sears Roebuck's Foundation for the Arts visited Otterbein and the Columbus area to entertain and demonstrate her talents as an opera soprano. She resided on campus several different times totaling over 50 days during the year.

Outside enlightenment

Lecture Series speakers, Richard Rubenstein, David Brower, Gwendolyn Brooks, and guest speaker Alex Tannis entertained and informed the Otterbein community on Judaism, conservation, poetry and psychic phenomena. The lecture series gave a welcome educational break from classes if one got out of bed on time to attend.

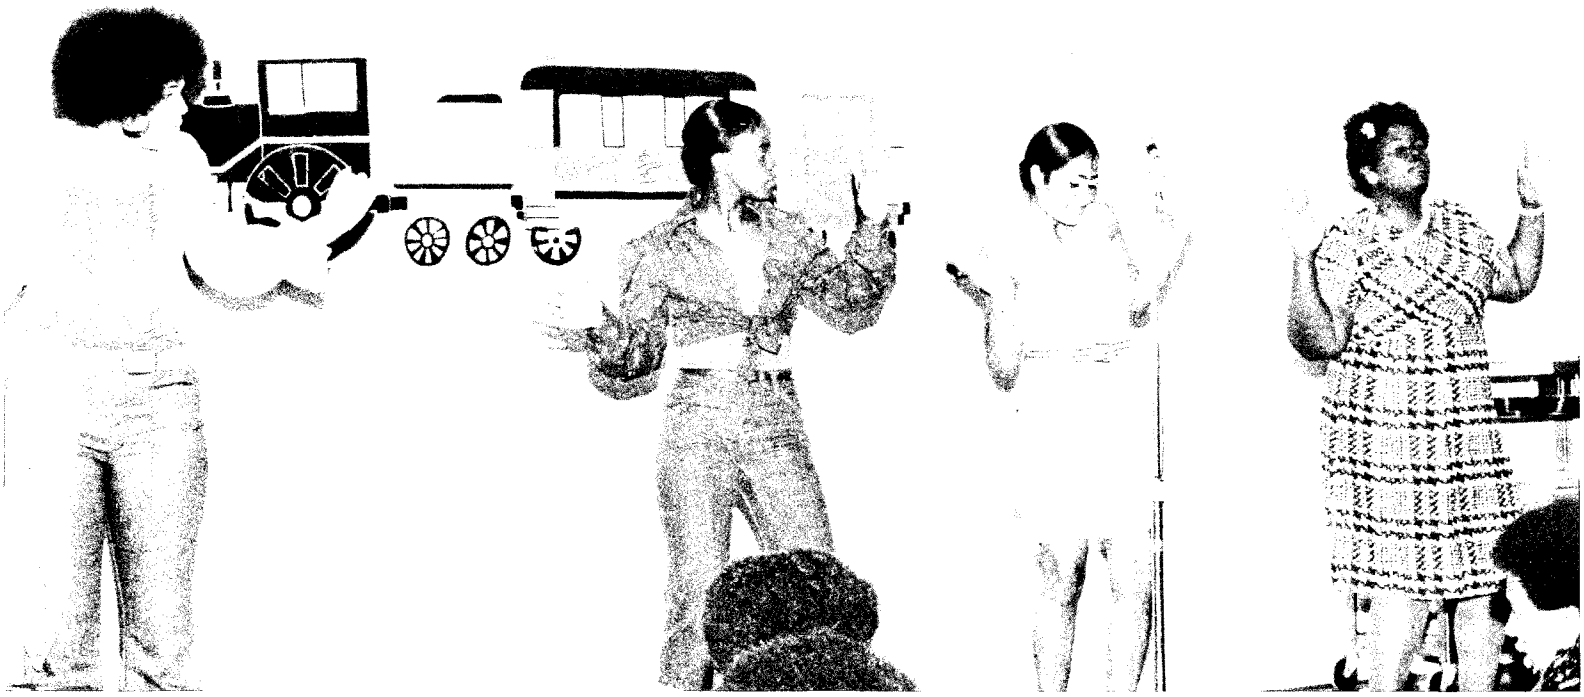
Another Otterbein tradition, Spring Fever Day, made its way to campus this year as usual. And, as in the past few years, so did the rainy weather. But inspite of the weather, festivities went on as planned, and Len Robinson was crowned GNIK. Bands played and people danced; we acted as children—blowing bubbles, eating suckers, watching cartoons and flying kites. But I guess that's what Spring Fever is all about!

An exposé in black culture

"Soul Train" gets it on the track



Black Goddess reigns over festivities

Soul, the black student organization, sponsored the annual Black Culture Week. The week-end "Soul Train" dance got the activities underway, and Nona Barrett was crowned Black Goddess during the Soul Food Dinner. Other activities dealing with black identity followed in the week.

Reigning day in May

Queen Suzan Neibarger reigned over the annual May Day festivities, while three other co-eds, Beth Bichsel, Pat Shelden, and Cindi Moore completed her court. Freshmen women entertained the queen with the traditional May Pole Dance in the Campus Center Lounge.

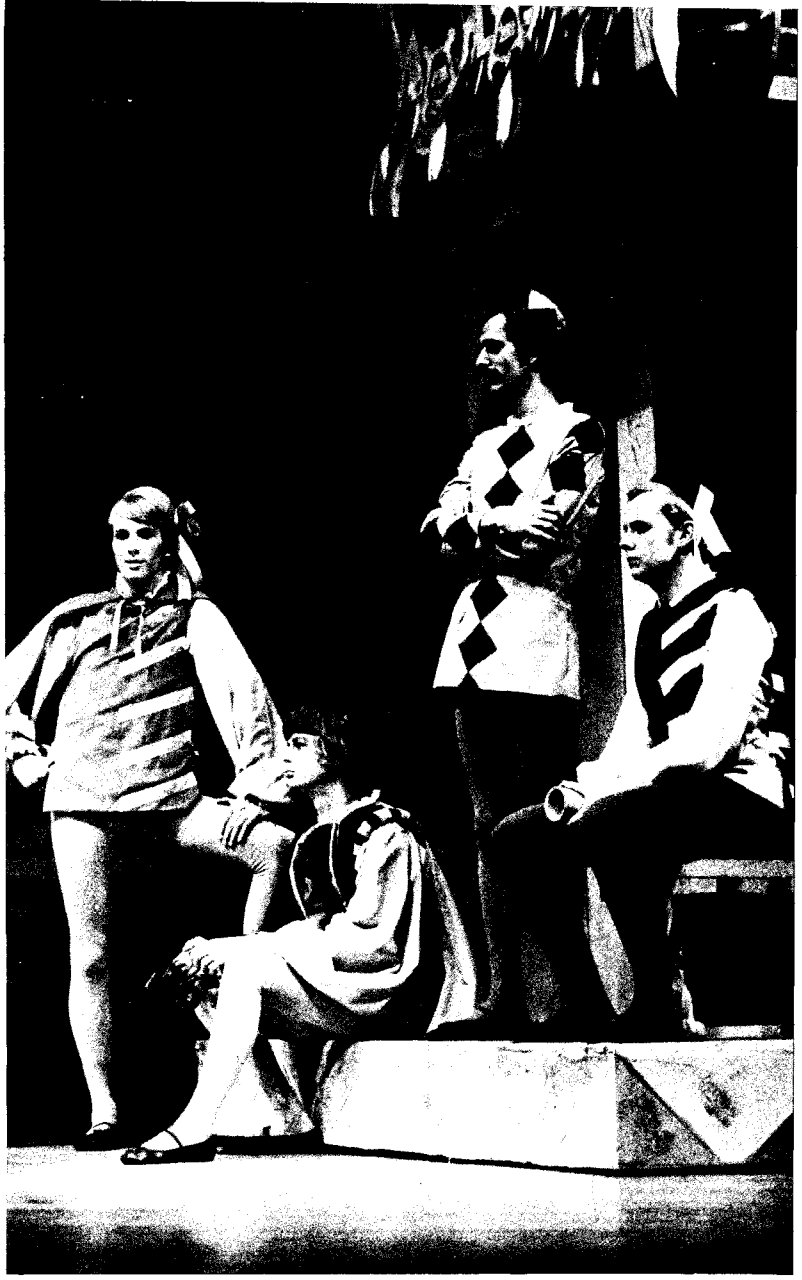
Kate kisses season goodbye

Seniors in last performance



"Kiss Me Kate", a twentieth-century adaptation of Shakespeare's "Taming of the Shrew", made it's way to Cowan's stage as the final production of the 1973-74 theatre season. The lighthearted production created a great evening of entertainment for May Day viewers.

Baseball

The Otter diamond crew, with Coach Richard Fishbaugh's assistance, excelled greatly in their area. It was the best season in years, and even after losing a best-out-of-three to Ohio Northern, the Otters were still the Ohio Athletic Conference's Southern Division Champs.

Tennis—Track

Otter thinclads finished with several outstanding performances placing in the NCAA while the tennis team wasn't as fortunate.

Commencement—

End or beginning?

While Commencement Day marked the end of our four years of education, it was also the beginning of our lives as college graduates. We came together for the last time as the Class of '74, and when Pat Hingle's "bunch of little boats" had "passed in the night" we left— going our own separate ways—to begin anew.
